"The first day of this year," writes Mrs. Kate Schey, of 756 St. Paul Avenue, Milwaukee, Wis. "I caught a heavy cold, which settled on my lungs and brought on a hemorrhage. From that time on until the first of April I bled from my lungs five different times. I was so weak and undone I could only do the lightest work. The doctor told me I was going into consumption. My breath was short and at times I could hardly get my breath at all. This is the state I was in when I began to take Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. After the first bottle I was much better, and I could walk two or three blocks without trouble. My breath was not so short and I was much improved. After taking four bottles I could work all day, and I never felt better in my life. I think your medicine the best in the world and I recommend it to all who are troubled as I was."

WILL MAKE AFFIDAVIT.

"I was sick for about three months had chills, fever, and coughed a great deal," writes Mr. W. L. Brown, of McDearman, Jackson Co., Tenn. "Most of my neighbors and friends thought I had consumption. I was reduced in flesh, and was very weak—only weighed 110 pounds; my physician thought there was little hope for my recovery.

"My wife went to the store to get some antifebrin, quinine, etc., for me and a friend of mine (Mr. W. W. McDearman), who had been taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery recommended this medicine for me. Finally I decided to use it, after my physician told me that it would be good for me. I sent and got one bottle, and before all was taken I weighed 149 pounds—a gain of 39 pounds. I am still taking the Golden Medical Discovery, have taken nearly two bottles, and now weigh 163 pounds, which is more than I ever weighed. I am still gaining strength and taking the 'Discovery.' I wish to say that this is a recent recovery, that only two months ago I only weighed about 110 pounds.

"I can and will make affidavit to this full statement any time. If you wish to use this as a testimonial do so, and I will answer all letters from inquiring sufferers."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, containing 1008 pages, and over 700 illustrations, is sent free on receipt of stamps to defray expense of customs and mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 50 cents for the book in cloth binding. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

B. C. FISHERMEN'S TROUBLES.

The Fraser River Whites Are Very Angry With the Armed Japanese and There May Blood Flow.

Vancouver, B. C., July 12.—The striking salmon fishermen of the Fraser River are threatening violence against the Japanese, who have supplanted them. A mass meeting of all the unions was held yesterday afternoon, when, it is said, resolutions were passed that every member should pledge himself to aid in driving the Japanese off the river. In a signed statement, published here, Frank Rogers, a member of the Fishermen's Executive Committee, says:

"Reliable information has been brought to us that some of the canners advanced money for the Japanese to buy rifles and revolvers. They said that the canners have ordered the Japanese when they shoot they must shoot to kill. The fishermen consider this arming of the Japanese a step which means civil war, and the fishermen will ask all white men and Indians to govern themselves accordingly.

"We know that the Japanese and their patrol-boats are armed, but the union fishermen do not care anything about any bluff like that which the Japanese started to make. The white fishermen are determined, and are not going to give up the fishing on the river without a fight for it. We are not a bit afraid of the Japanese."

There would, according to official information from the fishermen's union, be about 60 of their patrol-boats out last evening and through the night. None of these will be fishing, for the strikers are standing firm and are not attempting to do any fishing. The Indians are also all standing firm and the strike, with the exception of the Japanese, is complete.

Telephone advices last evening from the fishing village of Steveston say that the Japanese to the number of 3,000 have gone out fishing as usual. No clash is likely to occur between the union men and the Japanese until after midnight. It is raining heavily and the fighting talk of the whites has cooled somewhat.

Steel Strike Conference at Pittsburg Looks That Way.

NOTHING NEW IN C.P.R. STRIKE

President Shaffer of the Amalgamated Association Was Chosen Chairman of the Joint Conference with the Steel Combine Men—No Settlement Reached When Adjournment Was Taken.

Pittsburg, July 12. — Surface indications point to the settlement of the strike in the mills of the American Sheet Steel Company and the American Steel Hoop Company, at the conference between the Amalgamated Association officials and steel combine representatives, which began yesterday at the Hotel Lincoln in this city. The conference was called for 10 o'clock yesterday morning, and an hour before that time the national officials' advisory board, trustees and district vice-presidents of the Amalgamated Association met in their headquarters to outline their attitude before conferring with the representatives of the steel combine.

President Shaffer said that if an agreement was not reached yesterday he favored a continuance of the conference to-day and Saturday, but that the present conference must be final. Under no circumstances would he agree to a postponement for a week or more intervening between the meetings.

Mr. Shaffer said further that the Executive Committee was clothed with discretionary powers with respect to the nature of the settlement, but the intimation was that no deviation whatever would be made from the original stand.

It was 10.36 o'clock a.m., when the conference opened. The combine conferees present at that time were Warner Arms, vice-president of the American Tin Plate Company; Veryl Preston of the American Steel Hoop Co.; and William Leeds of the American Sheet Steel Co.

The workers' organization was represented by the General Executive Committee, the highest body in the association.

President Shaffer was chosen chairman of the joint conference.

The conference adjourned until to-day without having reached a settlement. At the conclusion of the session President Shaffer was seen, and he refused to intimate by even a word what had been done. Other conferees seen were equally reticent as to the proceedings. It is, however, authoritatively stated that the combine offered to sign the Amalgamated scale for all the plants and make the wages uniform, but declined to unionize the plants operated as non-union for years. Trustee Morgan of the Amalgamated said the proposition would not be accepted.

Strikers Heavily Fined.

York, Pa., July 12.—In the County Court yesterday Judge Stewart rendered his opinion in the contempt cases growing out of the moulders' strike here, in which George W. Test, corresponding representative of the Iron Moulders' Union of North America; John P. Frey of Worcester, Mass., fourth vice-president of the union, and Howard Wilner of the local union, were adjudged guilty of contempt of court in violating the court's injunction restraining them from picketing and otherwise interfering with the York Manufacturing Company. Test and Frey, the leaders of the strike, were sentenced to pay a fine of $250 and costs, and undergo imprisonment for 30 days, and Wilner was fined $35, which he paid and was released. Test and Frey, being unable to pay, were sent to jail.

Another Strike at Malone.

Malone, N. Y., July 12.—About 600 men employed in saw and planing mills at Tupper Lake are out on strike, demanding a nine-hour day instead of eleven hours.

Strike Off at Newport News.

Newport News, Va., July 12.—At a meeting last night of machinists the strike at the Newport News shipyards was declared off by unanimous vote.

THE STRIKING TRACKMEN.

General Manager McNicoll Goes West—Has Strike Fizzled Out.

Toronto, July 12.—The strike of the Canadian Pacific Railway trackmen is apparently no nearer a settlement to-day than at any time since it was inaugurated. It has taken on a peculiar aspect. The men make a statement which the officials contradict and vice versa, while the public take their choice.

So far as Toronto is concerned, the strikers claim that there is not a sign of wavering in their ranks. All the men who went out here are reported to be as firm as when the struggle commenced.

A despatch from Montreal says: "General Manager McNicoll of the Canadian Pacific went west last evening and the general belief is that the strike has as good as fizzled out."

A Winnipeg despatch says the Labor party of that city met last night and passed a resolution of sympathy with the striking trackmen.

Raise Rate to Maximum.

Chicago, July 12.— The Supreme Lodge Knights of Pythias, yesterday decided to raise the insurance rate to the maximum prescribed by the National Fraternal Congress to meet the deficiency of $500,000 in the treasury of the endowment rank.

The resignation of John H. Hinsey, ex-president of the rank, as a member of the Board of Control, was accepted.

The Spanish mail steamer Mexico, from Buenos Ayres, is ashore south of Viana. The passengers and crew landed.

Volunteers to Go Back.

New York, July 12. — Joseph Lavesque volunteered in Police Court, Brooklyn, yesterday to accompany Montreal detectives back to that city to face a charge of defaulting in the sum of $20,000 during his employ at as a bookkeeper 10 years ago in the City District Bank of Montreal.

CHEESE MARKETS.

Vankleek Hill, July 11.—There were 964 boxes boarded here to-day: six buyers; all bid 9c, and seemed to have a combine to pay no more. Salesmen refused to accept 9c, and all the buyers raised their price to 9⅝c, and at this money 507 boxes changed hands. Others held for 9¼c, and refused to sell for less. Gibson got 232 boxes, Birdsell 135 and Pitt 90. There was a strong feeling on the board here to-day that the buyers were not paying what cheese was worth.

Brockville, July 11.—One thousand colored and 1671 white cheese were offered on the Cheese Board here to-day. Bidding ranged from 9c to 9⅝c; 720 colored sold at 9 5-16c; 950 white and 770 colored at 9⅜c. A good deal of business was done at 9⅜c on the street after the board adjourned.

THE GLORIOUS TWELFTH.

Local Lodges Went Down to Port Hope.

They Assembled on Central Park and Marched to the Grand Trunk Station —A Big Time on To-day.

The glorious 12th of July is again with us and the sound of the fife and drum re-echoed throughout the town this morning. The Orangemen of Peterborough and visinity are this year celebrating the day in Port Hope and they went down per special train in large numbers, accompanied by their friends. The day is an ideal one for a "walk" and Port Hope will no doubt have as large a crowd as visited the Lake Ontario town on July 1st.

The Orangemen assembled at Central Park and formed in parade order. For some time previous to the time of marching the various bands pealed forth Orange airs and old members of the order extended the glad hand to one another.

The 57th Peterborough Band is divided into three smaller bands for the day. No. 1 section is with the Peterborough Orangemen, No. 2 section with the Emily Orangemen and No. 3 section with the Nassau Lodge.

The procession moved off down George Street shortly before ten o'clock, in the following order:

County Masters J. B. McWilliams and Joseph Batten, on white chargers.

Diamond L.O.L. No. 80, Robert Wilson, Worshipful Master.

Jubilee L.O.L., No. 178, Smith, W. J. Taylor, Worshipful Master.

L.O.L No. 1,385, Lakefield, C. Boyce, Worshipful Master.

There were also present C. J. Burgess, D.M., Lakefield; Allan McCarthy, D.M., Peterborough; George Hall, County Master of Ceremonies; Dr. Burgess, County Treasurer, Lakefield; S. B. Weir, County Secretary, Peterborough.

Messrs. J. B. McWilliams and Robert Weir are P.J.D. Grand Masters of Ontario East.

The oldest Orangeman in line was Thomas Brown, who is over 80 years of age and (who has been an Orangeman for 61 years. He is a member of L.O.L. No. 80, but first joined the order in Cavan, Ireland, being a member of No. 451. He wears a medal of '66.

Frank Weir is another old Orangeman. He belongs to No. 49.

TOOK A DRIVE.

THE GRAND MASTER HERE.

Head of Independent Order of Oddfellows in Ontario.

ENTERTAINED LAST EVENING

Members of Peterborough and Otonabee Lodges Assemble to do Him Honour—A Pleasant Evening.

The circumstance of the visit to town of Grand Master Lewis was made the occasion of a re-union of the Oddfellows of Peterborough for the purpose of extending a welcome and doing an honour to the head of the Order in Ontario.

The Degree work was not taken up as at first planned, on account of the heat, but a number of the members were called upon for remarks, and Mr. M. W. Matchett, of Peterborough Lodge, District Deputy Grand Master, read the following address:

Oddfellow's Hall,
Peterborough, July 11, 1901.

To Mr. O. L. Lewis, Grand Master for Ontario of the I. O. O.F.:

Dear Bro. Lewis,—On this, the occasion of your official visit to Peterborough, we desire to congratulate you on your elevation to the position of Grand Master, and, at the same time, to congratulate ourselves on being favoured with a visit from you.

We are pleased to be able to tell you that during your term of office Oddfellowship in this district has been steadily progressing, and we are glad to know that elsewhere throughout the Province the Order is in a prosperous condition, and that a number of new lodges have been instituted. Hence we trust that at the coming session of the Grand Lodge the reports to be presented will be such as will be a source of gratification, not only to yourself as the executive head of the Order, but to every member of the Order throughout the jurisdiction.

It is not our intention to inflict upon you a lengthy address on this occasion, but in conclusion we will express the hope that your stay here will be a pleasant one, and that you will go away with pleasant recollections of the Oddfellows of Peterborough and Peterborough District.

Signed on behalf of Peterborough District, No. 36, I.O.O.F.,

M. W. MATCHETT,
D. D. G. M.

Grand Master Lewis, in replying to the address of welcome, referred to the pleasure it gave him to meet with the brethern of Peterborough district. He congratulated them on their numerical and financial progress, on having excellent officers in the various chairs, and on having an energetic and enthusiastic District Deputy. He referred to the rapid progress of the order. In the memory of living man, it had increased from five members to a membership of one million two hundred thousand, mainly because its members ever exemplified the spirit of true fraternity, were always cultivating friendship, love and truth, and were firm believers in the doctrine of the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man.

He spoke of the warm-hearted welcome a stranger always receives when he goes among his brother Oddfellows—a welcome which at once made him feel at home and assured him he was surrounded by his friends.

Grand Master Lewis said he felt proud to be at the head of a noble army of twenty-five thousand intelligent men, for he felt quite assured that the reports at next Grand Lodge would show that we have even exceeded the twenty-five thousand mark.

He urged each Oddfellow to double his endeavors to bring to a successful completion the Oddfellows' Home, for which over $12,000 has already been paid in. Then every aged and infirm Oddfellow in Ontario will be sure of a comfortable home in which to spend his declining years, if he finds himself bereft of relatives and other friends.

Bro. Lewis then referred to the arduous duties of his office, which, however, he had much enjoyed, and he bespoke for his successor, Bro. C. Lyman, of Brockville, the same hearty support which he himself had received throughout the jurisdiction.

The address of the Grand Master was much enjoyed by the brethern who were so fortunate as to be present.

An impromptu programme of vocal music, recitations, etc., was afterwards run off, and refreshments were served, contributing towards a very pleasant evening.

PICNIC AT INVERLEA.

The Children of St. Paul's Sunday School Had an Outing.

Inverlea Park was the scene of a very enjoyable picnic yesterday afternoon, being the annual outing of the primary and intermediate classes of St. Paul's Sunday School. The affair was very largely attended by the younger children, who spent a pleasant afternoon in various kinds of sport. An interesting programme of races was run off under the able management of Messrs. Dickson Davidson and Alex Gibson. The children showed great enthusiasm in the events, many of which were hotly contested.

The teachers of the school were well represented and assisted in making the afternoon highly delightful. At about seven o'clock the the affair was brought to a close by the gathering singing "God Save the King," and the juvenile sunday school scholars returned home carrying the prizes they had won and enthusiastic over the success of the day's proceedings.

NO BAND TO-NIGHT.

There will be no band concert in Victoria park this evening. The band of the 57th Regiment is in Port Hope to-day taking part in the Orange celebration.

ST. ANDREW'S S. S. PICNIC.

An Ideal Day—An Ideal Spot—Dinsdale's Grove.

All who attended St. Andrew's Sunday School picnic yesterday speak in the highest terms of the very successful outing at Dinsdale's Grove near Keene station. A large number left in special coaches attached to the morning Belleville train and were landed at the Grove.

The young people immediately found their way to the sparkling and clear waters of the Ouse river, which runs through the grounds and bathed in its suitable bathing parts, while others contented themselves with wading in the more shallow parts which this beautiful stream affords. Quite a number made pilgrimages to the quiet village of Keene and aroused the ordinary spirit of repose by ringing the church bell, which during the week is the village fire alarm. Others of the company wandered along the shady parts of river and canal to Rice Lake, and were able to get a glimpse of Idyl Wild, just opposite.

During the afternoon games of all sorts were indulged in, football, baseball, races, quoits, etc., while those who could not thus indulge, contented themselves under the delightful shade trees, with reading, sleeping and swinging. The day throughout was bright and cool and the merry picknickers returned home at 9 p.m. all in good cheer.

The committee speaks in the highest praise of the hearty co-operation of G.T.R. officials at this station and at Keene, also of the courtesy and kindness of the conductors.

DEATH OF A FORMER RESIDENT

The Late Thomas H. Graham.

The St. Lawrence News of Iroquois, records the death on Monday, July 1st, of Mr. Thos. Mr. Graham, a former resident of Peterborough. The late Mr. Graham was well known in commercial circles. After considerable business experience in Iroquois hd was associated with the clothing firm of John Calder & Co., during which time he resided on Gilmour street, Peterborough. Later Mr. Graham went to Grand Forks, Dakota, where he established a flourishing clothing business and became a prominent citizen, having been elected treasurer of the city and of the school board. However, his health failed last spring and he came to Iroquois in search of improved health but his disease, an affection of the heart, progressed and death ensued. The late Mr. Graham was a great favourite among his friends, his genial, companionable nature making his company a rare enjoyment. He leaves behind him a widow but no children. The many friends Mr. Graham made during his short residence in Peterborough will learn of his death at the comparatively early age of 46, with deep regret. Mrs. James McCreary, Walton street, was a sister of deceased.

MR. ALEX. REID'S TROUBLES.

He Claims to Have Got a Job at the Canal, but He's Not at Work.

Alexander Reid, Peterborough's well known expressman, this morning swore out a warrant before County Police Magistrate Edmison, against Mr. J. A. Corry, of the firm of Messrs. Corry & Laverdure, charging him with assault. The circumstance, as reported by Mr. Reid, are about as follows:

Mr. Wm. Quinn, well known to the people of Peterborough, had the contract of returning to a certain Cement Co. the bags, when empty, which came to the canal with cement in them. Mr. Reid claims that he was awarded the contract, and that Mr. Quinn received notice that his contract had been cancelled. However, when Mr. Reid went over to assume charge of his alleged contract, he was interfered with and not allowed to proceed. He also claims that he was assaulted by Mr. Corry.

Of course, the canal contractors have another side to their case. It is understood that they claim that without their consent no one can enter upon the land in and about where are engaged with their construction. They are the original contractors, and have full control.

The date for hearing the evidence has not yet been fixed.

COMMITTEE ON APPOINTMENTS.

Mr. W. G. Ferguson, Chairman on the Committee on Appointments, submitted the following report:

To the Chairman and Members of the Board of Education.

Gentlemen,—Your committee, after carefully considering the applications caused by Miss Allin's resignation, recommend that Miss Denne be appointed at the initial salary of $275 per annum. We have also considered the Inspector's confidential report in connection with the schools, for the past six months, and are glad to find that the schools is being carried on so satisfactorily. We recommend that the purchase of the books referred to in th ereport be referred to the Supervision Committee, with power to act. All of which is respectfully submitted.

W. G. FERGUSON,
Chairman.

The report was adopted on motion of W. J. Ferguson, seconded by V. Eastwood.

PROPERTY COMMITTEE.

The Property Committee, through the Chairman, Mr. Robert Fair, reported as follows:

Gentlemen,—Your Property Committee beg leave to report that a careful inspection of the different school buildings, including the Collegiate Institute, has been made, and your committee find the following repairs necessary to put the various properties in good condition, and would recommend that the same be undertaken and completed during the midsummer holidays:

Central School—a portion of the repairs.—Platform at north side of building requires new plank. The north west chimney needs pointing to prevent leak, and stone work in window pit of girl's closet needs repair, having fallen. The well should be cleaned.

West Ward School.—The interior wood work requires painting, and the walls and ceilings should be kalsomined.

North Ward School.—The walls and ceilings of the rooms and the halls in this building require kalsomining, and the basement and fresh-air room should be whitewashed. A pipe is needed for the ventilating furnace, and a manhole should be cut into the ventilating chimney.

South Central School.—The six rooms, hall and cloak rooms in the old part of the building require kalsomining and painting. The basements should be whitewashed and some of its walls re-faced with cement. Blackboards.—Nearly all the blackboards, except those of slate, are in need of repair, the following, however, being most urgent—Central School, Miss Peters, West ward, Miss McCreary, South Ward, Miss Cairns, North Ward, Boards in all four rooms, South Central, Miss Noble 8 sections; Miss Meharry, 1 section; Miss Finley, 1 section; Miss Perrin, 1 section; Mr. Sorsoleil, 1 section; Miss Allin, 1 section; Miss Aldridge, 1 section; Mr. Tenny, 1 section.

Collegiate Institute. — Five class rooms, cloak rooms, and the whole board room and the floor in the laberatory should be painted. Four of the blackboards require repairing, and it is recommended that if it can be done at a reasonable cost, these be replaced by slate.

In all the buildings there are some patches of plastering to be repaired, but this may easily be looked after at the time of kalsomining.

All of which is respectfully submitted,
ROBT. FAIR,
Chairman.

The report was adopted.

VOTE OF THANKS.

Mr. Robert Fair moved, seconded by Mr. Wm. Langford, the following resolution:—

That the Board desire to record its appreciation of the gift of Hon. J. R. Stratton, Provincial Secretary, of a well executed picture of the Normal school, Toronto, handsomely framed, and that the secretary be requested to convey to the Hon. J. R. Stratton the thanks of the Board for his very appropiate present. The resolution was carried.

The matter of renewing the lease of the Menzie school property came up and the same was left with the Property Committee to deal with.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

THE STRATTON TROPHY.

Yesterday Mr. C. H. Bradburn (x15) and Mr. Burnham (scratch) played off the final round in the Stratton Handicap, Mr. Bradburn winning handily. This tournament has shown pretty much the relative improvement of the handicap men for the season and Mr. Bradburn, who has won the cup for the year, has played throughout a good steady game which is the great desiradatum in golf. We congratulate the indefatigable Secretary upon his success.

BASEBALL.

Should the weather continue fine the game to-morrow afternoon on the P.A.A.A. grounds, between the Cobourg Nine and the local team should be largely attended. The Peterborough men have been practicing hard and are in the pink of condition. They will certainly give a good account of themselves. Let the public turn out and suppport the team, for the club has never had a more capable management and a more gentlemanly lot of players. But the boys can't run the club on wind, and they require the financial aid of friends. They are not on a begging expedition, but when a first-class exhibition of ball is being served up, they like to see the games well patronized, and due encouragement given them. The match to-morrow will begin at 3.30 o'clock, and a special invitation is extended to the ladies of the town who may depend upon finding the best of order kept, and everything inoffensive throughout. The management of the team is very desirious that the ladies should turn out in large numbers to these matches.

The Peterborough team will be as follows:—Connors, first base; Mulhall 2 base; Parnell short stop; Earls third base; Davidson right field; Grady, centre field; Sheridan, left field; Kehoe, pitcher; McCabe, pitcher; Graham, catcher.

CANOEING.

There will be no regatta on Little Lake for the present. There are so many out of town who would take an interest in an affair of the kind, and in view of the fact that those who were expected to participate in the races are reckoning on leaving town for a few weeks, the promotors thought it wise to call the affair off, for another month at least. There will be one about that date, however, at which some very exciting canoe races will take place. The recent revival in canoeing has developed a number of good paddlers around the town, and they are anxious for a chance to come together.

CRICKET.

The Lindsay Cricket team will be down tomorrow afternoon to play the Colts. The Colts team will be as follows:—Bradburn, Captain; Lundy, Mason, Hammond, Cameron, Armstrong, G. Hall, Packenham, H. Rogers, Wood and Munro.

BOWLING.

A scratch game at the green last evening resulted as follows:

H E Bradley	F H Dixon
H S Macdonald	J M Brooks
W Pringle sk...15.	S Belcher sk...14.

Skip Complin has challenged Geo. Giroux to skip a rink against him. The match is being played this afternoon.

The skips will select the personnel of their rinks at the green this evening.

CHALLENGE ACCEPTED.

Mr. Will Crowley states to the Examiner that he accepts Mr. B. Cameron's challenge to run a series of three races and will be glad to meet him and make arrangements as to the date, etc.

MARK STREET S. S. PICNIC.

THE FULL VERDICT.

That was Given out by the Coroner's Jury on Tuesday Night.

The following is the verdict in full to the cornoners jury empanelled to enquire into the circumstances surrounding the death of George Houston:

"We find that George Houston came to his death by drowning on the night of June 24th, 1901, by falling of a scow, while attempting to pass from scow to the boat.

"We would respectfully suggest that in our opinion it is not safe to navigate the river when the water is high, having a boat carrying passengers, towing a scow either alongside or behind."

THE BLEEDING CURE.

A RELIC OF THE MEDICAL METHODS OF A CENTURY AGO.

The Barbarous Practice of "Cupping" Suffering Humanity Still Has Its Adherents—The Operation a Somewhat Delicate One.

One hundred years ago the sovereign balm for every ill, from fainting to fever, was bleeding. The wonder is that a human race was left to admit the folly of the practice. It was the correct method of the day, recommended and employed by the best physicians of the time. The surgeon who attended George Washington in his last illness first set about bleeding his august patient. The story is that he took several cups of blood from the vigorous arm of Washington and then diagnosed the case. Washington died. Some say that if he had not been bled he probably would have lived.

The cry comes, But that was a century ago! In sharp contrast stands the wonderful advances made by modern surgery. Thankfully it may be said that such is the truth. But sometimes customs die hard, and today the doctrine of "cupping" has devotees as faithful as those who gave up their life sustaining fluid in Washington's time. This is a startling statement. The writer would have been skeptical if he had not learned its truth himself.

In the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries this srewsome form of treatment was the work of the barber. That guild has maintained its prerogative into the twentieth century. In a certain little side street in New York, crushed between two towering brick buildings, stands a timid story and a half frame house. The suggestive, striped pole which emblazons the art of the dweller within juts over the walk. In the window hangs a sign bearing the word "Cupping." If today were set back to 1700, the pole alone would tell the story. Times, they say, have changed, and so the sign.

The barber is a German. He was much surprised at the question asked. Everybody knew that cupping was a necessity, especially in the spring, he said. Sometimes, he added, he was so busy that little time remained for his shaving and hair cutting of customers.

"Ach, yes," said the barber, "it keeps me a busy man. How strange you say that you thought it no longer was practiced. People come here morning, noon and night every day, but mostly do they come here in the spring and fall. It is then that the blood needs drawing off. If you have a pain in your head, you come to me. I take my little cup, burn the air in it out, push down my little knives just behind your ear on the neck, and when the cup is full I take it away. If your headache is not better yet, I take another cup, so be it that the bleeding stop not, upon the other side. Maybe your back pains; I cut you a little on the side. Your arm pains; I draw the blood from your wrist."

The barber bared his arm. The skin was crossed with tiny, pale nicks, like those one sees on the wrist of a morphine victim.

"Twelve is the number of cups I draw at one sitting," the barber said. "It is a bad pain that will not be gone then. If you come again the next day with the pain, I draw off more until the ache has disappeared completely."

The cups look like sherry glasses with the stems removed. The knife, or lancet, is arranged like a name stamp. Pressure on a spring plunger drives the little blades, which are arranged in pairs or triplets, into the skin. It is here that the skill of the operator comes into play. When the incisions are made in the neck too violent, a tap on the plunger might mean the severing or wounding of an artery. Pressure too light would not let the blood flow fast enough. The barber must have a trained touch.

Upon the condition of the cup much depends. The air is exhausted by means of a tiny alcohol flame. This makes a vacuum. The cup is pressed on lightly, but firmly. The blood rushes under the skin beneath its rim; then, like a flash, the little knives are pushed down, and the bleeding begins. The operator never takes more than 12 cups at one sitting. That would mean perhaps a half pint of blood.

This system of bleeding for human ailments harks back to the earliest times. All through the middle ages it was the healing balm for the sufferings of mankind. The ancients firmly believed that the loss of blood in this manner drew from their systems the "noxious humors" which afflicted them. The advent of the modern school of medicine and surgery did away with the process as a universal therapeutic measure. It was not until the nineteenth century was nearly half completed, however, that physicians abandoned it as a practice.

JINGLES AND JESTS.

In the Days of Less.

The coatless man puts a careless arm
Round the waist of the hatless girl
As over the dustless and mudless roads
In a horseless carriage they whirl.
Like a leadless bullet from hammerless gun
By smokeless powder driven,
They fly to taste the speechless joy
By endless union given.
Though the only lunch his coinless purse
Affords to them the means
Is a tasteless meal of boneless cod,
With a "side" of stringless beans,
He puffs a tobaccoless cigarette
And laughs a mirthless laugh
When papa tries to coax her back
By wireless telegraph.

His Obedience.

Irate Mother (to naughty little son)—Freddie, you are a very naughty boy. How dare you tell your aunt she's stupid?

Freddie—Boohoo, so she is.

Irate Mother (smack, smack)—Don't you dare say that again! Go at once and tell her you are sorry.

Freddie (a few minutes later to aunt)—Auntie (boohoo), I am so sorry you's stupid.—King.

Bessie's Papa.

Bessie—Talking about the animals that infest the Stock Exchange, I've been trying to think what pa said he was.

Arthur—A bear or a bull perhaps.

Bessie—No; it was neither of those, nor was it a lamb. Oh, I have it! It was a jackass. I remember how it surprised me at first.

Dealing In Futures.

The evening's courting was ended;
They were standing at the hall door,
He ready to take his departure
And she to be kissed just once more.
His thoughts were all of the future,
But of them not a word did he speak;
He was wondering how they could manage
To keep house on nine dollars a week.

Too Earnest.

"Avoid him," said the girl in blue.

"Why?" asked the girl in gray.

"He's too earnest and too unsophisticated," answered the girl in blue. "Why, he's the kind of a man who will ruin what might be a lovely summer resort flirtation by proposing to you within the first two weeks of the season."

Reassuring.

Young Lady—What is the matter, captain?

Yacht Captain—Oh, the fact is we have broken our rudder.

Young Lady—Oh, I wouldn't worry about that. The rudder is mostly under water, you know, and it isn't likely people will notice it.

Profit and Loss.

The man who rises early may increase his bin and store;
But, goodness, how he gets himself despised by folks next door!
—Chicago Record-Herald.

Home Rule.

Towne—Henpeck tells me that his wife actually pulls his hair when she gets mad.

Browne—Why doesn't he keep his hair cut short?

"I asked him that, and he says his wife won't let him."

The Same Old Game.

The angler sallies forth again
And by the brooklet's shore
Doth idly lie and fish and then
Goes home and lies some more.

To Be Expected.

Professor de Science—Statistics show that men are growing shorter and women are growing taller.

Lady—Not unlikely. I don't know of anything that has such a stretchy effect as hanging on to street car straps.

The Poetry of It.

On thy cold, gray stones, O sea,"
But please quit breaking our yachts' trail masts,
Or that race can never be.

New Social Level.

She—Oh, we don't associate with her family.

He—Why not?

She—They recently moved here from a city that has not been offered a free library by Mr. Carnegie.

It is rather ungrateful in Emperor William to turn against the reporters after they have done so much to make his peculiar fame. His remedy for the ill effects of his impetuous speeches is not the simple one of giving up making them, but of forbidding them to be reported.

Arms and The Woman

By Harold MacGrath

Copyright, 1900, By Harold MacGrath.

"Phyllis, as sure as I stand before you all I have said is true. And now let me be the first to do homage to your serene highness," taking her hand despite her efforts to withdraw it and kissing it.

"It is unreal! Impossible! Absurd!" she cried.

"Let me repeat the words of the French philosopher who said, 'As nothing is impossible let us believe in the absurd,'" said I.

"And does she know—the Princess Hildegarde? My sister? How strange the word feels on my tongue."

"No; she does not know, but presently she will."

Then Phyllis asked in an altered tone, "And what is all this to you that you thrust this greatness upon me, a greatness, I assure you, for which I do not care?"

I regarded her vaguely. I saw a precipice at my feet. I could not tell her that in making her a princess I was making Gretchen free. I could not confess that my motive was purely a selfish one.

"It was a duty," said I evasively.

"And in what way will it concern the Princess Hildegarde's affairs—and yours?" She was rather merciless.

"Why should it concern any affair of mine?" I asked.

"You love her, and she loves you. May she not abdicate in my favor?"

"And if she should?" with an accent of impatience.

Phyllis grew silent. "Forgive me, Jack!" impulsively. "But all this is scarcely to be believed. And then you say there are no proofs."

"Not in the eyes of the law," I replied. "But nature has written it in your faces." I was wondering why she had not gone into raptures at the prospect of becoming a princess.

"It is a great honor," she said after some meditation, "and it is very kind of you. But I care as little for the title as I do for this rose." And she cast away one of Pembroke's roses. It boded ill for my cousin's cause.

The next person I saw was the chancellor.

"Well?" I interrogated.

"There can be no doubt," he said, "but"— with an expressive shrug.

"Life would run smoother if it had fewer 'buts' and 'ifs' and 'perhapses.' What you would say," said I, "is that there are no proofs. Certainly they must be somewhere."

"But to find them!" cried he.

"I shall make the effort. The pursuit is interesting."

The expression in his eyes told me that he had formed an opinion in regard to my part. "Ah, these journalists!" as he passed on.

Everything seemed so near and yet so far. Proofs? Where could they be found if Wentworth had them not? If only there had been a trinket, a kerchief even, with the Hohenphalia crest upon it! I shook my fists in despair. Gretchen was so far away, so far!

I went in search of her. She was still surrounded by men. The women were not as friendly toward her as they might have been. The prince was standing near. Seeing me approach, his teeth gleamed for an instant.

"Ah," said Gretchen, "here is Herr Winthrop, who is to take me in to supper!"

It was cleverly done, I thought. Even the prince was of the same mind. He appreciated all these phases. As we left them and passed on toward the supper room I whispered:

"I love you!"

CHAPTER XX.

When I whispered these words, I expected a gentle pressure from Gretchen's fingers, which rested lightly on my arm. But there was no sign, and I grew troubled. The blue green eyes sparkled, and the white teeth shone between the red lips. Yet something was lacking.

"Let us go into the conservatory," she said. "It was merely a ruse of mine. I want no supper. I have much to say to you."

Somehow we selected by mutual accord a seat among the roses. There was a small fountain, and the waters sang in a murmurous music. It seemed too early for words, so we drew our thoughts from the marble and the water. As for me, I looked at, but did not see, the fountain. It was another scene. There was a garden in which the roses grew in beautiful disorder. There were a man and a woman in the garden. She was culling roses, while the man looked on with admiring eyes.

"Yes," said the princess, "all that was a pretty dream. Gretchen was a fairy, and now she has gone from your life and mine forever. My dear friend, it is a prosaic age we live in. Sometimes we forget and dream, but dreams are unreal. It is true that God designs us, but the world molds us and fate puts on the finishing touches." She was smiling into my wonder-struck face. "We all have duties to perform while passing. Some of us are born with destinies mapped out by human hands. Some of us are free to make life what we will. I am of the first order, and you are of the second. It is as impossible to join the one with the other as it is to make diamonds out of charcoal and water. Between Gretchen and the Princess Hildegarde of Hohenphalia there is as much difference as there is between—what simile shall I use, the possible and the impossible?"

"Gretchen," I began.

"Gretchen?" The princess laughed amusedly. "She is flown. I beg you not to waste a thought on her memory."

Things were going badly for me. I did not understand the mood. It brought to mind the woman poor Hillars had described to me in his rooms that night in London. I saw that I was losing something, so I made what I thought a bold stroke. I took from my pocket a withered rose. I turned it from one hand to the other.

"It appears that when Gretchen gave me this it was as an emblem of her love. Still I gave her all my heart."

"If that be the emblem of her love, herr, throw it away. It is not worth the keeping."

"And Gretchen sent me a letter once," I went on.

"Ah, what indiscretion!"

"It began with 'I love you' and ended with that sentence. I have worn the writing away with my kisses."

"How some men waste their energies!"

"Your highness," said I, putting the rose back into my pocket, "did Gretchen ever tell you how she fought a duel for me because her life was less to her than mine?"

The Princess Hildegarde's smile stiffened, and her eyes closed for the briefest instant.

"Ah, shall I ever forget that night!" said I. "I held her to my heart and kissed her on the lips. I was supremely happy. Your highness has never known what a thing of joy it is to kiss the one you love. It is one of those things which are denied to people who have their destinies mapped out by human hands."

The princess opened her fan and hid her lips.

"And do you know," I continued, "when Gretchen went away I had a wonderful dream?"

"A dream? What was it?" The fan was waving to and fro.

"I dreamed that a princess came in Gretchen's place, and she threw her arms around my neck and kissed me of her own free will."

"And what did she say, herr?" Certainly the voice was growing more like Gretchen's.

I hesitated. To tell her what the dream princess had said would undo all I had thus far accomplished, which was too little.

"It will not interest your highness," said I.

"Tell me what she said. I command it!" And now I was sure that there was a falter in her voice.

"She said—she said that she loved me."

"Continue."

"And that as she was a princess and—and honor bound it could never be." I had to say it.

"That is it; that is it. It could never be. Gretchen is no more. The princess who you say came to you in a dream was then but a woman"—

"Aye, and such a woman!" I interrupted. "As God hears me I would give ten years of my life to hold her again in my arms, to kiss her lips, to hear her say that she loved me. But, pardon me, what were you going to say?"

"Your dream princess was but a woman. Ah, well, this is Tuesday! Thursday at noon she will wed the prince. It is written."

"The devil!" I let slip. I was at the start again.

"Sir, you do him injustice."

"Who, the prince?" savagely.

"No, the—the devil!" She had fully recovered, and I had no weapon left.

"Gretchen, did you really ever love me?"

There was no answer.

"No; I did not believe you did. If you had loved me, what to you would have been a king, a prince, a principality? If you broke that promise, who would be wronged? Not the king, not the prince."

"No, I should not have wronged them, but," said the princess, rising, "I should have wronged my people, whom I have sworn to protect; I should have wronged my own sense of honor; I should have broken those ties which I have sworn to hold dear and precious as my life; I should have forsaken a sacred duty for something I was not sure of—a man's love!"

"Gretchen!"

"Am I cruel? Look!" Phyllis stood at the other end of the conservatory. "Does not there recur to you some other woman you have loved? You start. Come, was not your love for Gretchen pique? Who is she who thus mirrors my own likeness? Whoever she is she loves you. Let us return. I shall be missed." It was not the woman, but the princess, who spoke.

"You are breaking two hearts!" I cried, my voice full of disappointment, passion and anger.

"Two? Perhaps, but yours will not be counted."

"You are"—

"Pray do not lose your temper," icily. And she swept toward the entrance.

I had lost.

As the princess drew near to Phyllis the brown eyes of the one met the blue green eyes of the other. There was almost an exclamation on Phyllis' lips; there was almost a question on ear wheels and the rattling windows kept saying: "The innkeeper knows! The innkeeper knows!" Every stop was a heartache. Ah, those eight hours were eight separate centuries to me! I looked careworn and haggard enough the next morning when I stepped on the station platform. I wanted nothing to eat, not even a cup of coffee to drink.

To find conveyance to the inn was not an easy task. No one wanted to take the drive. Finally I secured a horse. There was no haggling over the price. And soon I was loping through the snowdrifts in the direction of the old inn. The snow whirled and eddied over the stubble fields, the winds sang past my ears, the trees creaked, and the river flowed on, black and sluggish. It was a dreary scene. It was bitter cold, but I had no mind for that. On, on I went. Two miles were left in the rear. The horse was beginning to breathe hard. Sometimes the snow was up to his knees. What if the old man was not there? The blood sank upon my heart. Once the horse struck a slippery place and nearly fell, but I caught him in time. I could now see the inn, perhaps a mile away, through the leafless trees. It looked dismal enough. The vines hung dead about it, the hedges were wild and scrawny, the roses I knew to be no more, and the squirrel had left his summer home for a warmer nest in the forest. A wave of joy swept over me as I saw a thin stream of smoke winding above the chimney. Some one was there. On, on. Presently I flew up the roadway. A man stood on the porch. It was Stahlberg. When I pushed down my collar, his jaw dropped. I flung the reins to him.

"Where is the innkeeper?" I cried with my first breath.

"In the hall, herr. But"—

I was past him and going through the rooms. Yes, thank God, there he was, sitting before the huge fireplace, where the logs crackled and seethed, his grizzled head sunk between his shoulders, lost in some dream. I tramped in noisily. He started out of his dream and looked around.

"Gott!" he cried. He wiped his eyes and looked again. "Is it a dream or is it you?"

"Flesh and blood!" I cried. "Flesh and blood!"

I closed the door and bolted it. He followed my movements with a mixture of astonishment and curiosity in his eyes.

"Now," I began, "what have you done with the proofs which you took from your wife—the proofs of the existence of a twin sister of the Princess Hildegarde of Hohenphalia?"

A noted London club man once laid a wager with a friend that the latter could not sell a given number of gold guineas at a penny a piece. He won his wager, the people refused to buy. They thought he was offering too much for too little.

It may be that the claims made for Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription seem almost too great to women who in years of suffering have found no help in doctors or medicines. But it is to be remembered that no claim is made for "Favorite Prescription" which is not substantiated by thousands of women cured by its use. Its effects are truly wonderful. It wipes out past years of pain as a sponge wipes a slate.

Favorite Prescription is the great medicine for women. It establishes regularity, dries enfeebling drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It is the best preparative for maternity, making the baby's advent practically painless.

"When I wrote to you in March, asking advice as to what to do for myself," says Mrs. Ella Reynolds, of Guffie, McLean Co., Ky., "I was expecting to become a mother in June, and was sick all of the time. Had been sick for several months. Could not get anything to stay in my stomach, not even water. Had miscarriage twice in six months, and threatening all the time with this one. Had female weakness for several years. My hips, back and lower bowels hurt me all the time. Had numbness from my hips down. Had several hard cramping spells, and was not able to do any work at all. I received your answer in a few days, telling me to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I took three bottles, and before I had taken it a week I was better, and before I had taken it a month I was able to help do my work. On the 27th of May my baby was born, and I was only sick three hours, and had an easy time.

"We praise Dr. Pierce's medicine for it has saved me."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets cure biliousness.

SYSTEM TONIC IS A SCIENTIFIC REMEDY AFTER THE SUGGESTIONS OF PHYSICIANS IN AMERICA, DISPENSED BY A CHEMIST.

THE ANATOMY OF THE STOMACH

The stomach is the principal, although not the only, organ of digestion. It is about 12 inches long and four inches in diameter at the largest end. It is shaped like a pear, with large end and entrance to the left, and the small end and exit to the right. In the stomach all solid foods are dissolved, and made ready to be mixed with the bile and pancreatic juices in the second stomach and bowels. If the food is not dissolved in the stomach, it is not dissolved at all, but passes entirely through the system without in any way enriching the body.

Hence the importance of a healthy stomach. The principle trouble is weakness of the muscles of which the stomach is composed, and lack of sensitiveness to the nerves which cause the gastric or food dissolving juices to flow. Two principal features are thus demanded of a stomach remedy. Merrill's System Tonic embodies these features exactly. It tones the muscles and enriches and restores the nerves; not in a transitory, but in a lasting manner. Take it when sour eructation, heartburn, gas on the stomach, pains in the stomach, sense of heaviness in the stomach and a general unpleasant feeling, indicate that your stomach is out of condition. You'll be delighted with the results and pleased to find that you can eat a hearty meal and enjoy it.

SPIRITUALISTIC INVESTIGATIONS.

In the May number of "The Sermon," J. K. Cranston, of Galt, formerly of Woodstock, contributes the following interesting article on his spiritualistic investigations.

Having business in New York about a year ago I one day went into the Occult Book Store kept by Mr. F. W. Evans and asked to see Mr. E. the slate writing medium, and went with him into a little room in the rear of the store and sat down at a small table. He placed eight well-cleaned slates on the table, placed a little slate pencil dust under each, and asked me to place my hand on the two nearest to me. I did so after I had examined the slates, table and room to satisfy myself that there was no possibility of collusion or tricks being played on me. I wrote a few names on slips of paper and put them in my pocket. Mr. E. did not see them. He then set back from the table and I asked a few questions re the philosophy and teaching of Spiritualism for a few minutes he said, "Your friends are now here." He described them correctly, mentioned their names (some I had written down and several others), described our home near Galt, said my friends were writing on the slates. I put my ear close to the slate and could hear the scratch of the pencil chips used by the writers. In less than ten minutes the eight slates were filled with closely written messages giving me advice, counsel and direction about several things I wanted to know, including health and future prospects, and signed by my friends name in full. This surprised me very much, and as I was an absolute stranger to Mr. E.—he to me—how was it to be accounted for unless what he claimed was true—that spirit friends actually did write the message? I brought the slates home with me and have them yet. The writing on each resembles very closely the writing of the parties when in life.

In Toronto last May I went to a seance where I was unknown and knew none of those present. Mrs. Wreidt, of Detroit, was the medium. A trumpet was placed in the centre of the circle, lights put out, and in a few moments my name was called by one claiming to be Mr. ——, of Galt The Speaker, though not one of my immediate friends, certainly knew Galt and what was going on there. I questioned him closely, asked him proof of his identity, which he gave in a most convincing way, talked to me about my own affairs, in which he was interested, talked of his own family and friends and asked me to carry a message to them for him about some trouble they were having. The voice was the voice of the party the spirit claimed to be or most wonderful like it. Then another called me and gave his name also, and we chatted about Galt and Galt people for ten minutes before saying good bye. I also asked him for a proof of identity, which he gave me by reminding me of what I did at a certain time two years before that only one acquainted with my life and history could have given. For two hours or more the departed friends of those in the circle talked with one another, giving names, dates of their "so-called death," advised and counselled about many things with all. The voices of most were quite distinct—some more so than others, owing to the fact that some of the spirits had spoken before through the trumpet and knew how to use it.

After this I attended by invitation a private circle for development in mediumship. I there got behind the scenes, if such can be, I was prepared to find that there was fakery and tricks, but I was soon convinced that these mediums did not fake or scheme to produce the phenomena. Knowing them and meeting for months in this class I had every chance to discover fraud if fraud there was, but I found none.

At home I gave some attention to personal development and have had lots of evidences that convinces me that our departed friends are often with us and are cognisant of much that their loved ones here are doing and experiencing. I believe we are on the eve of greater knowledge and enlightment re the spirit world and the utilisation of the natural laws that govern or can be governed to enable us "at will" to communicate with our so-called dead, but very much alive loved ones in another sphere. I am convinced that there is nothing mysterious or miraculous in all this. Natural and spiritual laws govern and the natural and spiritual are one harmonious whole in their operations and demonstrations.

THROUGH A BRIDGE.

Twenty-Five Men on Cars — Ten Lives Were Crushed Out in a Flash.

Cleveland, Ohio, July 12.—A special to The Plain Dealer from Conneaut, Ohio, says: Just after 10 o'clock yesterday three cars of the east end local freight went through the Nickel Plate bridge at Springfield, Pa. The train left Conneaut only a few minutes before the accident in charge of Engineer William Griffith of Buffalo, and Conductor Phil A. Moore of Buffalo. The latter was killed outright. The bridge gang was at work on the bridge, and the ten men killed are mostly workmen. A fill was being made at the bridge, and about 25 workmen were about the structure. The horrible affair occurred just after passenger train No. 3 had pulled through.

THREE HUNDRED KILLED.

Bloody Conflicts in Corea Between Catholics and Populace.

Berlin, July 12.—The Cologne Gazette publishes a despatch from Seoul, Corea, dated July 6, saying that bloody conflicts extending over a period of ten days have occurred on the Island of Quelpart, between the Roman Catholic missionaries and their pupils and the populace of the island. Fifteen of the natives and about three hundred of the mission pupils are reported to have been killed during the encounters.

Bodeley's Great Score.

London, July 12.—Sergt. O. W. Bodeley of the 5th Royal Canadian Artillery, at Victoria, B. C., was complimented in the camp yesterday for his highly creditable score in the Alexander Martin match at 800 yards. He got within the inner circle in each shot of the ten allowed. The competition continues until next Monday.

Several scores of members of the Canadian team were announced yesterday. In the Armourer's Company match, at 900 yards with ten shots, Staff-Sergt. C. R. Crowe of Guelph scored 47, and Capt. O. W. Wetmore of Sussex, N. B., 46.

He Made Sure of Death.

Hamilton, July 12.—David Sharp, a well-known farmer, living on the stone road, about three miles west of Ancaster, committed suicide yesterday. He was seen to leave his house about 9 o'clock and walk towards the barn. About 11 o'clock his young daughter entered the barn and found her father hanging by the neck to one of the rafters. In addition to partial strangulation by the rope he had sent a bullet through his brain. The shot was fired from a revolver, the bullet entering at one ear and passing through the head and out just below the other. The revolver was found on the floor of the barn below the body. Deceased was about 54 years of age, and of late has suffered much from melancholy.

Shooting at the Falls.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., July 12.—As the result of a quarrel in Scott & McGee's saloon, at Erie avenue and Fourth street, Wednesday night, John Clark, a negro, lies at police headquarters with two serious bullet wounds, and Owen Fisher, the man who is charged with the shooting, is behind the bars. Fisher claims he did the shooting in self-defence.

Fell Through a Hatch.

Fort William, July 12. — Harry Stollery, a young Englishman, employed on the steamer Advance, fell through the hatch a couple of days ago and died last evening without regaining consciousness. It is said he was one of the men who were imprisoned in a mine in British Columbia, not long ago. He was interred in West Fort Cemetery.

THE CANADIAN MINISTERS.

Informal Conference in London Actually at An End.

London, July 12.—The informal Canadian conference in London is actually at an end. Sir Louis Davies sailed yesterday for home, and the Hon. Sydney Fisher will follow him next week. Ministers Fielding, Blair and Dobell will return about the first of August, and Hon. David Mills in due course. Mr. Mills has been more active than his colleagues, since he has been in consultation with the Colonial Office respecting the Imperial Court of Appeal, and Mr. Fisher has also had official work. The results of this visitation by the Canadian Ministers may be important. Mr. Mills has clearly presented the Canadian view on the question of an Imperial Court of Appeal, and his colleagues have united in a chorus of satisfaction over existing relations between the Dominion and the Mother Country. They have received much hospitality and fully enjoyed the holiday in London after a protracted session of work at home. It is probable that an equally important Canadian delegation will be present at the coronation next year.

CROWN OFFICER IN TROUBLE.

Lawyer Cashman Sent For Trial on Charge of False Pretences.

Gore Bay, July 12. — Crown Attorney J. F. J. Cashman was committed for trial here last night by Magistrate Fraser on a charge of obtaining money by false pretences. Mr. Fleming, inspector of Legal Offices for the Ontario Government, who was here in connection with the case, left yesterday.

Judge McCallum, at the opening of the Assize Court last week, called attention to the case of Crown Attorney Cashman, who he claimed had appropriated to his own use $250, which had been sent to him to defray the expenses of jurors in attendance at the sittings. The judge's remarks, which were censorous in character, created a sensation in the court. Chief Justice Falconbridge presided over the sittings.

Fire Hose to Quell Riot.

Chicago, July 12.—In Evanston last night 72 men and 20 women, followers of "Elijah" Dowie, with their own guard of 100 men, attempted to hold a meeting. A crowd numbering 2,000 quickly gathered and began an attack on the Dowie guards.

The Evanston police attempted to stop the disorder, but were powerless. The chief of police summoned the fire department, and, attaching two lines of 4-inch hose to water plugs, sent the water into the thickest of the fray. The heavy streams knocked men and women down, and hundreds were seriously injured by trampling.

The Dowie guards ran off. When the deluge ceased 20 men and women were picked up injured. There were no further attempts at proselyting. This is the third riot in as many weeks.

Wealthy Farmer Suicides.

Petrolea, Ont., July 12. —Samuel Fisher, a citizen of this town, and owning a hundred-acre farm three miles out of town, committed suicide yesterday.

Fisher went to his farm early in the morning as usual, and his wife started for the farm with his dinner about 11 o'clock.

She was terribly surprised to find her husband.

Fisher deliberately fastened a logging chain around his neck and then made the fatal leap. When found he was quite dead and stiff.

Fisher was in fair circumstances. Ill-health is considered the cause. An inquest will be held to-day.

"I think," she said earnestly, "that a woman who truly loves a man always has his best interests at heart."

"Perhaps," he quietly answered, "but"—

"What were you going to say?"

"If that's the case, what makes her marry him?"—Brooklyn Life.

In 1800 all surgical operations were performed without the use of anaesthetics. The use of chloroform was not discovered until 1847. Ether was first used to deaden pain in 1846.

FED ON MILK.

Could Eat Absolutely Nothing—Kept Body and Soul Together With Milk—Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets have Worked a Wonderful Change.

Many a sufferer from Dyspepsia cannot eat the foods of ordinary healthy mortals. Certain meats, certain dishes of various kinds, must not be taken. "It disagrees with me," explains the victim when pressed to take some, oftentimes, quite ordinary and wholesome article of diet. "I never touch it." Pains and penalty follow if this rule is disregarded.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets liberate such people from slavery, the tyranny of ailing digestion. This is their usual everyday work all over the world, and may almost be taken as a matter of course it happens so often.

But the case of Joseph J. Arbour, of Perce, Quebec, is greater than this. For six months Mr. Arbour could not eat a scrap of solid food. His stomach had absolutely broken down. He was literally starving. Life was kept in his body only by feeding him milk.

This man was not only saved from slavery by Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. He was saved from death by slow starvation. There is no doubt about it. Reduced to a glass of milk a day, and digesting that with more and more difficulty as time went on, Mr. Arbour positively could not have kept body and soul together had it not been for Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

To-day Mr. Arbour's stomach can digest anything in the way of food he likes to eat. He used seven boxes of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. They digested the food while the stomach rested; he was able to eat solid nourishment; he grew strong, and his stomach finally regained its power of perfect digestion.

"I cannot recommend Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets too highly."

In cases where Dyspepsia is accompanied by Constipation the small, brown tablets included in every box of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will be found of inestimable value. They act on the liver firmly but gently, stimulating that organ to do its duty securing a prompt easy movement of the bowels.

16 JAPS PRISONERS.

White and Oriental Workers Fight in Vancouver Bay.

THE UNION FISHERMEN'S COUP.

They Have Landed the Japanese on An Unknown Island Where They Will Keep Them Until the Authorities Find the Place of Concealment or the Strike Is Ended.

Vancouver, B. C., July 13.—The developments in the Fraser River strike situation during the last 24 hours read like the proverbial dime novel. The union fishermen have now the upper hand, having accomplished a coup d'etat which is without a parallel in the history of the many labor disturbances in British Columbia. As a result of the battle of small boats out on the gulf, a battle in which many shots were exchanged, but in which no combatant was killed, sixteen Japanese were taken prisoners by the strikers. The Japanese boats were overturned, the rifles and fishing gear of the Orientals thrown into the water, and the Japanese themselves taken to one of the small islands away out in the gulf.

Exactly where this island is located is a secret of the white fishermen, for they chose it several weeks ago, for occasions such as this. They say they will continue to maroon non-union Japanese there for the remainder of the season or until the place is discovered by the authorities. All that is known is that the island is between here and Nanaimo, 50 miles away, and that it is hard to find. The Japanese will be given food every few days and maintained comfortably, although closely guarded, until a settlement is reached or until their association prison is located by the authorities.

Two Provincial Constables were out in Japanese boats yesterday, and effected the arrest of six white fishermen. These are charged with molesting Japanese, and their cases will be heard to-day. A shot was fired from another boat at the time of the arrest, and the arrested men themselves tried to bluff the constables at the time of the arrest by firing in the air. No one was hurt by the shooting.

The Japanese held a big meeting at Steveston, raised by voluntary subscriptions $4,000 for a Japanese hospital, which they think may be needed, and then discussed the salmon-catching situation.

Some were in favor of joining the union men in the strike, especially as the run of salmon has been small this season up to date. The meeting broke up without definite action.

Last evening a big run of salmon is reported as coming in from the south. The canners think the union men will not stand firm in view of the temptation to participate in the catching.

There was renewed talk last evening of turning out the militia.

STEEL STRIKE SITUATION.

Second Day of Pittsburg Conference Ends Without Definite Settlement.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 13.—The second day of conference between employers and employes of United States Steel Corporation adjourned at 4.30 yesterday afternoon to meet again this morning.

President Shaffer said the day had been devoted to discussion and that nothing definite had been done.

It is understood that the steel workers hold out for more than the original object of the strike.

The strikers of the American Sheet Steel Hoop and Tin Plate Companies demand that all the plants be unionized.

The companies offered to sign the union scale for all mills and make the wages uniform. This offer, although it was the main object of the strike, was not accepted.

The difference between the two sides is the question of unionization of all mills, some of which are now non-union.

1,200 MINERS IDLE.

Le Roi and Other Mines in Rossland Are Tied Up.

Salt Lake City, Utah, July 13. — A special says: The biggest strike in many years among the miners of the Northwest is on at Rossland, and 1,200 miners are idle. The strike affects the Le Roi and other mines owned by British companies. The trouble started through the locking out of union smelter men at the Le Roi smelter at Northport, Wash.

Will Pay Transportation.

Buffalo, July 13. — Canadians who intend to exhibit live stock at the Pan-American Exposition during the week following the Toronto Fair, may first display their stock at the Canadian fair if they desire to do so. If Toronto is on the direct line from the shipping point to Buffalo the Pan-American Exposition Company will pay the transportation fees just the same as if no stop was made.

Fell Under Moving Train.

Aurora, July 13. — In attempting to board a moving train at Elmsdale James Fleming of this place was thrown under the cars and his right leg was crushed above the knee, rendering amputation necessary, while his left foot was smashed.

SPECTACULAR EVENT.

The Setting Out of Prince Chun to Apologize to Germany.

THE MURDER OF VON KETTLER.

Gorgeously Attired in the Royal Yellow—A Long Procession—Greeted by the German Minister to China—Many Chinese Assembled at the Pekin Station to Bid the Prince Farewell.

Pekin, July 12. — The departure to-day from Pekin of Prince Chun, younger brother of Emperor Kwang Su, who has been selected formally to apologize at Berlin for the murder of Baron Von Ketteler, was a spectacular event.

A special train took Prince Chun and his suite from here to Taku, from which port he will proceed by steamer to Shanghai. He sails from Shanghai July 20 for Genoa, and will proceed directly from there to Berlin by rail.

Prince Chun came to the railroad station in Pekin on horseback. He was gorgeously attired in the royal yellow, and followed by a long procession, composed of members of his staff, their servants, and the luggage on carts. Here he was met by the present German Minister to China, Dr. Mumm Von Schwarnstein, a German military band and a guard of honor, and two of his brothers. Many Chinese had assembled at the station to bid the Prince farewell.

Two German officers formerly attached to the staff of Field Marshal Count Von Waldersee will personally conduct Prince Chun and his party to Berlin.

A BRITISH LOSS.

Boers Get a Seven Pound Gun, Kill Three and Wound Seven.

London, July 13.—A despatch from Lord Kitchener, dated Pretoria and made public yesterday, says the Boers attacked a constabulary post at Houtkopa, July 11, capturing a seven-pound gun. They were eventually driven off. The British loss was three men killed and seven wounded.

Atrocities Confirmed.

London, July 13.—While it is understood that the sworn statements of soldiers concerning the Boer atrocities at Vlakfontein, being forwarded by Lord Kitchener, prove that wounded soldiers were shot, yet Kitchener denies the shooting of officers for refusing to fire guns on their own troops.

Boer Gold Output Grows

London, July 13. — The Rand output of gold for June was 19,779 ounces, against 7,478 for May. Reckoned at the average fineness of Transvaal gold, the June output of the Rand (the mines about Johannesburg), was worth about $345,000, compared with $130,000 for the May output.

The Rand output for the whole year of 1898 — before the war had greatly affected the total — was 4,295,609 ounces, worth about $75,000,000, a monthly average of nearly 358,000 ounces, valued at $6,250,000.

So, although the June output of this year is more than double the May output, it is still over $6,000,000 below the average month of the best year before the war.

Yerkes Advises the British People.

London, July 13.—Charles T. Yerkes presided at the Walters' Company festival Thursday night and made a speech. Referring to the South African war, Mr. Yerkes said: "The Boers are brave soldiers and resemble the early American frontiersmen, but Great Britain cannot afford half-way measures. Do not pitch into them unmercifully, but pitch into your own people who oppose the war and make them keep their mouths shut until the fight is over. Then settle your differences among yourselves."

JUMPED 35 FEET.

Guelph Man Wanted to Kill Himself, But Was Saved.

Guelph, July 13.—At 7.30 yesterday morning Sam Ewing, for many years 'bus driver at the Wellington Hotel, attempted to commit suicide by drowning. He lives on the north side of the Eramosa bridge, not far from the hotel, and had to cross the bridge to attend to his horses. After feeding them in the morning and recrossing the bridge on his way home, he turned suddenly around a short distance from the bridge, walked back to the middle of it, pulled off his coat and vest, climbed the iron arch, and jumped to the river, some 35 feet below, into about seven or eight feet of water. He was seen making the plunge by a boy on a bicycle, who gave the alarm. Albert Roberts swam in, and with the aid of C. D. Hose and Thomas Russell took him to the shore. Dr. Cowan found him breathing and had little difficulty in bringing him around.

A Burlington Man's Suicide.

Buffalo, July 13.—Fred McMillan, 30 years old, a sailor, whose home is in Burlington, Ont., committed suicide last evening by jumping from the third storey window of a boarding house in South Division street. McMillan struck the pavement head foremost, and was instantly killed. His body was removed to the Morgue, where it will be held until claimed by his relatives. McMillan arrived in Buffalo from Cleveland.

REMNANT WEEK

COMMENCING MONDAY, JULY 15.

Twice a year this store sets apart a week for the clearance of the short lengths, odd pieces, odd sizes, etc. To make these remnant weeks successful we know three things that must be done:

1.—Mark them with a riddance price, i.e., Cheap.

2.—Mark the length and riddance price in plain figures that customers may pick through at ease, and with wisdom do their selecting.

3.—Place them where customers may handily select from them.

Most of these remnants have been marked at 1-2 to 1-3 off, many others at only a fraction of the cost, but what does that matter? They must be cleared.

217 ENDS OF DRESS GOODS

will be shown on a centre table, and will present an object lesson in economy—mostly small lengths, suitable for waists or childrens' dresses, some skirt lengths and a few dress lengths, all marked with the go-out price.

313 ENDS OF SILKS

You'll find these ends on a table in the centre aisle, and when you come to that table pause a moment and scrutinize the price tickets. The better you are as a judge of values, the more likely you will be to buy—many waist lengths among them. You cannot afford to miss them.

550 ENDS OF STAPLE GOODS

Comprising useful lengths of Wash Goods, Outing Flannels, Prints, Cottons, Linens, Towellings, Flannelettes, Cottonades, Shirtings, Art Muslins, Cretonnes, etc. Prices so infinitely small that your 'lay-away box' may be wisely replenished, yes, filled — useful goods in useful lengths, yet have to give way to larger fish—a table full to interest you.

Oddments and

ENDS OF SMALLER GOODS

Such as Embroideries, White Muslins, Allovers, Laces, Flouncings, Ribbons, Trimmings and Oddments of Hosiery, Gloves, Underwear, Belt Buckles, Combs, Stick Pins, etc.

MILLINERY AND MANTLE DEPT.

In this department many odd sizes, odd pieces, single bunches, etc., have been put within easy reach of visitors to that department, all ticketed with a remnant—a riddance price. These prices pertain to separate Skirts and Suits as well.

You can ill afford to miss this "Easy" Remnant Sale at Sutcliffe's, commencing Monday, July 15th, and continuing for one week. All our remnants are out, so better come as early as possible.

PREVENTING DISEASE

The thing medical men are trying to do nowadays more than anything else is to prevent disease—to get the system into a state of soundness, in which disease germs cannot do harm and keep it so. "An ounce of prevention," etc.

Powley's Liquified Ozone does it: provides the system with the oxygen it needs in a form in which it can be used; cleanses the blood, aid digestion, promotes assimilation, stimulates the normal functions.

Nature is the greatest healer after all; it is only necessary to provide the right conditions, Powley's Liquified Ozone is the greatest health-maker ever discovered. Here is one evidence of what it will do.

This is what Mr. Westwood, of the Wilkes, Westwood Co., wholesale dealer in fishing tackle, says about Ozone:

Gentlemen,—In answer to your enquiry regarding my experience with Ozone, would say that we have used it in our home off and on for the past three years. We have found it most useful for stomach trouble and a panacea for the various ills that come up from time to time. We have used it in a great many ways and have found it most beneficial and would not be without it. (Signed) C. H. Westwood, Sec. Treas. The Wilkes-Westwood Co., 92 Bay Street, Toronto.

We could give a multitude of such records.

Powley's Liquified Ozone will cost you 50c and $1.00 a bottle. The druggists will have it. You should read our little pamphlet about it. Sent free; worth sending for.

MISSTATING THE FACTS.

Some journalists and politicians in looking at public affairs seem to use the small end of the telescope. Even the increased Dominion revenue is looked upon as a calamity and the Liberal Government is accused of adding to the taxation of the people. A local journal greets the "Liberal" Huntingdon Gleaner—by the way, about as much a Liberal newspaper as the Montreal Star—as condemning the increase of taxation. This is wrong. We have no increase of taxation, on the contrary there has been a decided reduction in customs duties, made by the Liberal Government, and consequently we have under Liberal rule a great prosperity and increased trade to such a degree as to largely increase the receipts from customs duties upon a much lower scale. There is more business in the country, more goods are imported and consequently, even with a lower rate of taxation there is a large increase in customs duties. This year the people of Canada have paid customs duties of $29,000,000 on an importation of $192,000,000, an average rate of customs duties of 15.5 per cent. In 1896 the people paid customs duties of $20,219,037 on an importation of $110,587,480, an average rate of customs duties of 18.28 per cent. If the people of Canada had paid on the importations of last year—$192 millions of dollars—the same rate that was paid under Conservative rule in 1896, namely 18.20 per cent., the amount derived from customs would have been 35 1-2 millions, instead of 29 millions. In 1890 under Conservative rule the average rate of taxation was 21.21 per cent., the taxes collected being $24,014,908, on a total importation of $112,758,584. If the present Liberal rate of customs duties—15.5 per cent.—had been applied to the importations of 1890, the total customs revenue of that year would have been only 16 3-4 millions of dollars. It is easy to see under what rule the people were highly taxed. Last year we had a large revenue and lower taxation simply because the merchants imported more goods, and of course the people bought more goods because they had more money. Under a Liberal Government we have prosperity and lower taxation, something which, according to the fiscal heresy preached so industriously by Conservatives, is impossible. It argues much in favour of Liberal administration that the Conservative politicians and journals can only seem to score a point by misrepresenting the facts.

Praises Pyramid Pile Cure.

Mrs. Aaron Medron, of Savannah, Ga., writes, "I had piles and rectal trouble for years, until it was was unbearable any longer. As I had often seen Pyramid Pile Cure advertised, I determined to try it, and for two years have never ceased to congratulate myself that I did so, for I have been entirely cured of rectal troubles and two packages of the Pyramid did it."

The Pyramid Pile Cure contains no cocaine, opium, nor any injurious drug whatever, and is absolutely safe, painless, and never fails to cure piles in any form.

Druggists sell full sized treatment of this remedy for 50 cents.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Bowmanville has voted by a big majority a bonus to an evaporation. It will be lucky for the town if the evaporation confins its operations solely to print.

Manitoh nseems to be on top this year. That province will require 12,000 men from the outside to help harvest the tremendous crop of 1901. The prairie province starts the new century well.

Our evening contemporary says the by-election in London a few days ago, had no political significance. Possibly, but there seems to be some political significance in the fact that the Conservatives had not the courage to put a candidate in the field to oppose Colonel Leys.

Growing French Influence.

Paris, July 13.—Senator Jiles Siegfried, former Minister of Commerce, has returned from his American tour. Senator Siegfried referred to the great pleasure he had derived from his reception in Canada. He dwelt on the growing French influence, thanks largely to Sir Wilfrid Laurier's premiership, and predicted for Canada a grand industrial future. The Senator said he found Canada becoming more and more a field of action for Americans, who were beating the British in their own colony.

To Give Up Their Policies.

Chicago, July 13. — According to The Record-Herald, twenty thousand members of the Endowment Rank of the Knights of Pythias are expected to give up their policies and abandon their insurance as the result of the proposed rise in the rates. The rates will be raised an average of 53 per cent.

Killed by a Train.

Napanee, July 13.—William Young, the young man who was run over by Grand Trunk train No. 7 at 4.30 yesterday afternoon in Napanee yard, died at 5.30 p. m. Deceased was 23 years of age and lived at West Palin, a small place about 12 miles north of here.

The "Feelings" of Metals.

Can metals feel? At the Royal Institution in London Professor Jagadis Chunder Bose proved that they can, in much the same way as animal beings.

He struck a piece of copper, pinched a piece of zinc, gave it poison and administered an antidote and threw light upon an artificial retina. In each case the electrical emotion, as registered by the galvanometer, was painful to witness. There is an opening for a society for the prevention of cruelty to metals.

HEART TROUBLE.

BROUGHT ON BY EXPOSURE AND WORRY.

Capt. Geo. Crandell, of Lindsay, Tells How he Secured Release From This Most Dangerous Malady.

(From the Watchman, Lindsay.)

In the town of Lindsay and surrounding country no man is better known or more highly respected than Capt. Geo. Crandell. Forty-seven years ago he was owner and captain of the first steamer that navigated the Scugog. Since that time success has crowned his life both on land and water. For forty-nine years he was a member of the Lindsay town council. He is now 72 years of age and enjoys the best of health, but it has not always been thus. Some years ago the exposure and worry incident to his calling began to tell upon his health and his heart showed signs of weakness. His sufferings and complete restoration through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are best told by himself. To a reporter the captain gave the following story:

"Several years ago my heart began to bother me. At first I took little notice of it, but the trouble gradually grew worse until I had to summon medical aid. I suffered much pain and at times was attacked by smothering spells which caused me great distress. Frequently these spells attacked me during the night and it was with difficulty that I managed to breathe at all. I consulted several doctors, but their medicine failed to benefit me. I then tried a much advertised remedy, but this also failed to help me. I had always been fond of smoking, but I was in such poor health that a few puffs from a cigar would distress me so much that I had to give it up altogether. I grew worse day by day and began to think my end was near and that I would die from the trouble. Some time ago I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. After taking one box I noted an improvement in my condition and so I continued their use. I kept on improving till now I am as well and strong as I ever was in my life before, and have not been bothered with the least sign of my former malady for months. I am now able to enjoy a smoke as I used to without feeling the least distress. All this I owe to the greatest of all remedies, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Rich, red blood and strong nerves are the keystone to health. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the most widely known and praised of medicines because from first dose to last they make new, life-giving blood, and restore weak and shattered nerves, bringing new health and strength to hitherto despondent sufferers. Do not take any substitute—do not take anything that does not bear the full name, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People," on the wrapper around the box. Sold by all dealers or by mail post paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Ottawa, July 13.—Mayor Morris, who is in favor of establishing municipal coal yards in order to meet and overcome the effects of the combine, is issuing circulars to all the leading cities and towns of the province, outlining the idea and suggesting that the matter be discussed at the municipal convention in Toronto in September.

Removed From Office.

Toronto, July 13. — J. T. J. Cashman, District Crown Attorney and Clerk of the Peace at Gore Bay, Manitoulin Island, has been removed from office by the Attorney-General's Department on account of complaints of irregularities and misconduct. The charge was investigated by Mr. Fleming, Inspector of Legal Offices.

Diplomacy a Fine Art.

Diplomacy is a fine art, and in its successful practice much depends upon the observation of social conventions. Some of the most successful diplomats seem to spend most of their time at dinners and parties, apparently doing nothing but enjoying themselves, but in reality serving well their countries. In truth, the reputation of a country at a foreign court and ofttimes its welfare in important issues depend very largely upon the social abilities of its minister, for the man who is popular socially is very likely to drive a better international bargain than his unsociable brother. This is well understood at Washington, and the selection of a chief for one of our foreign embassies depends in no small part upon his social culture.—Edward Page Gaston in Woman's Home Companion.

CANADA AND GERMANY.

Possible Tariff War If Montreal Advice Is Followed.

London, July 13.—The resolution of the Montreal Corn Exchange that the Canadian Government should be asked to make commercial reprisals against Germany has greatly excited German protectionists. They characterize the resolution as an example of extraordinary naivety on the part of that commercial body. The present state of things by which Canada is excluded from the most-favored-nation clause was brought about, they say, by Canada allowing preferential duties on English goods. Since that time there exists between Germany and Great Britain only the most-favored-nation clause on the basis of reciprocity. Since Canada offers no such reciprocity she is regarded as having no claim whatever to participate in Germany in the most-favored-nation clause. The application of the German general tariff to Canadian goods was Germany's reply to Canada's action, and if the Canadian Government yields to the request of the Montreal Exchange the result, say the Germans, will be an increase of 50 per cent. in the German general tariff on Canadian goods.

FED ON MILK.

Could Eat Absolutely Nothing—Kept Body and Soul Together With Milk—Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets have Worked a Wonderful Change.

Many a sufferer from Dyspepsia cannot eat the foods of ordinary healthy mortals. Certain meats, certain dishes of various kinds, must not be taken. "It disagrees with me," explains the victim when pressed to take some, oftentimes, quite ordinary and wholesome article of diet. "I never touch it." Pains and penalty follow if this rule is disregarded.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets liberate such people from slavery, the tyranny of ailing digestion. This is their usual everyday work all over the world, and may almost be taken as a matter of course it happens so often.

But the case of Joseph J. Arbour, of Perve, Quebec, is greater than this. For six months Mr. Arbour could not eat a scrap of solid food. His stomach had absolutely broken down. He was literally starving. Life was kept in his body only by feeding him milk.

This man was not only saved from slavery by Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. He was saved from death by slow starvation. There is no doubt about it. Reduced to a glass of milk a day, and digesting that with more and more difficulty as time went on, Mr. Arbour positively could not have kept body and soul together had it not been for Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

To-day Mr. Arbour's stomach can digest anything in the way of food he likes to eat. He used seven boxes of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. They digested the food while the stomach rested; he was able to eat solid nourishment; he grew strong, and his stomach finally regained its power of perfect digestion.

"I cannot recommend Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets too highly."

In cases where Dyspepsia is accompanied by Constipation the small, brown tablets included in every box of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will be found of inestimable value. They act on the liver firmly but gently, stimulating that organ to do its duty securing a prompt easy movement of the bowels.

Law Suit in Sight.

Fort William, July 13.—An international law suit is in sight. The Preston, the tug boat and the lighters are in the hands of the court. The tug Mer went to save the Preston, but the tug Arcada had already picked her up. The tug Root came to wreck the Preston. She was seized and brought to port.

President of Chile Dead.

Buenos Ayres, July 13.—Senor Federino Egrazuriz, President of Chile, who had been in feeble health for more than a year, is dead.

THE INTERCOLONIAL.

J. M. Daly Appointed to Organize the Fast Freight System on the Government Railway of Canada.

"Nothing new," was the legend attached to the C. P. R. strike situation on Friday.

Two bodies are floating in the Niagara Falls Whirlpool, and five men are waiting on the Canadian shore to catch them if they come in close.

Joseph Sutton was struck by a L. E. & D. R. R. train at Dutton Thursday and thrown about ten feet. Four of his ribs were broken, and his arm badly smashed.

Manager E. G. Russell of the Intercolonial has appointed J. M. Daly, the patentee of the fast freight checking system, to organize the fast freight system of the I. C. R.

John E. Fielding, brother of Hon. W. S. Fielding, Minister of Finance, died at Boston on Friday. He was 50 years of age and employed in the auditor's office of the Boston Elevated Railroad.

Big and enthusiastic celebrations of the anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne took place at Toronto, Napanee, Port Hope, Brantford, Uxbridge, Lucknow, and many other places both big and small on Friday. In Montreal the day was quiet, with the banquet in the evening.

Prof. McLean of Ottawa, special commissioner of the Dominion Government, visited Toronto on Friday and heard the complaints of the Toronto Board of Trade against the C. P. R. and G. T. R. The Board's indictment of the railways was long and gave many details. Nothing was actually effected, and Prof. McLean will shortly visit Toronto again to receive reports of what is done locally to ease freight discrimination.

LINER'S NARROW SQUEAK.

Almost Ran Head-on on Fastnet Rocks in a Fog.

Queenstown, July 13.—The Cork Examiner yesterday printed a sensational story of the miraculous escape of a four-masted passenger steamer, westward bound, from being wrecked off the Fastnet Rocks at 3 p. m. Wednesday. The Examiner says the fog lifted in the nick of time to save the vessel from a fearful disaster. The light-keepers at Fastnet were horrified to see a steamer from the east running full on the little Fastnet 400 yards east-south-west. Fastnet immediately discharged an alarm gun, signalling urgent danger. Before the liner could be slowed up or her engines reversed she had apparently touched the little Fastnet rock, as she was seen to lie to starboard and then to port. The onlookers noticed a momentary scene of great excitement on board the liner. But she was apparently uninjured as she proceeded.

Baby Got Opium.

St. Catharines, July 13. — Mrs. J. B. Bowman, St. Paul street, left her two children with a 16-year-old girl named Grace Beckett on Wednesday while she went to her employment, and on returning at noon found the younger child, a babe of two years, in a deep sleep, from which he could not be aroused. Dr. Jory was called in and found that the child was under the influence of opium. Whether the child found a bottle of the drug and drank it, or whether an overdose was given him to keep him quiet, is not certain. The child is recovering.

About 5,000 will be camped on the Exhibition grounds, and the remainder in the East End of the city. Over 30 regiments will be reviewed by the Duke. The city corps will be drawn from Toronto, Hamilton, London, St. Catharines, St. Thomas, Brantford, Stratford, Belleville, Peterboro, Brockville and Ottawa, and the rural corps from Districts 1, 2, 3 and 4.

Is the Mystery Unraveling?

Niagara Falls, July 13.—The description of the young woman who was found dead at the Parkside Inn on June 23, corresponds with that of Miss Gee of Silver Hill, Norfolk County, Ont., an employe of the Commercial Hotel at Hamilton, who left some time ago for this city, and has not been heard of since. B. J. Goold of Niagara Falls South interested himself in unraveling the mystery of the young woman's identity, and has notified the relatives at Silver Hill.

SAVED WIFE AND BABE

A Temiscaming Settler's Awful Experience.

HID IN WELL FOR FOUR HOURS.

Comfortable Homes Built Up After Years of Labor Razed to the Ground—Party From Fire Swept District of Temiscaming Tell of the Destruction Wrought by Fire.

Toronto, July 13.—The awful destructiveness of the recent bush fire in the Temiscaming district of New Ontario was witnessed by a Hillsburg party, who arrived in Toronto yesterday from the north. The party comprised W. F. Allan and Horace Royce, John and Isaac Awrey and Edward Jackson, and they bring back glowing reports of the country. Each of them took up a section of 160 acres of timber lands. The presence of two fine specimens of moose indicates that game abound in the forests, and the rivers teem with fish. The timber is largely spruce.

Speaking of the great fire the gentlemen said that a tract of 30,000 acres was swept, the timber from which will have to be cut soon to save it. Within two miles of their land the flames reached, and their fury was awful to witness. A Toronto man, who has lately cleared his holding and was just beginning to reap the benefits of his settlement duties, had an experience that he will not soon forget. He was working 14 miles from his home and saw the onward progress of the great funnel of smoke towards him. With one thought for the safety for his wife and baby he ran across the unbroken country and reached the house in two hours and a half to find the fire all about the little home and his wife frantic in the midst of the terrible situation. She was about to leave the house and run into the teeth of the great sheet of flame, when he took the babe in his arms, and led the half-crazed woman to the well. There they sought a haven, remaining underground for four hours until the dying down of the fire allowed them to emerge with safety. Not a stick was left of their comfortable home, the result of years of hard labor.

Another man saved his team of horses and what valuables he could crowd into a wagon by driving furiously ahead of the fire, and he, too, lost his homestead. Careful inquiry places the number of families burned out as 45.

The flames leaped across rivers a quarter of a mile wide, and but for the providential rains, which soaked the unburnt country, the horror of the calamity would have been far-reaching. The fire was caused by a settler burning his clearing.

The Hon. E. J. Davis, Commissioner of Crown Lands, returned yesterday from his visit to Rondeau Park, and found a number of letters acquainting him of the disastrous fire in the Temiscaming district. He ordered Mr. Thomas Southworth of the department to proceed to New Liskeard immediately, clothing him with power to alleviate the present suffering, and to report the necessity of further assistance. Mr. Southworth will make a full report to the department on his return.

Province Will Save Money.

Nelson, B. C., July 13.—Fred Collins, the Woodstock boy who has been confined in jail here pending the carrying out of the sentence of death upon him, received the news that the sentence had been commuted to life imprisonment with the same indifference which he has manifested in his fate from the start, his only comment being that the action of the Government would save the Province the amount expended in keeping up the death watch. Collins will be confined in the New Westminster Penitentiary.

Double Elopement.

Winnipeg, July 13.—Richard H. Lower, Woodlands, was arrested yesterday on a charge of abducting Alice Broadfoot, a 15-year-old girl, daughter of a respected farmer in this district. He reached Winnipeg with the girl, but was pursued. The girl's brother, William Henry, and a school mistress in the neighborhood also eloped. The quartet came to Winnipeg and were located, but three got away to Minneapolis. Lower was arrested.

ELCHO CHALLENGE SHIELD.

At the National Shoot at Bisley, England Wins It With a Score of 1609.

Bisley Camp, July 13. — A match that always attracts a big body of competitors at the Bisley ranges is that for the Prince of Wales' Prize, and yesterday's contest was not an exception to this rule. The day was intensely warm, the sun pouring down its rays upon the ranges, and the heat interferred with the effectiveness of the markmanship of many of the men. Slight breezes of a shifty nature were blowing during the entire match.

The Prince of Wales match is open only to winners of N. R. medals, and the aggregate value of the prizes reaches $1,500. There are two ranges, 200 and 600 yards, with ten shots at each distance.

The scores made by the Canadians were as follows:

Dr. Pitcher's

BACKACHE KIDNEY TABLETS.

(Formula of Zina Pitcher, M. D., Late Professor of Materia Medica and Genito Urinary Diseases, Michigan College of Medicine, Detroit, Michigan, U. S. A.)

Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets are the quickest and surest relief for Backache and Kidney troubles, and can show more evidence to that effect than all other advertised medicines combined. Dr. Pitcher stakes his reputation on these Tablets for Backache and Kidney troubles, and will not allow them to be advertised as a "jack of all trades" medicine.

Mrs. Sarah Bevan, of Port Hope says: "Thirteen years ago I fell and injured my back, and since then have known very little comfort with Backache or Kidney troubles. I have tried all kinds of medicines and seen many physicians, but got no help until I began the bottle of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets that I got from R. Deyell, druggist. They have done me a world of good. I feel stronger; the dizziness and pain are gone, and I cannot tell you how pleased I am, and everyone else says the same of them. They are just what everyone wanted. I hope others will use them and get well."

Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets are put up in wooden bottles, with green wrapper, bearing the portrait and signature of Z. Pitcher, M. D. Each bottle contains fifty tablets; price 50c per bottle. Manufactured by the Dr. Zina Pitcher Co., Toronto, Ont.

FOUR TRAMP'S SENTENCED.

They Got Six Months Each in Central Prison.

Burns Stole a Parcel of Laundry From the Verandah of Mrs. Tully's Residence—The Arrests.

Four tough looking "hoboes" sat in the prisoner's box at the Police Court this morning.

They gave their names and addresses as follows:

Joe Kelly, labourer, Toronto.
Ed. Burns, labourer Toronto.
Frank Johnston, labourer, Toronto.
John Shaw, labourer, Dundas.

They were all dirty filthy looking individuals of the tramp variety and sat in the box in an unconcerned manner. Burns, Johnston and Kelly were charged with the theft of a parcel of goods from the boarding house of Mrs. Tully, corner King and Stewart streets, whilst the entire four were charged with vagrancy.

The circumstances of the robbery were quite exciting and only go to show the necessity of people keeping their houses securely locked when out of them.

Mr. E. Walton driver of Parker's laundry wagon, at, about 3.45 o'clock yesterday afternoon went to the house of Mrs. Tully to leave a parcel of laundry for Mr. A. B. Cunningham, a boarder. There was no one at home and the parcel was left on a chair on the verandah. It consisted of two shirts, three collars, two pair socks, and 3 handkerchiefs.

Mrs. Tully shortly afterwards, on her way home and when near her residence, noticed a strange looking man cross the street apparently from her house. He had a parcel under his coat. He came down King street to the Grand Trunk station, where he joined Johnston and Kelly. Mrs. Tully followed them and gave the alarm. They passed over to Charlotte street and a gentleman telephoned to the police from Mr. J. J. McBain's office. At the same time Mr. Alex Reid came along and being told by Mrs. Tully what was the matter the well known expressman started in pursuit. The tramps turned down George street, two entering a drive way going into Taylor's livery. Kelly made a dash straight on, however, and Mr. Reid endeavoured to collar the other pair. This he did for a while Burns dropped the parcel of laundry and attempted to make away, but was caught by P. C. McGinty, and Johnston and he were taken to the police station. In the evening the chief with P. C. McGinty, visited Burnham's Point and arrested Kelly. He was engaged in boiling some tea in genuine tramp style. Shaw who was with him was also arrested. The four tramps had no money on their persons, but had the usual tramp outfit.

At the Police Court this morning they pleaded not guilty, but the evidence was too glaring against them and they were each given six months in the Central Prison on a charge of vagrancy. Burns was found guilty of larceny but this charge against the other three was not proven. The magistrate did not give Burns any extra sentence for the larceny, stating that the six months term would do him as well.

Too much credit cannot be given to Mrs. Tully for the able manner she assisted in running the tramps down. She kept up a most persistent pursuit and had it not been for her the tramps might yet perhaps be at large.

A Royal Outing.

The hall is cool and ice water is supplied.

A Quiet Wedding.

A quiet wedding took place at the George street parsonage on July 2nd, when Mr. E. G. Dormer of town, and Miss Etta Revoy, of Ashburnham, were united in marriage. The bride was assisted by her sister, Miss May Revoy, and Mr. Fred Sanderson officiated as groomsman, the ceremony being performed by Rev. J. P. Wilson. Mr. and Mrs. Dormer have taken up residence at No. 20 Albert street.

LT.-COL. EDWARDS' HOSPITALITY.

A Socio-Military Evening at "Rocklands."

MAJOR MACDONALD PRESENT

South African Campaigning Considered—Lessons of Boer War to Canadian Militiamen—War on a Business Basis.

A gate flung wide ajar, a gateway flanked by boulder-built walls, the strong face softened with green vines, a broad, gravel drive, ending in green, terraced lawns, shaded by lordly maples, a cordial grasp of the hand, and a cheery, hospitable welcome, which lost none of its cordial quality to eleven o'clock, were the features that met the two dozen or so gentlemen who responded to Col. Edwards' invitation to "Rocklands" last night to meet Major Macdonald, of the Canadian Mounted Rifles, invalided home from South Africa.

A more delightful rus in urbe than Col. Edwards' beautiful home on the west boundary is not to be found in the district or country, and a pleasanter evening than that spent by a jovial squad of military guests, with a redeeming leaven of civilians, could not be enjoyed. A circle of about five and twenty gentlemen, luxurating in easy chairs resting on the smooth turf, in comfortable hot-weather mufti, revelled in the crisp cool air that stole through fragrant pine and fruiting orchard. The smoke from pipe and cigar rising lazily to the canopy of green leaves of a giant maple, which boasted of half a century of sunshine and soil stored in its spreading branches, was an added pleasure, but the culmination of enjoyment was reached when Major Macdonald was coaxed out of khaki, and persuaded to talk about his South African experiences — to figuratively "shoulder his crutch, and show how fields were won." The gallant Major's reply to such a request might well have been that of the Trojan hero to Queen Dido, "infandum regina jubes renovare dolorem," for he had a close call to being a central figure in a military function calling for muffled drums and a firing party. After a Boer bullet had ploughed through his right lung and into his liver, an abscess was doing its deadly work, and if the operating knife of an Australian surgeon had been withheld twenty-four hours longer, Major Macdonald would never have been sitting on the green turf of "Rocklands." Naturally stories of hair-breadth escapes came on. Carrington-Smith, an R.M.C. Canadian officer, was shot through the right knee joint one day. The surgeons wanted to chop off the leg; the Canuck resisted, and recovered. Close to recovery a bullet crashed through the left knee, but the plucky officer still lives and moves and has the use of his legs. An athletic Australian, with his socks six feet three inches below his hair, was hit by a bullet in the left side of his forehead near the temple. The bullet ploughed through his brain, and came out behind the ear. His comrades left him for dead where he fell senseless, his weight and the folly of risking lives to carry off the field a dead man, operating to this decision. After hours the dead man recovered and sat up, this act striking more deadly terror to the hearts of looting burghers robbing dead bodies, secundum morem, than lyddite or pom-pom. The surgeons took away three ounces of brain, and the man recovered, though one side of the body was paralyzed for a time. "Dandy" Lillie, as his comrades called him, is now in London, if he has not gone home to Australia, after the removal of a spiculum of bone, which, pressing on the brain had brought on epileptic convulsions. Another close shave: The Canadian Mounted Rifles were preparing breakfast in camp at the foot of a kopje. The Boers surprised them and a rain of pom-pom shells fell into the camp, but not a man was killed, though one shell went through a row of eight camp kettles hanging on a pole over the fire, with soldiers standing on each side of the range of pots waiting for them to boil.

THE LESSONS OF THE WAR.

Major Macdonald is a modest man, for getting talk out of him, especially about himself, is something like a dental operation. But when he does talk he talks to the point, for he evidentally used his mental as well as his material eyes, in seeing things in South Africa. His little talk about the lessons of the war to Canadian militia men was as interesting as instructive. Canadian officers should broaden the range of their knowledge. Every officer should know everything about his men, there special capabilities, so that these could be turned to use in the field, when actual campaigning came. They should know the exact military strength of the town, so that their hand could be placed on every available man, should the application of the Militia Act in case of invasion, bring every man into service. In case an army corps were formed, every butcher, baker, carpenter, blacksmith, etc., should be known, so that their services could be available at the shortest notice. They should have a perfect knowledge of the country around the town, the best points of defence and the best positions to seize and hold, and accurate sketches of the whole country should be made. There should be a thorough knowledge of all the facilities for moving troops rapidly to any desired point. Canadians would make the best soldiers in the world, and with these aids would give a stubborn defence to their country. The cavalry arm of the service of the flashing sabre would be revised; cavalry should be armed with rifles, and training of all troops be made more practical; nothing should be carried that could not be put to use. The day of frills and feathers is past. A soldier should take nothing into the field that will not help him kill his man or keep himself. Major Macdonald elaborated and illustrated these general ideas and many others in a most practical and interesting way and the officer who did not learn a great deal about the requirements of real soldiering last night, wasn't paying attention.

AT MESS.

The next move in the campaign was a change of base to the wide verandah, where Mrs. Edwards very gracefully and cordially supplemented the hospitality of her husband. Her management of the commissariat department was admirable, though the guests made a delightful "mess" of it. The company "formed fours" around daintily laid tables and a collation, with iced lemon and coffee, was greatly enjoyed. There was no formal chairman, but those present can bear testimony to Major Macdonald's complete recovery, and his ability to not only occupy the chair, but two chairs at once, if he chose.

Col. Edwards, with a ring of pride in his voice, read the list of twelve officers of the 57th who had successfully passed the qualification examinations, Adjutant Walker being the dux of the class.

After a splendid recitation of Drummond's "Glencoe," by Major Miller, and after Major Macdonald's health had been enthusiastically drunk and response made in a neat little speech, the company separated, to carry away memories of the most delightful evening possible in which the absorption of interesting information disputed first place with absolute, unadulterated enjoyment.

TIME TO STOP.

The Trades and Labour Organizations of Toronto, Have an Idea.

The Toronto Mail and Empire yesterday contained the following item the sentiment of which may be applied locally:

"At the meeting of the trades and Labour Council last evening the delegates to the Labour Day Demonstration Committee were instructed to vote against the soliciting of prizes from merchants for the annual games. In the opinion of the Council it was beneath the dignity of labour organization to "hold up" merchants after the fashion employed in former years. It was decided that the funds for the purchases of the prizes should be supplied by the several labour unions."

It is a well known fact that Peterborough merchants are victimized to a very great extent in this regard and the practice of late has become alarming. Not only are the merchants singled out but the hotel keepers and other establishments of all kinds. It has been the custom of smaller villages which are putting on celebrations, picnics or the like, to come to Peterborough and practically speaking "hold up" the business men for prizes—of course the business man does not care to object point blank, with the result that the system as before stated is becoming disastrous. Let schools and other institutions take a hint in this regard.

NOTES FROM THE CANAL.

The Work is Being Pushed Forward—About 200 Men Engaged.

Operations at the canal are quite active at present and the work is being pushed along with the greatest possible speed. At the present time there are about two hundred men at work and the wages paid are reported to be quite up to the standard for labourers. Men and teams are being paid $3 a day each.

Notwithstanding the great heat the men are pegging away, but if there is a hotter place on earth than at the lift lock the men would like to know of it. The clay is baked very hard and the traffic over the same has left a thick layer of dust calculated to blind one when a wind storm arises. The heat of the sun bounces back from the stone heaps and concrete structure, but the men bear it all.

If the work proceeds from now forward as it has been of late, the lift lock will assume a rather finished appearance a year from now. In fact it is only now that one can form an opinion of what kind of a structure the men are working at.

The canal from the Norwood road to the lift lock is moulding into a finished state. The east bank of the canal has been completed in its rough state and men are busily engaged piling up the west bank of the channel.

There has been an enormous amount of concrete placed on the lock during the past few months and it will not be very long before the proper height of the lock is reched. Visitors to the lock on Sundays are forbidden to enter or trespass on the same. It appears that the public have been abusing this privilege by attempting to deface the concrete by engraving their names thereon.

The steam dredge "Trent" is engaged at the mouth of the local section, at lock No. 6, Little Lake, in dredging out the old coffer dam.

57th TO BE THERE.

Massing of Troops in Toronto in the Duke of York's Honour.

The ten thousand men who are to be reviewed by the Duke of Cornwall and York in Toronto will likely be in the city for two days. How to find accommodation for them will be a problem for the Militia Department to deal with, but it is deemed easy of solution. The Department has the right to use the Exhibition grounds after the annual show has closed. It will be possible there to find accommodation for perhaps 5,000 men. The remainder will probably encamp in the east end of the city. Over thirty regiments will appear in review before the Heir-Apparent. The city corps will be drawn from Toronto, Hamilton, London, St. Thomas, Brantford, Stratford, Belleville, Peterborough, Brockville and Ottawa, and will number about 5,500 men. The remainder will be selected from the rural corps of Nos. 1, 2, 3, and 4 districts. The catering for such a large body of men will not be an easy matter by any means.

OBITUARY.

Demise of Mr. W. A. Boates in the Township of Harvey.

A very sad and sudden death occurred in the Township of Harvey, on Saturday, June 29th, when Mr. William A. Boate succumbed to heart failure. Mr. Boate had been very well in the morning and had driven to the residence of his son-in-law, a distance of about six miles. On his return he complained of pain in the chest, and in less than an hour he died. The late Mr. Boate was the oldest brother of Mr. J. R. Boate, Reeve of the Township of Emily. His funeral was largely attended. The solemn service of the church for the burial of the dead was said in St. James Church, where Rev. Mr. Langfeldt also preached a comforting sermon from I Thess. iv., 14. The departed was interred in Emily Cemetery.

THE CARE OF THE SKIN.

What with our hot sun, our mosquitoes and black flies, and our extremes fo heat, the skin has its own troubles during our Canadian Summer, and if it is to fulfill its duties properly it must be kept in good order.

Every one knows that the pores of the skin act as a wonderful drainage system for the body. Through their minute openings they carry off all impurities, and to allow them to do this, which by the way is one of the most important secrets of a good complexion, the skin must be kept soft and clean.

Nothing will help nature so much in this as a combination of good water, good soap and good friction with the towel.

So far as soap goes we have in Canada a toilet soap which is really unexcelled for keeping the skin in good order. It is comparatively inexpensive and easy to get as all dealers sell it. We refer to Baby's Own Soap made by the Albert Toilet Soap Co., Montreal.

Made from vegetable fats, only no animal grease whatever, this soap cleanses and softens, and its exquisite aroma is most delicate and pleasing.

The waterworks will supply the other requisite and with good smart friction after the bath it is surprising how free the skin will be from painful sunburns, eruptions, and how fresh and clean the complexion will become.

Try it, it is cheaper, and better than any cosmetic.—Communicated.

The Wrong Room.

"While spending a vacation at Bedford Springs, Pa., some years ago," said a Baltimore lawyer the other day, "I went late one night to my room, as I supposed, unlocked the door and was startled by a woman's screams. I realised at once that I had got into the wrong room. You may be sure I did not waste any time getting out into the corridor, locking the door again and entering my room, which happened to be the next one. While I was doing this the woman continued screaming, alarming the whole hotel. A crowd soon gathered, and when the woman could be persuaded to open the door she declared there was a man in her room. Of course no intruder was found, and as the door was locked when the crowd gathered the lady was told that she must have had a nightmare and imagined she saw a man in her room. I kept quiet, and every one else in the hotel was convinced that the lady's imagination had worked upon her fears."

HOW TO BRING SLEEP.

A Novel Scheme For Wooing Nature's Sweet Restorer.

To get a good night's sleep, says a college president, assume an easy position, with the hands resting over the abdomen. Take a long, slow but easy and natural breath in such a way as gradually and gently to lift the hands outward by the action of the abdomen. At the same time slowly and gradually open the eyes so that at the end of the inspiration they are wide open and directed upward. Let the breath out easily and naturally, letting the hands fall inward as the outward pressure of the abdomen is withdrawn. At the same time let the eyes drop and the eyelids naturally fall of their own weight, so that they are closed at the end of the expiration. Do all this quietly and naturally. Do not make too hard work of it.

Repeat the inspiration and expiration, with opening and lifting, dropping and closing of the eyes, ten times. Then take ten breaths in the same way, allowing the eyes to remain closed. Alternate ten breaths with opening and closing of the eyes and breaths with closed eyes. When the eyelids begin to feel heavy and you feel tired and sleepy, as you will very soon, go through the motions more and more easily and lazily until you merely will the motions without making any effort, or hardly any effort, to execute them. At this stage, or more likely in one of the intervals of breathing without any motion of the eyes, you will fall asleep.

Nervous persons will have some difficulty at first in the gradual opening and closing of the eyes. They will tend to fly open and then snap together. But, as putting salt on a dove's tail is a sure rule for catching the dove, so this gradual and easy opening and closing of the eyes in rhythm, with quiet, natural breathing, when once secured, is almost equivalent to dropping off to sleep. This rule induces the respiration that is characteristic of normal sleep. It tires the set of muscles the tiring of which is one of the favorite devices for producing hypnosis. It produces and calls attention to certain sensations in the eyes and eyelids which are the normal precursors of sleep. Finally, persons who have had difficulty in going to sleep and staying asleep, report that this method puts them to sleep, and puts them back again when they wake up too soon.—Outlook.

NOT TENDERFEET, THESE.

Observations by a Traveler on the Hardened Soles of Florida.

"I don't know what you mean when you speak of tender feet," said Colonel Munson. "But I recently saw a couple of illustrations of what tough feet are.

"While at St. Petersburg, Fla., I had occasion to employ a conch, or salt water native, to help me get my boat into the water. I gave him a cigar and a match at the beginning of the engagement, and he was about to strike the match upon the freshly painted side of the boat, but something in the expression of my face must have deterred him, as he suddenly withdrew his hand, raised his bare foot and scratched the match upon his heel. It was the first time I ever saw it done, and it grated upon my nerves for a moment.

"Later I was cruising on Matanzas pass, and we came upon a bed of fine oysters which Commodore Garry Van Horne of Jersey City had recently discovered. My man started to gather some, but before getting out of the boat he took off a new pair of shoes, saying, 'I don't mean to git them new shoes all cut to pieces.'

"He had no stockings on, and I wondered at him, as I did when I first saw a Jap climb a ladder of swords with which he had previously slit up sheets of paper, for the Florida oyster has an edge which would put a razor to shame, and I never touched a bunch of oysters without losing blood.

"One day when we were getting up a sheep's head roast on Sanibel island my friend, Charles B. Hogg of Pleasure Bay, N. J., remarked to a darky, 'You are standing on a live coal!'

"'I thought I smelt sumfin burnin,'" said the darky as he leisurely removed his sole from the glowing ember.

"The skin on this negro's feet was hard baked and nearly a quarter of an inch thick. I looked closely at him when he came out of the water after wading for five hours, and there was a ridge of skin like the welt of a shoe all around his foot. It was nearly a quarter of an inch wider than his foot and was grayish white, having been swollen and bleached by the salt water of the gulf."

For cuts, wounds, rheumatism, stiff joints, burns, scalds, bites of insects, croup, coughs, colds, Hagyard's Yellow Oil will be found an excellent remedy.

FALLEN FLOWERS.

One of the workers of the world,
Living, toiled and, toiling, died,
But others worked, and the world went on
And was not changed when he was gone;
A strong arm stricken, a wide mill furled,
And only a few men sighed.

One of the heroes of the world
Fought to conquer, then fought to fall
And fell down slain in his blood stained mail,
And over his form they slept;
His cause was lost and his banner furled,
And only a woman wept.

One of the singers among mankind
Sang healing songs from an o'erwrought heart,
But ere men listened the grass and wind
Were wasting the rest unsung like a wave,
And now of his fame that will ne'er depart
He has never heard in his grave.

One of the women who only love
Loved and grieved and faded away.
Ah me! Are these gone to the God above?
What more of each can I say?
They are human flowers that flower and fall.
This is the song and the end of them all.
—Arthur O'Shaughnessy.

BIG WORDS.

Sometimes They Come Handy to Those Who Know Them.

"I do not like big words as a usual thing, but occasionally they are a great convenience, for they are great savers of space and time," remarked a gentleman who occasionally breaks into a magazine with a heavy weight. "By multiplying the prefixes or sandwiching in the fraction of the root of some word here and there a combination can be arranged that will convey in a single word and at a single glance an idea that ordinarily it would take a multiplicity of words to convey. For this reason medical jurisprudence and scientific literature generally are rich with what is regarded as a rare and extraordinary vocabulary.

"Yet there are but few words used in any of the branches of science which a mere novice in language could not understand if he would but analyze the combination and think for a moment of the derivative fragments which are to be found. Sometimes the word may string out over half a line in an ordinary newspaper column, but an examination of it will show that, even independent of the context, one may easily understand it if one will but reflect for a moment upon the fragments of other simpler words which are preserved in the combination.

I had an amazing experience once with a big word, and incidentally the use of it profited me in a small way. I had blazed out on the negro problem, and in a discussion of the mental status of the negro I had occasion to refer to the popular belief among negroes in a material heaven and urged in my contention that the negro race was a primitive race; that even his conception of a deity had not yet undergone the processes of deanthropomorphization. The word struck me because of its convenience and expressiveness, conveying as it does an idea that could scarcely be conveyed by anything less than a dozen words.

"There was a lean, cadaverous bill collector who walked in my shadow on pay day. He walked into the office, with a copy of my article in his hand. 'Excuse me,' he said, 'but me and my wife read your article on the negro question, and, being southerners, we indorse all you say. But there is one thing about it,' he continued timidly, 'which we do not understand, and since we have failed to find the word in the dictionary I thought I would ask you what it meant.'

"I did not know exactly what he was driving at and thought at first he was joking me. He pointed out the word 'deanthropomorphization.' I picked it to pieces for him in sections, and he smiled blandly and in his embarrassment forgot to present the bill which he had been trying to collect, and never after that did he dun me.

"But it taught me a more serious lesson, for I honestly believe that whatever merit there was in my article was lost on that couple because of the intense interest and curious concern which centered in the word which they did not understand. I have not used the word since, and, while it may be a convenience in literary construction, I believe I would rather spell the idea out in smaller characters."

Two Unusual Epitaphs.

A Charleston churchyard contains the dust of many eminent men and several queer epitaphs. The tombstone of Mary Ann Luyten is a cedar bedstead that has stood the ravages of 131 years. The epitaph of Charlotte Elford, who died on May 9, 1817, says that

She was

In Childhood,	Obedient.
In Wedlock,	Virtuous.
In Prosperity,	Humble.
In Adversity,	Resigned.
In Sickness,	Patient.
In Death,	Happy.

Another curious one is that of John Singleton, who died Sept. 10, 1789:

Sacred and solemn
To
The memory of 1 in 4 and 4 in 1.
A husband, father, grandfather and father-in-law.

Lilacs Are Imported.

The common lilac, which is known to botanists as Syringa vulgaris, has been in cultivation for over 300 years, and its native home is said to be on the mountainous regions of central Europe, from Piedmont to Hungary, whence it was introduced to cultivation in 1597.

Botanists recognize about 12 species of lilacs, found in a wild state, and these are native from southwestern Europe through central Asia and the Himalayas to Mongolia, northern China and Japan. None of the species is a native of the American continent.

Nervously Exhausted.

Sleepless, poor digestion, easily tired, blue as indigo, that's how you feel. Do you want to feel strong, make plenty of blood, enjoy buoyancy, strength and vim. You can do so by using Ferrozone. How it sharpens the appetite and imparts a feeling of buoyancy, strength and vim! Improves the appetite, digestion, assimilation, sleep. How surely Ferrozone does this, you can ascertain by using it. Ferrozone is a blood builder, nerve strengthener and brain invigorator. Sold by only Ormond and Walsh.

A Trait of the Sex.

A traveling man who had been absent on a long trip just returned, and his 4-year-old daughter would not at first come near him. Every time he approached her she ran away. The father finally sat down on the floor and, picking up some toy dishes, asked his daughter to come and play party with him.

This had the desired effect, and the child came and played with her parent, who asked her why she didn't come to him before.

"Oh, papa," replied the youngster, "I'm so shy."

Sweeping.

A young man who had just entered the office of Jeremiah Mason, the great New Hampshire legal luminary, to study law asked him where he should begin. Mason, pointing to the books on the library shelves, answered laconically, "Anywhere."

What do we Eat?

First we must build up the tissues in the growing body and reconstruct those worn out by use; second we must supply nervous, muscular and digestive force to the different parts of the body. Scott's Emulsion plays a very important part as regards both objects. All delicate and rapidly growing children need it.

The Evil of It.

Monkey Worship.

Except in India the monkey does not seem to have been regarded as sacred by any heathen people. But in central India the native, from the same motives as operate in his tiger veneration, regards the monkey as sacred and deems it a fearful crime to kill one. Strange as it may seem, there is in England a case of a monkey so highly regarded as to be represented on the tombstone of its noble mistress, though why is not known. And of all places, this is at Windsor castle. In St. George's chapel is the monument to the Countess of Lincoln, of bygone days, and carved with her ladyship's figure on the monument itself is the figure of her favorite pet—a monkey. No wonder that the native Hindoo who visits this spot goes away with the idea that Englishmen, too, venerate his sacred animals.

Love.

Properly, there is only one verb for love. It is not "amo." It is not "aimer." It is not the softest Italian verb. No printed language of man knows it. But the violin knows it, and the wild bird knows it; even the sea knows it. The rose is it, and the moon is it. And the look of a man's eyes into a woman's is it, and the look of a woman's eyes back again is it. But no man or woman can say it in any language that endures.—"Love Letters of the King."

GREAT FIRES IN HISTORY.

Two Record Breaking Ones Which Occurred In the United States.

The old world's most calamitous fire was that which took place in London in 1666, which destroyed 14,000 buildings, laid 400 streets waste and rendered 200,000 persons homeless, the loss of life being 1,000 and that of property $40,000,000. Moscow's conflagration in 1812 evoked from Bonaparte, when he woke up and got his first glimpse of its beginning, "This is what these barbarians call war." It consumed 8,000 of the city's 10,000 buildings, compelling 20,000 of the city's inhabitants to sleep on the ground, destroyed 200 lives and $10,000,000 of property and had political consequences which affected the history of Europe. It brought Bonaparte's Russian campaign to disaster, caused a retreat in the dead of winter in which the lives of 150,000 of his soldiers were lost, broke the spell of his invincibility and incited the new combinations against him which eventually resulted in his overthrow.

New York had a fire in 1835 which destroyed $20,000,000 of property and one in 1838 which inflicted a loss of $10,000,000, and this was followed by one in 1845 in which $8,000,000 of property went up in smoke. Pittsburg had a $6,000,000 fire in 1845, followed by one in Albany, which inflicted a damage of $3,000,000, in 1848, and by one in St. Louis which destroyed $5,000,000 of property in 1849. San Francisco had two fires six weeks apart in 1851, inflicting a loss of $4,000,000 in the first and of $3,000,000 in the second. The Fourth of July celebration in 1866 caused, in Portland, Me., the most destructive fire ever known on the American continent along to that time, except New York's in 1835, Portland's loss being $15,000,000, like Jacksonville's.

The two most calamitous fires ever known anywhere in the world occurred in the United States within 13 months of each other. In the first of these in Chicago, on Oct. 8 and 9, 1871, the property loss was $200,000,000, and in the second, in Boston, on Nov. 9, 1872, $80,000,000 of property was consumed. In Chicago 100,000 persons were left without homes and 200 were killed. Chicago's heads the list of the world's destructive conflagrations, but, as she had over 300,000 population, in 1871, the loss in Jacksonville in 1901, with 28,000 population, is proportionately not very far below that of the metropolis on Lake Michigan.

CHAPTER XXI.

The suddenness of this demand overwhelmed him, and he fell back into the chair, his eyes bulging and his mouth agape.

"Do you hear me?" I cried. "The proofs!" going up to him with clinched fists. "What have you done with those proofs? If you have destroyed them, I'll kill you."

Then, as a bulldog shakes himself loose, the old fellow got up and squared his shoulders and faced me, his lips compressed and his jaws knotted. I could see by his eyes that I must fight for it.

"Herr Winthrop has gone mad," said he. "The Princess Hildegarde never had a sister."

"You lie!" My hands were at his throat.

"I am an old man," he said.

I let my hands drop and stepped back.

"That is better," he said, with a grim smile. "Who told you this impossible tale and what has brought you here?"

"It is not impossible. The sister has been found."

"Found!" I had him this time. "Found!" he repeated. "Oh, this is not credible!"

"It is true. And tomorrow at noon the woman you profess to love will become the wife of the man she abhors. Why? Because you—you refuse to save her!"

"I? How in God's name can I save her?" the perspiration beginning to stand out on his brow.

"How? I will tell you how. Prince Ernst marries Gretchen for her dowry alone. If the woman I believe to be her sister can be proved so, the prince will withdraw his claims to Gretchen's hand. Do you understand? He will not marry for half the revenues of Hohenphalia. It is all or nothing. Now, will you produce those proofs? Will you help me?" The minute hand of the clock was moving around with deadly precision.

"Are you lying to me?" he asked, breathing hard.

"You fool, can't you see that it means everything to Gretchen if you have those proofs? She will be free, free! Will you get those proofs, or shall your godchild live to curse you?"

This was the most powerful weapon I had yet used.

"Live to curse me?" he said, not speaking to me, but to the thought. He sat down again and covered his face with his hands. The minute which passed seemed very long. He flung away his hands from his eyes with a movement which expressed despair and resignation. "Yes, I will get them. It is years and years ago," he mused absently, "so long ago that I had thought it gone and forgotten. But it was not to be. I will get the proofs," turning to me as he left the chair. "Wait here." He unbolted the door and passed forth. It was a full confession of the deception written by the mother herself and witnessed by her physician, the innkeeper and his wife. Not even the king could contest its genuineness.

"Where is this Dr. Salzberg?"

The innkeeper leaned against the side of the fireplace, staring into the flames.

"He is dead," briefly.

"Who was he?"

"Her late highness' court physician. Oh, have no fear, herr, this new found princess of yours will come into her own," with a bitter smile.

"And why have you kept silent all these years?" I asked.

"Why?" He raised his arms, then let them fall dejectedly. "I loved the Princess Hildegarde. I was jealous that any should share her greatness. I have kept silent because I carried her in my arms till she could walk, because her father cursed her and refused to believe her his own, because she grew around my heart as a vine grows around a rugged oak. And the other? She was nothing to me. I had never seen her. My wife spirited her away when it was night and dark. I took the proofs of her existence as a punishment to my wife, who, without them, would never dare to return to this country again. Herr, when a man lends you with ignominy and contempt and ridicule for something you are not to blame, what do you seek? Revenge. The prince tried to crush this lonely child of his. It was I who brought her up. It was I who taught her to say her prayers. It was I who made her what she is today, a noble woman, with a soul as spotless as yonder snowdrift. That was my revenge."

"Who are you?" I cried. For this innkeeper's affection and eloquence seemed out of place.

"Who am I?" The smile which lit his face was wistful and sad. "The law of man disavows me—the bar sinister. In the eyes of God, who is accountable for our being, I am Gretchen's uncle, her father's brother."

"You?" I was astounded.

"I."

"And who knows of this?"

"The king, the prince—and you."

I thrust a hand toward him. "You are a man."

"Wait. Swear to God that her highness shall never know."

"On my honor."

Then he accepted my clasp and looked straight into my eyes.

"And all this to you?"

"I love her."

"And she?"

"It is mutual. Do you suppose she would have put her life before mine if not? She knew that the lieutenant would have killed me."

"Ach! It never occurred to me in that light. I understood it to be a frolic of hers. Will you make her happy?"

"If an honest man's love can do it," said I. "Now, get on your hat and coat. You must go to the capital with me. The king would send for you in any case. The next train leaves at 5, and to save Gretchen these proofs must be in the chancellor's hands tomorrow morning."

"Yes, my presence will be necessary. Perhaps I have committed a crime. Who knows?" His head fell in meditation. "Herr, and this other sister, has she been happy?"

"Happier than ever Gretchen."

"You have known this sister?" asked the innkeeper.

"For many years," said I.

And those were the only words which passed between us during that five mile drive. At the station I at once wired the chancellor that the proofs had been found and requested him to inform the king and Prince Ernst. And then another eight hours dragged themselves out of existence. But Gretchen was mine!

* * * * * * *

The king was dressed in a military blouse, and, save for the small cross suspended from his neck by a chain of gold, there was nothing about him to distinguish his rank. He strode back and forth, sometimes going the whole length of the white room. The chancellor sat at a long mahogany table, and the prince and Mr. Wentworth were seated at either side of him. The innkeeper stood before the chancellor at the opposite side of the table. His face might have been cut from granite. It was so set and impassive. I leaned over the back of a chair in the rear of the room. The king came close to me once and fixed his keen blue eyes on mine.

"Was this the fellow, prince," he asked, "who caused you all the trouble and anxiety?"

I felt uneasy. My experience with kings was not large.

"No, your majesty," answered the prince. "The gentleman to whom you refer has departed the scene." The prince caught the fire in my eye and laughed softly.

"Ah," said the king carelessly, "it is a strange story. Proceed," with a nod to the chancellor.

"What is your name?" the chancellor asked, directing his glance at the innkeeper.

The innkeeper gazed at the king for a space. The prince was watching him with a mocking smile.

"Hermann Breunner, your excellency."

The king stood still. He had forgotten the man, but not the name.

"Hermann Breunner," he mused.

"Yes, your majesty," said the innkeeper.

"The keeper of the feudal inn," supplemented the prince.

The glance the innkeeper shot him was swift. The prince suddenly busied himself with the papers.

"What was your object in defrauding the princess"—the chancellor opened one of the documents which lay before him—"the Princess Elizabeth of her rights?"

"I desired the Princess Hildegarde to possess all," was the answer. It was also a challenge to the prince to refute the answer if he dared. "I acknowledge that I have committed a crime. I submit to his majesty's will," bowing reverentially.

The king was stroking his chin, a sign of deep meditation in him.

"Let their highnesses be brought in," he said at last.

The chancellor rose and passed into the anteroom. Shortly he returned, followed by Gretchen. I could see by the expression in her face that she was mystified by the proceeding.

"Her highness the Princess Elizabeth is just leaving the carriage," announced the chancellor, retiring again.

Gretchen looked first at the king, then at the prince. As she saw the innkeeper a wave of astonishment rippled over her face.

"Be seated, your highness," said the king kindly.

She knew that I was in the room, but her eyes never left the king.

The prince was plucking at his imperial. The innkeeper's eyes were riveted on the door. He was waiting for the appearance of her whom he had wronged. Presently Phyllis came in. Her cheeks were red, and her eyes sparkled with excitement. Wentworth nodded reassuringly. The innkeeper was like one stricken dumb. He stared at Phyllis till I thought his eyes would start from their sockets.

"Your majesty has summoned me?" said Gretchen.

"Yes. Explain," said the king to the chancellor.

"Your highness," began the chancellor, "it has been proved by these papers here and by that man there," pointing to the innkeeper, "that your mother of lamented memory gave birth to twins. One is yourself; the other was spirited away at the request of your mother. We shall pass over her reasons. It was all due to the efforts of this clever journalist here"—Gretchen was compelled to look at me now, while the king frowned and the prince smiled—"that your sister has been found."

Gretchen gave a cry and started to go to Phyllis with outstretched arms, but as Phyllis stood motionless she stopped, and her arms fell.

"Your highness," said the king to Phyllis, "it is your sister, the Princess Hildegarde. Embrace her, I beg you."

The king willed it. But it occurred to me that there was a warmth lacking in the embrace. Gretchen lightly brushed with her lips the cheek of her sister, and the kiss was as lightly returned. There was something about it all we men failed to understand.

"Moreover," said the king, "she desires you to remain the sovereign Princess of Hohenphalia."

"Nay, your majesty," said Gretchen; "it is I who will relinquish my claims. Your majesty is aware that I have many caprices."

"Indeed, yes," said the king. "And I can assure you that they have caused me no small anxiety. But let us come to an understanding once and for all. Do you wish to abdicate in favor of your sister?"

Gretchen gave me the briefest notice.

"Yes, your majesty."

Phyllis was regarding me steadfastly.

"This is final?" said the king.

"It is."

"And what is your will?" to Phyllis.

"Yes; the likeness is truly remarkable," communing aloud to his thought.

I could not suppress the appeal in my eyes.

"Your majesty," said Phyllis, "if my sister will teach me how to become a princess I promise to accept the responsibility."

"You will not need much teaching," replied the king admiringly.

"You will do this—you, my sister?" asked Gretchen eagerly.

"Yes." There was no color now in Phyllis' cheeks. They were as white as the marble faun on the mantel.

"Remember, your highness," said the king, speaking to Gretchen, "there shall be no recall."

"Sire," said the prince, rising, "I request a favor."

"And it shall be granted," said the king, "this being your wedding day."

It was Gretchen who now paled. The hands of the innkeeper closed. I clutched the chair, for my legs trembled. To lose after all!

"Ah," said the prince, "I thank your majesty. "The favor I ask is that you will postpone this marriage—indefinitely."

"What!" cried the king. He was amazed. "Have I heard you aright, or do my ears play me false?"

"It is true. I thank your majesty again," said the prince, bowing.

"But this is beyond belief," cried the king in anger. "I do not understand. This marriage was at your own request and now you withdraw. Since when," proudly, "was the hand of the Princess Hildegarde to be ignored?"

Gretchen gave a cry and started to go to Phyllis with outstretched arms.

Children

Have "eyes bigger than their stomachs," according to an old saying. They overeat themselves, and are tempted by all sorts of injurious and indigestible edibles. As a consequence the foundation of serious stomach trouble is often laid in childhood.

For children with "weak" digestion or whose stomachs are diseased, Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery may be confidently recommended. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, so that the nourishment contained in food is perfectly assimilated and the puny child is built up by food into a condition of robust health.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery contains neither alcohol nor narcotics.

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition.

Mrs. Ella Gardner, of Waterview, Middlesex Co., Va., writes: "My little daughter is enjoying splendid health. I am glad I found a doctor who could cure my child. Whenever she feels badly I give her Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and she is soon all right. She took twelve bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery,' eight bottles of 'Pellets,' and one bottle of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy and she is well. We thank God for your medicine."

NORTH BRUCE NOMINATION.

Mr. C. M. Bowman the Unanimous Liberal Choice.

HON. J. R. STRATTON SPOKE

And Explained the Financial Condition of the Province—The Matter of the Change in Text Books Ably Dealt With.

At the meeting of North Bruce Liberals on Saturday last at Tara for the purpose of choosing a candidate for the next Provincial elections, Mr. C. W. Bowman, the present representative, was the unanimous choice.

After resolutions endorsing the Dominion and Ontario Governments were passed unanimously, Hon. J.R. Stratton was introduced. He was received with loud cheers by the entire gathering. Mr. Stratton, after some local references to the county and to Mr. Bowman, dealt exhaustively with the financial condition of Ontario, showing the sources of our revenue and the manner in which it had been expended in the interests of the people during the past thirty odd years. Not only was there a cash surplus of a million after an expenditure of about 110 millions, but out of this large amount 90 per cent. had been returned to the people to lessen the burden of municipal taxation, and still, with all this liberal expenditure, of which the people had had the great bulk of benefit, the annual Provincial controllable outlay was not very much in excess of what it was in 1874. Here Mr. Stratton said he might incidentally refer to a criticism made by The Mail and Empire newspaper of June 27th. That journal had taken as the basis of a mis-leading criticism the following sentence from the condensed report of his (Mr. Stratton's) speech, delivered at Newington, Stormont;—"After dealing with the general financial situation of the Province, Mr Stratton stated that the expenditure in 1901 was only $81,579.79 greater than in 1874 — 25 years ago—notwithstanding all the added benefits referred to which the people had obtained." In its attempt to convict the speaker of misleading the people by making a statement at variance with the facts. The Mail and Empire quoted figures that were not official, and compared years other than those he (Mr. Stratton) had used, to justify its attack. That journal was not quite fair in its mode of criticism. A condensed report, Mr. Stratton explained, necessarily omitting explanatory phrases in the course of making a statement, did not always express what was conveyed in the remarks of the speaker. What he said was that the expenditure in 1874 was $3,883,701.79, which were the figures of the exact expenditure for that year, according to the books of the Treasury Department, and he took the estimates for 1901, which showed that the estimated current expenditure for that year was $3,962,281.58, not including railway aid payments, some $240,000, and special appropriations, not a part of ordinary expenditure, which showed an increase, as stated, of only $81,579.79. Mr. Stratton said he was showing that, notwithstanding larger appropriations for certain services, the current or controllable expenditure, was not, according to the estimates of 1901, much greater than previously, and the figures he used in the comparison were officially correct. The discrepancy was in the Mail's figures and in the period. To controvert the figures he had submitted, the Mail did not take the figures for 1874 from an official source, and it used the figures of 1900, instead of the estimates for the year, which Mr. Stratton had used. If the Mail had taken the twenty-five year period mentioned in the report, though the comparison was actually between years twenty-seven years apart, and compared the expenditure of 1874 — $3,883,701.79 — with the expenditure of 1899—$3,717,403.96—it would have shown that the expenditure of 1899 was actually $166,297.83 less than twenty-five years before. If, as the organ insinuates, there has been any desire to strain a point to present an unfavourable statement, the years just mentioned could have as conveniently been used, and the showing would have been better.

THE TIMBER REVENUES

Continuing, Mr. Stratton remarked while the financial management in respect of current requirements had been phenomenally excellent, it was to be remembered that our public buildings, involving an expenditure of about ten millions of dollars, had been erected without borrowing a cent of money, had been built almost all out of current revenue. It was claimed by the Opposition that our timber resources had been wasted but the revenue derived from timber had been converted in part into public buildings, and about three times as much as went for these purposes had been returned directly to the people for the maintenance of services which had saved the levy of a proportionate amount of direct taxation. Aside from the question of revenue, the timber sales that had been held affected timber which had reached maturity, and was deteriorating, and the necessity of making way for settlement was another reason for these sales. Our timber had been dealt with in the public interests, sold in all cases by public competition to the highest bidder at high prices. Many townships covered by these sales had been settled, and Ontario settlers had great privileges: they got the land practically free, were allowed the pine timber for clearing and building purposes, and the balance cut in actual clearing for the dues. Roads had been built, and in cases maintained by the Government. Schools were assisted and aid had been given to railways to enable settlers to reach a market with produce and to bring them in touch with settled conditions, and it was a pleasure to state that, encouraged by the treatment meted out to settlers by the Government, thousands of settlers were going into the newer parts of the province.

SCHOOL TEXT BOOKS.

Mr. Stratton then referred to the old cry that the Opposition endeavoured to revive to make political capital out of, with regard to the public school text books. He pointed out that a change occasionally in a geography or an arithmetic or a copy book, or a drawing book, was necessary and these were very seldom made. No one would contend that a geography of years ago, was suitable for the changed conditions of the world to-day, and if history and geography were to be of any use they must be up-to-date. The object of the Government was, so far as compatible with the purpose, to improve and correct, but when a change was necessary to be made, the teachers were urged to make any changes from the old edition to the new gradually and with as little disturbance and expense as possible. Any school board by resolution may retain the old books in use, and the examination of the department would recognize the fact that both the old and new editions were in use, and legally so. The people, themselves, therefore, will decide whether the change was to be introduced or not. Occasionally a book imperfectly fulfilled its mission. Political changes in Asia, South Africa, the United States and Western Canada during the last decade would justify the issuance of a new geography. The drawing books and copy books have been revolutionized during the last decade. The models given are immeasurably more artistic and the problems set more human and practical. Financially a change of copy book or drawing book is of little importance. Drawing books and copy books books once used and filled must be discarded. Why not replace them, when filled, and useless, with new editions at the same or lower rates? A new high school bookkeeping book was authorized, a shorter, more elementary and more modern book for the public schools at twenty-five cents. The old book sold at sixty cents. Any changes were only made after careful consideration of the conditions at the repeated requests of teachers' associations, and with due deference to all proper safeguards. If the interests of 470,000 public school pupils were considered, that if all the students took the full course, the saving effected would be $180,000, and assuming that 19,000 high school students followed the full course, which perhaps was improbable, in the changes made in the prices in the high school book , on the basis of 1899 and 1901 figures, the saving would be $78,000. And if the 20,000 students in continuation classes were added, the saving becomes enormous, so that the parents and children can easily see that the course of the Government is to give them the most up-to-date books possible to be obtained at the lowest possible cost. One of the most important responsibilities resting upon the Government was the education of the youth, and any comparison, whether in books or educational opportunities or facilities, redounded to the credit of the Government and to the province, and this had been exemplified fully whenever Ontario enters into competition with other places. Those who were attempting to work up an agitation against the system in Ontario regarding school books were publishers of school books who did not desire to have any progressive change whatever. Their desire seemed to be, continue with the old forms and the old plates; but modern, up-to-date methods must be used in education, as in everything else, and the Government would protect the parents, no matter what publishers might complain.

THE OPPOSITION'S CONTRIBUTION.

Mr. Stratton went on to point out that all the benefits and results he had referred to had been accomplished by the administration of Provincial affairs on business principles, and without any material help from the Opposition in the House and country. Their contribution to Provincial progress had consisted principally of cries, disturbing to the harmony of citizenship and irrelevant to existing conditions. A quarter of a century ago the cry was made that Sir Oliver Mowat had degraded the Bench by leaving it to lead the Government of the Province; yet Sir Oliver had conferred services of inestimable value upon the Province. That cry fell flat, and was followed by the cry of "Facts for the Irish Electors," with a view of arousing the prejudices of the religious minority; yet session after session was devoted by the opposition to onslaughts on the rights of the Roman Catholic minority, to the peril of the peace of the community. The school readings from Holy Scripture were profanely referred to as the "Ross Bible," and the shout raised that Protestantism was in danger. These cries failed to land the Opposition in the harbour of office, the opposite tack was taken. The "equal rights" movement was launched, the "green eye-opener" was nailed to the masthead, and secret and midnight plottings were employed throughout the Province to overthrow the Government. The aggression of Rome was denounced by the Conservative press, and the no-Popery cry was raised in the interests of the Opposition and with the hope of influencing the calm judgment of the electors. The present leader of the Opposition, Mr. Whitney, took part in that fight, the anti-Catholic storm raged around him, yet he spoke no word to calm the wave of passion and prejudice, he spoke no word of sympathy for the hounded minority. On the contrary, he joined in full cry and was as willing as anyone to achieve a political victory by the meanest cry that was ever raised in any country. If the demand of the Opposition at the time for the suppression of the Ross Bible was sound then, it should be so to-day. If separate school legislation was too friendly to the minority then, the same peril exists to-day. If the Conservative Opposition policy to give our timber and territory to the other Provinces was justified then, it should be justified now. If the hostility of Mr. Whitney and his party to the creation of a department to be presided over by a Minister of Agriculture and specially devoted to the greatest industry of the Province was in the interests of the farmer in 1893, it is as much called for now as then. If the Humber piggery humbug, if the calf with the cough cry, if the ram Dan cry, and all the other pettifogging puerilities fathered and fostered by the Opposition were good at the time, they should be so now, for the Opposition had never repudiated them or had never absolved the Government from the blame it was alleged the Government should bear. The Opposition of the day was, Mr. Stratton said, at least consistent. They never had a policy in the past any more coherent, valid or sound than the petty and pestilent cries just mentioned, and they had no more policy to-day than they had in the past. If a standstill do-nothing attitude in relation to the administration of Provincial interests, could be called a policy, that seemed to be the policy of Mr. Whitney and the Opposition, of course always including the policy of getting into office. On the contrary, the Ross Government appealed to the ambition of the country with a clear-cut, well-defined policy of progress and advancement. Mr. Ross and his colleagues want to do something for the people and the Province, and it was not perhaps unfair to say that Mr. Whitney and his colleges want the people and the Province to do something for them.

There was great cheering when Mr Stratton resumed his seat after a two-hours address, and a standing vote of thanks, moved by Dr. Hough and Mr. James Walmsley, was tendered to the Minister. The successful gathering broke up at 5.30 p.m. with cheers for the Ross Government, candidate Bowman, Mr. A. G. McKay and the King.

Greeley's Awful Writing.

It is interesting to recall the fact that Horace Greeley left behind him a very frank criticism of the legibility of his own chirography. Being up town in New York one day, and wishing to send a telegram and also to get shaved, he entered a hotel and sent his dispatch. Then, passing into the barber shop, he sat down in a chair and (according to custom) was soon sound asleep.

Meantime the telegram had created a decided sensation, Mr. Greeley having thrown it down hastily on the desk and neglected to translate it. Nobody, from the manager down, being able to supply a legible equivalent for the mysterious characters, a messenger was sent into the barber shop with the screed.

Waking with a start, and supposing that the boy had brought an answer to his dispatch, Mr. Greeley took the paper, scanned it for a moment, and then, with a look of deep disgust, piped out: "What blamed idiot wrote this?"

61,000 MEN TO GO OUT

Mr. Shaffer Orders a Strike Against Steel Trust.

MORE STRIKES TO FOLLOW.

Labor Unions Showing Their Strength—The Joint Conference Between Employers and Amalgamated Employes, After Three Days' Session, Had Failed—Hence Action of President Shaffer.

Pittsburg, July 15.—After a three days' session the conference between representatives of the American Sheet Steel, American Steel Hoop Company and American Tin Plate, subsidiary companies of the United States Steel Corporation, and the General Executive Board of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, adjourned finally at 6 o'clock Saturday evening, without reaching an agreement. In less than an hour later President Shaffer of the Amalgamated Association had telegraphed the following order to all the Amalgamated lodges in the tin plate, steel hoop and sheet steel mills in the country:

Notify your men that the mill is on strike and will not work on Monday, July 15.

From present indications it looks probable that President Shaffer's strike order will be obeyed, and the great struggle between the Amalgamated Association and the steel companies will be on in earnest to-day. In the union mills of three companies, against which a strike has been declared, it is predicted that not a wheel will turn to-day. An effort will be made also to close down some of the non-union mills of the companies and to cripple the rest. The Amalgamated people are very sanguine of success.

"The strike was not of our own seeking," said President Shaffer yesterday. "It was forced upon us. We were not contending for wages, but for principle—for self-preservation. The tin and sheet people will not be able to turn a single wheel to-day. We have our forces thoroughly organized, and there will be some surprises in store. I have not heard from a single lodge in answer to my strike order, but an answer is not necessary. The order will be promptly obeyed by all our men. But there will be no trouble. Labor organizations have changed. The Amalgamated Association is not the association it was 20 years ago, not even five years ago. The men are more readily controlled; in fact, we have our men under control."

Developments on Sunday indicate that Pittsburg is going to be a pretty lively strike centre. The most interest attaches to the Painter mill on the south side, and to that of Lindsey & McCutcheon in Allegheny. Both mills are controlled by the American Steel Hoop Company, and have hitherto been aggressively non-union, and much dopended upon the action taken by the men in these plants. The employes of both mills held open meetings yesterday and both decided to strike to-day. The Painter mill employes about 400 men, and the Lindsey & McCutcheon mill about 300.

I. W. Jenks, manager of the American Steel Hoop Company, said last night that he had heard of the attempt to be made to tie up the two mills, but he heard such strike talk for several months past. Mr. Jenks said both mills would resume this morning as usual.

The fight at the Painter mill is to be made the fight of the strike. Both sides will make stubborn resistance. If the Amalgamated people can close this mill they believe they will have won the greater part of the strike. The mill is not only an important one, but the Steel Hoop Company has for years succeeded in thwarting the efforts to unionize it.

President Shaffer was asked yesterday if he had set a time when, if no settlement having been effected, he would extend the strike to all the subsidiary steel companies of the United States Steel Corporation. He said he must decline to make his plans known at present.

It may be said, however, on the strength of reliable information, that the struggle within its present limits is intended merely as a show of strength.

At the conference last week, the representatives of the Steel Corporation were repeatedly warned that the association was much stronger than they knew. They were even told of the organization of the mills of which they had no knowledge. But the steel men would not believe that the association was as strong as it claimed to be.

Thus it is believed the first purpose of the association is to show its strength by confining the strike to three companies. When that show of strength has been made whatever it may prove to be, the association expects the company to ask for another conference. If the companies show no inclination to make a settlement, the strike will be extended to three more companies. If the trust will not yield then, the strike will be extended to such independent companies as sell their finished products or raw materials to companies against which a strike has been declared.

Should the strike attain such proportions it would be likely to go still further. The Amalgamated Association and the Federation of Labor two years ago formed a secret alliance, it is claimed, when it was agreed that the association when on strike could also call out the steel men of the Federation. The latter has organizations in many mills whose workmen are not eligible to membership in the association.

So far the employes of only three companies have been called out, totalling 61,000 workmen, but before many days have gone the strikers will number 200,000.

Steyn Narrowly Escaped Capture in That Condition.

ANOTHER REBEL EXECUTED.

So-Called "Orange River Government" Captured—Its President and One Other Only Get Away—Papers Likewise Captured—Gen. Methuen's Successful Engagement Near Zeerust.

London, July 15. — "General Broadwood," says a despatch to The Daily News from Bloemfontein, "surprised Reitz due east of Lindley at dawn last Thursday, July 11. He took twenty-nine prisoners, including Gen. A. P. Glonwe and Gen. Wessels, Commandant Dwaal, First Cornet Piet Steyn (President Steyn's brother), Thomas Brain, secretary of government, and Roches Devilliers, secretary to the council. Steyn himself fled without coat or boots. Gen. Dewet is believed to have been present."

Kitchener's Despatches.

London, July 14.—The War Office has received the following despatch from Lord Kitchener, dated at Pretoria:

"Broadwood's brigade surprised Reitz, capturing Steyn's brother and others. Steyn himself escaped in his shirt sleeves with one other man only. The so-called 'Orange River government' and papers were captured."

Lord Kitchener also reports that Scheeper's commando burned the public buildings in Murraysburg, Cape Colony, and some farm houses in the vicinity.

According to further advices from Lord Kitchener, columns under Col. Featherstone and Col. Dixon have reached Zeerust, Western Transvaal. They met with opposition and made some captures. The British casualties were one officer killed and three officers and 24 men wounded.

Executed For Treason.

Cradock, Cape Colony, July 14. — Johannes Coetzee, caught with Marais, the rebel, who was hanged July 10 at Middleburg, was publicly executed for treason in Cradock on Friday.

Two Defeats For the Boers.

Pretoria, July 14. — General Methuen had a successful engagement with the Boers on July 6 northeast of Zeerust, in the Transvaal Colony. Four Boers were killed and forty-seven captured.

The Boers daringly attempted to raid a cattle ranch near here. They were driven off with loss, gun butts being used in the encounter.

Mrs. Schalkburger a Prisoner.

London, July 15. — The Sun is informed that Mrs. Schalkburger, wife of the acting president, has been captured near Waterval, in the Transvaal, and sent as a prisoner of war to Pretoria. The Sun's informant says the military authorities attach great importance to this capture.

Raiders Near Ladysmith.

Pietermaritzburg, July 13.—A small party of marauding Boers appeared near Waschbank yesterday, probably attracted by a large mob of Government cattle. The troops were on the alert, however, and shelled the enemy until they were out of sight. Waschbank is 30 miles from Ladysmith.

Train Wreckers at Work.

Naauwpoort, July 13.—The derailing of the Cape mail south of here was due to some one tampering with the rails at Riet. The engine, three saloon carriages, and the guard's van ran on to the veldt, where they upset. One lady is reported to be injured.

Workmen from here are busy righting the vehicles and repairing the damage. The Boers are reported to be active in small numbers in the district and have been sniping.

Fever and Over Work.

Will Save Emperor's Face.

Pekin, July 14.—The Chinese officials are making elaborate preparations to save the Emperor's face when he re-enters Pekin. All evidence of the destruction wrought by the war along the streets to be traversed by the Emperor will be temporarily disguised. Great pagodas will be erected. Li Hung Chang has requested the withdrawal of the foreign troops from the temples and palaces not later than Aug. 15. The Ministers of the powers have acquiesced.

Filling His Order.

"Waiter, what's all that noise like a pile driving machine at work?"

"That's the cook pounding your beef steak. You ordered tenderloin, I believe, sir."

REMNANT WEEK

COMMENCING MONDAY, JULY 15.

Twice a year this store sets apart a week for the clearance of the short lengths, odd pieces, odd sizes, etc. To make these remnant weeks successful we know three things that must be done:

1.—Mark them with a riddance price, i.e., Cheap.
2.—Mark the length and riddance price in plain figures that customers may pick through at once, and with wisdom do their selecting.
3.—Place them where customers may handily select from them.

Most of these remnants have been marked at 1-2 to 1-3 off, many others at only a fraction of the cost, but what does that matter? They must be cleared.

217 ENDS OF DRESS GOODS

will be shown on a centre table, and will present an object lesson in economy—mostly small lengths, suitable for waists or childrens' dresses, some skirt lengths and a few dress lengths, all marked with the go-out price.

313 ENDS OF SILKS

You'll find these ends on a table in the centre aisle, and when you come to that table pause a moment and scrutinize the price tickets. The better you are as a judge of values, the more likely you will be to buy—many waist lengths among them. You cannot afford to miss them.

550 ENDS OF STAPLE GOODS

Comprising useful lengths of Wash Goods, Outing Flannels, Prints, Cottons, Linens, Towellings, Flannelettes, Cottonades, Shirtings, Art Muslins, Cretonnes, etc. Prices so infinitely small that your 'lay-away box' may be wisely replenished, yes, filled — useful goods in useful lengths, yet have to give way to larger fish—a table full to interest you.

Oddments and

ENDS OF SMALLER GOODS

Such as Embroideries, White Muslins, Allovers, Laces, Flouncings, Ribbons, Trimmings and Oddments of Hosiery, Gloves, Underwear, Belt Buckles, Combs, Stick Pins, etc.

MILLINERY AND MANTLE DEPT.

In this department many odd sizes, odd pieces, single bunches, etc., have been put within easy reach of visitors to that department, all ticketed with a remnant—a riddance price. These prices pertain to separate Skirts and Suits as well.

You can ill afford to miss this "Easy" Remnant Sale at Sutcliffe's, commencing Monday, July 15th, and continuing for one week. All our remnants are out, so better come as early as possible.

HEALTH IN THE LUMBER CAMPS

It is not only in the crowded city factories that workers are exposed to unnecessary hardships, as the stories from railway construction camps and lumber shanties have frequently shown. The Ontario Government has made an important and timely move in adopting regulations to safeguard the health and insure the safety of workmen employed in the lumber camps and other isolated localities within the jurisdiction of the Province. These regulations apply to the unorganized districts of the Province, and have been approved by Order-in-Council. They hold the owner, manager, or foreman of every lumbering camp, mining camp, sawmill, smelting works, railway construction camp, or other industry, responsible for the enforcement of all provisions as to sanitation and safety. Every house, tent or other dwelling for employees must contain at least 300 cubic feet of space for each occupant. Floors of dwellings must be tight and raised at least a foot from the ground. Proper means of ventilation must be provided, and every dwelling or other structure, with the exception of tents 10 by 15 feet and under, must be properly lighted. It is required in the case of wood and iron buildings that windows must be so adjusted that they may be opened when necessary. A simple ventilation scheme has been devised that may be used in connection with an ordinary box stove, and plans explaining the system in detail are attached to the copies of the order-in-Council issued by the Provincial Secretary. In connection with every camp or works coming under these regulations a building or double-walled tent must be maintained for the reception of any employee who may become sick. Such tent or building must be provided with adequate facilities for heating and ventilation. Should any disease of a contagious nature as defined by the public health act break out among employees, the hospital tent or building must be located by the physician in charge of the patients in a position satisfactory to the health officer authorized by the Provincial Board of Health to inspect the work or camp.

Every camp must have a washhouse for laundry, with bath tubs for the employees, also a separate tent or building for a kitchen, with eating room attached. The regulations deal with the location of stables and closets, and with facilities for drainage, and for a supply of pure water. Every employer subject to regulations must contract with a physician to attend the men and make an inspection of the camp or works at least once a month. From this service a deduction of from 50 cents to $1 a month may be made from the wages of such employee. Provision is made for the appointment of sanitary inspectors in unorganised districts. Whenever, in any group of houses, or settlement, without municipal organization, the residents desire inspection, they may, by calling a public meeting, appoint a sanitary officer. The Secretary of the meeting is required to notify the Provincial Board of Health, and the appointed officer shall possess all the powers conferred on a sanitary inspector or sanitary policeman by the public health act in districts having municipal organization. Where such an appointment fails, the Provincial Board of Health may through any of its officers or any stipendiary Magistrate appoint a health inspector. The regulations are comprehensive, and have been prepared with a view to the protection of a population numbering at least 100,000, distributed over some 400 unorganized townships, extending about 1,200 miles from the Ottawa river to the Manitoba boundary. The population interested is located along a frontier of rivers, lakes and railway lines, about 6,000 miles in extent, and the Provincial Board of Health asks the co-operation of all citizens, capitalists and railway and steamboat companies in the difficult task of enforcing necessary sanitary provisions. It is specially requested that prompt information be furnished the board of all outbreaks of contagious diseases, and all insanitary conditions discovered in lumber and mining camps.—Globe.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Hamilton Spectator poses as a representative of a political party which has a "cinch" on all the loyalty to the Empire extant in Canada. Yet the Conservative Spectator advocates the breaking of a time-honoured tie between the Motherland and this country. It advocates the abolition of the Imperial Privy Council, so far as Canada is concerned—Canada should not "patronize" such a court, but establish one of her own. Does the Spec. expect that such a step towards Canadian independence and the consequent disruption of the Empire, will find favour with loyal Canadians who do not wish to make straight the path to annexation with the United States?

Rosebery Not to Marry.

London, July 15.—Lord Rosebery, being asked what truth there was in his reported engagement to marry the Duchess of Albany, replied:

"It is a ridiculous fiction, without an atom of foundation of any sort."

Such an alliance would mean Rosebery's extinction politically.

Miss Jones Voice Greatly Improved.

Miss Jones attributes this improvement to the recent use of Catarrhozone. It gives clearness and brilliancy of tone, and prevents hoarseness and huskiness. Prominent speakers, ministers, actors, and singers use Catarrhozone for the voice and find it of inestimable value. New York, July 15. — George Raffold met death in a peculiar manner yesterday. He was kicked in the small of the back by a horse. A medical examination showed his liver had been split.

THE C.P.R. STRIKE

Is Virtually Over According to Mr. McNicoll—200 More Go Out.

Winnipeg, Man., July 15.—Mr. McNichol, second vice-president and general manager of the C. P. R., arrived in the city Saturday on his summer tour of inspection, which had been delayed to some extent owing to the trackmen's strike. Mr. McNichol, in an interview, referred to the strike in the east as practically over. In places where the men had not returned to work their places had been filled and the regular work on the sections was now being done.

200 More Go Out.

Montreal, July 15. — President Wilson gave out a report from an association representative claiming that 200 men had gone out on the Prince Albert division. These men, it was stated did not belong to the union, and thus had not been notified of the proceedings of the committee or of the strike order. They had simply wished to better their condition and had since joined the brotherhood and struck with them for a fair agreement with the company. No confirmation of any such report had been received by the railway people.

President Wilson's Manifesto.

Toronto, July 15.—President John T. Wilson of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trackmen of America, has sent out a circular to the striking Canadian Pacific Railway trackmen, in which he calls on the men to pay no heed to statements given out by officials, but to stand firm. He then reviews the situation.

Playing a Waiting Game.

Rossland, B. C., July 15. — There has been no development of interest here in connection with the miners' strike. The situation is unchanged since Friday. Union matters are all arranged, and it looks as though both sides were settled down to a waiting game.

47 Japs Are Marooned.

Vancouver, B. C., July 15.—There are now 47 Japanese prisoners guarded by the salmon strikers and marooned in a small island in the Gulf of Georgia, according to the statement of the union fishermen Saturday evening. The Provincial police are trying to ascertain the location of this island, for, although the authorities do not like to admit that Japanese have been spirited away in the manner claimed by the strikers, it is undeniable that the Orientals are missing. The statement that they are prisoners of the union fishermen is generally accepted as true. Eight fishermen have been arrested for intimidation and conspiracy in connection with the marooning of the Japanese. A Jap was drowned during the progress of the fight.

HEARTY PRAISE FROM QUEBEC.

A Racine Man Expresses Himself Strongly for Dodd's Kidney Pills.

His Letter is Typical of Hundreds Lately Received From Lower Province—Same Work Being Done all Over the Dominion—Dodd's Kidney Pills Stand Alone in the Conquest of Kidney Disease.

Racine, Que., July 14.—(Special).—It is a very strange thing, but lately all through this province, the people have been talking in a straight, downright way about the medicine, Dodd's Kidney Pills. Never before has a remedy made so many warm, outspoken friends for itself. Whatever part of Quebec one chances to be in, the mentioning of Dodd's Kidney Pills is always enough to bring forth the grateful story of an experience with this most remarkable remedy from one of the listeners.

These experiences include nearly all the fatal, non-contagious diseases, Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Dropsy, Rheumatism, Bladder and Urinary Disorders, Female Trouble, Heart Trouble, Blood Diseases, Nervous Complaints are all emphatically declared to have been entirely cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills. But more than any other complaint, Backache counts oftener.

Emile Couatre, of this town, says they cured him of Backache and other Kidney troubles, and writes a letter for publication in this paper to that effect.

"I am going to say a word concerning Dodd's Kidney Pills," he writes. "I cannot do otherwise than praise this wonderful medicine heartily, for I am now, owing to Dodd's Kidney Pills, in perfect health. For some time I have not felt the slightest pain in the back. My kidneys are working properly. When I go to bed I find rest, whereas before using Dodd's Kidney Pills I got up more fatigued than the night before. I had pain in the back and headache which broke my sleep.

"I have taken only three boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and cannot help but credit them with my cure. I have been free from my trouble since taking Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Fatal Fall Down Stairs.

Stratford, Ont., July 15.—Charles M. Abel, a boarder at the American House, this city, met with an accident Friday afternoon which resulted in his death at the hospital on Saturday. No one saw the accident, but apparently in coming down stairs he fell over the banister, striking the back of his head on the floor. When found he was unconscious, and remained so until he died.

THE LIQUOR HABIT.

Rev. A. J. McCallen's Lecture.

On the occasion of a lecture delivered before a large and appreciative audience in Windsor Hall, Montreal, in honour of the Father Matthew anniversary, Rev. J. A. McCallen, S. S., of St. Patrick's church, and president of the St. Patrick's Total Abstinence Society, paid the following grand tribute to the value of Mr. Dixon's new discovery for the cure of alcohol and drug habits.

Referring to the physical craze engendered by the inordinate use of intoxicants, he said: "When such a craze manifests itself there is no escape, unless by a miracle of grace, or by some such remedy as Mr. Dixon's Cure, about which the papers have spoken so much lately, and if I am to judge of the value of the Dixon remedy by the cures which it has effected under my own eyes, I must come to the conclusion that what I have longed for twenty years to see discovered, has at last been found by that gentleman."

Full particulars of this new medicine are sent sealed free to all applicants. Address, Mr. Dixon, 81 Willcocks street, Toronto, Ont.

Girl Dead—Boy May Recover.

Napanee, Ont., July 15.—A fatal accident occurred Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the crossing near Ernestown, a station 10 miles east of here. It appears that Fletcher Hartman, the Odessa mail boy, accompanied by Georgie Kilgagon, a young girl, aged 11, of Ernestown, attempted to cross the track with the mail wagon in front of Grand Trunk mail train No. 7, going west. They miscalculated the distance, and the approaching train crashed into them. The girl was so seriously injured that she died within an hour. Dr. Beeman of Newburg, who was near by, has some hopes that Hartman may recover. William Young was run over and killed by the same train Friday, in Napanee yard.

Killed by a Street Car.

Hamilton, July 15. — Patrick Lavelle, a cigarmaker employed at Tuckett's factory, was instantly killed by a car near the racetrack, about 9 o'clock last night. Lavelle and two other men were walking on the devil-strip, when a car came up the road. He stepped to the other track and another car going in the opposite direction struck him. He went down, the fender passing over him. His skull was fractured and one of his feet was cut off. Dr. Rennie, who was on the car, ran to his side and found him dead. Lavelle was 40 years of age, and was one of the best known cockfighters and handlers in Canada. He was unmarried. An inquest will be held to-day.

THROUGH THE RAPIDS

Carlisle D. Graham's Second Successful Voyage.

ACCOUNT OF THRILLING TRIP.

His Barrel Caught in the Eddy Under the Cantilever Bridge and He Nearly Perished for Want of Air—The Navigator Says the Man Did Not Tow Him Far Enough Out.

Niagara Falls, Ont., July 15.—Carlisle D. Graham successfully navigated the Whirlpool Rapids in his barrel yesterday afternoon. The trip was witnessed by seven or eight thousand people, who lined both banks of the gorge and bridge.

At about 3.15 o'clock Graham stepped into his barrel that lay on the American shore, a few hundred feet above the cantilever bridge. After closing the trap on the end of the barrel, which is about nine feet in length and heavily bound with iron hoops and heavily balasted in one end with lead, it was towed out to about midstream by a rowboat and cut loose. The barrel slowly glided down stream towards the American shore and, after passing the large rock between the cantilever and steel arch bridges, it was caught in an eddy and thrown into the American up-current, where it made the rounds of the little bay up and down the river for about 20 minutes, finally drifting up the river and was caught in the current down stream.

It soon shot under the steel arch bridge, hugging the rapids towards the American shore and was tossed like a cork up high in the air, then completely submerged under great breakers that tossed and tore through the gorge. When reaching the turn in the river opposite Webb's Point, it was shot out into midstream and only took a few seconds before it shot into the maelstrom of the pool. It was caught in a current that carried it clean across the side of the pool to Thompson's point on the Canadian shore, not entering the vortex of the pool. Here it was caught by a lot of boys and towed ashore.

The trap was opened and Graham, who was in a dazed and semi-conscious state from exhaustion for air, was taken out and laid on a large rock and fanned, rubbed and brought back to himself again. He claims he will make another trip in August. He said the man in the boat did not tow him far enough out into the stream and that he was nearly exhausted on account of being caught in the eddy under the cantilever bridge.

HEROIC RESCUE.

Two Young Men Save Two Boys in the Niagara Whirlpool.

Niagara Falls, Ont., July 15. — A thrilling incident occurred at the Whirlpool yesterday afternoon shortly after the securing of Graham and his barrel, that nearly cost two lads their lives.

It seems several hundred men and boys were down along the shore at the Whirlpool, quite a number of whom were in bathing in the waters of the pool, the day being intensely hot. One young lad named Coyle, about 17 years of age, who could not swim, was stripped and splashing in the water on the shore hanging on to a rock, when the rushing current came in on him, broke his hold and carried him out into the swift current.

His comrades saw him floundering in the water and being carried out to the vortex of the pool. One of them named Griffith, about 19 years old, an expert swimmer, sprang to his assistance, swimming out to him. By this time Coyle was sinking and was several feet below the water when young Griffith dove down and grabbed hold of him. Coyle, in his frenzy, clutched Griffith around the neck and rendered him useless either to assist Coyle or save himself. The two boys were 100 feet from shore in a swift surging current of 50 feet of water.

The crowd saw death for both lads, when Archie Donald and Ed. Newman, two young men standing on shore, threw off only their coats and hats, sprang into the current and swam out to them. Donald reached the drowning boys first as they were sinking, clutched together tightly. He broke their hold, and, handing Griffith's limp form to Newman, the two young men swam ashore with the bodies. Ready hands soon resuscitated both lads by rubbing and pumping their limbs.

Donald and Newman, who saved both the lads from drowning, certainly deserve credit, as well as young Griffith for his prompt action to save his comrade that so nearly cost him his life.

Drowned at London.

London, July 15.—While bathing in the Thames River yesterday forenoon, with another lad, near the Cove bridge, Roy Sponenburg, an employe of D. S. Perrin & Co.'s biscuit factory, was drowned. Sponenburg attempted to swim across the river, and it is supposed he took cramp, and before assistance could reach him he sank. His body was recovered some time after.

Arrested For Forgery.

Windsor, July 15.—Henry Armstrong was arrested this morning at the Windsor Hotel on a charge of forging and passing cheques. The names he is alleged to have forged are those of Ben Weston of Sandwich East, P. Janisse and Peter Herbert of Tecumseh, the amount in each case being $5.

Got Beyond His Depth

Moncton, N. B., July 15.—John Taylor, aged 15, was drowned while bathing in Robinson's Creek yesterday morning. He was unable to swim and got beyond his depth.

Miller's Granules will make a clear complexion. Sold by Wm. Madill.

MARKET REPORTS.

Break in Grain Cables—Rain in Parts of United States Corn Belt the Cause—Latest Quotations.

Saturday Evening, July 13.

To-day saw a sharp break in the prices of American grains, which have been boomed the last few days on the corn drouth in the Western and Southwestern States. There were reports of the drouth being broken in places, and September corn at Chicago fell 4 points to 49½c, and closed only slightly above the bottom. September wheat, after initial strength, fell 2c per bushel, closing a cent under Friday's final figures. The sharp fall was partly due to the over-bought condition of the speculative market.

In Liverpool to-day the market responded to yesterday's advance on this side of the water. Spot wheat rose sharply, and futures advanced ¼d to ⅝d per cental. Maize options unchanged to ¼d down. The transatlantic markets closed before the American markets were far advanced today.

10 CENTS A DOZEN.

Choice Bananas at 10c per dozen from 7 to 9 o'clock to-night at R. A. DUTTON'S.

A Street Blockade.

A genuine jam—a banana jam, took place on George street in front of Dutton's on Saturday night. The pavement was literly blocked to pedestrians by patrons rushing to secure the luxurious banana at ten cents a dozen—and they were big ones—not the dorens, but the bananas. The same price for the same fruit will probably cause a similar jam to-night.

Obituary.

The demise occurred at midnight Saturday night, of Eleanor Crawford, widow of the late Robert Crawford. She was 85 years of age and passed peacefully away at the residence of her son-in-law, Mr. H. A. Yenny, No. 63 Homewood Avenue. The deceased lady had been a resident of Peterborough for about six years previous to her demise. She was a native of Cork, Ireland, but lived the greater part of her life in Canada. Her husband predeceased her twenty years. The remains were taken to Clinton to-day for burial, where several sons and daughters of the deceased reside.

Died in Syracuse.

Mr. S. B. Weir, County Secretary L.O.L., this morning received a telegram stating that Robert Cardwell had died in Syracuse and asking him to notify the Nassau Lodge of Orangemen. Robert Caldwell, at one time kept the Little Windsor Hotel here and afterwards moved to Hale's Bridge, where he took possession of the old hotel property. His wife and a portion of his family still reside there. The telegram was sent by one of deceased's sons, who stated that the remains were being brought to Canada. The funeral will likely take place from the family residence, Hale's Bridge.

BEAUTIES OF RICE LAKE.

The Otonabee and Rice Lake Waters Popular.

Many who Enjoyed a Saturday Afternoon Trip Down to Gore's Landing —Campers Along the Route.

A noticeable feature in connection with pleasure seeking this season is the rapid growth in population of the Otonabee and Rice Lake waters. This easily accessible, yet apparently hitherto unappreciated region as a summer resort, is at last becoming by the pleasure seeking people of Peterborough and other places in this district. What more pleasant outing the townspeople would care to have than a trip down the picturesque winding Otonabee, to the breezy and beautiful Rice Lake, one can scarcely imagine and as before stated the traffic that is daily increasing on this route is an indication that it has by no means reached the zenith of its popularity. The steamers on the local waters are doing a splendid business this summer in the excursion line and in the regular passenger service as well. The daily steamboat service that has for several years past been inaugurated, has inspired confidence in the public so that now one can rely upon getting back from points on Rice Lake every day or any day in the week, excepting Sundays.

The Otonabee river at the present time is alive with campers and from Peterborough down to Hale's Bridge in particular the canvas covered hamlet is everywhere to be seen. They are made up mostly of people from town who find it very handy to run down and back for the night. Rice Lake, too, has its share of campers and many of the more picturesque spots are being taken advantage of.

It is some years since so much canoeing was done on the Otonabee as has been done this season and every evening a surprisingly large fleet is to be seen on Little Lake and for several miles down the Otonabee. Saturday night was perhaps a record breaker. The passengers who were on their way home on the ever popular North Star were surprised at the great number of canoeists on their way down to various points on the river to spend a cool day of rest. Canoe after canoe passed by with young people from town bringing with them their scanty luggage required to do them over the day.

The private steam yachts are no less active and the puff of the little engine from these smaller crafts can be heard frequently as they pass on their way to the lake.

The Saturday afternoon outing is perhaps the most popular outing of the week and last Saturday many took a run down to Jubilee and Gore's Landing. A gay party of young ladies from Ashburnham enjoyed a pleasant outing down to Gore's Landing and when they got off at the Ashburnham wharf they declared most emphatically and in one voice that Captain Harris was "All right. Oh yes you bet, etc., etc." Of course no one insinuated for a moment that the Captain wasn't.

This week a number of excursions are billed for down the river, not the least popular of which will likely be the Stanley Employee's excursion to Jubilee. The City of Peterborough has been chartered for the occasion. The City, it might be said will make her first trip this week. She is truly a beautiful boat and should receive every support.

Amongst the guests at the Rice Lake House, Gore's Landing, are Rev. Dr. and Mrs. E. F. Torrance and child.

Mr. T. H. Hamilton, wife and children are at Jubilee for a few days.

Mr. John Miller and party are camping at Jubilee Point.

A new steam yacht, the "Echo," took a party of seven employees of the Canadian General Electric Company for a trip down the river on Saturday, returning to Peterborough last night. The "Echo" was built by Messrs. Frank Atchison and Jack Alexander, who made every part, including the boiler and engine, in leisure time during the past year. It is a staunch and handy little vessel and is credit to the builders.

The new yacht is a very pretty one and is a credit to its makers. She is 27 feet in length, 7 feet beam, 5 h.p. engine, and has a speed of ten miles an hour. She was registered on Friday as having a capacity of 4 tons. Captain Carson will be in command with John Alexander as engineer, both of whom hold the necessary certificates.

Thomas Desautel on Saturday caught five beautiful lunge just below the locks.

A BIG EEL ROUND-UP.

What Spoil the Unwatering of Dickson's Raceway, Revealed.

If the Sabbath wasn't broken at the Dickson raceway on Sunday morning it was considerably eelongated. On Saturday night the water was let out of the raceway, and among the sediment was a large number—hundreds—of wriggling eels. As early as six o'clock men and boys were wading knee-deep in the slime capturing the slippery animals. The wrigglers, not being in the swim, were easily annexed, and many a Sunday morning breakfast table was odorous with fried snake.

A similar eel round-up took place at Niagara Falls over fifty years ago. A strong east wind, like that at the Israelitish crossing of the Red Sea, prevailed for several days. The water of Lake Erie was blown back to such a degree that the Falls almost ran dry, except in the deepest channels. The recession of the water left the shoal rock exposed, and hundreds of the inhabitants armed with forks, speared the eels that were left high and dry at places where at other times, the rapids roared feet deep.

REV. DR. JACKSON HERE.

He Preached in St. Paul's Church Yesterday Morning and Evening.

The pulpit yesterday morning and evening in St. Paul's church was occupied by Rev. Dr. Jackson, of Cleveland. He will also preach from St. Paul's pulpit for the next three Sundays, during the absence of the pastor, Rev. Dr. Torrance, who is away from town on his holidays. Dr. Jackson is not a stranger to the people of Peterborough, having performed like duties here last summer, when he won the esteem of all by his able preaching and affable manner.

The reverend doctor's discourses yesterday were intensely interesting, and notwithstanding the excessive heat and the fact that many are out of town at present, there were fairly large congregations present.

In the morning Rev. Dr. Jackson took for his text St. John 8, 12, "Then spake Jesus again unto them saying, I am the light of the world; he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness but shall have the light of life." His explanation of the words of the text was clear and eloquent and his likening of the material light to the light of God, together with the circumstances leading up to these use of cumstances leading up to the use of these words by our Saviour, were very forcibly set forth.

The Reverend Doctor will conduct the weekly prayer meeting, and will be pleased to see as many of the congregation present as possible.

MR. HEAD LEAVING.

The Popular Gardener of Nicholls Hospital has Resigned His Position.

It is announced that Mr. James Head, who for the past number of years has held the position of gardener at the Nicholls Hospital, has resigned his position, his resignation to take effect on the 31st of the present month. During the time that Mr. Head has held the position of gardener, the beautiful grounds of the Nicholls Hospital were kept in such a state as to draw forth the most favourable comment from those who might have had the pleasure of viewing them. He was always noted for the painstaking manner in which he performed his duties, and it is only to be hoped that his successor will endeavour to keep the handsome lawns in the same attractive state as under the direction of the present caretaker. As an evidence of the high standard attained in floral cultivation by Mr. Head, one has only to remember the many prizes carried off at the Horticultural and other shows, where the beautiful plants of the Icholls Hospital have been exhibited. Friends of the Nicholls Hospital will regret exceedingly that "Jim" is leaving, and will join in wishing him success in his new occupation.

MARRIED IN TORONTO.

Rev. Francis Heatcote to Miss Evelyn M. Smith—Once Resided Here.

The Toronto Globe to-day contains the following notice of the marriage of Rev. Francis C. C. Heathcote, a former resident of Peterborough. Rev. Mr. Heathcote came out to this country about 14 years ago with his brother, Mr. William Heathcote, who was in the office of Mr. John Belcher, architect. Rev. Mr. Heathcote left here about four or five years ago. The Globe says:

"The chancel of St. Simon's Church was artistically decorated with quantities of marguerites on Saturday afternoon in honour of the marriage of Miss Evelyn Marguerite Smith, daughter of Mr. J. F. Smith, K. C., of Rosedale, to the Rev. Francis C. C. Heathcote, rector of St. Clement's church, Leslieville, and formerly curate of St. Simon's. Mr. Beach, the organist, and the ladies' surpliced choir of St. Clement's church, assisted in the choral service, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. T. C. Street-Macklem, Provost of Trinity College. The bride wore a becoming gown of white silk and chiffon, and her veil was fastened with orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of white roses. Miss A. M. Smith, sister of the bride, who was the bridesmaid, wore a gown of blue taffeta veiled with white organdie, with a white hat to match. The groomsman was the Rev. F. G. Plummer, of St. Thomas' church. At the conclusion of the service, Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by Mr. J. F. Harrison, organist of St. Simon's Church. The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Heathcote left at 4.45 p.m., for a short wedding journey. Among the invited guests were Dr and Mrs. Larrett Smith, Rev. Lennox Smith, Mrs. Beecher, Miss Macklem, Mr and Mrs. Charles Fleming, the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Wood, Miss Harper, Miss Zoe Shortt, Rev. A. J. Broughall, Mrs. Broughall, Miss Beanie Maclean Howard, Miss Fanny Kirkpatrick, Rev. Mr. Norrie, Mrs. Charles Fuller, Mr. Deppard, Miss Playter, and a large number of the parishioners of St. Clement's church. On returning to Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. Heathcote will reside in their pretty house on Pape avenue, which Rev. Mr. Heathcote has just built."

FIRE AT ASPHODEL.

Philip Metcalfe's Barn was Burned to the Ground.

The barn on Mr. Philip Metcalfe's farm in the Thistlethwaite neighbourhood, in Asphodel, occupied by Mr. W. T. Peters, was destroyed by fire about one o'clock on Sunday morning. The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is supposed to have been set on fire by the children who were playing around it at the time. Mr. Peters' mother, an old lady about 76 years of age, and the children, were the only persons at home at the time, Mr. and Mrs. Peters having gone to visit friends in Dummer. The children gave the alarm, and Mrs. Peters, as soon as she discovered what had happened, blew the horn to attract the attention of the neighbours, but before assistance arrived, the fire was beyond control.

Mr. Peters lost all his implements, vehicles, etc., consisting of a new binder, valued at $125, mower, seed drill, horse rake, fanning mill, sleigh, cutter, democrat, harness, three pigs and a number of hens, besides a lot of small articles and a quantity of feed. His loss will foot up to over $300, against which he held no insurance. The building, which was a log structure, was insured in the London Mutual for $200.

Much sympathy is felt for Mr. Peters in his misfortune and we understand that some of the neighbours are circulating a subscription list to assist him in replacing his loss.

SETTLERS' CABINS BURNED

A Terrible Fire Sweeps Over a Portion of New Ontario.

The Rev. W. Peer, Baptist Missionary to the Temiscaming District—New Ontario—in a letter to Mrs. Peer, makes mention of the terrible fire that swept over a large area of that country, consuming the cabins and effects of many of the settlers, but fortunately sparing the lives of the settlers themselves.—

He said, on Sunday, 31st June, I walked seven miles out from New Liskard for service, at 11 a.m. While we were at service the wind rose to a gale. There were large fires in the west about three miles away. These became fierce and soon the wood was one flame for miles around us. The women and children, horses and cattle, as well as the men, were gathered into a small clearing, as we could not go north, south, east or west,—smoke and flame everywhere; so we had to breathe smoke all the afternoon and endure intense heat. We were kept busy putting out the cinders that fell around us, but we came through safe and no person was burned. When I came down the road in the evening it was covered with burning trees that had fallen across it, and men, women, and children with nothing left but the clothes they had on. Truly it was a sight that I do not wish to see again.

CHURCH CHIMES.

MURRAY STREET BAPTIST.

Special sermons by Rev. J. Bastow to Sunday School were preached yesterday. The pastor was assisted in the service by the superintendent, Mr. E. B. Edwards.

Special appropriate hymns were sung.

In the morning Miss Florence Hall sang, "I think when I read the sweet story of old," with great sweetness and expression.

In the evening Miss Holmes, of Boston, sang by special request "The Plains of Peace," with very pleasing taste and good expression.

THE LOCALS WON FROM COBOURG.

A Hot Game of Ball on a Red Hot Day.

THE SCORE WAS 11 TO 6.

The Old Rivals of Peterborough Were Turned Down Quite Easily—Notes on the Game.

The Peterborough Baseball Team won another decisive victory on Saturday afternoon when they defeated Cobourg, their old time rivals, by a score of 11 to 6. The day was hot, almost too hot in fact for a baseball match, but there was nevertheless a fair attendance, including quite a sprinkling of ladies.

The game was throughout a first-class exhibition of ball, with enough good batting and fielding to make it interesting for the onlookers. The local aggregation was somewhat changed since the last game; Mulhall who held down second bag with so much efficiency last year, was again at his old post, and put up his usual excellent game, bringing in several hard balls that looked like safe hits. Dr. Scott was unable to play, and Earls took his place at third and put up a fine game, having six different assists to his credit. Kehoe played centre, and Sheridan right; Sheridan's hitting was a feature of the game, he having five hits out of five times at bat. He made two doubles and three singles. Kehoe put out two double suckers and a single, besides making two nice catches of high flies. Graham was back behind the bat, and the team was steady and at home all through the game.

The Cobourg team put up a good article of ball but could not hit or run bases like the locals. McCabe appeared to have them well in hand, and they only secured seven hits. R. Brown, in left field, was the star fielder; he nailed five very hard flies—all that came his way.

Cobourg did not score until the 6th innings, and things looked very much in favour of a shut out. A couple of errors and two hits netted four runs. The seventh and eighth were fruitless for them, but in the ninth three hits and an error netted two more runs, and their scoring. Peterborough scored three in the first on three hits and an error; got one in the third and another in the fourth. In the fifth the locals hammered Climo's shoots out for six hits, two being doubles. Kehoe started the fun with a double; Grady handed out another, and the rest followed with singles, scoring five runs. Peterborough scored again in the ninth by Earls taking an inshoot in the slats, and Kehoe following with a double, scoring Earls. The locals did not have to take their ninth, and the score wound up 11—6.

The score was as follows:

SPORTING PASTIMES.

THE WHEEL.

Local wheelmen are reminded of the meeting in the Y. M. C. A. this evening for the purpose of arranging a series of races for a cup to be presented by the Canada Cycle and Motor Co.

BASEBALL.

The Auburn and Peterborough teams will meet each other at 6.30 o'clock this evening on the P.A.A.A. grounds. The game promises to be very interesting.

The next game in which the locals will figure will be against Port Hope on Wednesday afternoon. The Port Hope team will come up on the Sunday school excursion from that town to Peterborough.

George Miller, of the Lindsay ball team, pitched for the Park Nine, of Toronto, in their game with the Cresents Saturday in the Upper Canada College grounds, Toronto. Miller is fast coming to the front as a ball pitcher, and no doubt in a year or two will rank with the best.

Oshawa defeated Port Hope on Friday by a score of 14 to 9.

A Humble Apology.

"We feel that an apology is due," explains the editor of the Spiketown Blizzard, "to the estimable young woman who teaches at the schoolhouse in District No. 5. Through the wretched blunder of a worthless tramp printer whom we trusted with the setting up of an item just as we were closing the forms for our last week's edition we were made to say that 'Miss Ruby McConnell, the handsome and popular teacher in Riggs neighborhood, is the proud possessor of an elegant new black beard.' We wrote it 'blackboard.'"

LINDSAY WON THE GAME.

An Interesting Cricket Match That Took Place on Nicholls' Oval on Saturday.

The Lindsay Cricket Club came to Peterborough on Saturday to play their return game with the Peterborough Colts. The result was a victory for the visitors by 43 runs, a very interesting match. The Lindsay men, it must be remembered, are a much heavier, older and more experienced lot of players than the locals, which accounts for their rather decisive victory. Peterborough played Hal Burnham, who was of great assistance to the Colts.

The score was as follows:

DROWNING ACCIDENT IN CHINA

Rev. W. H. Smith's Baby Lost in Running the Rapids While En Route to Chentu.

Word has been received at the Methodist Mission rooms that the Mission property in Sze Chuan is still intact. The news comes in two letters from the missionaries at Chunking, dated May 18th and 20th.

Several of the missionaries had succeeded by that time in getting this far up the river, but the Consul would not allow the women and children to proceed further. Rev. Dr. Kilborne, however, pushed on overland to Chentu, and found the mission property precisely as it had been left, nothing having been injured or destroyed.

The missionaries have gone up the river at intervals and all have reached Chunking without accident, except W. E. Smith, and family, though several had narrow escapes in going up the rapids.

Mr. Smith's family were not so fortunate. The boat in which they were travelling was upset and their little babe was drowned. The rest of the family escaped with the loss of their personal effects.

Tiding of this sad occurrence will be received with deep regret by the many friends of the sorrowing mother, who is a daughter of Mrs. Wm. E. Young, of Rockdale, and who is also well known in Norwood, she having attended the High School there for some time, where she was familiarly known as Grace Young.

A CONTRADICTION.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir, — I wish to contradict a piece which was published in a local morning paper on July 2nd. "Our Natal Day," is the heading of nearly half a column of what any liberal-minded man would call "rank bigotry." The writer goes on to say that the Catholics of Peterborough showed their disloyalty by holding what, he calls, a sectarian fete or picnic. It shows how poorly he understands the meaning of the words "sectarian fete," when he calls St. Joseph's picnic by that name. The picnic held by the Catholics on Dominion Day was no "sectarian fete," but simply a picnic held in aid of an institution which shelters Protestants as well as Catholics. The object of holding the Catholic picnic on Dominion Day was not to keep Catholics from taking part in the celebration which was held on that day, but that by holding it on a public holiday they might be assured of greater success, and the greater the success of the picnic the greater aid could be given to one of Peterborough's best and most deserving institutions, for which it was held. St. Joseph's Hospital is not endowed as the Nicholls Hospital is, and therefore Dominion Day could not be spent in a better way than by attending St. Joseph's picnic, which was held for a charitable purpose. It cannot be said of the Catholics of Peterborough that they have followed an illiberal precedent, for when St. Joseph's was completed His Lordship the Bishop publicly announced that it was open to Protestants as well as Catholics, and no Protestant can say that he has been refused admission in case of sickness, whether he had money or not. How, then, can that "Patriot," as he calls himself, have the "gall" to call the Catholics of Peterborough disloyal to their country for holding a charity picnic on Dominion Day? The paper that publishes such trash has less sense than the writer, and could not justly expect to be patronized by Catholics. The writer had the audacity to say that "while the Protestant part of the Central Park was, and is at all times, open for the common use of all, the Catholic part is fenced in for their own special use." Here is another of his blunders. In the first place the grounds on which the Catholic picnic was held are not the Catholic part of Central Park, but the Murray street school's private grounds; and in the second place, Central Park does not belong to the Protestants of Peterborough but to the town—it was bought by Catholic money as well as Protestant. Therefore, there is no special thanks to the Protestants of Peterborough for leaving it open for the common use of all, because they could not fence in what does not belong exclusively to them. That "Patriotic" writer also criticizes those Protestant gentlemen who contributed prizes to St. Joseph's picnic, and asks "If anyone ever heard of a Catholic contributing to a Protestant picnic?" I will answer by saying that I know of Catholics contributing to many Protestant picnics. For example Mr. Gough and Mr. LeBrun have contributed valuable prizes in clothing to Protestant picnics.

I cannot understand how any man who would try to cause dissension and animosity among the citizens of Peterborough could have the audacity to call himself a "Patriot," and I, as a Catholic, sincerely hope that when that man writes again he will have something more to criticize than a charity picnic.

Yours, etc.,
A CATHOLIC.

THE HORSE'S KICK.

Don't ask me to back with "blinds" on. I am afraid to.

Don't lead me to some blockhead that has less sense than I have.

Don't think because I am a horse iron weeds and briers won't hurt my hay.

Don't be so careless of my harness as to find a great sore on me before you attend to it.

Don't run me down a steep hill, for if anything should give way I might break your neck.

Don't put on my blind bridle so that it irritates my eye or so leave my forelock that it will be in my eyes.

Don't whip me when I get frightened along the road or I will expect it next time and maybe make trouble.

Don't hitch me to an iron post or railing when the mercury is below freezing. I need the skin on my tongue.

Don't think because I go free under the whip I don't get tired. You, too, would move up if under the whip.

Don't forget the old book, that is a friend to all the oppressed, that says, "A merciful man is merciful to his beast."

Don't keep my stable very dark, for when I go out into the light my eyes are injured, especially if snow be on the ground.

Don't compel me to eat more salt than I want by mixing it with my oats. I know better than any other animal how much I need.

Don't leave me hitched in my stall at night with a big cob right where I must lie down. I am tied and can't select a smooth place.

Don't trot me up hill, for I have to carry you and the buggy and myself too. Try it yourself some time. Run up hill with a big load.

Don't forget to file my teeth when they get jagged and I cannot chew my feed. When I get lean, it is a sign my teeth want filing.

FRONTENAC LIBERALS.

Mr. W. J. Shibley Nominated for the Legislature on Saturday.

Kingston, July 15.—The Frontenac Liberal Association held their convention in The Whig Hall here on Saturday, when there was a large attendance of delegates from all parts of the riding. Mr. W. J. Franklin of Pittsburg, President of the Association, occupied the chair. It had been a foregone conclusion that the nomination would be tendered to Mr. W. J. Shibley, a well-known resident of Harrowsmith, where he has been a Liberal worker for years. There was some talk of a city man being nominated, but Mr. Shibley had the convention. There was no mistaking this. The Committee on Nominations, which met in the morning, reported in the afternoon that Mr. Shibley had the nomination, and the convention endorsed the report unanimously by a show of hands.

In accepting the nomination Mr. Shibley said he was in the fight to win, and expressed the belief that the Liberals would be able with proper organization to redeem Frontenac. The candidate was loudly cheered as he resumed his seat.

At 2 o'clock The Whig Hall was well filled with delegates and electors of Frontenac who desired to hear Mr. Stratton give an account of the work of the Liberal Government in the Province of Ontario, and more particularly the active policy of Premier Ross and his Government. The Provincial Secretary was given a most enthusiastic reception. The Minister, in a summary of the general Provincial political situation, referred to the record, course and policy of the Ross Government, and, comparing it with the record, course and policy of the Opposition, contrasted the respective claims of the Government and the Opposition to the confidence of the people.

WHAT FISH EAT.

Most Denizens of the Deep Live on Animal Substances.

There are many thousand species of fishes, and naturally there is a great diversity in their food. Nevertheless, it is possible to divide it into seven distinct classes. Now, all the animal life rests on a foundation of vegetables. Plants store up the vital forces in the air and sunshine and pass them on to the great army of vegetarians, who in their turn yield them up to the animals which live on flesh. One or two additional steps may sometimes be interposed, but the result is the same. A caterpillar eats a cabbage, an ichneumon fly quarters her brood on the caterpillar, an insect eating bird snaps up the fly, and a bird of prey pounces upon the fly catcher and finishes the story. The inevitable order is plant, vegetarian, flesh eater.

The vast majority of fishes feed on fishes or other animals found in the sea. Probably, however, the vegetarians are more numerous than are generally supposed. For instance, all the textbooks declare that a gray mullet feeds on the living matter obtained by straining sand or mud in its mouth, which doubtless is true, but they ought to explain that owing to the peculiar construction of its throat larger bodies are prevented from passing into the stomach, which is not true. No amount of letterpress will persuade a Land's End fisherman that a gray mullet cannot or does not eat seaweed. He is convinced from a lifelong observation of its habits that it does, and the fact that the fish's stomach is often found full of seaweed proves that the fisherman is right. Fishes which undoubtedly catch and swallow living prey are wont on occasion to treat themselves to a dish of vegetables. I assisted at the post mortem examination of a bream which contained, in addition to a crab, large helpings of two kinds of seaweed in different stages of digestion.

But doubtless it is a fact that fishes live for the most part on animal diet, and it is obvious that this must consist largely of some other class than their own. If fishes ate fishes only, the race would soon become extinct. Fortunately the sea is full of life, and for those which cannot or will not eat seaweed there are worms innumerable, jellyfishes, starfishes and sea urchins, the great host living in shells, from the oyster to the periwinkle and the limpet, crabs and all other kindred, and lastly other fishes. The appetite must be capricious indeed which cannot find something to tempt it among all this vast array.

THE FAN.

Fans were used as sacred emblems in India.

The Romans used a circular fan on occasions of state.

The early Greeks made fans of the flat leaves of the lotus.

In China both sexes find the fan essential to their comfort.

The Chinese and Japanese have from antiquity used fans of all possible varieties.

In ancient Egypt fans of strange shape made of parchment or feathers were used in religious ceremonies.

Folding fans had their origin in Japan and were imported thence to China. They were of the shape still used.

The fan is as much an article of dress with the Japanese woman as the cute little sash which ties in a big bow at the back of her gown.

In China fans of white paper are used, and it is considered a compliment to invite your friend or guest to write upon its mount some sentiment as a memento of the occasion.

Perhaps the earliest fan in history was mentioned in hieroglyphics deciphered by the Egyptologist, Lepsius. In his researches he found this sentence referring to Osiris: "In his hand he held a fan."

Photographing Closed Pages.

Library rules ordinarily forbid the removal of valuable books and engravings from the premises, so that there is trouble in obtaining photographic copies of pictures or plates, the introduction of artificial light or even of a camera being commonly prohibited. A method of getting over this difficulty which has been tried recently with success is to coat a piece of cardboard with a phosphorescent substance and, after sufficient exposure to the sun, place it at the back of the picture to be reproduced. Then (supposing that the picture is in a book) a dry plate is put against the face of it, and the volume is closed. This can be managed very easily by manipulating the dry plate under a cloth that covers the book.

The dry plate is allowed to remain from 18 to 60 minutes, according to the nature and thickness of the paper. Then it is withdrawn, under the cloth as before, and put into a dark box for subsequent development. It is stated by the inventor of this process that if films are used instead of dry plates a large number of copies of different engravings in the same book may be made at the same time.—Saturday Evening Post.

The Trouble.

The naturalist's wife had gone out for a few moments and left the baby in charge of her absentminded husband. When she returned, she was not a little disturbed to discover the baby crying dismally and its father with a collection of his largest bottles of alcohol before him, evidently at his wits' end.

"Why, David, David!" cried the good woman, snatching up the child. "Whatever is the matter?"

"Well, my dear," responded the great naturalist simply, still gazing at the baby, "it's very strange, but I can't find a bottle large enough to hold him anywhere."

Nervously Exhausted.

Sleepless, poor digestion, easily tired, blue as indigo, that's how you feel. Do you want to feel strong, make plenty of blood, enjoy buoyancy, strength and vim. You can do so by using Ferrozone. How it sharpens the appetite and imparts a feeling of buoyancy, strength and vim! Improves the appetite, digestion, assimilation, sleep. How surely Ferrozone does this, you can ascertain by using it. Ferrozone is a blood builder, nerve strengthener and brain invigorator. Sold by only Ormond and Walsh.

Disheartening.

Even the clergyman, noble and inspiring as his vocation is, has now and then his bad moments.

"Oh, sir," said a poor woman to a Scotch minister, who was by no means a popular preacher, "well do I like the day when you give us the sermon."

"Indeed!" said the minister, flushing with pleasure. "I wish there were more like you, my good woman. It is seldom I hear such words from any one."

"Maybe their hearing's stronger than mine, sir," said the woman promptly, "but when you preach I can always get a good seat."

Woman's Sense of Humor.

Looking around our circle of acquaintance, we find quite as large a proportion of women as of men who enjoy a lively sense of humor. I think that women who have it are quicker to appreciate the funny side of things than men, but that women who have it not are hopelessly commonplace, much more so than the men who are without it.

We have often noticed that people have usually a one sided sense of humor. Some can see one kind of joke, but not another, and the next comer is just the opposite. This sort of mental obliquity corresponds, I suppose, with color blindness.—London Truth.

Who Voted?

Over a century ago Benjamin Franklin discussed the property qualification for voting in Pennsylvania. A man owned a donkey of sufficient value to enable him to vote, but before the next election the donkey died, and the man's vote was refused. "Now," asked Franklin, "who voted at the previous election, the man or the donkey?"

THE CONQUEST OF KOREA.

Japanese Legend of Emperor Chuai and His Valiant Wife.

Seventeen centuries ago the Japanese Emperor Chuai was playing his lute in the presence of his wife and prime minister. Whether on account of the music or from some other cause, the empress became inspired with a divine afflatus and began to utter the thoughts put into her mind by the deity. "There is a land to the westward," she exclaimed, "and in that land is abundance of treasure, gold and silver, dazzling to look upon. This land I will now bestow upon you."

The emperor pushed away his lute. "If you go up to a high place and look toward the west," said he, "there is no land to be seen, but only the great waters. They are lying spirits who have spoken to you."

Then the good god was filled with anger, and again he moved the empress to prophesy. "You are not fit," she said, "to rule this empire. Go the one road!"

But the prime minister trembled when he heard these words and said to his master: "I am troubled, my heavenly sovereign, by this terrible message. Continue, I pray, to play the august lute."

The Emperor Chuai commenced to play softly. Gradually the sound died away; all was still. They held a light to his face and saw that he was dead. But the empress put herself at the head of her fleet, invaded the land of gold and silver with her warriors and soon made the three kingdoms of Korea tributary to Japan.

These things happened, we are told, in the year 201 A. D., and the story of the valiant empress is as familiar to a Japanese as is that of Boadicea to ourselves.

The Slowness of Starvation.

During a prolonged fast the loss of weight is unusually rapid at first and decreases as the time goes on. Death ensues when a certain percentage of the loss has been reached, and this percentage varies according to the original weight. Fat animals may lose half their weight, thinner ones perhaps two-fifths. A man or woman of rather spare build weighing 143 pounds might, therefore, lose about 55 pounds before succumbing. Children die after a fast of from three to five days, during which they have lost a quarter of their weight. Healthy adults, however, have fasted 50 days when water has been taken. A German physician reports the case of a woman aged 47 years who fasted for 43 days, taking water freely. She lost 44 pounds out of 143 pounds and died from exhaustion.

An Idea of Mars.

"As for me," said M. Flammarion, speaking of the inhabitants of Mars in The National Magazine, "I rather envy them—a land where it is always beautiful, where there are neither tempests nor cyclones, where the years are twice as long as ours, where the kilogram is of 376 grams and where, therefore, men and women who here weigh 70 kilos there weigh only 26, and where, in a word, everything is lighter, more delicate and more refined."

And in another place he goes further, pointing out that if the Martians wished to communicate with us they would have doubtless made the effort many times in the past and probably long ago abandoned it, deciding it a hopeless business to attempt communication with a planet so stupid.

A Talkative Mute.

"She is so garrulous," said the first deaf mute, speaking of a friend who was similarly affected.

"Is that so?"

"Yes. Why, do you know, when no one is around for her to talk to, she makes her right hand talk to her left."—Baltimore American.

WOMEN AND DREAMS.

Superstition That Is Rife Even Among the Educated Fair Sex.

It doesn't seem possible that in this enlightened age superstition could be rife among the educated, but there are nevertheless a number of young women who converse fluently, if not eloquently, in three languages, and who read Spencer and Browning and Emerson, but who place a dreambook with their Bible on the table beside the bed and consult it in the morning the first thing.

With a credulity worthy of a negro mammy, if their sleep has been visited with unusual visitors they seize this volume as soon as their eyes are fairly open and look for an explanation. If misfortune is foretold by it, the seeker after knowledge assumes a bravado she is far from feeling. "I don't care," she says to herself, by way of bolstering up her courage. "I am not superstitious, anyway, and I don't believe in such arrant nonsense." But she's nervous just the same for days until her troubles have driven this mythical one out of her mind.

There's one young woman known to the writer who never dreams of a young child without shivering and shaking for days after in fear of some dreadful thing happening to her. She has not consulted a dreambook on the subject, and so she doesn't know how infants and bad luck became connected in her mind, but nevertheless, after she has had a visit of this sort while sleeping, she says prayers of unusual length and then makes up her mind to be patient under afflictions sore.

She is an intelligent woman, mind you, but she doesn't attempt to explain the terror that besets her at this particular dream. She doesn't call herself superstitious—of course no woman does, not even the one who wouldn't walk under a ladder—but her friends do and make light of her until she exposes some fetich of theirs, when the subject is carefully avoided afterward.

Arms and The Woman

By Harold MacGrath

Copyright, 1900, By Harold MacGrath.

"It is a delicate matter," said the prince, turning the ring on his finger. "It would be impolite to state my reasons before her highness. Your highness, are you not of my opinion that as matters now stand a marriage between us would be rather absurd?"

"Now, as at all times," retorted Gretchen scornfully. "It has never been my will," a furtive glance at the king.

"But"— began the king. He was wrathful.

"Your majesty," said the innkeeper, "you are a great king; be a generous one."

All looked at him as though they expected to see the king fly at him and demolish him—all but I. The king walked up to the bold speaker, took his measure, then, with his hands clasped behind his back, resumed his pacing. After awhile he came to a standstill.

"Your highness," he said to Phyllis, "what shall I do with this man who has so grossly wronged you?"

"Forgive him."

The king passed on. I was not looking at him, but at the innkeeper. I saw his lip tremble and his eyes fill. Suddenly he fell upon his knees before Phyllis and raised her hand to his lips.

"Will your highness forgive a sinner who only now realizes the wrong he has done to you?"

"Yes, I forgive you," said Phyllis. "The only wrong you have done to me is to have made me a princess. Your majesty will forgive me, but it is all so strange to me who have grown up in a foreign land which is dearer to my heart than the land in which I was born."

I felt a thrill of pride, and I saw that Mr. Wentworth's lips had formed into a "God bless her!"

"It is a question now," said the king, "only of duty."

"And your majesty's will regarding my marriage?" put in the prince, holding his watch in his hand. It was 10 o'clock.

"Well, well! It shall be as you desire." Then to me: "I thank you in the name of their highnesses for your services. And you, Mr. Wentworth, shall always have the good will of the king for presenting to his court so accomplished and beautiful a woman as her highness the Princess Elizabeth. Hermann Breunner, return to your inn and remain there. Your countenance brings back disagreeable recollections. I shall expect your highnesses at dinner this evening. Prince, I leave to you the pleasant task of annulling your nuptial preparations. Good morning. Ah, these women!" as he passed from the room. "They are our mothers, so we must suffer their caprices."

And as we men followed him we saw Gretchen weeping silently on Phyllis' shoulder.

The innkeeper touched the prince.

"I give you fair warning," he said. "If our paths cross again, one of us shall go on alone."

"I should be very lonely without you," laughed the prince. "However, rest yourself. As the king remarked, your face recalls unpleasant memories. Our paths shall not cross again."

When the innkeeper and the chancellor were out of earshot, I said, "She is mine!"

"Not yet," the prince said softly. "On Tuesday morn I shall kill you."

CHAPTER XXII.

I was very unhappy. Three days passed, and I saw neither Phyllis nor Gretchen. The city was still talking about the dramatic ending of Prince Ernst's engagement to the Princess Hildegarde. Twice I had called at the Hohenphalian residence to pay my respects. Once I was told that their highnesses were at the palace. The second time I was informed that their highnesses were indisposed. I became gloomy and disheartened. I could not understand. Gretchen had not even thanked me for my efforts in saving her the unhappiness of marrying the prince. And Phyllis, she who had called me "Jack," she whom I had watched grow from girlhood to womanhood, she, too, had forsaken me. I do not know what would have become of me but for Pembroke's cheerfulness.

Monday night I was sitting before the grate reading for the hundredth time Gretchen's only letter. Pembroke was buried behind the covers of a magazine. Suddenly a yellow flame leaped from a pine log, and in it I seemed to read all. Gretchen was proud and jealous. She believed that I loved Phyllis and had made her a princess because I loved her. It was the first time I had laughed in many an hour. Pembroke looked over his magazine.

"That sounds good. What caused it?"

"A story," I answered. "Some day I shall tell you all about it. If you will excuse me, cousin mine, I'll make a call on her serene highness the Princess Hildegarde."

Just then the door opened and Pembroke's valet came in. He handed a card to me, and I read upon it, "Count von Walden." I cast it into Pembroke's lap.

"That's the man. He is the inseparable of the Prince of Wortumborg." Then to the valet, "Show him up."

The count gravely passed over the threshold.

"Good evening," he said, with a look of inquiry at Pembroke.

"This gentleman," said I as I introduced him, "will second me in the affair tomorrow morning. I suppose you have come to make the final arrangements?"

"Pardon me," began Pembroke, "but I do not understand"—

"Oh, I forgot! You are," I responded, "to be my second in a duel tomorrow morning. Should anything happen to me it were well to have a friend near by, better still a relative. Well, count?"

"The prince desires me to inform you that he has selected pistols at your request, and despite the fact that he has only the use of his left hand he permits you to use either of yours. There will be one shot each, the firing to be drawn for on the grounds. The time is 6, the place one mile out on the north road in the rear of the Strasburg inn. I trust this is entirely satisfactory to you?"

"It is," I answered.

"Then allow me to bid you good night." He bowed and backed toward the door. He remained a moment with his hand on the knob, gazing into my eyes. I read in his a mixture of amusement and curiosity. "Good night." And he was gone.

Pembroke stared at me in bewilderment. "What the devil"—

"It is a matter of long standing," said I.

"But a duel!" he cried impatiently. "Hang me if I'll be your second or let you fight! These are not the days of Richelieu. It is pure murder. It is against the law."

"But I cannot draw back honorably," I said. "I cannot."

"I'll notify the police and have them stop it," he said, with determination.

"And have us all arrested and laughed at from one end of the continent to the other. My dear cousin, that man shot the dearest friend I had in the world. I am going to try to kill him at the risk of getting killed myself. He has also insulted the noblest woman that ever lived. If I backed down, I should be called a coward. The people who respect me now would close their doors in my face."

"But you have everything to lose, and he has nothing to gain."

"It cannot be helped," said I. "The woman I love once fought a duel for me. I cannot do less for her. You will be my second?"

"Yes. But if he wounds you woe to him."

"Very well. I'll leave you," said I.

It was not far to the residence of their highnesses, so I walked.

The liveried footman took my card.

"Present it to her highness the Princess Hildegarde," I said as I passed into the hall.

"Her serene highness has left town, I believe, your excellency. Her serene highness the Princess Elizabeth is dining at the palace."

"Gone?" said I.

"Yes, your excellency." He examined my card closely. "Ah, allow me to deliver this note to you, which her serene highness directed me to do should you call."

My hands shook as I accepted the missive, and the lights began to waver. I passed out into the cold air. Gone? And why? I walked back to the rooms in feverish haste. Pembroke was still at his reading.

"Hello! What brings you back so soon?"

"She was not at home," I answered. I threw my coat and hat on the sofa. I balanced the envelope in my hand. I drew forth the contents and read it.

HERR WINTHROP—Forgive the indiscretion of a princess. On my honor I am sorry for having made you believe that you inspired me with the grand passion. Folly finds plenty to do with idle minds. It was a caprice of mine which I heartily regret. There is nothing to forgive; there is much to forget. However, I am under great obligations to you. I am positive that I shall love my sister as I have never loved a human being before. She is adorable, and I can well comprehend why you should love her deeply. Forgive me for playing with what the French call your summer affections. I am about to leave for Hohenphalia to prepare the way for the new sovereign. Will you kindly destroy that one indiscreet letter which I, in the spirit of mischief, wrote you last autumn? THE PRINCESS HILDEGARDE.

The envelope reminded me of a rusty scabbard; there was a very keen weapon within. I lit my pipe and puffed for awhile.

"Cousin," said I, "I have a premonition that I shall not kill Prince Ernst of Wortumborg at 6 o'clock tomorrow morning."

"What put that into your head? You are not going to back down after all, are you?"

"Decidedly not. Something strikes me that I shall miss fire."

"Pshaw!" exclaimed Pembroke. "I have been thinking it over, and I've come to the conclusion that it would not be a bad plan to rid this world of a man like your prince. It'll all come out right in the end. You will wed the Princess Hildegarde just as sure as—as I will not wed her sister." He spoke the last words rapidly, as though afraid of them.

"I shall never marry the Princess Hildegarde," said I. "She has gone."

"Gone? Where?"

"It matters not where. Suffice it is that she has gone. Pembroke, you and I were very unfortunate fellows. What earthly use have princesses for you and me? The little knowledge of court we have was got out of cheap books and newspaper articles. To talk with kings and princesses it requires an innate etiquette which commoners cannot learn. We are not to the manner born. These princesses are but candles, and now that we have singed our mothy wings and are crippled so that we may not fly again let us beware. This may or may not be my last night on earth. Let us go to the opera. Let us be original in all things. I shall pay a prima donna to sing my requiem from the footlights before I am dead."

It was Phyllis

"Jack!" cried Pembroke anxiously.

"Oh, do not worry!" said I. "I am only trying to laugh, but I can't."

"Are you truly serious about going to the opera?" he asked.

"Yes. Hurry and dress," said I.

So we went to the opera. They are full of wonderful scenes, these continental opera houses. Here and there one sees the brilliant uniforms, blue and scarlet and brown, glittering with insignias and softened by furs. Old men with sashes crossing the white bosoms of their linen dominate the boxes, and the beauty of woman is often lost in the sparkle of jewels. And hovering over all is an oppressive fragrance. Pembroke's glasses were roving about. Presently he touched my arm.

"In the upper proscenium," he said.

It was Phyllis. The chancellor and the Grand Duke of S—— were with her.

"Is your mamma cross? Mine is awful cross! Does your mamma say 'Hush!' when you laugh or make a little bit of a noise? My mamma does. She has nerves, papa says."

The mother who overheard this account of herself would feel heart-broken to think of the shadow cast by her misery on those she loved. Yet her condition is real. Her nerves are strained to the point of torture. Lack of appetite and loss of sleep increase her weakness.

Such a condition may, in general be traced to disease of the delicate womanly organism, a cure for which is found in the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It establishes regularity, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It tranquilizes the nerves, encourages the appetite and induces refreshing sleep.

"I had been a constant sufferer from uterine disease for five years," writes Mrs. J. A. Steorts, of Yankee Dam, Clay Co., West Virginia, "and for six months previous to taking your medicine I was not out of my room. Could not walk or stand, as there was such pain and drawing in left side and bearing-down weight in region of uterus, accompanied with soreness. I suffered constantly with headache, pain in back, shoulders, arms and chest; and could not sleep nor lie down. When I had taken three bottles of the medicine the periods were regulated, I was not so nervous, could sleep well, and the pain in side and bearing down had vanished. My health is better at this time than it has been in five years."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets stimulate the liver.

Toothache Cured in One Minute.

Not only toothache, but any nerve pain is cured instantly by Polson's Nerviline. Thousands have testified that its powerful, penetrating, pain-subduing properties make it an absolute cure for neuralgia, rheumatism, toothache, cramps, colic, and all other aches and pains that beset mankind. The world is challeged is equal Nerviline as a household liniment. Large bottle, 25 cents.

Paying the Landlord.

The proprietor of one of the new apartment houses near Fifth avenue has paid a rather heavy penalty for having a cartoonist as one of his tenants. The artist wanted some changes made in the decoration of his apartment, and the proprietor declined to make them. The proprietor's features are pronounced, and he wears long, flowing side whiskers. His face, distorted to suit the cartoonist's fancy, has appeared nearly every week in one of the comic papers. Sometimes the proprietor figures as the villain and again as the countryman who is hunkoed every week in the pages of this publication. The cartoonist lets the whiskers grow from week to week; then, just as his victim imagines that they will grow so long that his friend will not recognize him, the artist trims the whiskers down again. The proprietor of the apartment house has concluded that the only way in which he can get even with the cartoonist is to put in a bill for services as model.

What do we Eat?

First we must build up the tissues in the growing body and reconstruct those worn out by use; second we must supply nervous, muscular and digestive force to the different parts of the body. Scott's Emulsion plays a very important part as regards both objects. All delicate and rapidly growing children need it.

The first anthracite coal known to be such was discovered at Mauch Chunk, Pa., in 1791. The Lehigh Coal Mining company began business in the same year, making a commodity of the recent discovery.

PICKING THE NOSE is a common symptom of worms. Mothers who suspect their child is troubled with worms should administer Dr. Low's Worm Syrup. It is pleasant, safe and effectual.

WHY WOMEN

Like Merrill's System Tonic.

The first reason is that the use of this valuable medicine produces a clear complexion, rosy cheeks and ruby lips. You can easily tell a well woman. Her step is light and buoyant, her complexion as described above, and there is a complete lack of that don't-care-to-live air about her. These results can be obtained by any woman, no matter what her complexion may now be, and no matter how old or care worn she may feel, if she persists in using a few bottles of Merrill's System Tonic. It cures constipation and liver troubles, which causes the sallow and muddy complexion. It restores the blood to its naturally healthy condition and this gives the tint to the skin without the use of face powder. It cures female trouble and regulates the female functions, and restores the vivacity of girlhood. Used according to instructions it cures falling of the womb, whites and leucorrhœa. No medicine in the world to-day is more valuable to make sick women well, than Merrill's System Tonic.

Give it to young girls who are pale and nervous. Give it to women who expect to become mothers. Give it to women in all conditions of life and it will more than substantiate its claims. Merrill's System Tonic purifies the blood, builds up the system, strengthens the nerves and cures constipation.

LONG WINTER NAPS.

WAYS IN WHICH VARIOUS ANIMALS SPEND THE COLD WEATHER.

Marvelous Manner In Which the Functions of Life Slumber—Bird Emigrants With a Wonderful Instinct For Self Preservation.

The devices of animal life to bridge over the winter season and their ways and habits during this time present an interesting, indeed fascinating, page of nature, writes Charles Frederick Holder.

At the approach of winter animals are affected in various ways. In the north all the reptiles—snakes, lizards, frogs and toads, a vast concourse—disappear in a most miraculous manner. The snakes enter holes and crevices, projecting themselves as far into the earth as possible, and, coiled tightly, assume a condition, a state of coma, in which they remain until the heat of the sun comes to waken them the following spring, when they appear voracious and eager for prey to rehabilitate them physically after months of fasting. The frogs plunge down into the mud of the ponds where they have made music during the long summer, and the same is true of turtles. Lizards affect the same places as snakes and when taken out at this time are apparently lifeless.

This is the case with the reptiles of the eastern and middle states or wherever there is a cold winter, ice and snow. But on the Pacific slope, in southern California, in the same latitude as the above, a different condition holds. Here—and the San Gabriel valley may be taken as an example—the lizards are subjected to a winter and summer every 24 hours. There is no snow, the days are bright and beautiful, resembling a cool eastern summer, and insect life does not disappear. All winter I have found lizards basking in the sun on these bright days, but as the winter day wears on and 4 o'clock approaches there is a very material change—a strange chill that affects reptilian life at once. It is their winter, and just as the eastern lizard creeps down into the earth for shelter and enters its winter sleep, so this California lizard crawls out of sight beneath rocks, into crevices or under the bark of trees and enters what is the equivalent of a state of coma. It seems to shrivel, becomes seemingly intensely cold, often stretches out its entire length and lies, to all intents and purposes, dead and lifeless, in this way passing the night until 9 or 10 o'clock in the morning, when the rays of the sun slowly bring it back to life.

This curious night coma is, so far as appearances go, identical with the winter sleep of eastern lizards. The functions are in abeyance for the time and life is at its lowest ebb. In observing these sleepers I have found them by turning over the piles of stones early in the morning and have often found a row of them, limp, cold and apparently dead, lying in the sun, to watch the gradual return to life. It came very gradually, those lizards placed on their backs first showing signs of life by a quivering of the limbs, which were then drawn up. Then the long tail would move, and finally the little sleeper would clumsily roll over into an upright position, and as the direct rays of the sun struck and warmed it into life its eyes would grow brighter, and suddenly, as if touched by some magic wand, its head would be lifted high, the blue breastplate gleamed in the light, and with an air of astonishment and alarm this sleeper, awakened, would dash over the ground and escape, once more a living creature, a type of activity, a menace to insect life. Every night in the California winter this occurs, and the condition can easily be superinduced by subjecting the animals to artificial cold. The bears in southern California are found abroad at all times, while in the northern part of the state and in the east they enter into a complete state of hibernation, going into their winter sleep well conditioned and fat, evidently living on the latter until spring, when they emerge lean and ugly.

The change in color of animals at the approach of the winter season is one of the remarkable features of life. The ermine, as an example, and several others assume a white coat, the change being a protective feature. The ptarmigan has a similar habit, a change which renders it inconspicuous to its various enemies.

At the approach of winter the birds, perhaps, present the most remarkable spectacle. With some few exceptions they move away from the conditions which threatened them, and in what is popularly called the departure and return of the birds we contemplate a wonderful migration, in which the highest instinct of self preservation appears to have been developed. The birds of the coast have a definite line of migration; the shore line at this time constitutes a bird highway, over which tens of thousands are passing—in the autumn to the south, where there is a food supply; in the spring to the north, to the fields they know so well, and the nesting places where the young are to be raised. Much of this migration is carried on at night high in air, and during storms myriads of birds are often confused and killed by dashing blindly into the lighthouses that mark the highway.

On the Pacific coast the coast range and Sierra Nevada mountains constitute a well defined line of travel. In southern California the flight of cranes and geese along this pathway is a remarkable sight. The birds, especially the cranes, cover long distances by soaring, gradually reaching within rifle shot of the ground, then they stop and begin a spiral movement, turning in graceful curves, flashing like silver dollars in the sunlight as they turn and disappear, rising ever higher until they are a mile or more above the valley, or above the summit of the Sierra Madre; then, as though at the command of the leader, they turn, and in long lines soar away with remarkable velocity, literally sliding down the hill, covering six or eight miles or more before the maneuver is repeated.

The winter finds the trees, groves and gardens deserted except by the few forms which defy the cold. The birds are in the south—Florida, Cuba and even South America; the reptiles are housed underground; insect life has been destroyed or is hibernating and will spring into life in the spring. The only animals abroad are the mammals—the deer, elk, caribou, fox, cougar, wild rat, lynx and other forms—which wander over the barren wastes and in the deep snows of the woodlands, finding a precarious living; until the spring comes, the wanderers return and all life takes on a new meaning.

MARK TWAIN AS A PILOT.

The Fun He Had With His Engine, Which Was a Kicker.

In 1850, when Captain Thomas Bixby of New Orleans was captain on the Swallow, which plied up and down the Mississippi, he had a remarkable pilot, who was no other than Mark Twain, or Samuel L. Clemens, the famous humorist. While in a reminiscent mood one day Captain Bixby said to a Kansas City Journal reporter:

"Sam wasn't much more than a youngster when he came down to St. Louis from Florida, Mo., where he had been in a printing office, and wanted to be a pilot. I reckon he was about the quaintest looking specimen I ever saw. He was about 24 then, and I hired him. We had another pilot on board who took the wheel in strange waters, for the river bed was as uncertain as the hind leg of a mule. And, speaking of a mule, the Swallow had the queerest sort of engine that was ever seen. The craft itself was a little shaky—it only plied between St. Louis and Cairo—being about 30 feet long, with a stern wheel, a large place for freight and passengers, a pilothouse and a place on what may be called the pilot deck for the engine. That engine went aboard when it was needed, and only then. It burned no wood or coal, but ate a powerful sight of grass. It was a large gray mule named Jerry, which worked a treadmill that propelled the boat. Sam Clemens—you know his name of Mark Twain came later—was chief engineer and pilot. He had a system of signals, and they were ingenious. By pulling a cord he could raise a head of cabbage just out of reach of the mule. The engine would start for it and begin to walk after it, and the boat floated majestically on down the river or up, as the case might be. When Sam wanted to stop, he would pull a rope attached to the feed box of the engine.

"Without intending to be personal, I will say that Jerry was one of the most intelligent animals I ever met. His voice was more on the order of a fog horn than a whistle. It was too much of a baritone for the latter.

"When Sam wanted to whistle for a landing, he would hit Jerry with a stick. If he wanted, in the profane language of the river pilot, to go ahead like hades, he gave Jerry a touch of the whip.

"But piloting on the Mississippi was not a job that a man would take for amusement unless he had a queer idea of amusement.

"The pilothouse was a mighty lonesome place at night, especially so when the folks below were in bed. Every other living creature on the boat was down below but the pilot, and he had to stand there in the dark and everlastingly twist that wheel to keep the boat from jabbing her nose into the bank or from climbing over sand banks. Boats didn't carry any headlight. That would have bothered a pilot in those days coming from the opposite direction.

"Our engine was a terrible kicker, and on one trip we had an iron figure of an Indian on board—a cigar sign. Clemens was on watch one night, and things must have been pretty slow in the pilothouse to suggest the idea of dressing up the Indian and placing him near the mule. I was asleep on deck, as the weather was warm, and was awakened by the most terrible racket ever heard this side of an explosion.

"The mule kicked till he was plumb played out; then he laid down with us in the middle of the river."

THE MISSING ANDIRON.

A Treasure That Was Picked Up at a Rummage Sale.

There is a dear old lady on North Charles street who for years cherished a hope that some day she might be fortunate enough to discover the mate to a splendid old andiron that had been in her possession for many decades. It was an exquisite piece of brass, and its shape and carvings were so unique that its individuality was firmly established.

Every one of the old lady's kith and kin had searched diligently for the old andiron's fellow, but without success. The owner herself had ransacked every junkshop and secondhand store in half the big cities of the east. Finally she reluctantly came to the conclusion that the twin andiron must be lost to her forever.

Recently, on being invited to contribute to a "rummage sale," she sent the old brass, not without a tear of regret at its departure.

That same day the old lady's daughter, acting as one of the patronesses to the "rummage," beheld an old andiron which caused her heart to leap into her throat.

"It is—it is the very twin of mamma's!" she cried. "Won't the dear old girl be pleased?"

The young matron dug down in her purse, brought up $13.05 and fairly bubbled with joy to think that at last, after all these years, she was the one to find the missing and long sought for andiron.

Do you think she told them to "send it up?" Not she. A cab was ordered, and into it went the old brass and its fair purchaser.

At last the andiron was in the hallway, and the maid was bringing mamma down to "see something."

"There, you dear old love, there's the mate to your old brass!"

"Goodness gracious, Susan, where did you ever get it? And to think I've parted with mine!"

"I found it at the 'rummage,' dear. Wasn't it lucky that I was there?"

* * * * * * *

A little water and smelling salts were so effective that the old lady was able to sit up within an hour.

What's Your Pet Phrase?

Of course you have a pet phrase or expression; you are one of the few exceptions if you haven't. Very likely the very words with which this article begins—"of course"—are used by you at every turn, but you don't know it.

You have a particular ejaculation which does duty in all circumstances. It may be a variation of "Great Scott!" such as "Great Scotland Yard!" or it may be "Good Grace church street!" which is a variation of "Good gracious!"

You probably end most of your sentences with "you know" or "you see." Then you have a pet word which you bring in wherever you can. Perhaps it is "logical," and the number of times that word and its opposite—"illogical"—appear in your conversation is simply alarming. But you don't see it, you know.

His Betrothed.

Betrothed Daughter—Yes; but, ma, he's such a very bad actor you would never know he was one.

The Way to Force Plants to Branch.

There is only one way in which a plant can be forced to branch, and that is by cutting off the stalk. The plant thus interfered with will make an effort to grow, and either a new shoot will be sent up to take the place of the lost top or several shoots will be sent out along the stalk. If but one starts, cut it back. Keep up this cutting back process until you have prepared as many branches as you think are needed. Persistency and patience will oblige the plant to do as you would like to have it do.—Ladies' Home Journal.

When Li Hung Chang Grinned.

Once during a dry season in China the viceroy, Earl Li Hung Chang, called on the American minister, Mr. Conger, and spoke of the weather.

"Yes," said Mr. Conger, "it seems to be dry everywhere. It is dry in my country too. I read in one of our papers the other day that in many places in the west the people were praying for rain."

"What!" said the earl. "Do your people pray to their God for rain?"

"Oh, yes," said the minister, "they often pray for rain."

"And does their God send it when they pray for it?" asked the earl.

"Yes, sometimes their prayers are answered, and sometimes they are not."

"All the same like Chinese joss, hey?" said the earl, with a grin and a chuckle.

May Know Too Much.

"Do women who have had the advantage of advanced education make good wives?" asked the bachelor thoughtfully.

At this the benedict took him to one side, where he could speak confidentially.

"If you ever marry," he said, "and find occasion to frame up a real good excuse for a protracted session at the club, you will discover that it is possible for a woman to know too much."—Chicago Post.

KINDNESS OF HEART.

A TRAIT OF CHARACTER OF WHICH THE QUEEN HAS ABUNDANCE.

Anecdotes Concerning the Consort of His Majesty King Edward VII—Her Majesty Wins All Hearts by Her Inexpressibly Delightful Spontaneity—Suits the Action to the Need Presented to Her.

Anecdotes concerning Queen Alexandra, and illustrating the sympathetic charm of her personality, are numerous. As Princess of Wales she has officiated at more public functions and has mingled more generally with her subjects than might have been the case had her husband succeeded to the throne early in their married life; so that ample opportunity has been hers to display the traits which have endeared her so widely, and the English people have grown to feel intimately acquainted with her.

A story is told concerning a visit paid by the Princess to Cambridge, and of how "an undergraduate, in imitation of Raleigh's gallantry to Queen Elizabeth, spread his gown on the pathway for the Princess to walk on. She paused for a moment as if puzzled or startled by this sudden act of superfluous devotion; but when one of the suite had whispered a word of explanation, it was charming to see how sedulously she lifted her dress to show the dazzled and rather abashed proprietor of the purple toga of Trinity that she was actually setting her foot on the gown, bowing her acknowledgments to him at the same time." The observer who narrated this incident added, concerning the way in which the Princess won all hearts: "The true secret lies in the Princess' simplicity of manner, in the openness and unrestrainedness of her enjoyment. . . . There is something inexpressibly delightful in this spontaneousness."

Illustrative of Alexandra's kindness of heart, in which she so much resembles the late Queen, it is told how she entered the hall of Marlborough House one day shortly before Christmas, and noticed a young girl standing there, whose appearance betokened delicacy and who looked wearied. Her Royal Highness bade her be seated, and learned that she was the bearer of some little garments which had been ordered for the royal children. Pleased with the modest manner of the girl, who did not know that the kind and gentle lady was the Princess, Alexandra led the way to her own room, where she examined the work and made inquiries, by which she gained the information that the bearer had executed most of it herself. The conversation thus begun gradually revealed that she had an invalid mother, who remained alone at home during the long hours when she was compelled to work in a shop; and that the sewing machine rage, then new, had made her desire to become a skillful operator, in order that she might earn enough money to own a machine of her own some day, and thus be able to keep her mother company while at work.

The Princess summoned a servant, and ordered a bottle of wine, biscuits, oranges and other invalid delicacies packed and brought to her, meanwhile writing down with her own hand the young girl's name and address. She presented her with the basket of dainties, telling her to take them to her mother, and on Christmas morning the latter was the recipient of a handsome sewing machine, inscribed, "A Christmas gift from Alexandra."

Perhaps nothing more endeared Alexandra to the people than her tenderness as a wife. This was instanced on the occasion now so freely quoted when, the Prince departing for a tour of India, she entrusted one of her suite with a portrait of herself, in order that on the Prince's arrival in India he might be surprised with the unexpected sight of his wife's face. During his terrible illness with typhoid fever she was devotedness itself. At the crisis, which occurred one Sunday, the vicar of St. Mary Magdalene's, Sandringham, received the following short note from the Princess, just before the opening of the service:

"My husband being, thank God, somewhat better, I am coming to church. I must leave, I fear, before the service is concluded, that I may watch by his bedside. Can you not say a few words in prayer during the early part of the service, that I may join you in prayer for my husband before I return to him?" When the Prince at last recovered, the faithful wife erected in the church a brass lecturn, upon which is the inscription:

To the Glory of God,
A thank-offering for His Mercy,
14th December, 1871.

Forests of Boxwood in Turkey.

The Levant Herald of recent days says that although large forests of boxwood, which is so largely used by wood engravers, exists in the neighborhood of the villages of Kossovo and Monastir, Turkey, the trade in this wood was little known in the Salonica market until quite recently. During March last two large shipments of boxwood were made to Liverpool, England, and the owners of these forests are now preparing to work them on a larger scale.

Queen Victoria's Bible Class.

Queen Victoria once conducted a Bible class. Long ago, when she was staying in London, she would call together the children of her married servants in one of the private rooms of Buckingham palace and read the Bible to them. At the close of the reading she would explain the chapter, and children's hymns were sung.

STOVES.

Owing to the mildness of the climate in Portugal heating stoves are rarely used in that country.

Heating and cooking stoves are both used by the upper classes in Greece, but the lower classes still live without using either.

Very few heating and cooking stoves are used in Paraguay. All the houses have brick stoves built in them, so that iron stoves have little or no sale.

Stoves made of tiling are in general use in Austria. They are said to be superior to iron stoves on account of the great economy of fuel possible by their use.

There is in the Mediterranean countries a widespread prejudice against all artificial heat, and consequently not more than one house in six is ever heated during the winter time.

Iron cooking stoves are almost an unknown luxury among the people of South America and the West Indies. They still cook in open fireplaces and by other primitive methods.

The cooking stove, as it is known in the United States, does very little service in France. A few are in use in the country, but in most farmhouses the cooking is done in a large open fireplace. In the cities a furnace is built in the small kitchen.

Conversion Through Pork.

An old Cambridge friend of mine who had a good deal of the wisdom of the serpent in him had a farmer in his parish in Norfolk whom he could not get to church. Whenever he pressed upon him his neglect or his bad example he was always met with the same excuse, "You be too young and do not know enough to teach such as I." At last he gave up the farmer in despair. But one day he happened to pass by the farm while his parishioner was engaged in killing a fine pig. My friend said: "What a pig! Why, he weighs 34 stone!" "What dost thou know of pigs?" replied the farmer. "I only wish he weighed as much." When they next met, the farmer, to his surprise, told my friend that the pig had been found to weight just 34 stone. He added, much to my friend's gratification, "And thou will see me at church next Sunday, parson."

STEEL MILLS CLOSED

Men Who Were Ordered Out Respond to the Call.

74,000 IDLE IN CONSEQUENCE.

Plants of the American Tin Plate Company, the American Steel Hoop Company and the American Sheet Steel Company Very Generally Closed—The Amalgamated Men Expect a Settlement.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 16.—Reports from all sources connected with the great strike of the steel workers yesterday indicate that the members of the Amalgamated Association had matters well in hand and that the strike order was generally obeyed. Telegrams from various points where the mills of the American Tin Plate Company, the American Steel Hoop Company and the American Sheet Steel Company are located, told of the shutting down of these plants in large numbers. In many cases, the plants have been shut down by the first strike, which affected the Sheet Steel and Hoop Companies only. The last order brought out all the union plants of the American Tin Plate Company with the single exception of the new mill in Monssen, which is still running. At the Amalgamated Association headquarters it was stated that the figures given Sunday night regarding the number of men wgo would be actually idle in the mills of the three companies had been proven correct. This number was placed at 74,000. Of the 74,000 men idle 2,500 are in Pittsburg, 800 in Allegheny and 1,500 in McKeesport.

The American Steel Hoop Company's mill at Monssen was not closed to-day. It has been non-union since it was built, two years ago, and the company says the men there will remain loyal.

Settlement Looked For.

The most interesting report to the Amalgamated men yesterday was the despatch from New York which said that a conference of the manufacturers was to be held in New York to-day, at which Warner Arms, vice-president of the American Tinplate Company, was to present a detailed account of the experiences of the committee that met the Amalgamated Association in this city last week. It was stated that the question of again extending the olive branch to the strikers or of taking up the fight and crushing the association would be determined. Generally speaking, the workers, from President Shaffer down, seem to be looking for some sort of a settlement.

A C. P. R. STRIKER SHOT.

T. Giovanni Badly Hurt by a C. P. R. Special Constable.

Port Arthur, Ont., July 16.—A man by the name of T. Giovanni, an Italian, is in the hospital here suffering from the effects of a bullet wound in the abdomen. He was employed on the C. P. R. on the section at Heron Bay, and had taken the place of one of the striking trackmen.

Yesterday he decided to leave the gang and join the trackmen. It is alleged that he and the C. P. R. special constable, James Prouix, had some words and that the detective drew his revolver and shot Giovanni. The wounded man was brought to town on the local 4 o'clock yesterday morning.

Prouix has been arrested and was brought to town last night.

Owen Sound Men Again Out.

Toronto, July 16. — D. Wilkinson, chairman of the local committee of the striking Canadian Pacific Railway trackmen, returned from a trip over the Owen Sound division yesterday, bringing with him most encouraging news for the men. Mr. Wilkinson was successful in getting every man who had returned to work on the division to go out again. This division extends from Toronto to Owen Sound, and the number of men who have just gone out is 50. These men, says Mr. Wilkinson, will now fight until a settlement is made in their favor. The track on this section is now free from trackmen, and is not being patrolled.

The Strike Is Over.

General Superintendent Timmerman of the C.P.R. charges President Wilson with making many misstatements in his letter issued to the strikers. As to the strike, it is over, say the officials.

Unchanged at the Junction.

Toronto Junction, July 16. —The strike situation here is unchanged. Two men are working in the yard, and two are working between here and Owen Sound. Nine gangs of men on the Toronto, Grey and Bruce Railway, who had returned to work, went out again yesterday, and there is a likelihood of the Credit Valley men going out to-day. Several Italians are here unloading steel rails and ties, but they are not doing section duty.

Trainmen to Meet Officials.

Winnipeg, July 16. — A delegation of trainmen is in the city to interview D. McNicoll of the C.P.R., and it is believed that the strike, as well as the other matters, will be discussed. The members decline to give any details as to what they are after. The strikers declare they have not lost the fight yet, and the company speak just as confidently to the other way. Mr. Leonard said yesterday: "We consider the strike over and the game is ours." Never before in Western Canada has there been a strike where the statements of masters and men have been so confident. One of the men claimed yesterday that the object of Mr. McNicoll's visit was to meet the committee, but this is denied.

Go Out To-Day.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., July 16. —President Mullahay of the Stationery Firemen's Association of Pennsylvania, has given up all hope of an amicable settlement of the strike of the firemen, ordered to begin to-day. It is expected that the firemen in the Wyoming region will refuse to go to work.

Wilkesbarre, July 16. — At a meeting of the Executive Board of the United Mine Workers of District No. 1 last evening, the 1,500 miners in the employ of the Kingston Company were ordered to go out on strike to-day. The order will be obeyed and all the collieries of the company will be idle in consequence. The men claim the price paid for yardage on narrow work was reduced from $1.50 a yard to $1.

2,000 Japs Fish.

Vancouver, B. C., July 16. —There are no later developments on fisheries strike. Over two thousand Japanese are fishing, and canners say they are holding fourteen hundred baits for any white strikers who are willing to start fishing. Police patrol boats are preventing any interference with Japanese boats or nets and the outlook is more pacific. Fish have not yet commenced to run and catches are small.

Machinists Return.

Cincinnati, Ohio, July 16. — Two thousand machinists, who have been on strike here since May 20, returned to work yesterday. This practically ends the strike here.

BALLOT CASE DISMISSED.

There Was Not a Tittle of Evidence Against Wildfong.

Berlin, July 16.—Yesterday before Police Magistrate Weir, J. H. Wildfong and G. H. Cummings were placed on trial for spoiling ballots in the Breithaupt-Lackner election. The prosecutions arose out of the developments of the famous North Waterloo election trial. Crown Attorney Bowlby prosecuted, and left no stone unturned to secure a conviction, bringing the Crown's chief witness from Carstairs, Alberta. Wildfong and Cummings were deputy returning officers at polling subdivisions No. 2 and 3, Berlin, and the case against Wildfong, which was for injuring eighteen ballots marked for Lackner, was first proceeded with. Mr. F. L. Heyd, K. C., of Toronto, appeared for the defendant.

After considerable evidence was taken, the defence rested their case, and the Crown Attorney admitted that no matter what the evidence in regard to the disputed ballots might be, he scarcely thought a conviction could be asked for, since Mr. Heyd was willing to admit that the seventeen ballots were not in the same condition as when deposited in the box. He declined to ask for a conviction, and the Police Magistrate said there was only one thing for him to do, and that was to dismiss the case, particularly when there was not a tittle of evidence against Wildfong.

The Cummings case was then taken up, but in view of the total collapse of the Shantz testimony and the lack of other evidence the Crown Attorney decided to offer no evidence, and the Police Magistrate dismissed this case also.

Shipping Has Increased.

Montreal, July 16. — A statement giving the number of seagoing vessels arriving in the port from the opening of navigation up to July 1 show a considerable increase over a corresponding period of last year.

In the year 1899 from the opening of navigation to July 1 the seagoing tonnage arriving in the port amounted to 84,000 tons. This was considerably higher than the corresponding period in 1898 and nearly 60,000 tons in excess of the same period in 1900.

The present season, however, is a full 10,000 tons higher than 1899. The statement giving the years, number of ships and tonnage is as follows:

Years.	Ships.	Tonnage.
1898	257	476,000
1899	239	484,000
1900	203	413,000
1901	252	494,000

Electricity Direct From Coal.

Chicago, July 16.—Assistant City Chemist Hugo Jone has devised a battery which, it is claimed, will produce electricity directly from coal. It will yield 35 per cent. of the energy that is stored in coal or four times as much as the present combination of boiler, steam engine and dynamo. Sulphate of lead instead of sulphate of zinc is used in the new battery. The new battery will be compared to a furnace using coal, but giving off electricity instead of heat. Nothing is consumed but coal and the oxygen of the air. The lead is easily recovered as sulphate, and used over again. The work is done by the coal.

Suicide at Hagarsville.

Hamilton, July 16. — Spence Harrison, a well-to-do young farmer of Hagersville, suicided Saturday. He had been at work as usual in the morning. When called for dinner he went to the barn, threw a rope over a beam and slowly strangled to death. He could have saved himself had he desired, as his feet touched the floor. His brother found the body soon after dinner. Temporary insanity, superinduced by a fall some time ago, together with the extreme heat, is given as the cause.

REMNANT WEEK

COMMENCING MONDAY, JULY 15.

Twice a year this store sets apart a week for the clearance of the short lengths, odd pieces, odd sizes, etc. To make these remnant weeks successful we know three things that must be done:

1.—Mark them with a riddance price, i.e., Cheap.

2.—Mark the length and riddance price in plain figures that customers may pick through at ease, and with wisdom do their selecting.

3.—Place them where customers may handily select from them.

Most of these remnants have been marked at 1-2 to 1-3 off, many others at only a fraction of the cost, but what does that matter? They must be cleared.

217 ENDS OF DRESS GOODS

will be shown on a centre table, and will present an object lesson in economy—mostly small lengths, suitable for waists or childrens' dresses, some skirt lengths and a few dress lengths, all marked with the go-out price.

313 ENDS OF SILKS

You'll find these ends on a table in the centre aisle, and when you come to that table pause a moment and scrutinize the price tickets. The better you are as a judge of values, the more likely you will be to buy—many waist lengths among them. You cannot afford to miss them.

550 ENDS OF STAPLE GOODS

Comprising useful lengths of Wash Goods, Outing Flannels, Prints, Cottons, Linens, Towellings, Flannelettes, Cottonades, Shirtings, Art Muslins, Cretonnes, etc. Prices so infinitely small that your 'lay-away box' may be wisely replenished, yes, filled — useful goods in useful lengths, yet have to give way to larger fish—a table full to interest you.

Oddments and

ENDS OF SMALLER GOODS

Such as Embroideries, White Muslins, Allovers, Laces, Flouncings, Ribbons, Trimmings and Oddments of Hosiery, Gloves, Underwear, Belt Buckles, Combs, Stick Pins, etc.

MILLINERY AND MANTLE DEPT.

In this department many odd sizes, odd pieces, single bunches, etc., have been put within easy reach of visitors to that department, all ticketed with a remnant—a riddance price. These prices pertain to separate Skirts and Suits as well.

You can ill afford to miss this "Easy" Remnant Sale at Sutcliffe's, commencing Monday, July 15th, and continuing for one week. All our remnants are out, so better come as early as possible.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The wave of public opinion, says the Dundas Banner, which is to sweep over Ontario at the next general election, is moving so slowly that Mr. Whitney did not even put a candidate in the field in the bye-election in London. A socialist-labour candidate ran, and Col. Leys, Reformer, rolled up a majority of 1,652. Mr. Whitney is still out looking through his spy-glass for the wave and wondering what has become of it.

A Chicago newspaper says that 75 per cent. of Canadians are in favour of annexation. Bless your soul, poor ignoramics, you couldn't drum up enough descent Canadians, outside of a lunatic asylum, to make a baseball nine, who are in favour of annexation — that fad's as dead as Adam. There have been no Annexationists, to speak of, since some prominent Conservatives of Montreal signed an annexation manifesto fifty-three years ago, and perhaps they didn't exactly mean it — they were politically disgruntled, and took that way of showing their loyalty to British connection.

The Canadian Freeman pays this well-deserved tribute to Hon. F. R. Latchford: "Whatever may be the result of the forthcoming Provincial general elections, there can be no honest gainsaying but that the Hon. Mr. Latchford has proved himself a successful campaigner and a tower of strength to the Government of which he is a member. His position on the taxing of large estates left by those who in life have been fortunate in accumulating vast wealth, stamps him as a man who knows what is right, and what is also popular. Mr. Latchford is more than merely a success on the platform and in the administration of his department. He is a thorough, straightforward man, and his word is as good as his bond, and while ever courteous with the humblest he shares not in the jollying practice which is the propensity of so many of our public men."

Baby Progress Guaranteed When LACTATED FOOD is Used.

STATEMENT OF AN EMINENT PROFESSIONAL MAN.

The health of the baby directly depends on the quality of the food it receives. To-day, as in past years, thousands of babies are suffering from ailments brought on by improper feeding. Sir Charles Clarke once said, "The ignorance of mothers in feeding their children is worth a thousand pounds a year to me."

It is a fact worthy of notice that the healthy, bright and fat babies of to-day are all being brought up on life-giving Lactated Food. No other food on the market has such a reputation and no other has been so highly recommended by medical men. Every mother who values the health and safety of her little one should give Lactated Food a week's trial. It quickly becomes the home friend. All druggists sell Lactated Food.

THE PACIFIC CABLE.

The Survey Completed Over Fifteen Hundred Miles.

THE PROGRESS ALREADY MADE.

Statement in the Imperial Parliament by Mr. T. Austin Chamberlain—Several Landing Sites Have Been Selected, and on Them Have Been Erected Several Sectional Cable Houses.

London, July 16.—In the House of Commons yesterday Mr. J. Austin Chamberlain, Financial Secretary of the Treasury, detailing the progress of the Pacific Cable, said that several sectional cable houses had already been constructed and sent out and were being erected at the various landing places.

The survey had been satisfactorily completed over 1,500 miles of the proposed route, and the manufacture of cable would begin this week.

Mr. Chamberlain said landing sites had been selected on Queensland, New Zealand, Norfolk Island (between New Zealand and New Caledonia) and at Vancouver, and that the cable board was satisfied as to the ability of the contractors to complete the work by the end of 1902.

Drowned in the Soo.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., July 16.—Phillip Biggings, aged about 21 years, seventh son of ex-Mayor Biggings, editor of The Algoma Pioneer, and a private in the garrison at Halifax, was drowned near here yesterday afternoon. He had been spending a twenty-one days' furlough with his family here, and while visiting with his parents at a friend's hon in West Korah, went alone to take a swim in a small lake known as Nettleton's Lake. When search was made after his non-appearance his clothes were found on the shore. A searching party left here last evening to look for the body, but it has not yet been found. The lake is a small one, and is said to be about a hundred feet deep.

Peers Not to Kiss the King.

London, July 16.—The King is busily engaged in revising the details of the coronation pageant, and he has decided to omit the ceremony of being kissed by every peer present. He is reported to have exclaimed: "Imagine me compelling Devonshire to kiss me! He would never survive the ordeal."

William IV. kicked against this ceremonial, but he was compelled to submit; but he declared afterward that he would renounce the kingship rather than repeat the experience of receiving the embraces of archbishops and bishops.

The Fireman Was Killed.

Scranton, Pa., July 16.—A mogul engine of the "hog" type on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad, while going into the tank switch at Gouldsboro, Pa., yesterday, ran into two connected "hogs" coming out. Fireman Howe of this city, on the inbound engine was killed and Engineer Harrington was seriously injured. F. Erman Phillips of one of the outcoming engines, was injured, as were also Brakemen Proper and Neal.

Miss Langtry to Wed.

London, July 16.—The engagement of young Ivor Churchill Guest, M. P., eldest son of Lord Wimborne, the millionaire coal mine owner, to Miss Jeanne Langtry, daughter of the Jersey Lily, is still the exciting topic of conversation in society circles. Ivor Guest is one of the most popular young men in London society, and will one day be Lord Wimborne and inherit the bulk of the wealth of his father, who is one of the richest of English peers.

Motorman's Plucky Act.

Syracuse, N. Y., July 16. — To save a three-year-old girl from being crushed under the wheels of his car, Samuel Waters, a motorman, plunged headforemost through the window in the vestibule of the car, seized the little one and placed her out of harm's way. The motorman was picked up on the fender of his car unhurt. He had reversed his power, and the car came to a standstill a few feet beyond where he rescued the child.

Scheeper's Laager.

Graf Reinet, Cape Colony, July 15. —Col. Scobell's column surprised and captured Scheeper's laager at Camdeboo, July 14, taking 31 prisoners and capturing a quantity of ammunition and stores. Scheeper, with the bulk of his commando, escaped. There were no British casualties. Most of the prisoners are rebels.

STORM CREATED HAVOC.

Heavy Thunderstorms and Winds Cause Damage at Rat Portage.

Rat Portage, Ont., July 16.— The intense heat which has prevailed here for the past three or four days was broken by a heavy thunderstorm, accompanied by a terrific wind yesterday afternoon. The storm came up from the south, and when it struck the town it created havoc, particularly at the lake and the Rat Portage Lumber Company's yards. The lumber piles were hurled in all directions, and the tramways so blocked that it will take twenty-four hours to clear them. Sidewalks were torn up, electric and telephone wires torn down and a lot of damage done generally. The lumber piles at the Norman mills are badly wrecked. There were also several upsets among pleasure seekers on the lakes, but nothing more than wetting occurred.

Shamrock II. on Final Trial.

Rothesay, July 16. — The final racing trial of the two Shamrocks yesterday was over a 36-mile course from Craigmore to Skelmortie, thence to Tomont End, off Largs, and back to the starting point. This course was sailed twice over. A fresh, strong westerly wind of from 13 to 14 knots was blowing. Both of the yachts set their jib-headers. The challenger had the best of the manoeuvring for position, and led the Shamrock I. over the line by about three lengths. Coming home, the ex-challenger experienced a big fluke and closed up her distance, finishing one and one-half minutes astern of the Shamrock II.

A Waterloo Suicide.

Waterloo, July 16.—Early yesterday morning Otto Sacho committed suicide by hanging himself in his barn. The deceased was a native of Kiel, Germany, and about fifty years of age. Mr. Sacho was a stone-mason, and bricklayer by trade and fairly well to do. He was a member of the K. O. T. M., and carried insurance for $2,000. Some slight domestic trouble had occurred, but had been amicably settled a few days ago. He leaves a wife and one son, 20 years old. The coroner's jury returned the verdict, "That deceased came to his death by his own hands while temporarily insane."

St Thomas Man Killed.

St. Thomas, July 16.—J. Kelly, Walnut St., received a telegram yesterday morning announcing that his son-in-law, Thomas O'Brien, had been killed yesterday morning. The deceased was a former well-known M. C. R. conductor, was married, and lived on Ross street. He left the city about two or three years ago. He was working on a railroad about 100 miles west of Chicago. No particulars of the accident have been received.

Drowned in Toronto.

Toronto, July 16. —Another name was added yesterday to the already long list of those who have lost their lives in or near Toronto Bay this summer. Ten-year-old Walter Spencer, stepson of Francis Davey, 121 Niagara street, was the victim, the drowning taking place at the Free Swimming Baths on the Western Sandbar, opposite Queen's Wharf, at the foot of Bathurst street.

THE YOUNG GAMBLER.

He Had an Even Chance, but Fate Was Against Him.

I remember one handsome young fellow whom I used to meet occasionally on the staircase who captured my youthful fancy. I met him only at midday, as he did not rise till late, and this fact, with a certain scrupulous elegance and neatness in his dress, ought to have made me suspect that he was a gambler. In my inexperience it only invested him with a certain romantic mystery.

One morning as I was going out to my very early breakfast at a cheap Italian cafe on Long wharf I was surprised to find him also descending the staircase. He was scrupulously dressed even at that early hour, but I was struck by the fact that he was all in black, and his slight figure, buttoned to the throat in a tightly fitting frock coat, gave, I fancied, a singular melancholy to his pale southern face.

Nevertheless he greeted me with more than his usual serene cordiality, and I remembered that he looked up with a half puzzled, half amused expression at the rosy morning sky as he walked a few steps with me down the deserted street. I could not help saying that I was astonished to see him up so early, and he admitted that it was a break in his usual habits, but added, with a smiling significance I afterward remembered, that it was "an even chance if he did it again."

As we neared the street corner a man in a buggy drove up impatiently. In spite of the driver's evident haste my handsome acquaintance got in leisurely and, lifting his glossy hat to me with a pleasant smile, was driven away. I have a very lasting recollection of his face and figure as the buggy disappeared down the empty street. I never saw him again. It was not until a week later that I knew that an hour after he left me that morning he was lying dead in a little hollow behind the Mission Dolores, shot through the heart in a duel for which he had arisen so early.—Bret Harte's "Under the Redwoods."

AN AFRICAN PUZZLE.

MAJAJE, THE WHITE QUEEN OF THE MAKATESE TRIBE.

A Mysterious Woman of Distinctly Caucasian Type Who Ruled These Savages of the Dark Continent For Half a Century.

For more than half a century the rainmaker for all the native tribes south of the Zambesi river, in South Africa, was Majaje, the white queen of the Makatese tribe, which lived in the woodbush in the northern part of the Transvaal. The Zulus, the Hottentots, the Kaffirs, the Basutos and scores of other tribes recognized her as the great rainmaker, and whenever there was a drought in their provinces they sent their emissaries to her with requests for rain.

The tales which white men heard concerning her led them to believe that Majaje was a myth, and Rider Haggard elaborated the report in his novel "She," which had for its leading character a mysterious white woman who ruled over a race of blacks somewhere in Central Africa. Haggard wrote his novel in the eighties, while he was in South Africa, and long before it was established that the white queen was not a myth. The fact that such a woman really lived was proved by three white men who talked with her, and one of those men, the late Piet Jonbert, commandant general of the Boer army, was authority for this account of the woman:

Henning Pretorius, one of the Transvaal's first commandant generals, returned from one of his frequent journeys into unknown regions of the Transvaal in the latter part of 1880 and reported to his government that he had succeeded in seeing Majaje. In a voluminous report of his journey he stated that the woman was queen of a section of the Makatese tribe and that her capital was surrounded by an almost impenetrable forest of small thorn trees. On the outskirts of this forest he was met by a large number of well armed tribesmen, who asked him to depart from the neighborhood immediately. Pretorius refused to leave and insisted upon seeing the queen.

After a long discussion, during which many messengers were sent to the queen's kraal, Pretorius was granted permission to visit the monarch. He was disarmed, and his companions were left behind under guard of a large number of tribesmen. He was led along a narrow, winding path through the bush, and after a journey of about 30 miles he came to the queen's royal kraal. In his report he described the woman minutely and at great length. He said that she was absolute monarch over her people and that she undoubtedly had the power of life and death over them.

The most astonishing part of his report was that the woman was not a negress. He described her as having straight, soft hair of a light brown color, thin lips and light blue eyes. The color of her skin was not black, but as white as that of a Portuguese. Pretorius stated that she refused to tell her age or anything concerning her antecedents and added that she appeared to be more than 100 years old—perhaps 115.

In 1804 the Makatese tribe formed an alliance with Magoeba, the king of the woodbush Kaffirs, who lived near the same district, and Majaje's people were dragged into a rebellion against the Boers. Joubert, the commandant general of the Boer army, was sent against the rebellious natives, and he took with him a small number of Swazis who had been driven into the Transvaal from their native country by Umbandine.

When Joubert and his forces reached the "betovert" (bewitched) bush, the warriors of Majaje and Magoeba attacked them and fought valiantly for several weeks. The natives were defeated finally and fled into the bush and mountains. The Swazis then asked Joubert for permission to follow the rebels, and it was granted. When they returned, several days afterward, the Swazis brought with them the heads of Magoeba and several of his uudunas, or headmen.

The day after the return of the victorious Swazis several messengers came from Majaje, bringing peace offerings in the shape of two ivory tusks and a beautiful white ox. The emissaries declared that Majaje had been misled by Magoeba and that she had no desire to be an enemy of the Boers. Joubert told the messengers to tell their queen that if she would surrender her arms unconditionally and permit some one to go to her kraal the war would be ended. In her reply she accepted the first condition, but declined to allow any one to visit her kraal, adding, however, that she would come out and grant an audience to the Boer leader.

The following morning the bush resounded with the beating of drums and the shrill noises of crude wind instruments. Forerunners emerged from the bush and announced the coming of the queen.

When the head of the procession reached General Joubert, the priests deposited the palanquin on the ground and drew aside the curtains that concealed the queen. She reclined on a beautiful quagga skin and was clothed in a variegated costume of skins, fur and beadwork. Joubert observed her closely and found that Henning Pretorius' description of her was accurate in every detail. The woman had light, soft hair, thin lips blue eyes and a complexion as light as that of the majority of white persons who have lived in the tropics for many years.

Many persons have attempted to explain the mystery of the queen's ancestry, and the result has been that many strange tales are current in the country. The most plausible theory is the one that Commandant General Joubert advanced. From some old chieftains he learned that there was a tradition among the Makatese that many generations ago a large number of white men had come into the Zambesi region to dig gold. These men incurred the enmity of the blacks, who massacred all except one or two. General Jonbert believed, as did the chieftains, that Majaje was the descendant of one of these survivors, but the native tradition does not explain the process by which she rose to the position of ruler of the tribe. Proof of the fact that gold was dug in that neighborhood has been found in scores of places along the Zambezi, where in recent years many old shafts have been uncovered.—Howard C. Hillegas in New York Evening Post.

Malevolence is misery. It is the mind of satan, the great enemy, an outcast from all joy and the opponent of all goodness and happiness.—J. Hamilton.

MARKET REPORTS.

Decrease in the Visible Supply of Wheat —Cable Prices Steady For Wheat —Quotations.

Monday Evening, July 15.

In Liverpool to-day wheat futures closed ½d higher than on Saturday, and maize options declined ⅝d per cental. Holiday in Paris.

In Chicago to-day the weather news again ruled the grain market. After an early show of strength September wheat declined and closed ⅝c below Saturday's final figures and September corn lost ⅞c per bushel. There were reports indicating the partial breaking up of the drouth in the corn belts of the Western and Southwestern States. Rains and promise of rain were reported from parts of Texas, Kansas and Nebraska. The general opinion seems to be that the damage to the corn crop by the heat was much over-estimated. Of course there is time yet for further damage, but good general rains would do a lot of good.

THE VISIBLE SUPPLY.

As compared with a week ago, the visible supply of wheat in Canada and the United States has decreased 1,710,000 bushels; that of corn has decreased 305,000 bushels, and that of oats has decreased 1,777,000 bushels.

To recapitulate, the visible supply of wheat in Canada and the United States, together with that afloat to Europe, is 65,738,000 bushels, against 69,048,000 bushels a week ago, and 75,225,000 bushels a year ago.

ANNUAL BOYS' CAMP.

The Fatigue Party Went up This Morning—Boys go To-morrow Morning.

The 4th annual camp of the boys of the Y.M.C.A. will open at Clear Lake to-morrow and the affair promises to excite even more interest amongst the junior members of the "Y" than any previous camp. This morning very early the fatigue party left with the several wagon loads of luggage and to-morrow morning the boys themselves will go up.

The camp, as usual, will be under the personal supervision of Commandant Mr. G. H. Williamson, the faithful General Secretary, who will be assisted in looking after the interests of the boys by several older members of the local association, amongst whom will be Mr. Peter Jamison, Garnet Galley, Howard Goldey, Cameron Wilson and Will Pollard.

This year there are not being taken any boys who are over sixteen years of age and notwithstanding this fact there will be a parade state of 40 or more. Each year some of the boys pass the age limit, as it were, and reminiscenses of camp life of the Y.M.C.A. boys camp will in future be an interesting feature at association gatherings.

A matter that speaks well for the management of the boys camp is the fact that not a single accident has ever happened to mar the pleasure of the outing. The strict discipline that is observed and the great care that is taken for the safety of the boys has inspired the utmost confidence in the parents who feel that their boys could not spend a better two weeks holiday.

This year the camp will no doubt miss the genial company of their late Physical Instructor, J. M. McLeod, and the present Physical Instructor, Horace Ayers, who is away taking a summer course of training.

LABOURERS OUT ON STRIKE.

Twenty Italians at the Nassau Power House Quit Work.

Contractor Moss is not Very Much Alarmed and Says He Will get Others.

A number of the labourers on the work of constructing the Canadian General Electric Company's power house at Nassau, yesterday went on strike. Up until Saturday night there were in the neighbourhood of forty men at work, most of whom were Italians, who were brought here by Contractor Moss from Montreal. They were being paid $1.25 a day and charged 25 cents a week for shack room. The men boarded themselves of course. Very few of them, if any, can speak English, but one of the men in particular speaks the English language quite fluently. Yesterday morning about twenty of the Italians refused to go to work unless they were given an advance in their wages. This was of course refused and the men are still out.

Yesterday the Italians for the most part stayed up around Nassau, but to-day they are around town. It is believed that the men have been told of great prospects of work on other contracts, which led them to strike. Contractor Moss, who was seen today, said that unless the men returned to work tomorrow he would have another car load of Italians shipped up from Montreal at once. At the present time the strike does not interfere with the work as the contractor was not quite in a position to proceed very rapidly for a few days.

SHOULD BE STOPPED.

Boys and Men who go in Swimming at Goose Pond—Complaints Made.

The residents of Water street, in the vicinity of Goose Island, are complaining bitterly of the practice of boys and in fact young men, who go in bathing at this point with no apparent regard for the civilized world. That men and grown up boys should be guilty of such an offense appears hardly creditable, but it is nevertheless a fact. Without swimming trunks or bathing suits of any kind these "nervy" rascals delight in promading along the banks of Goose Pond or playing leap frog or the like on Goose Island. If an example were made of one or more, the practice might be put a stop to and the residents in that neighbourhood could then be permitted to enjoy a peaceful few hours on their verandahs, a thing which they cannot do at the present time.

INSPECTOR AFTER THEM.

Parties at the Belmont Gold Mines Alleged to Have Sold Liquor.

Mr. J. J. Crowe, License Inspector for East Peterborough, was in town yesterday. Mr. Crowe came in to swear out informations against three parties who it is alleged have been selling liquor without licenses, and against one license holder whom it is alleged has been violating the law by selling liquor during prohibited hours. The alleged offenders reside in the vicinity of the Belmont Gold Mines, and it is said have been continuing this practice for some time. As soon as Inspector Crowe received word of the matter he at once proceeded to make it hot for those whom it is said broke the law. They will appear before County Magistrate Edmison at Havelock on Monday next.

GILMOUR MEMORIAL.

The Young People of the Church Hold a Very Successful Social—Those Who Took Part.

The spacious grounds surrounding the parsonage of Gilmour Memorial Baptist Church was the scene of a highly profitable and enjoyable gathering of the Young People's Society in connection with that church. Among the trees were hung chinese lanterns and upheld by iron racks were great blazing bundles of "fat pine," which made a pleasing and brilliant light. The evening was an ideal one for such an entertainment. About sixty young people were present and spent the evening in playing games and enjoying an informal programme of music, vocal, instrumental, addresses, recitations, story telling, etc. Among those who took part were Mrs. (Dr.) Morgan, Miss McEwan, Miss Darling, Miss McGregor, Mrs. Gunton, Miss Ross, Mr. Hanna, of Park Street Church, Mr. A. W. Terrie, of Norwood Baptist Church, Mr. Baker, of Indian River Mission, Mr. W. Paul, Mr. A. McGregor, Mr. H. C. Mann, and the pastor, Rev. W. A. Gunton.

One of the most attractive features of the evening was the serving of ice cream and cake by the young ladies.

As the social neared closing time Miss Emma Darling was called up on and read an address to Miss Ross expressing the appreciation of her Christian character and active service. Miss Ross is a sister-in-law of Mr. Gunton and has for some time been recording secretary of the Y.P.S.C.E., as well as a member of the church choir and teacher in the Sunday school. She left on Tuesday, 10th inst., for an extended visit to her father's home in Shoal Lake, Man. After the reading of the address she was presented with a beautiful teacher's bible as a token of the esteem in which she is held in the community. The whole thing was a perfect surprise to Miss Ross and she was so affected that she could not reply to the address. Mr. Gunton in a few words expressed her appreciation of the kindness shown and of the gift presented.

The gathering broke up with singing Auld Lang Syne and cheers for the King, the ice cream, etc.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

BASEBALL.

There was a big crowd of spectators at the P.A.A.A. grounds last night to see the match between the Peterborough team and the Auburn nine. The match proved to be very interesting and although the game ended at the fifth innings with the score standing 7 to 2 in favour of the Peterborough team, there were plenty of good plays on the part of the men from the north. Danny McCorry pitched a great game for the Auburn team. He has barrels of speed, and is going to make a name for himself in local baseball circles. Craig caught him for the greater part of the game but had his hand rather badly cut open and was replaced by Long. McCabe and Kehoe pitched for the Peterborough team and Grgham was behind the bat. Another game between the same two teams should prove interesting. The Auburn men have a very swift aggregation.

The Elms of Ashburnham wish to challenge the Auburn team for a game, the same to take place tomorrow night.

The Rosedales wish to challenge the All Saints' church Boys' Brigade for a game any evening after 6 p.m.

G. Miller, Captain.

We presume that the church boys will not play on Sunday evening at any rate.

The Elms of Ashburnham will play the Auburns on Wednesday, July 17th. The following are the names of the Elm players,—G. Logan, pitcher; J. Primeau, catcher; H. Gilman, first base; H. Crane, second base; C. Martin, third base; Boyle, short stop; S. Byers, right field; H. Fitzgerald, centre field; M. O'Toole, left field.

Don't forget the game tomorrow between the Port Hope and Peterborough teams on the P. A. A. A. grounds. This will likely be the last game for some time and therefore should be very well patronized.

LACROSSE.

The Vatican Lacrosse Team are endeavouring to make arrangements with the Orillia Lacrosse team to come to Peterborough for a game on the occasion of the Firemen's excursion from that town to here.

AT THE POLICE COURT.

George Gauthier Gets Into Trouble—Tom Frost up for Sentence.

Tommy Frost, who last week pleaded guilty to stealing a number of brass weights from the George Matthews Co., Limited, came up for sentence to-day. Tommy, it must be remembered, has been out on suspended sentence for some time and had the Police Magistrate dealt severely with him it would not have come as a surprise. But the court allowed him to go on suspended sentence. He was warned that the responsibility is with himself and that unless he reforms he will be brought up at any moment for further consideration.

George Gauthier was charged at the Police Court this morning with assaulting Charles Colin on July 12th. Colin is an Orangeman from Emily and was on his way through Peterborough to Port Hope. Gauthier was at the station and it is stated, dealt the follower of William, Prince of Orange, a severe blow in the face. Gauthier did not put in an appearance this morning and when the Magistrate heard the evidence he imposed a fine of $10 and $11.35 costs to be paid forthwith or 30 days in jail. A warrant has been issued for accused's arrest, but it is said that he has left town.

THE BEAUTIES OF STONY LAKE.

Appreciated by Vast Crowds of Tourists This Year.

MANY COTTAGES OCCUPIED.

Some of Those Who Have Re-opened Their Summer Residences for the Season.

Stony Lake is looking at its best just now, the protracted period of wet weather in the spring having kept the soil damp long enough to allow the vegetation to obtain a great start. Although a number of cottagers have been opening up their summer domiciles during the last several weeks, the big rush is just starting in and the steamboats expect to have a busy time of it for the next six weeks. On Saturday evening three coaches were necessary to accommodate the crowd going out on the evening train. There was a large party of Americans for the Victoria House and a big crowd also for Viamede.

Mr. Robert Neill and family are again occupying their imposing looking summer residence at the head of Clear Lake.

Mr. John Crane's pretty little island Glad-Hal-Ken has been tidied up for the summer. Mr. Crane was out for Sunday accompanied by Mr. Wm. Thompson. The family expect to occupy the cottage shortly.

Mr. McAllister's cottage is on the main-land, just across the channel. It is understood that he will put up several large tents for the accommodation of visitors.

Sheriff Hall's summer home has been reopened for the season and a large number of the family are already occupying the cottage. Mr. V. Boyd is a guest at the island.

Messrs. Wm. Snowden and Larry Bennett have taken Mr. Gemmels cottage for a few weeks.

Mr. E. H. D. Hall's cottage has been taken for the summer by Mrs. James Dennistoun.

Mr. Wm. Lech and family have reopened their cottage on Pompadour island.

The Victoria House, McCracken's Landing, is doing a splendid business again this summer, guests of former years having evidently told their friends of the fine accommodation possessed by this hotel for tourists. There are many improvements over last year. The dining room has been enlarged to double its former size and the large double piazzas have been carried around across the rear of the house, thus enabling guests to dodge the sun all day. The fact of a large tank being erected above the hotel in the rear enables water to be supplied for closets, etc., which is a great convenience. Besides the big run of American and Canadian tourists who favour the Victoria House, the place is becoming very popular with the citizens of Peterborough as a handy spot at which to spend Sundays during the hot weather. If there is a breeze stirring at all the benefit is felt on the Victoria House verandahs. Amongst the recently registered guests are, Mr. and Mrs. F W VanBeigh and Maurice H VanBeigh, Rochester, N.Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Hastings Carter, Hamilton; Robert Harrison, Peterborough; Mrs. S N Munro, Montreal; Miss Dickson, Miss Davidson, Peterborough; Miss Helen Munro and Master Gordon Munro, Montreal; Mrs. John Manning, Peterborough; Miss Emma Johnston, Toronto; J A Sutherland, G E Taylor, Miss C Taylor, Miss Mabel Taylor, Fred Taylor, Clifford Taylor, Rochester, N.Y.; A J Kent, Granby, P.Q.; Ignatius R Stewart, Bobcaygeon; W G Luke and wife, Oshawa; Julia G Choate, Dora L Payne, Warsaw; Mrs. H C Baker, Hamilton; G A Smith and Mrs. Smith, Bobcaygeon; Geo. D Edwards, Denver, Col.; Lottie Smith, Maggie Miller, Warsaw; Minnie Tice, Rochester; Alice Hughes, Dummer; J O'Brien, Detroit; J Jones, M Hayes, Peterborough; Geo. C Heintzman, wife and children, Toronto; P Campbell, Peterborough; W E Williams, A H Oliver, Rochester, N.Y.; J E McKelvey, New York; M B Fox, Rochester, N.Y.; Miss E Morrow, Miss M Hall, W G Morrow, R F McWilliams, Peterborough; C S Tanner, F N Kilbourn, Lakefield.

Mr. Fred Morgan, the popular proprietor, spares no effort to make his guests comfortable.

The Great Departmental Store conducted by the Choate boys at the Landing is flourishing as usual.

Mr. Sam Hunter, the Toronto Star cartoonist, is at his cottage on the Dummer shore for the season.

Mr. A. L. Davis has opened his very pretty cottage for the season and has a number of guests.

Mr. J. J. McBain has opened his cottage on Bear Island. Mr. Hubert McBain was down from Toronto for Sunday. Mr. Harry Thompson is a guest for several weeks.

Mr. John Sawers and Mr. H. P. Lindsay are at their Eagle Mount cottages.

Mr. Willie Hamilton's place looks very nice this summer. The family are there for the season. Mr. Percy Hamilton was out for Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Nugent have Mr. Mrs. and Miss Woodroffe, of Toronto, with them at Little Otter for the summer. The island looks very attractive this year, the house having been done over. A new wharf is being built.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Collins and family are at their cottage again. Mr. Alex. Collins is holidaying there.

Mr. Henderson and Mr. Jas. Eakins of Toronto, with their families, are over on the Burleigh shore again. The latter's place looks especially bright in a new coat of paint.

Mr. Charles Armstrong of the Mt. Julian Hotel, reports that business is rushing and that he is accommodating the usual number of summer boarders.

"Viamede" has been still further improved this year, amongst the changes being the addition to the establishment of a floating summer refreshment booth, which is anchored on the shore just below the house. "Viamede" is filled up with guests, 52 sitting down to dinner on Sunday last.

Further up the lake encouraging reports come from Breeze's and Donell's, each of these popular boarding houses being already well filled.

Towards Burleigh way, Miss Brown at "Headlands," and Miss Cox at "Dulce Domum," are also being pressed for accommodation. A big party from Pittsburg came to the former on Saturday.

Mr. James Connal and family are holidaying at Boschink, as is Mr. Marshall Wynn's family from Toronto. The latter have Mr. W. G. Ferguson's cottage. Mr. Wynn comes down for his holidays about the 27th.

Mr. Samuel Hopkins and his colony of Americans are just across the channel.

Mr. W. G. Morrow has not re-opened "Oakdene" for the summer yet, but spent Sunday there, accompanied by Miss Emma Morrow, Miss Marion Hall and Mr. R. F. McWilliams.

Mr. Fred Addison, who recently purchased Mr. Harry Rush's cottage, has had it altered and repainted, and it is now one of the neatest and one of the brightest little places around Boschink.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Shortly have reopened their cottage, and Mr. O. B Shortly is spending the summer with them. Miss Allie Whiten was out for Sunday.

Extensive improvements have made a most handsome two story structure of Mr. W. A. Sanderson's cottage. The men are just finishing the painting of his fine flag pole, from the top of which floats "Royal George," a magnificent flag 14x28 in size. It was run to the very top of the pole on Sunday, which fact had a peculiar significance for friends farther up the lake.

Rev. Mr. Gibson of Norwood, has a very pretty cottage up towards Christy Crowe's.

Mr. Harry LeBrun has been making extensive improvements at beautiful "Belle Chasse." A double story building has been erected, to serve the double purpose of a boat house, with sleeping apartments up-stairs. Mrs. LeBrun and Miss Dor Huckett are domiciled there for the summer, and Mr. LeBrun generally gets out for the best part of each week. Mr. R. B. McKee and Mr. Ed. Brown were guests for Sunday.

Messrs. Ackerman, Roxburgh, Davidson and Cummings of Norwood, are all at their summer homes.

Mr. R. J. Gough, of Toronto, accompanied by Mrs. Gough and child, went back to Stony Lake yesterday where they have taken Mr. Z. Burnham's pretty cottage for the season, at the head of the lake.

Mr. Harry Brock and family, of Toronto, have opened their hospitable doors for the summer and Mrs. Brock will doubtless continue her very enjoyable Saturday evening receptions this season. Mr. George Sherry and Mr. Ross Cameron of Norwood, were out for Sunday.

Mr. Charlie Winch's family are up at their cottage from Montreal for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lundy, of Detroit, are summering with Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Lundy at their attractive place.

Mr. John Craig and Mr. W. H. Meredith were up for Sunday at Mr. Bennett's cottage.

Mr. Wm. Croly's cottage looks very homelike this season.

Mr. Dodsworth's new cottage has many conveniences, the chief amongst which is the fact that the verandahs are all enclosed with mosquito netting. His choir boys are camped just across on the main shore.

Mr. D. W. Dumble has rented Ballyraggit to Mr. White from Toronto.

Mr. Clarkson and family, of Toronto, have taken the Dunn place for the summer.

Grassy Island is occupied by Mr. Rice and family, of Toronto.

Mr. Leall and family, of Rochester, have taken Kimo for July and August.

"Kenmore" is occupied by Mr. Bates and family, of Pittsburg.

Mr. C. J. Blomfield, of Lakefield, has reopened his summer cottage. The Lingwoods, of Kingston, are just behind him.

Mr. J. W. Allan, of Kentucky, has taken the former Sheldrake cottage. He has a very pretty little yacht, the "Lorelei."

Mr. George Guillett, of Cobourg, is again at "West Away."

Mr. James Acton and family, of Toronto, are at "Chateau Du Lac."

Mr. Levi Payne and family, of Lakefield, have reopened "Paynesboro for the season.

Mr. Jos. Yelland's family are again at their summer cottage, to which an addition is being made.

Mr R. C. Strickland's cottage is reopened.

Mr. J. B. McWilliams and family are again at Tecumseh Lodge for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Hendren and family of Lakefield, are on their island for the season.

Extensive alterations have been made at Hon. J. R. Stratton's cottage. The painters have been at work for some weeks. "Strath-Ormond" will be reopened in August.

Mr. Ackincloss, of Toronto, has taken the big Jones House on Eaglemount for the summer.

The Juniper Island Store is as popular as ever under the management of Mr. T. W. Robinson.

A COUNTRY ROAD.

A dusty, stony way, whose bord'ring sod
Is thick with blackberries and goldenrod;
Abrupt, bare hills on one side looking down,
And from the other you can see the town
Follow the river's course through meadows green,
O'er which thick woods and marble ledges lean.

A little farther, where the road descends,
A brook's soft tinkle with some bird song blends,
(Gone from its edge the dear old dame's small cot Half hidden by quaint flowers); lush bergamot
Makes sweet its banks, its depths the boys still swim
Or watch the minnows from some willow limb.

Upon its bridge how often I have stood,
Watching the west, whose glory seemed to flood
With tenderest light the poorhouse and the graves
Beside it—turn to gold the brooklet's waves—
Till from the hill, oh, dearest sight of all,
I saw my father, and I heard him call!

He came with sturdy stride and swinging pail—
My hand in his—told my day's whole tale
Of joys, that 'neath his bright smile seemed to grow,
While lessened was my every childish woe
As his sweet words fell on my soul like balm
While we walked homeward, through the fragrant calm.

SALTED BUTTER.

Why It Keeps Better Than Butter That Is Fresh.

Why does salt butter keep better than fresh butter? We must first realize that the bacterial population of a moderate sized pat of butter may be reckoned by millions, that a tiny lump only large enough to go into a thimble has been known to be tenanted by nearly 48,000,000, that, in fact, in consuming a slice of bread and butter you may unconsciously be assimilating individual lives exceeding in number those of the whole of Europe. Thus the urgency for keeping these hordes in check and hence the efforts which are made, first, to set up effectual barriers to their ingress by taking proper precautions in the production of milk and, second, in the conduct of the processes involved in the manufacture and distribution of the finished article.

Included in these processes is the addition of salt in such quantities as to justify the butter being known as salt butter, this addition being made with the object of extending the keeping powers of the butter or, in other words, to suppress to a large extent the activities of the butter bacteria. That salt does act in this manner is shown by the fact that in butter thus treated a very large reduction in the number of micro-organisms present is effected. There can be little doubt, therefore, that the common butter microbes do not by any means regard salt as their elixir of life.

In England boracic acid is said to be extensively used in butter as a preservative or antiseptic agent, while in the United States a recent public health document states that none was reported to have been found in the samples of butter examined. This is probably due to the fact that in America there exists a strong prejudice in favor of salt butter, whereas in England the use of salt butter is the exception and not the rule. Hence in America salt can be used as a preservative instead of the boracic acid employed for that purpose in England.

The densely populated condition of butter above referred to is not to be wondered at if we realize that the raw material in the shape of milk may contain from 500,000 to as many as 169,000,000 of bacteria in a few drops.

Irish Lacemaking.

After the famine of 1847 lacemaking was revived in Ireland. Limerick, the most successful Irish lace, is not really a lace at all. It is tambour work upon net and muslin.

The Irish point, so called, is the ancient cut work, being made in quite the same way.

Net was first made by machinery in 1768. The machine was an adaptation of the stocking loom to lacemaking and was cumbrous and not very effective. In 1809 John Heathcote, a farmer's son, evolved from consciousness and experience the first machine to make true bobbinet with perfect six sided holes. It brought a great hue and cry about bis ears from laceworkers, who fancied they saw themselves thus reduced to beggary.

The Luddites broke into the factory where the machines were first set up and made scrap iron and kindling wood of them. The only result was to drive the new manufacture to other and safer quarters. For long the secret of the machine's construction was most jealously guarded by English manufacturers. Not satisfied with letters patent they kept up a coast patrol to make sure that nobody took model or drawings to France.

At last, though, they were outwitted. A discharged workman who had the plan of it in his mind managed to get safe over sea and build a machine in France.

Sort of a Cannibal.

An old farmer for many years got his dinner on market days at a small hotel kept by a widow.

She had long suspected that he ate more than the price (1s. 6d.) warranted, so she determined to test him. She accordingly arranged matters so that there was no room for him at table, but she took him into a private room the table of which was graced by a steaming leg of mutton. He set to in good earnest, and soon nothing was left but the bones.

Highly delighted with his cheap feed, on passing the bar he tendered 2 shillings for his dinner and a quart of ale.

The widow declined to take any payment on the ground of having inconvenienced him so much.

Chuckling to himself, the farmer lifted down his market basket from a hook, and, finding it rather light, he tore off the covering and shouted:

"Here, Mrs. Brown, where's my leg o' mutton?"

"Why, ye old silly," said the widow, "ye have ate your leg for your dinner!"—London Answers.

What do we Eat?

First we must build up the tissues in the growing body and reconstruct those worn out by use; second we must supply nervous, muscular and digestive force to the different parts of the body. Scott's Emulsion plays a very important part as regards both objects. All delicate and rapidly growing children need it.

Jay Gould's First Trade.

Two boys who became distinguished in widely different ways were Jay Gould, the multimillionaire, and John Burroughs, the naturalist. They attended together the humble school in Roxbury, N. Y. John loved books, and Jason was fond of making trades. Young Gould had some books which his school fellow wanted very much to own. The more Burroughs thought about the coveted books and more diligently he strove to save up his pennies. Finally he had 80 cents hoarded. Taking his wealth to Gould he found that thrifty young gentleman quite willing to do business. The books were traded off for the money—mostly big copper pennies—and both boys were made happy. Mr. Burroughs never regretted his end of the bargain.—Success.

FREE GRIND FOR EVERYBODY.

A Joke That Boomed the Town of Kit Carson For Awhile.

"The most original joke I ever heard of," said an old timer, "was that of a saloon keeper at Kit Carson in the very early days. Carson was a typical frontier settlement. It had drawn within its boundaries a mixed population of hunters, gamblers, soldiers, Mexicans and loafers, with occasionally an industrious man who was willing to work for his living. In the summer of 1871 the town grew frightfully dull, and the boys had plenty of time in which to practice the favorite western amusement of practical joking. One day old Sam Tate, who kept the Alhambra saloon and dance hall, was accosted by a man who professed to be desirous of obtaining employment.

"'Want work, do you?' said Sam. 'Well, you don't look like a man that wanted it very bad.'

"'But I do,' persisted the man, 'and I am willing to do anything.'

"'Kin you turn a grindstone?' queried Sam as the bright idea struck him.

"'I certainly kin,' responded the stranger, whereupon Sam closed a contract with him to stand in front of the Alhambra for 30 days turning a grindstone, his pay to be at the rate of $2.50 a day.

"The next morning all of Carson drifted around to witness the curious spectacle of a man turning a grindstone. Sam sent out word that anybody who had axes, knives or tools of any sort to sharpen could have it done free at the Alhambra. The news quickly spread, and soon the saloon and the sidewalk in front of it were crowded with a miscellaneous crowd of people, with a miscellaneous collection of dull implements. The humor of the situation went home to everybody, and a period of conviviality was inaugurated such as the town had never known before. Day after day the patient man at the grindstone toiled at his task, and day after day the bar of the Alhambra did a whopping business. The first day more than enough was made to pay for the whole 30 days of grindstone turning. The other saloon keepers began to grumble, but still the circus at the Alhambra continued to go on.

"When the news had spread up and down the road, visitors from abroad began to pour in. New life was infused into the waning spirits of the population. There was a great spurt in horse racing, gambling and the other sports of the border. A new store or two came along, and a lot of new buildings went up. The ridiculous circumstance of a man turning a grindstone had given the town a boom. Old Sam Tate simply coined money, and his dance hall was crowded all the time. The patient and taciturn man who ground away with that grindstone became something of a popular hero. One night a lot of revelers emptied the water out of the little box which kept the stone moist and filled it with silver dollars—100 of them. At other times he was given presents, and when his 30 days had expired he found himself richer by several hundred dollars. His dogged persistency at that grindstone laid the foundation for quite a fortune made later in the cattle business.

"But the grindstone man and Sam Tate were the only ones who really profited, for Kit Carson was a doomed community, the word having gone out that her railroad branch to Las Animas must be abandoned and taken up."

Colonial Laws.

A narration of the laws relating to the Sabbath and the prosecutions due to them would fill a huge volume and make interesting reading. The rigid Puritan observance of the Lord's day had its origin with the Puritans of old England and reached its fullest development in Puritan New England.

None of the laws was more rigidly enforced than those intended to prevent the "prophaning of the Lord's day." The old records are full of convictions for violation of them. Captain Kimble of Boston was in 1656 set for two hours in the public stocks for his "lewd and unseemly conduct," which consisted in kissing his wife publicly on the Sabbath day upon the doorstep of his house when he had just returned from a voyage, after an absence of three years. The story is told of Robert Pike of Amesbury that, having to go on a journey, he waited patiently until the sun sank behind the western clouds on Sunday evening and then mounted his horse, but he had only gone a short distance when the last ray gleamed through a break in the clouds, and the next day he was brought before the court and fined.

ENGLISH SPARROWS.

Dates at Which These Birds Were Imported Into This Country.

I have been asked several times lately at what date the common English sparrows were imported into the United States and by whom.

It seems that the first attempt was made in 1858 by a private citizen of Portland, Me. In the fall of that year he liberated six sparrows, and they immediately made themselves at home in his garden and outbuildings. For a few years these birds and their descendants were seen in and about the town in small squads. These birds multiplied until in the winter of 1871 a flock of them appeared in every nearby town, thus showing their tendency to spread over adjoining territory.

About 1800 12 birds were imported and liberated near Madison square, New York city, and this was repeated for several seasons.

In 1864 the commissioners of New York liberated 14 birds in Central park. About this time numerous persons returning from abroad brought a few birds home and set them at liberty in and about Jersey City.

The craze for importing these birds spread, and in 1868 the city government of Boston imported a great number. But the birds had not been carefully handled, and they did not thrive, and others were brought over. The birds which survived from these various importations were carefully fed and looked after by the city government.

In 1869 a thousand were imported and liberated in the city of Philadelphia, and soon the birds spread over all adjacent territory.

About this time the Smithsonian institution became interested in bringing these birds to this country, so they imported 300, but most of them died. In 1871 the same institution brought over another lot, and they were successfully cared for.

From this it is seen that the birds have started from a number of points and were not one or two importations to New York, as is usually supposed.

WEAKNESS

OF MEN AND WOMEN

Could we read the hearts of every man we meet, what a load of sorrow and despair would be disclosed. Indiscretions and Blood Diseases have caused more physical and mental wrecks than all other causes combined. They strike at the foundation of manhood; they sap the vital forces; they undermine the system, and not only do they often disrupt the family circle, but they may even extend their poisonous fangs into the next generation. If you have been a victim of early sinful habits, remember the seed is sown, and sooner or later you will reap a harvest. If your blood has been diseased from any cause do not risk a return later on. Our New Method Treatment will positively cure you and you need never fear any return of the disease. We will give you a guarantee bond to that effect. We would warn you sincerely against the promiscuous use of mercury, which does not cure blood poison but simply suppresses the symptoms.

WE CURE OR NO PAY.

Don't Let your life be Drained Away, which weakens the intellect as well as the body. There is no room in this world for mental, physical or sexual dwarfs. Our New Method Treatment will Stop all Unnatural Losses, Purify the Blood, Strengthen the Nerves, Restore Vitality, and make a man of you. If you are in trouble, call and consult us. Arms and The Woman

By Harold MacGrath

Copyright, 1900, By Harold MacGrath.

"We shall visit her during the first intermission," said I.

"You had better go alone," replied Pembroke. "I haven't the courage."

The moment the curtain dropped I left the stall. I passed along the corridor and soon stood outside the box in which Phyllis sat. I knocked gently.

"Enter!" said a soft voice.

"Ah," said the chancellor, smiling as he saw me. "Duke, I believe their majesties are looking this way. Let us go to them. I am pleased to see you, Herr Winthrop. Duke, this is the gentleman who has turned us all upside down."

The duke bowed, and the two left me alone with Phyllis.

There was an embarrassing silence, but she surmounted it.

"Why have you not been to see me?" she asked. "Are you done with me now that you have made me a princess?"

"I did call, but was told that you were indisposed," said I.

"It was because I did not see your card. I shall never be indisposed to my friends—the old ones. However, they will be crowding in here shortly. Will you come and see me at 4 tomorrow afternoon?"

"Is it important?" I was thinking of the duel when I said this.

"Very—to you. You have a strange funereal expression for a man who is about to wed the woman he loves."

"Your sister has left town?" not knowing what else to say.

"Only for a few days. At least so she told me. Have you seen her?"

"No, I have not. A princess!" dropping into a lighter tone. "You carry your honors well. It was to be expected of you. I might have made you a queen, but that would not have changed you any."

"Thank you. Do you know, a title is a most wonderful drawing apparatus? Since Thursday it has been a continued performance of presentations. And I care absolutely nothing for it all. Indeed, it rests heavily upon me. I am no longer free. Ah, Jack, and to think that I must blame you! I have been longing all the evening for the little garden at home. Yes, it will always be home to me. I am almost an alien. I would rather sell lemonade to poor reporters who had only 25 cent pieces in their pockets than queen it over a people that do not interest me and with whom I have nothing in common." She smiled, rather sadly. I thought, at the remembrance of that garden scene so long ago.

"Time has a cruel way of moving us around," said I, snapping the clasps on my gloves and pulling the fingers and looking everywhere but at her. I was wondering if I should ever see her again. "When is the coronation to take place?"

"In June. The king does not wish to hurry me. You see, I must learn to be a princess first. It was kind of him. And you will be at Hohenphalia to witness the event?"

"If nothing happens. We live in a continual uncertainty."

She regarded me somewhat strangely.

"Is there a significance in that last sentence?"

"No," I answered. I felt compelled to add something. "But here come some of your new admirers. Their glittering medals will make me feel out of place if I remain. I shall do my best to accept your invitation."

"Jack, you are hiding something from me. Are you going to leave the city to search for her?"

"No," said I. "The truth is," with a miserable attempt to smile, "I have an engagement tomorrow morning, and it is impossible to tell how long it will last. Good night."

Fate played loose with me that night. As I was turning down the corridor I ran into the prince. He was accompanied by Von Walden and an attache whom I knew.

"Good evening," said the prince. "Do you not prefer the French opera, after all?"

"All good music is the same to me," I answered, calmly returning his amused look with a contemptuous one. "Wagner, Verdi, Gounod or Bizet, it matters not."

"Till we meet again," he said as I continued on. "Shall I add pleasant dreams?"

"I am obliged to you," I answered over my shoulder, "but I never have them. I sleep too soundly."

"Cousin," said I later, "what was that opera?"

"I forgot to bring along a programme," said Pembroke.

CHAPTER XXIII.

When Pembroke and I arrived at the Strassburg inn, on the north road, neither the prince nor Von Walden was in evidence. I stepped from our carriage and gazed interestedly around me. The scene was a picturesque one. The sun, but half risen, was of a rusty brass, and all east was mottled with purple and salmon hues. The clearing, a quarter of a mile away, where the prince and I were to settle our dispute, was hidden under a fine white snow, and the barren trees which encircled it stood out blackly. Pembroke looked at his watch.

"They ought to be along soon. It's five after 4. How do you feel?" regarding me curiously.

"As nerveless as a rod of steel," I answered. "Let us go in and order a small breakfast. I'm a bit cold."

"Better let it go at a cup of coffee," he suggested.

"It will be more consistent, that is true," I said. "Coffee and pistols for two."

"I'm glad to see that you are bright," said Pembroke. "Hold out your hand."

I did so.

"Good. So long as it doesn't tremble I have confidence of the end."

We had scarcely finished our coffee when the prince, followed by Von Walden, entered.

"Pardon me," he said, "for having made you wait."

"Permit me," said I, rising, "to present my second. Mr. Pembroke, his highness Prince Ernst of Wortumborg."

And the four of us left the inn and crossed the field. The first shot fell to me. Pembroke's eyes beamed with exultant light. Von Walden's face was without expression. As for the prince, he still wore that bantering smile. He was confident of the end. He knew that I was a tyro, whereas he had faced death many times. I sighed. I knew that I should not aim to take his life. I was absolutely without emotion. There was not the slightest tremble in my hand as I accepted the pistol. There is nothing like set purpose to still the tremors of a man's nerves. I thought of Hillars, and for a moment my arm stiffened; then I recalled Gretchen's last letter. I fell to wondering where the bullet would hit me. I prayed that his aim might be sure.

"Many persons think that I am a man without compassion," said the prince, as we were about to step to our places. "I have an abundance of it. You have everything to lose, and I have nothing to gain. If it is your desire, I shall be happy to explain that you wish to withdraw. But say the word."

He knew what my reply would be. "Withdraw," said I, "and have you laugh at me and tell your friends that I acted the poltroon? Really, you do me injustice."

"And do you hate me so very much?" mockery in his eyes.

"Not now. I did hate you, but hatred is a thing we should not waste any more than love. I have taken the bird and the nest from your hands; that is more than enough. You are merely an object for scorn and contempt and indifference now. No; I have no wish to withdraw."

"You read between the lines," he said. "Indeed, I should like nothing better than to have the privilege of calling you a poltroon and a coward and to tell your princess of it." He sauntered back to his place leisurely.

"Aim the slightest to the left," whispered Pembroke; "the wind will carry it home."

I pressed his hand. A moment later I stood facing the prince. I lifted the pistol and fired. Had the prince been ten feet to the right he must have been hit. I threw the smoking pistol aside, let my arms fall and waited. I could see that Pembroke was biting his lip to hide his anxiety and disappointment. Slowly the prince leveled the weapon at my breast. Naturally I shut my eyes. Perhaps there was a prayer on my lips. God, how long that wait seemed to me! It became so tedious that I opened my eyes again. The pistol arm of the prince appeared to have frozen in the air.

"It is getting cold," I cried. "Shoot, for God's sake shoot, and end it!"

In reply the prince fired into the air, took the pistol by the barrel and flung it at my feet. The rest of us looked on dumfounded.

"They are all of the same kidney, count, these Americans," said he. "They would be dangerous as a nation were it not for their love of money." Then to me, "Go tell your princess that I have given your life to you."

"The devil take you!" I cried. The strain had been terrible.

"All in good time," retorted the prince, getting into his coat and furs "Yesterday morning I had every intention of killing you. This morning it was farthest from my thoughts, though I did hope to see you waver. You are a man of courage. So was your friend. It is to be regretted that we were on different sides. Devil take the women! Good morning!"

After the count had gathered up the pistols the two walked toward the inn. Pembroke and I followed them at a distance.

"I wonder if he had any idea of what a poor shot you were?" mused Pembroke. "It was a very good farce."

"I aimed ten feet to the right," said I.

"What?"

"Yes."

"Then you knew"—

"Pembroke," said I, "I had no intention of killing him or even wounding him. And I never expected to leave this place alive. Something has occurred during the last 24 hours which we do not understand."

"He was taking great risks."

"It shows the man he is," said I, and the remainder of the distance was gone in silence.

The carriages were in the road a short way from the inn. Pembroke and I got into ours. As the prince placed a foot on the step of his he turned once more to me.

"Pardon me," he said, "but I came near forgetting to tell you why I did not kill you this morning. In some way your princess came into the knowledge that we were going to fight it out as they did in the old days. She came to my rooms and there begged me to spare your life. There was a condition. It was that she get down on her knees to sue—down on her knees. Ah, what was your life compared to the joy of her humiliation! Not in the figure of speech—on her living, mortal knees, my friend—her living knees!" The carriage door banged behind him.

It was only because Pembroke threw his arms around me that I did not leap out of the carriage.

"Sit still, Jack, sit still! If she begged your life, it was because she loves you."

And, full of rage, I saw the carriage of the prince vanish. As the carriage vanished, so vanished the prince from the scene of my adventures.

Arriving at our rooms, we found them in possession of a lieutenant of the guard hussars. He was drumming on the hearthstone with the end of his sword scabbard. As we entered he rose and briefly saluted us.

"Which of you two gentlemen is Herr Winthrop?" he asked.

"I am he," said I.

"His majesty commands your immediate presence at the palace."

"The king?"

"Yes."

I wrote to you and you sent me a question blank to fill out and I did so and you then advised me to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Kissing Fetes.

In various Hungarian villages kissing fetes are held from time to time, but a time limit is set for the bestowal of these amatory offerings, it being understood that promiscuous kissing is only to be indulged in between the hours of noon and 6 p. m. Lovers naturally flock in great crowds to these peculiar gatherings, being able, of course, to imprint salutes upon the lips of their fiances to their hearts' content.

At a large fete held in Russia some years ago an edict went forth that kissing might be indulged in provided every youth who contemplated such practices wore a green feather in his cap. This was to be done to enable any girl who might not welcome strange embraces to take to flight on the approach of the would be kissers. The fete attracted nearly 20,000 people and was a huge success.

A WONDERFUL SHRUB

ON IT GROW THE MYSTERIOUS FLOWERS OF ST. PATRICK.

This Phenomenal Plant Blossoms In France In Midwinter In Tribute, So the History of It Relates, to Ireland's Patron Saint.

In Ireland many local traditions about St. Patrick are identified with rivers and mountains—those natural monuments which time cannot efface; but Ireland is not the only country where these monuments of nature give evidence of the saint's passage. France also bears testimony to St. Patrick in the mysterious Fleurs de St. Patrice and the venerable Eglise de St. Patrice, situated in the diocese of Tours, on the banks of the Loire, a few leagues distant from the city of St. Martin. St. Patrick was a disciple of St. Martin of Tours, with whom he spent four years after his escape from Ireland and from whom he received the tonsure and was thus made a cleric. Men have doubted of St. Patrick's presence at Tours, but the fact of that presence is proved by the traditions and monuments which are bound up with the beautiful legend of Les Fleurs de St. Patrice and their blossoming every year in midwinter for the past 1,500 years.

But what are the Fleurs de St Patrice? The most reliable account of these mysterious flowers is the one given by Mgr. Chevallier, president of the Archæological Society of Tours, in 1850. He writes as follows:

"On the banks of the Loire, a few leagues from Tours, a very remarkable phenomenon is repeated year by year, one concerning which science as yet has given no satisfactory explanation. This phenomenon, too little known, consists in the blossoming, in the midst of the rigors of winter, of the blackthorn (Prunus spinosa), commonly called the sloe.

This remarkable shrub is to be found at St. Patrice, upon the slope of a hill not far from the Chateau de Rochette. The circulation of the sap, which should be suspended in winter, is plainly revealed by the moist state of the bark, which easily separates from the wood which it covers. The buds swell, the flowers expand as in the month of April and cover the boughs with odorous and snowlike flowers, while a few leaves timidly venture to expose their delicate verdure to the icy north wind. To the flowers succeeds the fruit, and at the beginning of January a small berry appears, attached to a long peduncle in the midst of the withered and discolored petals, which soon shrivels and dries up.

This singular growth of flowers is almost unknown, although it has been repeated every year from time immemorial. The oldest inhabitant of St. Patrice has always seen it take place at a fixed period of the year, no matter how severe the season may be, and such has also been the ancient tradition of their forefathers, while the legend we are about to relate attributes a very remote origin to the fact; but, as the shrub itself appears quite young, it is probable that it is renewed from the roots. However, this phenomenon is limited to the locality and to the shrub in question. Cuttings transplanted elsewhere have only blossomed in the spring, and the hawthorns which grow amid the sloes do not manifest any circulation of sap.

In the year 1850 the flowers were in bloom from Christmas until the 1st of January—that is, at a time when the thermometer was almost always below the freezing point. Although growing on the slope of a hill, this shrub is in no way sheltered from the north wind. Its branches are incrusted with hoar frost, the icy northeast wind blows violently among them, and it often happens that the shrub is loaded at one and the same time with the snow of winter and the snow of its own flowers.

The inhabitants of St. Patrice record an ancient tradition which is full of freshness and poetry. St. Patrick, it is said, being on his way from Ireland to join St. Martin in Gaul—attracted by the fame of the saint's sanctity and miracles—and having arrived at the bank of the Loire near the spot where the church now bearing his name has been built, rested under a shrub. It was Christmas time, when the cold was intense. In honor of the saint the shrub expanded its branches and, shaking off the snow which rested on them, by an unheard of prodigy arrayed itself in flowers white as the snow itself. St. Patrick crossed the Loire on his cloak, and on reaching the opposite bank another blackthorn under which he rested at once burst out into flowers. Since that time, says the chronicler, the two shrubs have never ceased to blossom at Christmas in honor of St. Patrick.

Such is the account given by Mgr. Chevallier in 1851. Father William Morris visited it 30 years later, in 1881, and writes that he was struck by the extraordinary beauty and luxuriance of the foliage on the trees—"it was so dense from the ground upward that it was impossible to distinguish the stem"—and he could understand how, when it flowers at Christmas, it supplies the country round with trophies of St. Patrick. The winter of 1879-80 was remarkable for its severity, and during the month of December, 1879, the ground was covered with snow, yet the blackthorn of St. Patrick—"l'epine de St. Patrice," as it is called at Tours—flowered as usual, though the branches were laden with snow and the blossoms came out under the snow.

On the 20th of December of 1900, a few weeks before the flowering, a French journal directed attention to this wonderful blossoming of the blackthorn, and this so excited the attention of those living near Tours that the shrub was stripped of its flowers and left completely bare at Christmas. The proprietor of the ground on which the shrub grows then surrounded it with a fence in order to preserve the blossoms from being plucked.

An Odd Error.

Lucius M. Sargent in his "Dealings With the Dead" says (volume 1, page 31) that "in the graveyard at Norfolk, Va., is a handsome marble monument sacred to the memory of Mrs. Margaret, etc., wife of, etc., who died, etc., and that following the inscription is this: 'Erratum—For Margaret read Martha.'"

How Piccadilly Was Named.

It's curious how the names of towns and streets come from something that has been the fashion of the day. Who knows where the word "Piccadilly" originated from, the name of that wonderful street of which it is written that "some make love and some make poetry in Piccadill?" The street was built by a tailor named Higgins, whose fortune was made in a kind of collar called Piccadel or Pickadill or Piccadilley, which was worn by all the beaus of the day. Of course it is not meant that the street as it stands today was built by him, but he erected a few houses to which he gave the name the street now bears.

A Thoroughbred.

Don't be a thoroughbred. A thoroughbred is well enough in cattle and hogs, but very disgusting among men, for the reason that among men a thoroughbred means a man who devotes too much time to having fun, to being a good fellow. Make a specialty of reliability, industry, fairness. Make your specialty a worthy one. Instead of seeing how late you can stay out at night go to bed at regular hours. Sleep will do you more good than a good time. There is no better man than the good citizen, the good husband, the good father, the good son. A thoroughbred is never noted in these directions.

Made a Bad Matter Worse.

The honeymoon was over, and they were comfortably settled in their snug little home. The husband, returning from business, was grieved to find his little wife crying bitterly.

"Oh, George," she sobbed, "a dreadful thing has happened! I had made you a beautiful pie all by myself, and Fido went and ate it."

"Well, never mind, my dear," he said cheerfully. "We can easily afford another dog."—Exchange.

Advice From the Box.

On one occasion in the fifties an amateur dramatic performance was given in San Francisco for the benefit of some deserving charity. Among the performers was the late Hugh Farrar McDermott, the poet, and in a box was Mr. Mills. The play was some classic piece, and the acting was so bad that what should have been a tragedy became a farce. In the last act McDermott dropped his sword and, stooping awkwardly, picked it up. There was a titter in the audience, which increased as the luckless performer asked, "What shall I do with this envenomed blade?"

From the banker's box came in a queer stage whisper, "Stab yourself, Hugh, and be done with it!"

I have tried many medicines without relief, until I got a box of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets from R. Deyell, the druggist. Since then I have had comfort, and am able to work with ease. BATH OF THE ORANGE.

The Fruit Needs Much Grooming Before It Is Ready For Market.

Fresh from the tree an orange is still very much alive, with the oil cells expanded and the mystery of growth not yet suspended. Cut off from the sap supply, a change takes place. The skin draws closer to the pulp and gives off moisture that would cause sweating if the fruit were packed at once. But first these dust stained travelers must have a bath.

By the bushel, if only this were the land of the good old bushel basket, the newcomers are dumped into a long, narrow tank of water at one end of which is a big wheel with a tire of soft bristles. The wheel revolves so that the lower edge works in connection with another set of brushes in a smaller tank below, and the oranges, after bobbing about in the big tank, pass between the wet brushes and come out bright and clean.

This washer is a neat machine and does away with the more primitive yet picturesque method of hand washing.

At some of the smaller packing houses may still be seen groups of women, sometimes white, sometimes brown skinned, each with a tub of water and brush, scrubbing busily away at the yellow piles that never seem to grow less till the last hour of the day.

After their bath the oranges are spread out in the sun to dry on long, slanting racks. At the lower end they roll off into boxes, to be carried away to the warehouse for their rest.

An orange needs a deal of grooming, it would seem, before it is ready for market. The washing was not enough. There must be a brushing too. And after the days of curing the oranges are fed into a hopper which drops them single file on to a belt that runs between revolving cylindrical brushes, this for a smooth, shiny look.

LOSS OF LIFE BY LIGHTNING.

Property Also Suffered From the Electric Fluid—Crushed by a Crane at Meaford—Quebec Farmer Dragged to Death—Fatal Runaway at Winnipeg—A Toronto Man Drowned.

Montreal, July 17.—There was an explosion in the works of the Hamilton Powder Company, whose head office is in Montreal, at Windsor Mills yesterday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock. One of the employes, D. Aubin, was blown to pieces, and two others seriously injured. The report of the explosion was distinctly heard in Richmond. In the town of Windsor Mills there is hardly a house with a whole pane of glass. This is the third time in fifteen years that the works have suffered, each time with fatal results. Gordon Ferrier, nephew of Hon. James Ferrier of Montreal, was instantly killed by the first explosion, and on the other occasion William Vogt was killed.

Berry-Picker Killed.

Hamilton, July 17.—A severe thunderstorm passed over the city yesterday afternoon. Lightning struck a tree on the farm of John Burns, near Stoney Creek, killing a squaw and paralyzing two Indians. The Indians were berry picking.

Killed by Lightning.

Port Robinson, July 17. — During a severe electrical storm here yesterday afternoon about 3.30 Thomas Herdman, a highly respected resident of Crowland Township, 1½ miles southeast of here, was instantly killed by lightning, while sitting on a hay rake in a field not far from his home. Glencoe, July 17.—During the electrical storm which visited this section yesterday afternoon, two large barns belonging to John S. Walker, who lives just west of the village, were totally destroyed by lightning, together with their contents, consisting of all this season's hay, 500 bushels of old grain, mostly wheat, and some implements. The loss is estimated at from $1,500 to $2,000; insured for $900.

Barn Near Tilbury Struck.

Tilbury, July 17. — A severe rain storm, accompanied by lightning, passed over here yesterday, doing considerable damage to standing crops, the lightning striking the barns of Joseph Davidson, a farmer living about two miles from here, completely destroying them, together with contents, consisting of three horses, a quantity of hay, grain, implements, etc. The total loss will be about $1,500.

One Killed—One Injured.

Meaford, July 17. — An accident occurred here yesterday afternoon, in which one man was killed and another seriously injured. They were working on the steam shovel at the extension of the Grand Trunk railway to the harbor, the crane gave way and fell on the men crushing them. The dead man, Joseph Jeffries, aged 30, leaves one daughter living at Ottawa. The injured man, Albert Hawkins, is a native of this town. It is thought he may recover.

Found in the Rideau.

Ottawa, July 17. — The body of a well dressed and beautiful young woman dressed in black satin blouse and bicycle skirt, was found in the river at the foot of the Rideau Canal yesterday morning. Deceased was about 28 years of age and had received a wound over the eye apparently before being immersed. There is no mark on her clothing nor on her person by which she can be identified, nor is there anything in her possession. The body lies in the morgue awaiting the inquest.

Wealthy Hotel Guest Drowned.

Vancouver, B. C., July 17.—Word has been received that the remains of D. D. Dick have been found near Banff. He was accidentally drowned. He had been staying at the Banff Hotel, and had wandered off on Sunday, July 7. Mr. Dick was a wealthy Scotchman, his fortune being estimated at $2,000,000. He was somewhat noted for his eccentricities.

A Farmer's Terrible Fate.

Quebec, July 17.—A farmer named Lapointe was dragged to death by a runaway horse near Eagle Cape Sunday. He was driving his family to church, when his horse became unmanageable and broke part of the harness. The wife jumped out of the rig and sustained only slight injuries, but Lapointe, in his endeavor to follow, tripped on the step of the caleche and fell, head foremost, with one of his legs caught in the footstep. Hanging head down he was dragged along the rough road for over a mile. When the runaway was stopped Lapointe was one mass of bruises and life was extinct.

Baseball Fatality.

Winnipeg, July 17. —Louis O'Connor, son of Mr. John O'Connor, of 155 James avenue, died early yesterday morning at his father's residence, the result of an accident sustained while playing baseball the previous evening.

HELD AS A BOER SPY.

Wife of Schalkburger Charged With Carrying Despatches Through Lines.

London, July 17. — An official despatch to the War Office from Pretoria announces the arrival there of Mrs. Schalkburger, wife of the well known Boer commander.

Mrs. Schalkburger was captured near Waterval a few days ago, according to a report received here Saturday. It was intimated that she was conveying despatches through the British lines for the Boers. The fact that she was so speedily taken to British headquarters in Pretoria gives the impression here that this report is correct, and that Mrs. Schalkburger is under arrest as a spy.

She is the first woman spy of prominence to appear in the Boer war.

Medals For Strathcona.

Ottawa, July 17.—Militia orders issued yesterday provide that all members of Strathcona's Horse, who have not already received their South African war medals, will be able to receive them from His Royal Highness, the Duke of Cornwall and York, in the manner authorized for members of the other Canadian contingents.

St. Johns, Que., July 17.—The body of the young girl, Teresa MacDonald, formerly of Pembroke, Ont., but for ome time past a servant in the household of Mr. P. A. Chasse, K. C., which was being kept pending the arrival of relatives, was buried yesterday morning, a service being held in the Roman Catholic Church. Miss MacDonald attended a midnight excursion by steamer Tuesday evening of last week up the river to Isle aux Noix, and on her return, partly crazed from indignities to which she was exposed on the island and the steamer, she attempted to make away with herself by jumping from the steamer into the river, from which she was, however, prevented. She disappeared from her home the next evening, and was not again heard from till her bruised body was found in the river on Saturday.

Deceased was 64 years of age, and for the past ten years has been stationed at Kingston.

Remnants!

Their Use, and the Little Prices Asked for Them.

Boys' White and Blue and White Galatea Sailors, worth 25c For 15c.

The centre aisle of Peterborough's Strictly Cash Dry Goods House presents a fascinating appearance to the thrifty housewife—and little wonder, for on the big broad tables are hundreds—yes, hundreds of useful materials in useful lengths, for a mere song. True, the littleness of price makes one wonder if they are good, but the trade mark at the bottom of this advertisement safeguards that, and it is only another instance where cheapness at this store doesn't mean cheap goods, but reliable Goods cheap.

It will pay you to remember that this is one of the two weeks in the year set aside for the "riddance" of all Remnants. The number of Remnants is greater this half year owing to greater business, and this greater business has given us an incentive to mark these Remnants cheap—in appreciation of the increased business.

Come to-morrow. Remnants always have a choice, even though the one you require might be left till the last.

DRINKING OXYGEN.

We hardly need tell you the value of oxygen to the human system; we live on oxygen.

Powley's Liquified Ozone is oxygen in stable form; liquid; not a compound of drugs; no alcohol. It stimulates the normal functions; it cures disease by Nature's means, using the natural processes of the system. It is the simplest method of cure; a new method; some of the cures it has worked are almost miraculous.

Dr. J. E. Price, L. D. S., Walkerton, Ont., is most pronounced in his eulogy of this preparation. Read what he says:—

In the fall of 1900 I commenced taking Ozone, and I find that when I feel office work and confinement telling on me, by taking Ozone for a short time, I am qui e a different person, and can do the work so very much better. In my family they consider it without an equal. They find it a sure cure for sore throat, colds, etc. I have recommended it to a great many people, who, when they have used it, gave it great praise. (Signed) J. E. PRICE, Dentist, Walkerton, Ont.

Cases of consumption, Bright's disease, rheumatism, utterly given up, have been completely cured by the use of Powley's Liquified Ozone; there is no doubt about it. Dyspepsia, catarrh, bowel complaints, eczema, diphtheria,—many cases of them considered incurable,—are to-day well by the use of Powley's Liquified Ozone.

Powley's Liquified Ozone has as wide a range of curative application as oxygen. You should try it for your own case. Our booklet about it free.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Whether or not the steel workers of the United States decided to strike while the iron is hot, they are inclined to strike while the weather is hot.

The unfavourable crop reports in the United States, and the prevalence of strikes, is taking the gilding off United States' securities in the Old Country.

The contradictory reports about the C.P.R. trackmen's strike are puzzling. On the one hand the managers of the strike assure us that the strike is still on in full force, and that very little, if any attention, is being paid to the track. On the contrary the C.P.R. officials declare that the strike is virtually over, and that the tracks are being well attended to. It is to be hoped that no appalling accident from defective track will prove the trackmen's version of the strike situation to be correct.

The Stratford Beacon, referring to the Hon. Mr. Stratton's address at Mitchell on Tuesday evening, June 18th, says: "It was Hon. J. R. Stratton's first appearance in the riding, and many people were anxious to see and hear this energetic young Minister, for despite his gray beard, and rotund, well nourished figure, he is a young man, barely past the forty mile stone. However high the expectations they were not disappointed. Mr. Stratton is a business man and knows how to present the strong features of a business government. His presentation of the financial affairs of the province was unusually clear and convincing, while his review of the work being done to develop New Ontario in the interests of the whole province was masterly."

General Baden-Powell, Inspector-General of the South African Constabulary, has reported to the Dominion Government at Ottawa very favourably upon the Canadian Contingent. He compliments the Premier, the Minister of Militia and the Commander-in-Chief, for the "rapidity and efficiency" with which the force was raised. While we are to appreciate very highly commendation from such a source as Baden-Powell, it is a pleasure to note that in view of the fact that out of 1236 Canadian recruits to the constabulary only two were found physically unfit for the service, the Canadians speak for themselves, and the robust qualities of our citizens and the healthfulness of our climate.

St. Catharines illustrates the beauty of politics in municipal matters. It appears that the city council elected last January is equally divided politically, and, as a consequence, the council was unable to agree upon the personnel of the committees till a day or two ago. The city's interests have had to look out for themselves over half the council year. Sir Charles Tupper's plan is to seize the municipal councils for his party, and through these the seats in the Dominion Parliament. In a word, the interests of the municipalities are to be sacrificed for the benefit of party interests. Mr. Whitney is in the game with Sir Charles, and while he will not do anything in the shape of suggesting a policy to justify his being placed at the head of Provincial affairs in Ontario, he seems to be willing to do anything to get into office.

The "Tory," the new Conservative journal, is quite a new departure in journalism in the interests of that party. It has a new, and rather startling way of speaking the truth. It does not conceal its belief that the worst enemies of that party are within its own ranks. It says—

"Before the present leaders can expect any large degree of support financially or otherwise, from the rank and file of the party in Ontario, they must give some greater evidence than they have shown up to the present time that they possess the energy, the intelligence and the vitality to carry the Province in the face of the powerful influences opposed to them. The deadliest enemies of the Conservative party to-day are not outside its ranks. They are a miserable crew of discredited politicians, who find a place within the party councils by virtue of no superior intelligence, but solely on account of historic associations."

This seems to be a pretty plain call for new leaders and a weeding out of the "mossbacks."

STRIKING TRACKMEN.

Three Brotherhoods Meet Mr McNicoll at Winnipeg.

SECOND DAY OF STEEL STRIKE.

The C. P. R. Trainmen, Engineers and Firemen Say the Brotherhoods Will Not Strike in Sympathy with the Trackmen, but They May Quit Work If the Track Endangers Their Lives.

Winnipeg, July 17.—A committee of trainmen, engineers and firemen met Mr. McNicoll, General Manager of the C. P. R., on Monday, but little can be learned as to the result of the interview. The opinion appears to prevail that the ordinary sectionmen are under paid, while the foremen are not. The men, however, claim that it is not as much a question of money that the company is holding out against as of recognizing the Trackmen's Union as a body, which the men say is their principal demand. The Orders will not strike in sympathy, but they may refuse to work if the track is not properly attended to and they consider their lives in danger.

CHARGE OF INTIMIDATION.

Three Myrtle Men Before Magistrate Harper at Whitby.

Whitby, July 17.—Yesterday Thos. Stephenson, William Miles, sectionmen, and John Bernie, bartender of Myrtle, appeared before P. M. Harper to answer a charge of having intimidated men who took the place of striking C. P. R. trackmen on June 26. The alleged intimidation took place on June 26, but an information was not laid till July 13, and then not by the C. P. R. but by Crown Attorney Farewell, acting on instructions from the C. P. R. The crown was not ready with its witnesses and the case was laid over for a week.

According to the evidence adduced six men were brought to Myrtle by Benjamin Crandell and Foremen Bruce from Port Perry to take the place of the striking trackmen. While they were all in the hotel at Myrtle, the bartender jocularly said that the men would have to be tarred and feathered.

One Tarbus remarked that the men would be or ought to be mobbed. But this man had no information laid against him.

No evidence was offered against Stephenson and he was discharged. The only evidence against Miles was that he had been with Tarbus. Witness Crandell said Miles said nothing.

It was adduced that the C. P. R. paid the men who took the places of the striking trackmen $37.50 a month with board.

The Ontario Situation.

Toronto, July 17.—Contradictory statements are made regarding the attitude of the C. P. R. trackmen on the Owen Sound division. The strikers claim that all the men who returned to work on the division are again out and have reported to headquarters.

Superintendent Timmerman, on the other hand, says there is absolutely no truth in the statement, and the company has no difficulty in that division. He also denies that the men at Toronto Junction went out and made demands for increased pay. No such occurrence had been reported to the company.

Incoming passengers on the Imperial Limited stated yesterday that near Ramsay, about 100 miles west of Sudbury, on Monday morning a broken rail was encountered and four cars jumped the track. They bumped along on the ties a short distance, and then pulled on to the rails again. The train was not delayed, and the broken rail has been replaced.

THE SECOND DAY.

Nothing Really New in Connection With the Steel Trust Strike—Threw 30,000 Miners Out of Work.

Pittsburg, July 17. —The second day of the great steel strike closed with the Amalgamated officers in a satisfied mood and claiming to have made good every promise as to results. The strike officials say nothing has been said to them of any plan for mediation or arbitration, and they will continue to carry out their program as originally considered.

But one tin mill, that at Monessen, and one sheet mill at Duncanville remain at work. The fact that the National Tube Mill men, non-union, have received a substantial increase in wages, has caused discontent among the union men employed by the company who think they are entitled to a similar increase. Meetings were held last night and a demand will be made to-day.

P. F. Smith, District Manager of the American Sheet Steel Company, said the Millsville Rolling Mill will start to-day with non-union workmen. No new men have been brought in, however, and how Mr. Smith expects to start is a matter of conjecture. Wellsville is looked upon as an important point.

President Powell, of the Tin Workers' Protective Association, said last night if the company introduced black plate work by non-union men, the tin workers will be called out.

30,000 Miners Quit.

Wilkesbarre, July 17.—The strike order of President Mullahay of the Stationary Firemen's Association of Pennsylvania was promptly obeyed at 7 o'clock yesterday morning, when 900 members of this section refused to go to work. Their failure to report for duty caused nearly all the collieries in the northern anthracite region to suspend operations, throwing out of work 30,000 men and boys. Some of the individual coal operators conceded the demands on condition that the short hour day was not to hold if the men employed by the big companies did not get the same concessions. The big coal companies, however, refused to make any concessions.

Reports from all the districts show that the strike from Pelston to Shickshining was general and that the coal companies were unable to secure new men. The best they could do was to press foremen and bosses in the service.

HEARTY PRAISE FROM QUEBEC.

A Racine Man Expresses Himself Strongly for Dodd's Kidney Pills.

His Letter is Typical of Hundreds Lately Received From Lower Province—Same Work Being Done all Over the Dominion—Dodd's Kidney Pills Stand Alone in the Conquest of Kidney Disease.

Racine, Que., July 14.—(Special).—It is a very strange thing, but lately all through this province, the people have been talking in a straight, downright way about the medicine, Dodd's Kidney Pills. Never before has a remedy made so many warm, outspoken friends for itself. Whatever part of Quebec one chances to be in, the mentioning of Dodd's Kidney Pills is always enough to bring forth the grateful story of an experience with this most remarkable remedy from one of the listeners.

These experiences include nearly all the fatal, non-contagious diseases. Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Dropsy, Rheumatism, Bladder and Urinary Disorders, Female Trouble, Heart Trouble, Blood Diseases, Nervous Complaints are all emphatically declared to have been entirely cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills. But more than any other complaint, Backache counts oftener.

Emile Couatre, of this town, says they cured him of Backache and other Kidney troubles, and writes a letter for publication in this paper to that effect.

"I am going to say a word concerning Dodd's Kidney Pills," he writes. "I cannot do otherwise than praise this wonderful medicine heartily, for I am now, owing to Dodd's Kidney Pills, in perfect health. For some time I have not felt the slightest pain in the back. My kidneys are working properly. When I go to bed I find rest, whereas before using Dodd's Kidney Pills I got up more fatigued than the night before. I had pain in the back and headache which broke my sleep.

"I have taken only three boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and cannot help but credit them with my cure. I have been free from my trouble since taking Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Granaries Unroofed.

Carberry, Man., July 16.—A serious storm passed over this district at midnight on Saturday, doing considerable damage to buildings and crops. The damage is confined to the Pleasant Point district southeast of the town. Buildings were wrecked and roofs blown off, and the crops, which are heavy, driven into the ground. The Orange Hall was completely demolished, as was the residence of James Williamson. The new house of S. McCurdy, in course of erection, was totally smashed, stables and granaries were unroofed to the number of twenty or more.

Foresters' Annual Trip.

Court Littlejohn, No. 92, Canadian Order of Foresters, have just completed arrangements for its annual excursion on Peterborough's Civic Holiday, on Thursday, August 15th. It is with much regret that the committee have to announce that this excursion will only go as far as Toronto this year, because of the railway and steamboat companies' decision not to make any reduced rates to societies outside of Toronto for excursions to Niagara Falls and Buffalo, on account of the extra business caused by the Pan-American Exhibition. Extra special reduced rates have, however, been secured from the C.P.R. to Toronto from all stations from Tweed to Burkton, the return fare from Peterborough being placed at the low price of $2.05. Tickets good for two days

REV. E. A. LANGFELDT TO COME

His Lordship, the Bishop of Toronto, agrees With the Choice of the Committee.

The Wardens and Lay Representatives of St. Luke's church were in Toronto yesterday in connection with the appointment of a successor to Rev. Dr. Symonds. His Lordship the Bishop of Toronto, agreed to appoint Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, Omemee, the committee's choice, to the vacant pulpit. Mr. Langfeldt will, however, not be able to leave his present charge until September.

ANOTHER STRIKE.

Mr. Geo. Stevens' Men Went Out This Morning—What They Want.

These are certainly days of strikes. Whether or not the intense heat is an inducement for workmen to quit work, it is hard to say, but the strike at Nassau dam is followed by a strike over in Ashburnham. This morning all but two of Mr. George Stevens' men went out with a demand for increased pay, which the Ash King does not see his way clear to give them. The men have been getting $1.25 a day and their dinner, but they claim that they can get $1.75 per day elsewhere. Mr. Stevens says he won't stand in their way, and will fill the vacant places at once with competent men.

CHOIR TOOK AN OUTING.

They Accepted the Hospitality of Mr. J. J. McBain Yesterday.

The George street Methodist church choir had a most delightful outing yesterday, when they accepted of the hospitality of Mr. J. J. McBain to a trip around Stony Lake.

The choir to the number of 40 or more drove from here to Lakefield in Leary's busses, where they took the steamer Alert, which had been placed at the disposal of the party by Mr. McBain. The party had dinner at the pavilion, after which the various points of interest were visited. The proceedings were made interesting by the sweet strains of vocal music and a genuine jolly good time was spent. A hearty vote of thanks was passed to Mr. McBain for his kindness. The choir arrived home, delighted with the outing.

SUCCESSFUL STUDENTS.

In the reports of the results of the Normal College Examinations, the names of two Peterborough young men are prominent on the list. These are Messrs. W. J. Spence, B.A., and son of Mr. John Spence, and Mr. Percy G. Might. They have very successfully passed their first class professional Normal examinations. Mr. Spence carried off honours, being one of the two scholars who succeeded in doing this. He also took special standing in Moderns and History.

In the Normal School examinations amongst the successful candidates for Third Class Professional certificates were Miss Ethel Clarke, Springville; Miss H. L. McLachlan, Norwood; and M. J. Donnell, Smith.

A BABE IN AN OUT-HOUSE.

A Small Infant Found in an Earth Vault This Morning—Its Parentage Traced.

This morning a well-known business man of the town was considerably surprised, when passing an out-house in his yard to hear proceeding therefrom the cries of an infant. A search resulted in the finding of a new born babe in the earth vault beneath, and subsequently the family domestic, a girl about 18 years of age, confessed to being the mother of the child.

Mother and babe were sent to the Nicholls Hospital, and both are reported to be doing well. It is understood that trouble will be made for the father of the child.

TWO BURGLARIES.

That Occurred on Stewart Street South Last Night—Gold Watch Stolen.

The police department was this morning notified of two burglaries that were were committed some time during the night.

The residence of Mrs. Wood, Stewart street, was entered, and any money that was in the house is now missing. There was also stolen from the house a gold watch and chain of considerable value.

At about 3.30 o'clock this morning Mrs. George Minorgan thought she heard someone in the house, but paid no attention to it. This morning, however, it was quite apparent that thieves had entered it. An entrance had been gained through the back door. Being a very warm night only the screen door was being used, and it was latched on the inside. With a knife a hole was cut through the screen sufficient to allow a hand to pass through and unlatch the door. A suit of clothes belonging to Mr. Minorgan, was found outside, and the pockets had been picked.

There is no clue whatever as to who the guilty parties are.

ANOTHER PRESENTATION.

To Rev. Dr. Symonds—He Was Cased—Sons of England Fall Into Line.

Rev. Dr. Symonds is still being made the recipient of addresses and various kinds of presents as evidences of the esteem in which he is held by the various societies and organizations with which he has been connected. On Monday night at a meeting of Lansdowne Lodge, Sons of England, the members took occasion to say farewell to the reverend doctor, who was at one time their chaplain. They did so by presenting him with a beautiful ebony cane, accompanied by a neatly worded address. The address was read by Mr. J. Downing, and the presentation was made by District Deputy R. Wareham.

The presentation and address were suitably acknowledged by the recipient thereof, who expressed the great surprise they had sprung on him. He referred to his pleasant relations with Lansdowne Lodge and thanked them very sincerely for their kindness.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

YOUNG MEN WILL HELP

A Sister Organization, viz., the Young Women's Christian Association—How They Will do it.

The young men, members of the Y. M.C.A., will be given an opportunity of assisting a sister organization, and one worthy of the support of all citizens, namely, the Young Women's Christian Association.

The effort will be made in connection with the furnishing of their new quarters on George street in the interests of which a canvas is now being prosecuted among the business men and citizens generally.

At the regular weekly meeting of the Bible Training Class of the Young Men's Christian Association, held last Thursday evening, it was proposed that the young men of the Association an offer to raise funds among themselves to furnish the gymnasium and to secure a shower bath for the new Y. W. C.A. building. These two very attractive features will cost $150.00, and the Board of the Y. W. C. A. having accepted the proposition, the young men will get to work at once and endeavour to have the gymnasium in running order by the first of October. On Thursday evening a subscription list was started and in a short time $33 of the amount required was promised.

The young men who are leading in the matter are very enthusiastic, and are confident of the support of their associates in the work. The following is the committee:—Chairman, G. H. Williamson; Sanford Hall, treasurer; committee, W. D. Campbell, Rowley Merrill, R. F. McWilliams, Harold Brown, C. Whiten, Horace E. Ayers, (Physical Director), J. Sharpe, Ross Dobbin, A. P. McLean, W. F. Skitch, Dr. A. Scott, Jos. Legg. Subscriptions will be gladly received by any member of the committee or at the Y. M. C. A. office. All subscriptions are payable on or before the first of October.

A JULY WEDDING.

Celebration of the Nuptials of Miss Kate Maguire and Mr. J. J. Meagher.

A very pretty wedding took place yesterday morning at St. Peter's Cathedral, when Miss Kate Maguire of Peterborough, and Mr. John J. Meagher, of Chicago, Ill., formerly of Peterborough, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony by Rev. J. F. O'Sullivan.

The bride was becomingly attired in a travelling suit of gray cloth, with a tucked bodice of white silk, and wore a white hat with chiffon trimming. She was attended by Miss Susie Moloney of Lindsay, in a gown of white organdie trimmed with valenciennes lace, and a white chiffon hat.

The groom was ably supported by his brother, Mr. Will Meagher, of Peterborough.

After the ceremony the wedding party repaired to the residence of Mr. Fred Cooke, brother-in-law of the groom, where a sumptuous repast was partaken of.

The happy couple left on the 11.40 train for Toronto, on their way to Chicago, where they will in future reside. A large number of useful and valuable presents testified to the high esteem in which the bride was held by her many friends.

CEREAL CO. NEWS.

Mr. Langford Signed His Contract This Morning—Other Contracts Let.

A wonderful change has taken place in the vicinity of the old Dickson Company Raceway within the last few days. A number of giant cranes have been erected for the purpose of removing the big foundation stones from the cars and swinging them into place. Already about 80 men are at work on the Bogue and McDiarmid contract.

Mr. William Langford signed his contract this morning for the carpentering, painting and glazing.

The contracts have also been let for the roofing, the structural steel work, the expanded metal and concrete flooring and the plumbing.

MR. HEARD'S NEW WAGON.

A Bridgenorth Wagon Maker Has Something New for the Farmers.

On Saturday last Mr. R. C. Heard, of Bridgenorth, had on exhibition on the market one of the celebrated Dominion Wrought Iron Wheel Co's wagons. It certainly proved to be an attraction and Mr. Heard was kept busy showing farmers and others the excellent qualities of this new wagon. The fact that at once impresses itself is that the wheels are entirely of metal. The points that Mr. Heard lays stress on are that the wheels are stronger and lighter than wooden wheels of the same size and width of tire; are more durable than wooden wheels; they will not cut your fields or roads into ruts; there is no re-setting of tires, no wooden spokes or fellows to rot and give way; wet or dry, hot or cold weather, they are always reliable; they make good roads and save the horses; they make farm work lighter, and they are cheaper than the wooden wheels; there are no boxes in the hubs to become loose or break, and they will wear out any number of skeins; are made to fit any size axle, either wood or iron.

The tires and spokes are made of the best wrought iron, the sand bands and spoke flanges of malleable iron and hubs are of superior cast iron. They are the only iron wheels made that can be taken apart and repaired, all others are useless if either the hub, spoke or tire should break. It is a perfect wheel in every respect. They guarantee them not to break in the coldest weather or on the rockiest road. The wheels are all made with staggered spokes and covered by patent.

Mr. Heard is also agent for the John Abel Engine and Machine Co., and the Chatham Wagons.

A PETERBOROUGH BOY.

In the Toronto Star's portrait gallery a few evenings ago appeared a capital photogravure of Mr. E. R. Wood, son of Mr. John Wood, of Ashburnham, accompanied by the following sketch: "It is a truth learned early by men who are brought into relation with business men, that the ablest of them are the most approachable. Explain it as you will, it is the fact. The ablest men in the business world in Canada are men with genial manners who carry themselves at their offices with no more ostentation than when they were clerks, perhaps in those same offices. Of Mr. E. R. Wood this is as true as of other leading business men. To name the companies of which he is a director looks like a page out of the back of the city directory. He is vice-president and managing director of the Central Canada Loan and Savings Co., one of the most successful loan companies in Canada; vice-president of the National Trust Company; chairman of the Finance Committee of the Manufacturers' and Temperance and General Life; treasurer of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co.; director San Paulo Railway Light and Power Co., of Brazil; director Dominion Copper Co.; secretary Crow's Nest Railway Company. That he should have his hands so full of diverse concerns is at once an evidence and the result of the keen judgment, quick decision of character and industry, which have made him one of the best posted financiers in Canada.

—Ninety-one in the shade was the highest for yesterday; to-day's figures are about the same. The official figures for Ottawa yesterday are given as 98, so that there are warmer places than Peterborough.

—Lindsay Post: Capt. Wm. Fee, who is in command of the steamer City of Peterborough, of the Calcutt Line, came up from Peterborough on Saturday evening to spend Sunday with his wife and family. The vessel was a side wheeler when commanded by Captain Land a few years ago, but during the winter was altered to the propellor type, with twin engines, and the interior was entirely remodelled. The Captain says the trip down the Otonabee River to the Jubilee Point Hotel on Rice Lake, is a revelation of scenic beauty, and he advises some of Lindsay's pleasure seekers to take advantage of the fine train connection and spend a day or two on those waters.

Miss Wilkinson, an American Visitor at Chemong, Had an Exaerience.

There came very nearly being a double drowning at Chemong yesterday morning. Miss Wilkinson, of Rochester, who is staying at the hotel, while in bathing with several other young ladies, got out beyond her depth and was in imminent danger of drowning. Another of the party went to her assistance and also got into deep water. The two, however were saved through the presence of mind of the other two girls who pushed out a raft to them.

RUNNING.

The first heat in the Crowley-Cameron race was run off on the Nicholls oval track last night. The event drew a large crowd to the park and the heat proved to be very exciting. The course was about a third of a mile, and was won by Cameron by about six yards, the time being 1 minute and 13 sec. Mr. R. A. W. Hay was starter and Mr. Bruce Rickey was judge. The contest is for a cup presented by the Baseball Club. The second heat, which will be 100 yards, will be run just before the baseball match this afternoon on the P.A.A.A. grounds. The third heat, one-quarter mile, will be run on Friday night next.

NELL ISSUES A CHALLENGE.

To the Sporting Editor:

Dear Sir, — I have my baseball team in pretty good shape now, and I would like to arrange games with any of the local hotel teams. To make the game interesting I would be willing to let all the other hotels combine and play my team. Would be quite willing to play for fun, money or marbles, so first come first trimmed.

Hoping you will give this space, Mr. Editor, and thanking you in advance, I remain, yours truly,

Nellie Graham,
Manager Oriental Baseball Club.

CRICKET.

Amongst the spectators at the cricket match on Saturday on the Nicholls oval between the Lindsay eleven and the Colts was Mr. W. H. Wrighton, a cricketer of years ago. Mr. Wrighton was not any too well pleased with the way the Colts did and considered that he could get up a team of veterans that could defeat them. The challenge has been accepted, it is understood, by the Colts, and the game will come off on Saturday, the 27th of this month. The first ball will be bowled at 2 p.m. It is understood that the joint committee will furnish hot water for the occasion. Mr. Wrighton says that he will choose his players from the following veterans: J. H. Burnham, W. A. Stratton, H. T. Strickland, — Sanderson, W. H. Wrighton, Dr. G. Burnham, R. B. Rogers, Dr. Young, Myles Hamilton, Sam Ray, Tom Rutherford, W. J. Green, E. Hartley, W. Sailsbury.

A STORY OF STORIES.

Continuity of Titles to Works of Dickens Woven Into a Running Tale.

An inveterate Dickensonian uses the following printed on a card as a book-mark—a continuity of Charles Dickens' works, which in themselves make a connected story:

In "The Haunted House" one evening "Oliver Twist," who had had some very "Hard Times" in "The Battle of Life," having been saved from "The Wreck of the Golden Mary" by "Our Mutual Friend," "Nicholas Nickleby," had just finished relating "A Message from the Sea" with "Two Ghost Stories" and "A Tale of Two Cities" to "Martin Chuzzlewit," during which time "The Cricket on the Hearth" had been chirping right merrily and "Master Humphrey's Clock" and "The Chimes" from the adjacent tower were also heard; "Seven Poor Travelers" and "Two Idle Apprentices," who had been "Hunted Down" from "Mugby Junction" for playing on "Tom Tiddler's Ground," commenced singing "A Christmas Carol" and recounting "The Perils of English Prisoners." "Barnaby Ridge" and "George Silverman," who were just "Going Into Society," then arrived from "The Old Curiosity Shop" with "Some Pictures from Italy," "Sketches by Boz" and "A Child's History of England," to show to "Little Dorrit," who has "All the Year Round" been busy with "Household Words" and "Pickwick Papers." "David Copperfield," who had been making "American Notes," entered and informed the company that the "Great Expectations" of "Dombey and Son" regarding "Mrs. Lirriper's Legacy," had not yet been realized and that he had seen "Boots at the Holly Tree Inn" taking "Somebody's Luggage" to "Mrs. Lirriper's Lodgings," in a street that had "No Thoroughfare," where "The Haunted Man," who had just given one of "Dr. Marigold's Prescriptions" to "An Uncommercial Traveler," was brooding over "The Mystery of Edwin Drood."

The King's Garden.

An inspection of the gardens at Sandringham cannot fail to be of deep interest at any time of the year. For example, says The Gardener's Magazine, so extremely fond of pink China roses is Queen Alexandra, that 10,000 plants of the variety Armosa were planted in the autumn of 1899, and a similar batch the previous year. Roses are evidently favorite flowers here, as huge quantities are grown. One very long border, fully four feet high, the front being arranged and prettily planted with rockery subjects, cannot fail to be of much interest during the flowering season of both subjects. The bulk of the roses on this border are teas and hybrid Chinas, including such charming varieties as Papa Gontier, Laurette Messimy, Princess de Sagan, etc. As many as 10,000 blooms have been gathered from this border in one morning. Another example of the requirements from this garden may be found in that two bushels of spinach is the daily quantity required the year round. Cauliflowers, too (broccoli included, of course), have not had a break in the daily supply for five years. As much as 24 acres of kitchen garden, including eight acres of potatoes, is an absolute necessity to meet the demands of the establishment.

Carlyle and His Cat.

In a letter of Mrs. Carlyle's, written to her maid Jessie, there is an amusing reference to Carlyle and his cat. Says Mrs. Carlyle: "That cat! I wish she were dead! But I can't shorten her days because, you see, my poor, dear, wee dog liked her. Well, there she is! And as long as she attends Mr. C. at his meals (she doesn't care a sheaf of tobacco for him at any other time) so long will Mr. C. continue to give her bits of meat and driblets of milk, to the ruination of carpets and hearth rugs. I have over and over again pointed out to him the stains she has made, but he won't believe them her doings. And the dining room carpet was so old and ugly that it wasn't worth rows with one's husband about. Now however, that nice new cloth must be protected against the cat abuse. So what I wish is that you would shut up the creature when Mr. C. has breakfast, dinner or tea, and if he remarks on her absence say it was my express desire. He has no idea what a selfish, immoral, improper beast she is, nor what mischief she does to the carpets."—London Globe.

Miss Jones Voice Greatly Improved.

The many admirers of Miss Jones' singing have been greatly pleased at the improved clearness and richness of tone so noticeable in her late renderings. Miss Jones attributes this improvement to the recent use of Catarrhozone. It gives clearness and brilliancy of tone, and prevents hoarseness and huskiness. Prominent speakers, ministers, actors, and singers use Catarrhozone for the voice and find it of inestimable value. You breathe the medicatted air from the inhaler into the throat and lungs, where it kills disease, prevents and absolutely cures Bronchitis, Asthma and Catarrh. Catarrhozone never fails; never harms; pleasant to use, and always successful. Sold with a guarantee on every dollar package to cure these diseases or your money back. Small size, 25c. Where Yankees Beat 'Em.

He is from England, and not long from there. He was visiting his friends in Hyde Park and, of course, he was boasting.

"Oh, yes, me boy, the United States does very well for a new nation," he said kindly. "You are great in some respects, but look at us. We have our navy, that beats the world; our army, never licked; our great steamship lines, our bank, Lombard street, the financial center of the world; our loyal colonies, and all the rest. What can equal them?

"And we have age too. Look at our abbeys and our ancient towns and our papers of state. Why, man, in what can you boast of beating us?"

His Hyde Park friend studied a moment. Then he replied:

"Down in Texas there is an old chap who was talked to just this way once by a man from your country who went there for his health. And after all the Englishman's boasting was done the man of the cattle country winked at me, rolled his tobacco over in his mouth and spit 14 feet into the eye of a pig standing that far away.

"'Kin any bloody Englishman on earth do that?' says he. And I ask you, can he?"

The Englishman suggested brandy and soda in disgust.

A Scoop.

"What did your wife do when she found those poker chips in your overcoat pocket?" asked the practical joker.

"She took the matter very coolly. She found out where they came from and sent a messenger boy to get them cashed."

STANDARD TIME.

A Table of the Hour Reckonings of All Nations.

The difficulty of appreciating the difference in time that prevails between different countries is very general, and the following list is printed for the purpose of a ready reference guide by which to calculate the time of any occurrence in another country. All nations except Spain, Portugal and Russia calculate their time from the meridian of Greenwich, accepting as standard some even hour meridian east or west of Greenwich. For instance:

Western European time, or that of the meridian of Greenwich, is legal in England, Belgium, Holland and Luxemburg.

Central European time, or one hour east of Greenwich, is legal in Germany, Austria-Hungary, Bosnia and Herzegovina, the Kongo Free State, Denmark, Italy, Servia, Sweden, Norway and Switzerland.

Eastern European time, or two hours east of Greenwich, is adopted by Bulgaria, Roumania, Natal and Turkey in Europe.

Eight hours east of Greenwich applies to the Philippines.

Nine hours east of Greenwich is adopted by central Australia and Japan.

Ten hours east of Greenwich is official in Victoria, Queensland and Tasmania.

Eleven and a half hours east has been adopted by New Zealand.

The United States, Canada and Mexico have adopted the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth hours west of Greenwich.

The Hawaiian Islands adopt the meridian of 10½ hours west.

In Spain the meridian of Madrid, 14 minutes 45 seconds west of Greenwich, is legal; in Portugal, that of Lisbon, or 36 minutes 39 seconds west, and in Russia, that of St. Petersburg, or 2 hours, 1 minute and 13 seconds east of Greenwich.

THE PIANO AT ITS BEST.

Four Times a Year None Too Often to Have a Piano Tuned.

"There are plenty of people," said a piano tuner, "who let their pianos go one, two, three years without tuning, and in some cases pianos thus neglected may not get very, very woefully off, but a piano should be tuned every three months. That would be none too often to keep it in order.

"As a matter of fact, a piano begins to get out of tune again at once after it has been tuned. How could it be otherwise? Nothing stands still. This difference would at first be so slight as scarcely to be perceptible to any but the practiced and sensitive ear of an expert tuner, but it is there. Doesn't a clock begin to run down as soon as it is wound up? Four times a year a piano ought to be tuned, but only a comparatively small percentage of people give their pianos that attention which is needed to keep them in their most perfect loveliness of tone. Piano makers and dealers of course are looking after the tuning of their pianos in stock scrupulously and carefully all the time. You don't hear pianos out of tune in a piano wareroom. They never let them get out of tune there. They aim, in fact, at keeping them as near perfection as they can.

"We are pretty sure to find in every new piano something pleasing and attractive. Some share at least of this pleasing quality comes from its being in perfect tune. In fact, to keep any piano at its best it must be kept in tune, and to attain the results most satisfactory to all, to the owner and the neighbors alike, a tuning tonic should be administered to every piano not less than four times a year."

A Red Hot Season.

During the hot summer season the blood gets over heated, the drain on the system is severe and the appetite is often lost. Burdock Blood Bitters purifies and invigorates the blood, rouses up the system, and restores lost appetite.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Cover sandwiches that are not to be served at once with a damp napkin and bowl.

To clean a kitchen table rub the greasy stains with lemon juice, and they will speedily disappear.

Whiting mixed with alcohol is excellent for cleaning silver and will give a much more brilliant polish than if water is used.

A small flat paint brush has a value in cleaning the corners of the window sash. Hot, sharp vinegar will clean off paint spatters, and turpentine will remove putty.

The small stiff vegetable brushes that are so convenient in cleaning potatoes, etc., are useful in housecleaning time for scrubbing the moldings and corners of the woodwork.

Loosely twisted knitting silk is better for darning woolen underwear than wool, which is apt to shrink. If the threads of the darn are left loose, after washing it will have about the same appearance as the original texture.

If articles of decidedly strong flavor have been chopped in a wooden bowl, sometimes washing will not be sufficient to entirely remove taste and odor. In that case fill the bowl with warm borax water and let stand half an hour; then rinse in cold water and put in the sun.

The Widow Was Comforted.

"There is no accounting for the construction which some people will put upon certain passages of Scripture," remarked a clergyman. "I remember the story of one clergyman who went to call on a woman whose husband had recently died. He had expected, quite naturally, to find her heartbroken with the burden of her sorrow and was greatly surprised when she greeted him with a very happy smile and ushered him into the parlor.

"'Well—er—sister,' he said at length, 'you have my warmest sympathy.'

"'Thank you, doctor,' replied the widow casually. 'I did feel very badly—very badly indeed. But I came across a verse of Scripture which comforted me very much indeed.'

"'And what was the verse, sister?' inquired the clergyman.

"'I don't remember just where to find it,' replied the widow, 'but it was made up of only four words—four helpful words—"Why need I care?"'

Arms and The Woman

By Harold MacGrath

Copyright, 1900, By Harold MacGrath.

At the palace the chancellor met me in the anteroom. His face was grave almost to gloominess.

"Have you ever seen a king angry?" he asked. "Ah, it is not a pleasant sight, on my word; least of all to the one who has caused a king anger."

"You alarm me," I said. "Have I done aught to bring the anger of the king upon my head?"

"Ah, but you have! The king is like a bear in his den. He walks back and forth, waving his hands, pulling his mustache and muttering dire threats."

"Might I not take to my legs?" I asked. After all, I cared more than I thought I should in regard to what the king might do to me.

The chancellor gave my back a sounding thump and roared with laughter.

"Cheerful, my son; be cheerful! You are a favorite already."

"You bewilder me."

"You have powerful friends, and if the king is angry you need have no fear."

"I should like to know"— I began.

"Ah," interrupted the chancellor, "the audience is ended! It is our turn. The Austrian embassador," he whispered as a gray haired man passed us, bowing. There was an exchange of courtesies, and once more I stood before the king.

"I believe you have kept me waiting," said the king, "as Louis once said." He gazed at me from under knotted eyebrows. "I wish," petulantly, "that you had remained in your own country."

"So do I, your majesty," I replied honestly.

The chancellor shook with laughter, and the king glared at him furiously.

"What is your name?" asked the king in a milder tone. He was holding a missive in his hand.

"John Winthrop." I answered. I was wondering what it was all about.

"Were you born in America?"

"Yes, your majesty."

"Is your family an honored one in your country?"

"It is," I answered proudly.

"Then why in heaven's name do you scribble?" cried the king.

"In my country one may have an honored name and still be compelled to earn a competence."

"Ah, yes! After all, scribbling is better than owning a shop." This is the usual argument of kings. "Can you trace your pedigree very far back?" the king proceeded.

"My ancestors came over in the Mayflower," said I.

"The Mayflower?" said the king, puzzled.

"All the Americans," explained the chancellor, "went over in the Mayflower. The ark and the Mayflower were the largest ships ever put to sea, your majesty." To hide his smile the chancellor passed over to the window and began drawing pictures on the frosted panes.

Continued the king: "If you loved one of my countrywomen, would you be willing to sacrifice your own country? I mean would you be willing to adopt mine, to become a naturalised citizen, to uphold its laws, to obey the will of its sovereign and to take up arms in its defense?"

My knees began to knock together. "I should be willing," I answered, "if I should never be called upon to bear arms against the country in which I was born."

"I should never ask you to do that," replied the king.

"Yes, your majesty."

"Then marry the Princess Elizabeth," he said, tossing the missive to me.

"Yes, marry her," said the irrepressible chancellor, "and some day the king will put a medal on your breast and make you a baron of the realm. Your majesty, come and help me with this last pane."

The Princess Elizabeth? I glanced at the writing on the envelope. It was Gretchen's. "And, your majesty," I read, "it is true that they love each other. Permit them to be happy. I ask your forgiveness for all the trouble I have caused you. I promise that from now on I shall be the most obedient subject in all your kingdom. Hildegarde." I dropped the letter on the table.

"Your majesty," I began nervously, "there is some mistake. I do not love her highness the Princess Elizabeth."

The king and his chancellor whirled around. The decorations on the panes remained unfinished. The king regarded me with true anger and the chancellor with dismay.

"I love the Princess Hildegarde," I went on in a hollow voice.

"Is this a jest?" demanded the king.

"No; on my honor." For once I forgot court etiquette and left off "your majesty."

"Let me see the letter," said the chancellor, with a pacific purpose. "There is some misunderstanding here." He read the letter and replaced it on the table and went back to his window.

"Perhaps, your majesty," said I, "it is possible that her highness—the likeness betweeen her and her sister—perhaps, knowing that I have known her highness Phyllis—that is, the Princess Elizabeth—she may believe that I"— It was very embarrassing.

"Continue," said the king, "and please make your sentences intelligible."

"What I meant to say was that her highness the Princess Hildegarde believes that I love her sister instead of herself—I thought—she has written otherwise"— And then I foundered again.

"Prince," said the king, laughing in spite of his efforts to appear angry, "for pity's sake tell me what this man is talking about."

"A woman," said the chancellor. "Perhaps her highness the Princess Hildegarde—that is, I believe—she may love this man—perhaps, thinking he loves the other"— He was mocking me, and my face burned.

"Prince, do not confuse the man. He is bad enough as it is." The king smoothed away the remnant of the smile.

"Your majesty is right," said I desperately. "I am confused. I know not what to say."

"What would you do in my place?" asked the king of the chancellor.

"I should say in an ominous voice, 'Young man, you may go, but if you ever enter our presence again without either one or the other of the Hohenphallian princesses as your wife we shall confiscate your property and put you in a dungeon for the remainder of your natural days.' I put in the confiscation clause as a matter of form. Have you any property?"

"What I have," I answered, my confidence returning, "I can put in my pockets."

"Good," said the king. "What the chancellor says is but just. See to it that his directions are followed."

"Now, my king," concluded the chancellor, "put a medal on him and let him go."

"In time," replied the king. "You may go, Herr Winthrop."

"Go and scribble no more," added the chancellor.

I could hear them laughing as I made my escape from the room. It could not be expected of me to join them. And Gretchen was as far away as ever. Phyllis love me? It was absurd. Gretchen had played me the fool. She had been laughing at me all the time. Yet she had begged my life of the prince and on her knees. Or was it a lie of his? Oh, it seemed to me that my brain would never become clear again.

In the afternoon at 4 I was ushered into the boudoir of her highness the Princess Elizabeth. It was Phyllis no longer. Phyllis had passed, and I became conscious of a vague regret.

"I am glad," she said, "that you were able to come. I wanted to speak to you about—about my sister."

"Your highness"—

She laughed. "Our interview shall end at once if you call me by that title. Sir," with a gayety which struck me as unnatural, "you are witnessing the passing of Phyllis. It will not be long before she shall pass away and never more return, and the name shall fade till it becomes naught but a dear memory. Phyllis has left the green pastures for the city, and Corydon followeth not."

"Phyllis," said I, "you are cutting me to the heart."

"But to the matter at hand," she said quickly. "There is a misunderstanding between you and my sister Hildegarde. She sent me this letter. Read it."

It differed but little from the one I had read in the king's chamber that morning. I gave it back to her.

"Do you understand?"

"I confess that I do not. It seems that I am never going to understand anything again."

Phyllis balanced the letter on the palm of her hand. "You are so very blind, my dear friend. Did you not tell her that there had been another affair? Do you not believe she thinks your regard for her merely a matter of pique, of consolation? It was very kind of her to sacrifice herself for me. Some women are willing to give up all to see the man they love made happy. My sister is one of those. But I shall refuse the gift. Jack, can you not see that the poor woman thinks that you love me?" Phyllis was looking at me with the greatest possible kindness.

"I know not what she thinks. I only know that she has written me that she is sorry for having played with my affections. Phyllis, if she loved me she would not leave me as she has done."

"Oh, these doubting Thomases!" exclaimed Phyllis. "How do you know that she does not love you? Have you one true proof that she does not? No, but you have a hundred that she does."

"But"—

"Do you love her?" demanded Phyllis, stamping her foot with impatience.

"Love her? Have I not told you that I do?" gloomily.

"And will you give her up because she writes you a letter? What has ink to do with love and a woman? If you do not set out at once to find her, I shall never forgive you. She is my sister, and by that I know that you cannot win her by sitting still. Go find her and tell her that you will never leave her till she is your wife. I do not mean to infer," with a smile, "that you will leave her after. Go to her as a master. That is the way a woman loves to be wooed. Marry her and be happy, and I shall come and say, 'Heaven bless you, my children.' I have accepted the renunciation of her claims so that she may be free to wed you. If you do not find her, I will. Since I have her promise to teach me the lesson of being a princess she cannot have gone far. And when you are married you will promise to visit me often? I shall be very lonely now. I shall be far away from my friends. I shall be in a prison, and men call it a palace."

"I will promise you anything you may ask," I said eagerly. A new hope and a new confidence had risen in my heart. I wonder where man got the idea that he is lord of creation when he depends so much upon woman? "And you will really be my sister, too?" taking her hands and kissing them. "And you will think of me a little, will you not?"

"Yes." She slowly withdrew her hands. "If you do not find her, write to me."

"Your highness, it is my hope that some day you will meet a prince who will be worthy of you, who will respect and honor you as I do."

"Who can say? You have promised the king to become a subject of Hohenphallia."

"Yes."

"Then you will be a subject of mine. It is my will—I am in a sovereign mood—that you at once proceed to find Hildegarde, and I will give her to you."

"Auf wiedersehen!"

"Goodby!"

My ear detected the barest falter in her voice, and something glistened on her eyelashes. Ah, why could not the veil have remained before my eyes and let me gone in darkness? Suddenly I was looking across the chasm of years. There was a young girl in white, a table upon which stood a pitcher. It was a garden scene, and the air was rich with perfumes. The girl's hair and eyes were brown, and there were promises of great beauty. Then, as swiftly as it came, the vision vanished.

On reaching the street I was aware that my sight had grown dim and that things at a distance were blurred. Perhaps it was the cold air.

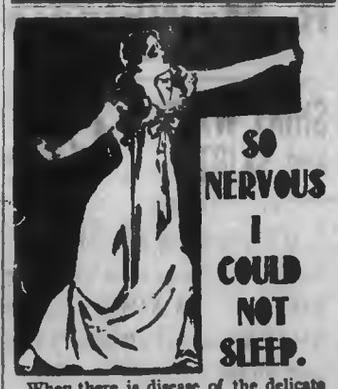
"There was a condition. It was that she get down on her knees to sue."



When there is disease of the delicate female organism, it is only a question of time until the general health becomes undermined. Nervousness, sleeplessness, loss of appetite and "sinking spells" produce suffering almost indescribable. There can be no restoration of the general health until the local health of the womanly organism is re-established.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription establishes regularity, dries offensive drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It encourages the appetite, tranquilizes the nerves and induces refreshing sleep.

"You would be surprised if you could have seen me when I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's medicine and could see me now," writes Mrs. Isaac S. Harris, of Gayville, Yankton Co., So. Dakota. "I had no appetite, was completely run down. Have had stomach trouble for years and was so nervous I could not sleep. We have spent a lot of money doctoring, but there was not one thing that I took that did me any good, except for a short time; till I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery.' In three days after I commenced taking his medicines I could see a change for the better, and from that time I have steadily been getting better. Can walk or ride to any place I want to, and I feel like a new person. Since taking Dr. Pierce's medicines I can sleep all night and never get up tired in the morning; can eat anything and it don't hurt me."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure biliousness and sick headache.

Facts about your Liver

The liver is a large gland, the largest in the body. Its work is to secrete bile and also to destroy certain poisonous compounds in the blood as the blood passes through it. It stores the bile thus obtained in the gall bladder from where it is conducted by two ducts, one leading into the stomach and the other into the intestines. The bile thus made is the most important factor in the process of digestion, for without a certain definite proportion of it none of the solvents or digestive fluids are sufficiently active enough to do their work. The liver occasionally dries up, so to speak, and no bile is secreted. This soon becomes apparent by a feeling of torpor or laziness, yawning and a yellow appearance to the skin, and in bad cases a pain in the side. The liver being a gland requires an alterative medicine, as alteratives are medicines which promote glandular secretion. In Merrill's System Tonic is found a combination of the best mineral and vegetable alteratives known and when you take it the liver is quickly restored to its proper condition. Then, too, System Tonic purifies the blood of all accumulated poison and acts on the bowels, unloading the foul matter that has accumulated through lack of bile. The use of half a dozen bottles will give to those persons known as sallow complexioned, a clean, rosy skin.

VICTORIA CO. CHEESE BOARD

1,521 Boxes Boarded Monday Morning.

876 Boxes Sold at 9 5-16c—Mr. Flavelle Took the Balance at 9 1-4c.

The third meeting of Victoria County Cheese Board for the season was held on Monday, when 1521 boxes comprising the last half of June make were offered for sale. The buyers present were Messrs. Whitton, Bailey, Flavelle and Fitzgerald.

The Board was due to meet at 10 o'clock sharp, but it was edging on to 11 when business was taken up, owing to the absence of buyer Flavelle and several of the salesmen, who arrived on the Manita from Fenelon Falls. During the interval of waiting a resolution was moved and carried that hereafter the Board shall commence business at ten o'clock sharp.

Mr. Braden, of Bobcaygeon factory, reported that Mr. John Lowery, the new inspector, had paid that factory a visit, and had impressed the patrons and maker very favourably.

Secretary Shyne remarked that the Inspector was now in this district and would visit all the factories as speedily as possible.

Buyer Whitton remarked that the Board appeared to be losing ground instead of gaining. Three or four factories had dropped off last year and a few others seemed to be considering the same step.

Mr. Taylor Parkin, salesman for Cameron factory, one of those not boarded, later on reconsidered his decision.

Star...	94
Cameron...	92
Dunsford...	132
Mariposa...	110
Janetville...	70
Omemee...	136
Fenelon Falls...	105
North Verulam...	109
North Ops...	83
Pine Grove...	55
Reaboro...	115
Bobcaygeon	160
Maple Leaf	100
Palestine	45
Red Rock	145
	1521

Mr. Bailey set the ball rolling by offering 9c.; Mr. Fitzgerald raised a sixteenth and Mr. Whitton followed suit by calling 9 1-8c.; Mr. Flavelle raised to 9 1-4c., and Mr. Bailey called 9 5-16c. This was not bettered, and he called Janetville, Pine Grove and Omemee, 351 boxes, and when reminded that a first selection must comprise at least 300 boxes, he called Reaboro, which also accepted, making 376 obxes. Mr. Bailey then offered 9 1-4c. for a further selection, when President Robertson remarked, "Mr. Flavelle is ahead of you on that bid."

Mr. Bailey — "Well, I'm going by Peterborough rules; if your rules are different, and you will furnish me with a copy, I'll know what I'm doing."

Mr. Whitton—"Let one of the bidders raise a sixteenth and settle it."

Mr. Fitzgerald—"Mr. Bailey is goign by the Peterborough rule all right. A buyer may bid over his limit when he wants cheese in order to get a further selection at his fixed rate. Of course there's more cheese offered on the Peterborough Board and that may make a difference."

Mr. Flavelle — "I know that's the rule on the Peterborough Board, and, it struck me when there last week that it was a trifle unjust."

President Robertson decided that according to the Lindsay rules Mr. Flavelle, having been the first to offer 9 1-4c., was entitled to the second selection, and he took advantage of it by clearing the board at that figure, taking 1145 boxes.

The Board then adjourned.

Manitoba's Enormous Crops.

Ottawa, July 17. — G. H. Bradbury of Selkirk, who has been commissioned by the Manitoba Legislature to secure 20,000 men to go west, and assist in gathering the harvest, arrived here yesterday and will visit Toronto and other centres. Mr. Bradbury said the province had two million acres of wheat, and the estimated yield will be forty to fifty million bushels. There are half a million acres of barley, which will yield twenty million bushels and half a million acres of oats, which will yield 35 bushels to the acre, instead of the average yield of 70 to 75 bushels. This enormous yield will tax the resources of the C.P.R. to get it out.

Alex. Gibson Again.

Fredericton, July 17. — Alex. Gibson, jr., who redeemed York County last November and was subsequently defeated, was renominated yesterday by the Liberal convention.

One Killed, six injured.

Kansas City, Mo., July 15. — South-bound passenger train No. 1, on the Kansas City Northern connecting railway, due here at 5.40, collided with an extra Rock Island meat train at the Rock Island crossing, one mile north of Weatherby, Mo., at 3.15 Saturday afternoon, killing one man and injuring six others.

Two Actresses Suicide.

London, July 17.—Ida and Edith Yeoland, actresses 26 and 21 years old, respectively, committed suicide together by taking poison in their homes in London yesterday. Both of the women had recently been without engagements, and were bitterly disappointed at failing to secure an expected engagement to play in New York.

Killed by the Heat.

Brockville, July 17. — William Hawkins, who for over 20 years was employed by George Hutcheson, dry-goods merchant, was prostrated by the intense heat Saturday and died yesterday. He was 62 years of age. The thermometer registered 90 in the shade here yesterday.

Tolstoi Again Expelled.

Moscow, July 17.—Count Tolstoi has been formally expelled from the honorary membership of the first Moscow Temperance Society on the ground of his anti-orthodox principles.

SPRINKLING WAGONS.

The Modern Ones a Big Improvement on the Old Style.

The modern sprinkling wagon is very different from the old timer. The chief improvement is in the spray head, which enables the driver to control the flow of water much better than the old style. Thus, whether it is a dirt or a macadam road or a stone paved or asphalted street, there can be supplied from the modern street sprinkler just the amount of water required to lay the dust in it without waste.

The spray head on each side has its own valve rod running to the driver's seat, with a step there for the foot. The driver can operate both heads at once, or he can run only one head. He can shut off one or open either one at pleasure. With this sort of wagon the expert driver leaves behind him dry crosswalks with perfectly defined limits, and when he comes to a carriage or a street car upon which he doesn't want to throw water he shuts off the flow on that side and keeps the other going. Sprinkling wagons are made in various sizes, ranging from 150 gallons to 1,000 gallons capacity. There are 20 sprinkling wagons sold in this country nowadays where there were was one sold only a few years ago. This great increase in their use is due in large measure to sanitary reasons, to the great extension of good roads and to the common desire for comfort.

Sprinkling wagons are used nowadays commonly in many smaller towns and villages where they were never thought of some years ago. And American sprinkling wagons are now found all over the world wherever sprinkling wagons are used.

They are exported to Australia, Cuba, Porto Rico, South America, South Africa and Europe. The modern sprinkling wagon that the traveler chances to see in Paris or Berlin or Hamburg came very likely from the same factory as the one he saw here before he left home going through his own home street.

Making the Choir Sing.

Many conscientious ministers have had trouble with wayward choirs, but not all have had Dr. Samuel West's witty address or management. There had been difficulty with the singers, and they had given out that they should not sing on the next Sunday. This was told to Dr. West. "Well, well, we will see," he said and on Sunday morning gave out his hymn. After reading it he said very emphatically, "You will begin with the second verse:

"Let those refuse to sing
Who never knew our God."

The hymn was sung.

LIBERAL DIVISIONS.

Lord Rosebery's Manifesto Says They Are Permanent.

FICTION OF RADICAL UNITY.

He Declares the Reform Club Compact a Hollow Sham—Liberal Attitude on the War An Impossible Attitude—Pro-Boer Press Disputes Lord Rosebery's Right to Lecture Liberal Party.

London, July 17.—Lord Rosebery has issued a striking manifesto, in which he bids farewell to the political arena. It puts an end to the pleasing fiction of Radical unity.

He declares the Reform Club compact a hollow sham, that the divisions among Liberals are not transient or accidental but permanent and fundamental, that their attitude on the war—neutrality and an open mind—is an impossible attitude, and spells impotence, and that, in one word, Liberalism is extinct as a political force, and will remain so till one of its opposing groups has gained a decisive and complete victory over the other. The pro-Boer press disputes Lord Rosebery's right to lecture the Liberal party on its principles or its policy. Anyone, it says, can carry on the business of a wrecker; the business of construction, though hum-drum, is far more important, and Lord Rosebery would have done better to help the cause of reunion than stand outside the vineyard and throw stones.

Indicative of Discontent.

London, July 17.—The Government was defeated in the House of Lords yesterday afternoon. Although quite unimportant in itself, the defeat was indicative of the growing discontent. The incident arose from the question whether a model of the new War Office should be made and exhibited. Lord Lansdowne, the Foreign Secretary, refused to entertain this proposition, but on division the motion was carried by 41 votes against 20.

CHINA'S COAST TRADE.

Anglo-German Control Assured—New Hamburg-American Liner.

London, July 17. — Anglo-German control of the coast trade of China, as well as the shipping along the Pacific from Tien Tsin to the sea, was secured in London yesterday as a result of negotiations between an English shipping syndicate and Alfred Ballin, director-general of the Hamburg-American Steamship Company. Only the formalities of the arrangements remain to be concluded.

The next important business to be transacted by the German shipping magnate is the signing of a contract with Messrs. Harland & Wolff, the great Belfast shipbuilding firm, for the construction of a 21,000-ton liner for the Hamburg-American Company's service. The new vessel will be larger than the Deutschland, but considerably slower in speed, only sixteen knots being called for.

Messrs. Harland & Wolff's recent purchase of 30,000 tons of American ship plates from the Carnegie Steel Company is said to have been an anticipation of the order for this latest German leviathan.

French Minister Shot at.

Paris, July 17.—M. Baudin, Minister of Public Works, was shot at while driving to a Cabinet meeting yesterday morning.

The author of the shooting was Mme. Obzewsky, who lives at Nanterre, and whose husband is a Pole. She asserts that she did not intend to kill the Minister, but to draw attention to an alleged grievance of her husband, who holds a Government receivership near Paris.

The woman exclaimed that she thought M. Baudin was M. Delcasse, Minister of Foreign Affairs. She had practised shooting in a gallery last Sunday. She further asserted that she had been arrested at Nice in January, 1900, for libelling and threatening M. Delcasse, but was subsequently released.

Revolt in China.

Pekin, July 16. — A messenger from General Chang, commander of Viceroy Yuan-Shi-kai' soldiers, arrived here to-day with despatches for Li Hung Chang. He says that the Poyeh rebels are largely composed of deserters from General Mei's army. The rebellion of these soldiers is among the first evidences of approaching revolt of the Chinese against the Manchu dynasty. The inscription on their banners is "Obliterate the Manchus; Reinstate the Chinese."

Stabbed in the Neck.

Oran, Algeria, July 17. — While Max Regis, the anti-Semite Mayor of Algiers, was going to the Casino last night, he was stabbed in the neck. His assailant was arrested. Rioting followed, and thirty persons were taken into custody, among them Louis Regis.

TRACKMEN'S STRIKE.

Company Claim to Have Overcome Their Troubles.

HERON BAY SHOOTING MATCH.

Mr. McNicoll Denies a Winnipeg Canard—Engineers and Firemen Officially Deny That They Will Go on Strike Out of Sympathy with the Trackmen—Third Day's Progress of Steel Strike.

Montreal, July 18.—The C. P. R. declare that everything is running smoothly, and say they hardly know there is a strike, while Mr. J. T. Wilson, the trackmen's President, declares emphatically that there is no intention of calling off the strike.

DENIES A CANARD.

Mr. McNicoll on the Rumors of a Sympathetic Strike.

Winnipeg, July 18.—In an interview yesterday morning, regarding statements made to the effect that engineers and firemen were here in connection with the trackmen's strike, and endeavoring to enforce a settlement, Mr. McNicoll, general manager of the C. P. R., said: "The statement circulated in Winnipeg papers to the effect that a committee of engineers and firemen were here in connection with the striking trackmen, and that they would go out on Saturday if the trackmen's conditions were not accepted by the company, has been contradicted by the chairman of the Committee of Engineers and Firemen, over his signature, as follows:

"The statement appearing in this morning's 'Telegram,' stating that a deputation of engineers and firemen were at present in Winnipeg with the object of interviewing Mr. McNicoll, the vice-president, in regard to the strike, is without any foundation, and totally untrue. The Committee of Engineers and Firemen now here is the same committee that met here in April last, and adjourned until now. The committee here are not here for the purpose of meeting or discussing any matter between the company and their employes with Mr. McNicoll, and have not asked for any meeting with him. (Signed) Geo. S. McKenzie, Chairman of Joint Schedule Committee of Brotherhood of Engineers and Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen."

Bridge Burned at Mattawa.

Toronto, July 18. — From Farnham to Montreal none of the trackmen have returned, and from Toronto to Montreal the men are all out. The Toronto strikers have all got employment elsewhere.

A. B. Lowe, vice-president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trackmen, was in the city last night. While here he received a letter from President Wilson to the effect that the situation was most encouraging, and the prospects of winning never brighter. Mr. Wilson also stated that the bridge at Mattawa, Ont., has been burned, thus demoralizing the railway from Winnipeg.

General Superintendent Timmerman reasserts that the strikers are returning at various points, and the places of those still out are being gradually filled. He denies the statements of the trackmen as to the success of the Orangeville meeting.

Enlarged Till Wednesday.

Port Arthur, Ont., July 18.—The trial of C. P. R. Detective Servois for shooting and wounding an Italian has been enlarged until Wednesday. The evidence given was to the effect that the detective fired the shot as the Italians were about to leave a car against his orders.

THE STEEL STRIKE.

No Settlement Yet as Rumored—Principal Events of a Day.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 18.—"We have not heard from the other side at any time in any way, or any subject since we parted at the Lincoln Hotel last Saturday."

This is the positive statement made by President Shaffer of the Amalgamated Association yesterday afternoon, and disposes of umors from New York yesterday that the strike had been settled.

A letter received by Mr. Shaffer from Mr. Bishop, asking if he would consent to a re-opening of the conference, has not been answered as yet.

The principal events in the day's strike history were the failure of the sheet steel people to re-open the Wellsville plant with non-union men; the offer of financial assistance made to the Amalgamated Association by the two million members of the American Federation of Labor and by the American Window Glass Workers' Association; the concerted action of the association to organize the immense steel plant at Vandergroft, and the fact that several of the closed plants are being patrolled by armed watchmen and guards.

Coal Regions Tied Up.

Wilkesbarre, July 18. — The close of the second day of the stationary firemen's strike finds fully 83,000 idle in the Wyoming district of the anthracite coal region, which extends from Duryea to Nanticoke. The total number of men idle now in the whole anthracite coal region is estimated at 65,000. The tie-up in this region is complete.

Ottawa Strike Over.

Ottawa, July 18.—The carpenters' strike, which commenced on June 5, is virtually over, as the men are going back at the masters' terms of 22½ cents an hour, instead of the 25 cents demanded by the men. The men struck for 25 cents an hour, a nine-hour day and union labor. The masters offered to give 22½ cents, and union men the preference, other things being equal, but when these terms were accepted the union men refused to sign any agreement.

QUEER STATE OF THINGS.

Belmont Villagers Attempt to Fire the Residence of Squire Nugent.

St. Thomas, July 18.—The usually quiet village of Belmont has been thrown into a state of excitement recently by the attempts of some overheated individuals to destroy the property of Squire Nugent, the outrages culminating in setting up an effigy of the squire and attempting to fire his residence.

These outrages were elicited by some Police Court cases that came up in the village last week. Two unsuccessful attempts to hold the trials in the village were made. In one case the court was interrupted by unruly proceedings, which the county constables were unable to put a stop to, and, in the other, the Magistrate was met with a refusal to permit him to hold court in a public house.

The cases were adjourned to London on Saturday afternoon, and while the squire was away, the outrages were perpetrated. In the evening, a number of persons went to Mr. Nugent's residence and broke in, carrying outside trunks, beds and several articles of clothing. With his clothing, they constructed an effigy, and left the house. The articles left in front of the house were replaced by the neighbors on Sunday morning.

Between 1 and 2 o'clock, Monday morning, Mrs. McKellar, a neighbor, who was watching the house in case of further damage, saw a light in the house. She summoned her husband, and the villagers were notified, when it was discovered that an attempt to fire the house had been made. The fire was extinguished with much difficulty.

Squire Nugent was notified of the occurrences and returned home at once. He will thoroughly investigate the matter, and will prosecute the perpetrators.

Charged With Arson.

Dan Smith of Belmont was arrested yesterday by County Constable Hopkins on a warrant issued by J. McCausland on the information of W. T. Nugent, J. P., of Belmont, charging that Smith was the person who attempted to set fire to Nugent's house in Belmont on Sunday at 1 p. m. Smith says he is innocent. Squire McCausland remanded the accused until Saturday morning for trial.

The Artillery Standing.

Kingston, July 18. — Col. Drury, C. B., commanding the late artillery division camp at Deseronto has issued the official results of the competition among the Canadian batteries. He gives the number of rounds used, marks for hits, fire discipline marks and the total marks. These are: 1st Quebec Field Battery, C. A., 214½ marks; A Battery, Kingston, 206; 3rd Montreal, 205½; 2nd, Ottawa, 177; 8th, Gananoque, 169; 16th, Guelph, 168; 11th, Guelph, and 5th, Kingston, 162; 12th, Newcastle, 151; 7th, Welland, 148; 13th, Winnipeg, 143½; 4th, Hamilton, 132; 10th, Woodstock, 120; 14th, Durham, 104; 9th, Toronto, 96.

Declines $6,000 a Year.

Kingston, Ont., July 18. — Prof. C. DeKalb, professor of mining in the Kingston School of Mines, has resigned. He also gives up the post of Inspector of Mines for the Ontario Government. He will open an office in Boston as an expert, having declined positions in three colleges at $6,000 a year.

Trade With Natal.

Ottawa, July 18.—James Cummings, Trade Commissioner at Durban, Natal, writes, stating that he finds a general demand for goods that Canada could supply at a profit better than the present arrangement with other countries. He advocates the establishment of Montreal and Quebec agencies in Natal.

Four Ton Chain Kills.

Cleveland, Ohio, July 18. — A chain weighing four tons fell on six men in the Westinghouse Electric Company's works yesterday afternoon. One man, B. Germann, died shortly afterwards, and the others were badly injured.

Remnants!

Their Use, and the Little Prices Asked for Them.

Boys' White and Blue and White Galatea Sailors, worth 25c
For 15c.

The centre aisle of Peterborough's Strictly Cash Dry Goods House presents a fascinating appearance to the thrifty housewife—and little wonder, for on the big broad tables are hundreds—yes, hundreds of useful materials in useful lengths, for a mere song. True, the littleness of price makes one wonder if they are good, but the trade mark at the bottom of this advertisement safeguards that, and it is only another instance where cheapness at this store doesn't mean cheap goods, but reliable Goods cheap.

It will pay you to remember that this is one of the two weeks in the year set aside for the "riddance" of all Remnants. The number of Remnants is greater this half year owing to greater business, and this greater business has given us an incentive to mark these Remnants cheap—in appreciation of the increased business.

Come to-morrow. Remnants always have a choice, even though the one you require might be left till the last.

THURSDAY, JULY 18, 1901.

A GOOD RECORD.

Those opponents who charge the Ontario Government with extravagant expenditures should remember the facts. The pet charge is that the province is overloaded with officials, and as officials cost money, and must be paid, one would think that if this charge were true, the expenditure per head would be very high. Yet in spite of the fact that Ontario spends more in public services which directly relieve the people from direct taxation, and give them greater benefits than any other province, her rate of expenditure is lower per head than that of any of the provinces of Confederation. A contemporary has compiled an interesting table of comparative per capita expenditure of the several provinces of the Dominion. These are the figures:

	Amount per head.
Ontario	$1.74
Quebec	2.74
Nova Scotia	2.04
New Brunswick	2.47
Manitoba	4.58
British Columbia	9.88
Prince Edward Island	2.82

The average expenditure per head of all the provinces is $3.18, so that Ontario's expenditure per head is about half of the average. If Ontario were badly and extravagantly governed would this condition exist? Ontario is not only the best and most economically governed province of the Dominion — gets the best public service for the least money per head, but is the only province of the provincial group that has no public debt. And besides, Ontario is the only province with a surplus of assets — in our case $2,580,000 — over and above every liability that the province is responsible for for twenty years to come, and if we exclude our railway liabilities of $3,135,000, payable out of current revenue, our surplus of assets would amount to $5,700,000. A better governed, better financed, and more prosperous province, cannot be found in any country in the world.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

General Chaffee of the United States army thinks that Yankee soldiers do not dress well enough. That is a minor matter. Who ever heard of the gold-lace frogs on a soldier's tunic killing an enemy?

There's quite a gnashing of teeth amongst dentists over the fact that some dentists are so lost to shame as to advertise. No good dentist should worry. His good work will be in the mouths of all his customers.

Bishop Sheepshanks, of Norwich, England, denounces the short sermon craving. He wants the long, solid discourse, and would cut down the musical service. But, remarks the Hamilton Times, a merciful pastor should regard his flock in July weather. Give them the milk of the Word, but condense it.

King Edward VII does not intend to rule by proxy. He reigned by proxy fifty years, and he must be tired of it. He went to his stables the other morning at 7 o'clock, and he found his whole stable staff sleeping. They should have been at work an hour earlier. They won't do it again. This illustrates the old proverb, "If you want anything done, do it; if you don't, send."

According to the reports, there are 125,000 men out of employment in the United States through two two strikes — the steel strike, and the strike at the Wyoming coal mines. When concerns like these turn out big dividends, it is natural that labour, which does the biggest share in producing these dividends should object to being content with starvation wages.

American papers which poke fun at Great Britain about the prolongation of the Boer war, should remember the Philippines. After vainly trying to conquer a few thousand half-naked, half-armed Philippinos, they had to give up the job and hire the leader of the Filippinos to "lie down." A hundred thousand dollars in Aguinaldo's pocket, did wahat a well placed ounce of lead in his head would have done.

An advertisement states that a man 119 years old keeps in the race of life by taking a spoonful of "Guffy's Pure Malt Whiskey" in every glass of water he drinks. This is poor reasoning. Men are known to take ten times as much malt whiskey in every drink they take — and often, too — and still they do not live out half their days. Apropos of this hot weather, there's no thirst quencher like pure, cold water.

DUKE OF CONNAUGHT INSTALLED.

Representative of Canada Receives Special Honors in Ceremony.

London, July 18.—In the Royal Albert Hall yesterday His Royal Highness, the Duke of Connaught was installed as Grand Master of the Masonic Lodge of England in the presence of a great throng of brethren. It was the fifth ceremony of the kind that has taken place in England since the beginning of last century. The office of Grand Master has been held by the Prince of Wales from 1874 until he ascended the throne, when his brother, the Duke of Connaught, was chosen.

The Grand Lodge of Canada, in session at Hamilton, sent greetings, which were received with unbounded enthusiasm.

R. W. Bro. G. J. Bennett, representative from the Grand Lodge of Canada, was presented to the assemblage. He was given a distinctive seat on the dais with the distinguished representatives and was also honored with a special line in the program of proceedings, and was placed with Ireland and Scotland in the royal procession. Every mention of Canada by the speakers brought forth repeated cheers and the premier colony of the Empire occupied a foremost place in the ceremony.

Grand Lodge A. F. & A. M.

Hamilton, July 18. — The forty-sixth annual communication of the Grand Lodge of the Ancient, Free and Accepted Masons of Canada, in the Province of Ontario, opened yesterday. Seven hundred representatives registered and received their credentials. The Grand Lodge opened yesterday afternoon, with the grand officers and delegates present in full force. At 2 o'clock, before the opening of the Grand Lodge, Mayor Hendrie, accompanied by several aldermen, delivered an address of welcome to the Grand Lodge. The Grand Lodge was then opened. When some minor business had been disposed of the Grand Master presented the annual address. Most of the afternoon session was devoted to receiving reports of committees. The condition of Masonry report was highly gratifying, showing that the jurisdiction had thrived greatly during the year.

A Double Elopement.

St. Thomas, July 18.—This city is talking of a double elopement, the parties to which left on Sunday. Ham Herenden, porter at the Columbia Hotel, has left the city with the wife of James Foote, a street railway conductor, and Gus Alexander, a Wabash brakeman, eloped with Miss Shreck, daughter of S. Shreck, jeweler. The ladies were friends and were invariably together. It is thought the runaways went to Buffalo.

Body Recovered.

Winnipeg, July 18.—F. Sutherland, son of Deputy Sheriff Sutherland, Toronto, who was drowned in Dog Pond June 25, was recovered about four miles from where he was drowned, near Didsbury, N. W. T.

A NEW CANAL TREATY

Lord Pauncefote Is Drafting a Nicaragua One.

WILL PLEASE BOTH PARTIES.

The British Ambassador at Washington Will Foster Reciprocity Between Canada and the United States—Early Meeting of the Joint High Commission—He Believes in a Settlement of Differences.

London, July 18. — Lord Pauncefote, in an interview, says: "I see that the Boston Chamber of Commerce has petitioned for reciprocity with Canada. This I regard as a most hopeful sign. It will be one of my aims when I return to the United States to foster this desire for a closer commercial relationship between the Dominion and the United States.

"In spite of the attitude of Canada towards Newfoundland, and in spite of the trade difficulty of both Canada and Newfoundland in dealing with the United States, I by no means despair of effecting some sort of reciprocity scheme, which, when the Nicaragua matter has been justly and amicably settled, and the West Indian treaties have been arranged, will bring Great Britain and the United States even to a better basis of common understanding than exists to-day."

Referring to the Nicaragua Canal, he said that when he returned to the United States in October he hoped to take a treaty that would meet the views of President McKinley and the British Cabinet.

When asked if the Joint Commission was likely to sit again in Washington, he replied: "Yes, I think that it will, although this will not occur until after my return.

"The Joint Commission has threshed out many points of difference between Canada and the United States, although the inability to agree as to the Alaskan boundary and the sad death of Lord Herschell appeared, perhaps, to nullify the commission's labors."

LIBERAL NEW THINGS

Party Is at the Beginning of New Life and New Effort.

SO BELIEVES SIR EDWARD GREY.

In Reply to Lord Rosebery's Letter, Declines to Accept That Gentleman's Despondent View of the Position of the Liberal Party—Wants a Broad Imperialism Without Jingoism.

London, July 18.—Sir Edward Grey declines to accept Lord Rosebery's despondent view of the position of the Liberal party, or to agree with him that the well-meant efforts of the Reform Club are deemed a failure. He believes the party is at the beginning of new things, new life and new effort. Lord Rosebery's position he considers to be an impossible one. There was no such thing as a political conscript, and if a man's influence was to be used powerfully for good it must be voluntarily. If Lord Rosebery wished for unity he must step in from outside and use his political influence to promote it. Sir Edward Grey believes the country will never return the Liberals to power until they can be trusted to take a large, broad-minded view of Imperial affairs. What is wanted, he says, is Imperialism without jingoism, and he urges Lord Rosebery to place himself at the head of Liberal Imperialism and crush the Little Englanders out of the party.

CHAMBERLAIN HOPEFUL.

Sir William Vernon Harcourt on British Finances—Colonial Secretary Says New Colonies Can Pay War Interest.

London, July 18. — In the course of a debate on the Finance Bill in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon, Sir William Vernon Harcourt (Liberal) criticised the Government's financial policy, and said those persons believing the statement that the general expenditure would fall after the termination of the war were living in a fool's paradise.

Sir William's speech, which was throughout undilutedly pessimistic, drew angry interruptions from Joseph Chamberlain, the Colonial Secretary. The latter, in the course of his reply to Sir William, took a sanguine view of the situation in South Africa, said nobody doubted the war would soon be over, and when the Boers recognized they had been thoroughly beaten and had returned to peaceful occupations, interest on the Transvaal debt and the sinking fund would be easily payable out of the surplus revenue derived from the new colonies.

The Finance Bill passed its third reading by a vote of 291 to 121.

HERD OF CATTLE POISONED.

Farmer Near Paisley Lost Four Out of a Herd of 24.

Paisley, July 18. — What may result in a serious charge for some person has stirred up sympathy and distrust in this vicinity. Tuesday night a farmer about three miles from town named Henry Rudolph, was in his hay field until a late hour and left about 24 head of cattle in an adjoining field, all being in apparent good health.

When he visited them yesterday morning three were dead and others suffering. He at once summoned two veterinarians, and before they reached his place another was dead.

Since then two more have died.

The veterinarians have made analyses and find the lining of the cows' stomachs badly burned. They are sending the stomachs and other portions to Toronto by the first express to be tested for poison.

Some friction among farmers has existed in this neighborhood for the past year and the present circumstances are not favorable for the guilty.

CASE IN STRATHROY.

Mrs. Eliza Browne, of Metcalf Street, Cured of Dyspepsia—Great Interest of Her Case for Other Dyspeptics—Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets the Means of Her Cure.

The interest in the case of Mrs. Eliza Browne, Metcalfe street, Strathroy, centres not so much in her disease, which is common enough, but her cure, which cannot be too thoroughly known.

Her disease was dyspepsia, or debility of the stomach. She had the only too-usual symptoms of heartburn and pain after eating. Her stomach would not digest her food, and she was losing strength and flesh steadily.

Her cure was effected by Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, and it is on that point that sufferers from Dyspepsia are invited to centre their attention. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are curing Chronic Dyspepsia, Dyspepsia of five and six years' standing, all over the country. People are writing every day to express their hearty appreciation of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, because they do what everything else fails to do — they cure. This case of Mrs. Browne's in Strathroy, is not the only one in Mrs. Browne's circle of friends. But it is a typical one, and it is a genuine one:

"I have been troubled with Dyspepsia and Indigestion for over a a year. I could positively get no relief. I would have Heartburn after every meal, and tried my best to get something to stop it, and failed.

"I heard of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and bought a box from Mr. Dyas, the druggist. After I had used several boxes of them I found to my surfprise that I could stop taking any more and no longer be subject to Heartburn, nor have I had any other sign of a return of this dreadful disease."

Tried to Choke Herself.

Toronto, July 18.—Louisa Lamb, for eleven years an inmate of the Industrial Refuge on Belmont street, made a desperate attempt to end her existence yesterday morning by drawing a piece of twine tightly around her neck. When found she was unconscious. Staff-Inspector Archibald of the Morality Department, had a warrant issued for the unfortunate woman's arrest on a charge of attempting to commit suicide. The woman is undoubtedly insane.

Present Theory Is Murder.

Ottawa, July 18.—The river mystery is not yet cleared up. The murder theory is becoming more widely accepted, and efforts are being made to trace the identity of the woman. It is suggested that the body is that of Miss Marie Perriner, a corset agent, whose home is Stratford. Miss Perriner was last seen a week ago, and her description tallies completely with that of the dead woman. The head of the dead woman bore several large wounds.

NEWS NUGGETS.

—There will be no more shooting at the ranges on Friday.

—There will be a special meeting of the town council this evening.

—The Stanley Piano Co. excursion on Saturday promises to be very largely attended.

—Messrs. Cavanagh and Stapleton shipped another carload of horses to Jacobs, of Montreal.

—St. George's church, Hastings, is negotiating for the steamer "City of Peterborough," to convey its annual excursion to Peterborough in the near future.

—The residents in the vicinity of the Goose Pond, say that the men and boys have taken the hint, and have quit swimming there without bathing suits.

—Toronto claims the doubtful honour of being the hottest place in Canada yesterday, with a temperature of 93 degrees. This town can go the city one degree better—or worse, if you like—having a maximum temperature late in the afternoon of 94 degrees. To-day at noon the thermometer marked 88 degrees, and the prospects are that the extreme heat is about over for the present. A good thunderstorm would bring speedy relief.

MEN'S SUMMER UNDERWEAR.

Mr. Flavelle had one of the handsomest and best Hudson Bay canoes with him we have ever seen on these waters.

RARE HONOURS NOW.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir, — In your report of the results of the Kindergarten examinations in yesterday's Examiner, you do not credit Miss Bell and Miss Donell with honours. Honours in Kindergarten examinations are rare, Peterborough having captured half of what were obtained in the province this year, the only others awarded were one to Brantford and one to London. Toronto, the home of the Kindergarten in Ontario, though passing some 40 candidates in both examinations, obtained no honours.

The young ladies are deserving of full credit for their successful year's work, and Miss Warner, the director under whose capable training they attained such efficiency, is entitled to be warmly congratulated.

Yours, etc.,
O. B. M.

You make no mistake if you have your best photos taken by G. E. Whiten. No danger of them fading. 158 Hunter street. 3d

HONOURS FOR MR. WALKEY.

Elected District Deputy Grand Master of the Masonic Order.

A telegram which was this morning received from the Peterborough delegates to the Masonic Grand Lodge at Hamilton, states that R. W. Bro. Walkey had been elected to the position of District Deputy Grand Master by acclamation.

Mr. Walkey's many friends here will extend to him their hearty congratulations on the honour conferred upon him.

MR. SANDY'S TRIP.

He Will Make an Inspection of City Freight Sheds.

Mr. F. Sandy, local Grand Trunk Railway station agent, left yesterday on an extended trip to Buffalo and other American cities with a view of ascertaining the methods employed and general principles pursued at large railway centres. This the local agent considers advisable in view of the increasing volume of the freight traffic at the local station. During Mr. Sandy's absence, Mr. Bert Wallace will be acting station agent, and there is every reason to believe that the management of the local depot is in sure and obliging hands in the meantime.

GOOD BASS FISHING.

Between Here and Lakefield—The Close Season for Bass.

The fishing between Auburn and Lakefield is said to be splendid, and a great many bass have been taken out of this stretch of water. A local rodsman captured about forty the other day, and many other persons have had just as good luck.

Mr. Edg. Hartley, one of Peterborough's well-known fishermen, believes that the bass fishing between here and Lakefield should not be permitted until the 15th of July of each year. He does not understand why it is but it is quite apparent that the bass in this stretch of water do not spawn until about this time. The bass after they have been caught give every indication of this.

LOST ARTICLES.

Many That Have Been Lost and Found of Late.

The Examiner office is like a junk shop these days. Whatever has got into the people that causes them to lose pocket books, bicycle satchels, handkerchiefs and other articles, it is hard to understand, but there is a great fever on in this line just now. Of the articles that during the past week have been advertised for in the Examiner 90 per cent. of them have been recovered, and the same rule applies in the case where articles have been found and owners desired for the same. There are several articles awaiting owners yet at this office. In fact the Examiner is giving the police station a close run as a safe deposit for lost articles.

SUCCESSFUL STUDENTS.

The following list of successful Peterborough students at the Conservatory of Music examinations has been issued:

Piano department—Second year — Honours — Helen M. Laing, Mary Andrews, Edith M. Dawson. First year—First class honours — Frances Agar. Honours — Eva Bradd. Pass —Etta Garbutt, Ethel Gertrude Clarke. Honours — Hazel Etta Chowen.

IT LOOKS BAD.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir, — I see it announced in glaring headlines at the old committee rooms on George street, that the 24th of May Celebration has been postponed, owing to rain. As it has dawned on most of us by this time that the celebration was postponed, I think that a committee of long-suffering citizens should wait on the Mayor and the committee to request that the notice—which is a reminder of better days—should now be removed from the public gaze.

Yours truly,
A Long-Suffering Subscriber.

MEN STILL OUT.

The Italians Did Not Go Back to Work at Nassau.

The Italians who on Monday morning last went out on strike from the work on the Canadian General Electric Co's power house at Nassau, are still out.

Contractor Moss stated to-day that he had no intention of granting the men a further increase in pay, as they have been receiving as much as labourers anywhere. He sent a man down to Montreal yesterday to bring up another carload of Italians to fill the places of the men who went out, about twenty in number.

HER FIRST TRIP.

The City of Peterborough Took an Excursion down this Morning.

The steamer City of Peterborough made her first trip of the season down the river to-day. She took down the Sunday school of St. Luke's church. The "City" was inspected this week by the Engine and Marine Inspectors, and workmen have been very busy getting her into shape for to-day's trip. As she shot out into Little Lake this morning with several hundred excursionists on board she looked very pretty and must have been a source of great satisfaction to her owners.

This is the first trip of the boat since she has been transformed into a twin screw craft.

GETTING INTO SHAPE.

The Steam Roller is Very Busy these Days on Charlotte Street.

These are hot days for the street labourers, but the work of putting the various streets of the town into excellent shape goes merrily on. Yesterday a number of the men quit for a half an hour or so, and sought a shady spot, but resumed work again in the heat. Charlotte street, which has been in such very poor shape for some time, particularly for bicyclists, is now looking splendid. The crushed stone is being rolled into place by the steam roller, manipulated by Mr. James English. While the work is in progress the street is most unpleasant for bicyclists and vehicles.

MR. STRATTON AT KINGSTON.

Speaks at Nomination of W. J. Shibley, Liberal.

THE LEADERS CONTRASTED.

Their Respective Records and Policies Compared.

CREATING OF NEW ONTARIO.

Wonderful Development in That Region—Mr. Whitney's Policy and Record Discussed.

Kingston, July 13. — At the annual convention of the Liberal Association held here to-day. There was a large attendance of delegates from every part of the riding. The nomination was unanimously tendered to Mr. W. J. Shibley, who accepted it.

Hon. J. R. Stratton, Provincial Secretary, was present, and at 2 o'clock the Whig Hall was well filled with delegates and electors of Frontenac who desired to hear Mr. Stratton give an account of the work of the Liberal Government in the Province of Ontario, and more particularly of the active policy of Premier Ross and his Government. The Provincial Secretary was given a most enthusiastic reception. The Minister, in a summary of the general Provincial political situation, referred to the record, course and policy of the Ross Government, and, comparing it with the record, course and policy of the Opposition, contrasted the respective claims of the Government and the Opposition to the confidence of the people. Technically, the question now before the public at the end of the Parliamentary term was, What party and what policy should be entrusted with the management and direction of Provincial affairs for the coming Parliamentary term. Technically, this was the question, but as a matter of fact, there was no question of the respective merits of the claims presented by the Government and the Opposition in this regard. On the one hand we had the Ross Government succeeding to a splendid record of administration and government unequalled for excellence and comprehensive adaptation to the requirements of the people of the Province. (Hear, hear.)

Premier Ross' Record.

In the short space of a little over two years the present Government had made a new and brilliant record. On assuming office, Hon. Mr. Ross, the Premier, had formulated a policy which had met the aspirations of all who sympathised with the completer development of the wonderful material resources of the Province. This policy included not only an intelligent attention to the wants and needs of the longer-settled portions of the Province, but also a broad and comprehensive scheme of action looking to the development of the greater Ontario embraced in the newer portions. The hour was ripe for such a programme. (Hear, hear.) The "growing time" had descended upon Canada. "Good times" had quickened the pulse of the commercial and industrial interests. Capital saw encouraging openings for profitable employment. The country was riding on the crest of a wave of prosperity, and upon this wave Premier Ross had launched a policy big with possibilities. And the results have quite justified the statesmanship and foresight that inspired such a policy. (Hear, hear.) At Whitby two short years ago, Hon. Mr. Ross announced a policy of advance, almost every item of which had been carried out to the letter, or is in promising process of successful fulfilment, and the far-reaching effects of that policy were indicated by the present achievements it had brought about in the marvellous development of New Ontario, and the reflex stimulus it imparted to the industrial and commercial life of older Ontario. (Hear, hear.) As a result of only the partial application of that policy, millions of capital were being employed in the development of the resources of New Ontario, and industrial factors which a score of years ago were not dreamed of were now practical elements in our industrial operations, giving employment to millions of capital and thousands of Ontario hands, which but for some such policy as that under consideration, would have been idle or competitors in a congested labour market. (Cheers.)

New Ontario.

As a result of the policy of the Ross Government in encouraging industry and aiding railway construction we had in New Ontario a new creation; we had natural resources, which for ages had lain dormant and unproductive, yielding their wealth at the call of capital and labour. Minerals which were hidden and unknown were being smelted. Our hills of ore were being converted into iron and steel. The raw material of Ontario ploughs and reapers, steel rails for Ontario's railways, and for all the uses industrial art demands, were being taken from Ontario soil by Ontario labour. Pulpwoods that for centuries had grown, matured, decayed and grown again were being converted by Ontario-fostered skill and by Ontario labour into the newspapers read at the breakfast tables of civilization, and at the same

BASEBALL.

Peterborough won at baseball from Port Hope, yesterday, in a game which was marked by very heavy batting and, though the errors were numerous, yet a number of snappy plays were made which were creative of great enthusiasm.

Dan McCabe pitched for the locals up to the sixth innings when Kehoe was put into the box. Unfortunately the team chose this moment for the one in which to go to pieces and consequently Kehoe got no support. Fly hits were dropped and the throwing to bases became so wild that McCabe had to be brought back to steady the team up. Kehoe was in fine shape and it was a pity that he did not get a chance to show what he could do.

The score was as follows:

THE GAME OF GOLF-CROQUET.

Golf-croquet is the term bestowed upon a game that is claimed to combine many of the advantages of golf and croquet without the disadvantage in the way of walking tours incident to the former and the tameness that characterizes the latter.

Golf-croquet may be played on a lawn of any shape and the only preparation required is to level the ground for a few feet near the wickets. Caddies are unnecessary, as but one club is used, and the ball—an inexpensive kind—is not easily lost. The player gets the same kind of exercise as in golf, the play requires to be as accurate as in croquet, while the element of luck is not absent.

The course on the field or lawn is marked by wickets the same as in croquet, but the distance between the wickets may be varied to suit the lawn space and the players' inclinations, the only essential being that the wickets must face the spot or tree selected as the centre, because all shots made through wickets are toward the centre. The wickets are arranged so that the next one in sequence is in plain view of the last one passed. Eight is the usual number, but fewer wickets may be used and twice over the field may constitute the game. The wooden ball is two and three-quarters inches in diameter, light and tough, the mallets have longer handles than those used for croquet, and the end of the striking part is beveled so the ball may be lifted clear of the turf.

The count in the game is by the total number of strokes necessary to get through the wickets, called "all strokes," or by wickets, the players scoring who makes the wicket in the least number of strokes and the latter game is called "all wickets."

VEST'S TRIBUTE TO THE DOG.

Showing the Effect Eloquence Will Have Upon a Jury.

One of the most eloquent tributes ever paid to the dog was delivered by Senator Vest of Missouri some years ago. He was attending court in a country town, and while waiting for the trial of a case in which he was interested he was urged by the attorneys in a dog case to help them. He was paid a fee of $250 by the plaintiff. Voluminous evidence was introduced to show that the defendant had shot the dog in malice, while other evidence went to show that the dog had attacked defendant. Vest took no part in the trial and was not disposed to speak. The attorneys, however, urged him to make a speech, else their client would not think he had earned his fee. Being thus urged, he arose, scanned the face of each juryman for a moment and said:

"Gentlemen of the jury, the best friend a man has in the world may turn against him and become his enemy. His son or daughter that he has reared with loving care may prove ungrateful. Those who are nearest and dearest to us, those whom we trust with our happiness and our good name, may become traitors to their faith. The money that a man has he may lose. It flies away from him, perhaps when he needs it most. A man's reputation may be sacrificed in a moment of ill considered action. The people who are prone to fall on their knees to do us honor when success is with us may be the first to throw the stone of malice when failure settles its cloud upon our heads. The one absolutely unselfish friend that man can have in this selfish world, the one that never deserts him, the one that never proves ungrateful or treacherous, is his dog. A man's dog stands by him in prosperity and in poverty, in health and in sickness. He will sleep on the cold ground, where the wintry winds blow and the snow drives fiercely, if only he may be near his master's side. He will kiss the hand that has no food to offer. He will lick the wounds and sores that come in encounter with the roughness of the world. He guards the sleep of his pauper master as if he were a prince. When all other friends desert, he remains. When riches take wings and reputation falls to pieces, he is as constant in his love as the sun in its journeys through the heavens. If fortune drives the master forth an outcast in the world, friendless and homeless, the faithful dog asks no higher privilege than that of accompanying him, to guard against danger, to fight against his enemies. And when the last scene of all comes, and death takes the master in its embrace, and his body is laid away in the cold ground, no matter if all other friends pursue their way, there by the graveside will the noble dog be found, his head between his paws, his eyes sad, but open in alert watchfulness, faithful and true even in death."

Then Vest sat down. He had spoken in a low voice, without a gesture. He made no reference to the evidence or the merits of the case. When he finished, judge and jury were wiping their eyes. The jury filed out, but soon entered with a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $500. He had sued for $200. It is even said that some of the jurors wanted to hang the defendant.

HE DID HIS BEST.

Celebrated Musician's Adventure In a Swiss Country Village.

The late Sir John Stainer, one of England's most celebrated musicians and composers, was several years ago in a small Swiss village, and the English clergyman was on the lookout for a musician to assist at the service. Stainer was in the smoking room of the hotel when the clergyman found him and started the conversation with "Do you play the harmonium?" "A little," was the reply of the ex-organist of St. Paul's cathedral. "Will you, then, be good enough to help us out of our difficulty on Sunday? We will read the psalms, and the hymns shall be the simplest I can select," added the delighted parson. "I will do my best," said Stainer, with a smile.

The service passed off all right, but the congregation, instead of rushing away at the close, listened to a brilliant recital. When the parson heard the name of his assistant, he asked him to dinner. "Do you smoke?" he said at the close. "I will do my best," muttered Stainer, and the ensuing laughter was the prologue of an entertaining exchange of Oxford reminiscences.

Stainer was a great story teller. One anecdote he was fond of relating had reference to the days when there were amateur orchestras in churches. The "Messiah" was being sung, and as the line "Who is the King of Glory?" approached the man playing double bass whispered to the violoncellist in front of him, "Let us have your rosin, and I will show 'em who is the king of glory!"—London Tit-Bits.

Miss Jones Voice Greatly Improved.

The many admirers of Miss Jones' singing have been greatly pleased at the improved clearness and richness of tone so noticeable in her late renderings. Miss Jones attributes this improvement to the recent use of Catarrhozone. It gives clearness and brilliancy of tone, and prevents hoarseness and huskiness. Prominent speakers, ministers, actors, and singers use Catarrhozone for the voice and find it of inestimable value. You breathe the medicated air from the inhaler into the throat and lungs, where it kills disease, prevents and absolutely cures Bronchitis, Asthma and Catarrh. Catarrhozone never fails; never harms; pleasant to use, and always successful. Sold with a guarantee on every dollar package to cure these diseases or your money back. Small size, 25c. CARDLAND.

The Games That Were Played In the Eighteenth Century.

After the advent of the house of Hanover the favorite games at court were "quadrille," an improvement of "ombre," and "commerce." The gains and losses of the kings and queens were, as a rule, restricted to 100 guineas, but on Twelfth Night it was customary for thousands to change hands. On one occasion Lady Cowper, a lady in waiting, refused for the sake of her children to take part in the game, as none sat down to the table with less than £200.

About the year 1740 a rage for "whisk," or whist, set in, but at first it was considered too wise a game for ladies to join in. Hume, the historian, never went to bed without his whist, and even the great Johnson regretted that he had not learned to play cards. In 1742 "Horry" Walpole finds it absolutely necessary to learn "whisk," "having waited in vain for its being left off." We find him in another letter threatening to build an altar to "Pam" to commemorate the escape of his charming Duchess of Grafton, who, it appears, had been playing cards in Rome when she ought to have been at a cardinal's reception, where the floor fell in and all the monsignores were precipitated into the cellar!

Cards were so very much in evidence in his time that even invitations were frequently issued and notes written upon the backs of playing cards, which on that account were usually plain, without any design. The chevalier's famous order to retreat at Culloden was written on the back of the nine of hearts.

A fresh attempt was made in 1739 to remedy the state of gambling in England by passing an act which provided that "any person keeping a house or other place to game in forfeits £200, half to the prosecutor and half to the poor of the parish," whereupon two ladies of title, Mordington and Cassells, who keep open houses for gambling, claimed their privilege of peerage in order to intimidate the peace officers from doing their duty and suppressing the public gaming houses by them.

Old Time Legislation Against the Use of Tobacco.

It is one of the curiosities of old time legislation that the use of tobacco was in early colonial days regarded by the magistrates and elders as far more injurious, degrading and sinful than that of intoxicating liquors. Both the use and the planting of the weed were forbidden, the cultivation of it being permitted only in small quantities, "for meere necessitie, for phisick, for preservation of the health, and that the same be taken privately by anncient men." But the "creature called tobacko" seemed to have an indestructible life. Mrs. Alice M. Earle writes of these early restrictions about tobacco in "Stagecoach and Tavern Days:"

Landlords were ordered not to "suffer any tobacco to be taken into their houses" on penalty of a fine to the "victualler" and another to "the party that takes it." The laws were constantly altered and enforced, and still tobacco was grown and was smoked. No one could take it "publicquely" nor in his own house or anywhere else before strangers. Two men were forbidden to smoke together.

No one could smoke within two miles of the meeting house on the Sabbath day. There were wicked backsliders who were caught smoking around the corner of the meeting house and others on the street, and they were fined and set in the stocks and in cages.

Until within a few years there were New England towns where tobacco smoking in the streets was prohibited, and innocent cigar loving travelers were astounded at being requested to cease smoking.

Mr. Drake wrote in 1880 that he knew men, then living, who had had to plead guilty or not guilty in a Boston police court for smoking in the streets of Boston.

In Connecticut in early days a great indulgence was permitted to travelers—a man could smoke once during a journey of ten miles.

Drinking Madeira.

Mr. Charles Bellows, our ablest authority on Madeira, thus describes the old Madeira drinker taking a glass of wine: "First a few drops are poured in the glass. Then the glass is warmed before an open fire until the wine is thoroughly heated, and then the drops are poured back into the decanter. Then the glass is half filled and slowly brought under the nose. He shuts both eyes and sniffs the aroma for a full minute. Then he opens one eye and holds the glass up to to the light and with thumb and forefinger turns the glass round and round. Then, with a sigh, he tilts a few drops on the end of his tongue and rolls both eyes in a really alarming manner. If the wine pleases him, he finishes the glass, and if it does not he sets it down untasted. This does not seem to be an affectation, but the general method in which old Madeira is drunk by those who know, and I can assure you they are very few indeed."

TALKING BIRDS.

Singular Language of So Called Dumb Animals.

Next to those heaven bestowed powers of intellect and reason that mark out the higher and nobler development of the human as apart from the brute creation comes the no less divine gift of speech, that priceless medium of intercommunication between man and man, the articulate expression of his thoughts, impulses and emotions. Is it not a little singular that, while the so called dumb animals have all some language of their own, a method by which each species can hold converse with its kind, it is in the feathered world alone that we find any creatures capable of being taught to use the speech of man?

The monkey tribe, in spite of its grotesque resemblance to the human form, chatters in unintelligible gibberish, and the dog, man's nearest and most faithful companion—who does not know the wistful expression in the eyes of some canine favorite, the eager, upturned look into his master's face, that seems to understand so fully all that is said, though denied the power to reply?

Certain birds, however, not only are capable of producing articulate words and sentences, but it would really appear from many well authenticated instances as if they possess in some measure the reasoning faculty which enables them to apply their acquired art of speech with peculiar aptitude. The raven, the jackdaw, the magpie and the jay may all be trained to imitate sounds and to utter words and even sentences distinctly, but more familiar to most people are talking birds of the parrot tribe, which acquire the gift of speech in far greater perfection than any other of their species.

The voice of the parrot is also much more human in its tones; the raven is too hoarse; the jay and the magpie are too shrill. But there are modulations in the parrot's notes when speaking that are sometimes absolutely uncanny in their weird resemblance to the "human voice divine." This superiority is due to the construction of its beak, its tongue and head. The parrot, too, has a wonderful memory and rarely forgets what it has once thoroughly learned.—London Lady.

Arms and The Woman

CHAPTER XXIV.

Immediately Pembroke and I journeyed to the feudal inn. When we arrived, a mixture of rain and snow was falling. But I laughed at that. What if I were drenched to the skin with chill rain and snow, my heart was warm, warmer than it had been in many a day. Woman is infallible when she reads the heart of another. Phyllis said that Gretchen loved me. It only remained for me to find her.

"Where is the innkeeper?" I asked, my heart sinking.

"He is not here," was the answer.

"Is her highness the Princess Hildegarde"—

"Her highness!" he cried in astonishment. "She has never been here. This is an inn. The castle is in the village."

"How long have you been here?" asked Pembroke.

"Two weeks, your highness." Doubtless he thought us to be high personages to be inquiring for the princess.

"Is Stahlberg here?" I asked.

"He is visiting relatives in Coburg," was the answer.

"Do you know where her highness is?"

"No." It occurred to me that his voice had taken to sullen tones.

"When will the innkeeper be back?"

The fellow shrugged his shoulders. "I cannot say, your highness. The inn is not open for guests till March."

"Jack," said Pembroke in English, "it is evident that this fellow has been instructed to be close lipped. Let us return to the village. The castle is left." He threw some coins to the servant, and they rattled along the porch. "Come." And we wheeled and trotted away.

I cannot tell how great was my disappointment, nor what I did or said. The ride back to the village was a

"Where is the innkeeper?" I asked, my heart sinking.

dreary affair so far as conversation went. At the castle we found not a soul.

"It is as I expected," said Pembroke. "Remember that her highness is accustomed to luxury and that it is not likely for her to spend her winter in such a deserted place. You're a newspaper man. You ought to be full of resources. Why don't you telegraph to all the news agencies and make inquiries? She is a personage, and it will not be difficult to find her if you go at it the right way."

I followed his advice, and the first return brought me news. Gretchen was at present in Vienna. So we journeyed to Vienna futilely. Then commenced a dogged, persistent search. I dragged my cousin hither and thither about the kingdom, from village to train, from train to city, till his life became a burden to him and his patience threadbare. At Hohenphalia, the capital, we were treated coldly. We were not known. They were preparing the palace for the coronation of her serene highness the Princess Elizabeth. The Princess Hildegarde might be in Brussels.

At Brussels her highness was in Munich, at Munich she was in Heidelberg, and so on and so on. It was truly discouraging. The vaguest rumor brought me to the railway. Pembroke, laughing and grumbling, always at my heels. At last I wrote to Phyllis. It was the one hope left. Her reply was to the effect that she, too, did not know where her sister was, that she was becoming a puzzle to her and concluded with the advice to wait till the coronation, when Gretchen would put in an appearance, her presence being imperative. So weeks multiplied and became months, winter passed, the snows fell from the mountains, the floods rose and subsided, summer was at hand with her white boughs and green grasses. May was blooming into June. Still Gretchen remained in obscurity.

"I shall be a physical wreck," said Pembroke when we finally returned to B——, "if you keep this up much longer."

"Look at me!" was my gloomy rejoinder.

"Well, you have that interesting pallor," he admitted, "which women ascribe to lovers."

Thrusting my elbows on the table I buried my chin in my hands and stared. After awhile I said, "I do not believe she wants to be found."

"That has been my idea this long while," he replied, "only I did not wish to make you more despondent than you were."

One morning when I had grown outwardly calm I said to Pembroke, "Philip, I shall go with you to India."

"Here is a letter for you," he replied. "It may change your plans."

My mail since leaving the journalistic field had become so small that to receive a letter was an event. Inside of the envelope I discovered only six words, but they meant all the world to me. "She is here at the inn." It was unsigned. I waved the slip of paper before Pembroke's eyes.

"She is found!" I cried.

"Then go in search of her," he said.

"And you will go with me?"

"Not I! I prefer tigers to princesses. By the way, here is an article in the Zeitung on the coming coronation of her serene highness the Princess Elizabeth of Hohenphalia. I'm afraid that I shan't be present to witness the event." He thrust the paper into my hands and approached the window, out of which he leaned and stared at the garden flowers below. "When I asked her why it could not be, she answered that she had no love to give in return for mine."

"She may change her mind," I said, putting a hand on his. "Most women do."

"But there are exceptions," he replied, regarding me with earnest eyes as if to read what was going on behind mine. "There are some women who never change. Her highness is one of these. As I remarked before, she has no love to give me. It is gone, and as it is gone without reward she will make no attempt to recall it to give to another. I love her all the more for that. The game fate plays with our hearts is a cruel one. For one affinity there are ten unfinished lives. Her highness loves a good man."

My hand fell from his, and I went over to the window. This was the first intimation he had given to me that he knew the secret, the secret which had made me so sad, the secret which I tried not to believe.

"You are determined to go to India?" I said without turning my head. I could find no other words.

"Yes. It will be the best thing in the world."

"You will promise to write?"

"Whenever I strike the post. Marry and be happy. It is the lot of the few."

That night he started for Bombay by the way of England, and the next morning I put out for the feudal inn.

CHAPTER XXV.

I was passing along the highway, a pipe between my teeth. It was the beginning of twilight, the trysting hour of all our reveries, when the old days come back with a perfume as sweet and vague as that which hovers over a jar of spiced rose leaves. I was thinking of the year which was gone; how I first came to the inn; of the hour when I first held her in my arms and kissed her and vowed my love to her; of the parting, when she of her own will had thrown her arms about my neck and confessed.

The inn loomed up against the sky, gray and lonely. Behind me, far away down the river, I could catch occasional glimpses of the lamps of the village. Presently there came a faint yellow glow in the east, and I knew that Diana was approaching.

She tosses loose her locks upon the night
And through the dim wood Dian threads her way.

A wild sweetness filled the air. I was quite half a mile from the inn, yet I could smell the odor of her roses—Gretchen's roses. It was a long and weary year which had intervened. And now she was there, only a short way from my arms. But she did not know that I was coming. A million diamonds sprang into the air whenever I struck the lush grasses with my cane. Everywhere I breathed the perfume of her roses. They seemed to hide along the hedges, to lurk among the bushes, red roses and white. On the hill across the valley I saw the little cemetery with its white stones. I arrested my steps and took off my hat. The dust of Hilars lay there. I stood motionless for some time. I had loved the man as it is possible for one man to love another. I had not thought of him much of late, but in this life we cannot always stand by the grave of those who have gone before. He had loved Gretchen with a love perhaps less selfish than mine, for he had sacrificed his life uselessly for her that she might—be mine! Mine! I thought.

The lights of the inn cheered me and lifted the gloom. Should I enter by stealth or boldly? I chose the second method. Gretchen and the innkeeper were in the old hall. I entered and threw my traps into a corner. As they turned and saw me consternation was written on their faces.

"I have found you at last," I said, holding out a hand to each of them. The innkeeper thrust his hands behind his back and sauntered leisurely toward the window. Gretchen showed signs of embarrassment, and her eyes were studiously fixed on the cracks which yawned here and there in the floor. My hands fell unnoticed.

"You have been looking for us?" she asked in even tones. "Why have you?"

Vaguely I gazed at her, at the innkeeper, then at my traps in the corner. It was apparent that I was an intruder. I struck my forehead in anger and despair. Triple fool that I was! I was nothing to her. She had told me so, and I had not believed.

"Yes; why?" asked the innkeeper, turning around.

"I believe," said I, my voice trembling, "that I am an unwelcome guest. Is it not so?"

"Oh, as for that," said the innkeeper, observing Gretchen, "this is a public inn on the highway. All wayfarers are of necessity welcome."

"Go, then, and prepare me a supper," said I. "I am indeed hungry, having journeyed far." I wanted him out of the room.

The innkeeper, a puzzling smile on his lips, passed out.

"Gretchen," I burst forth, "in heaven's name what does this mean? I have hunted for you day after day, week after week, month after month. I have traveled the four ends of the continent. I have lived—oh, I do not know how I have lived! And when I do find you it is for this." My voice broke, and I was positively on the verge of tears.

"And was all this fair to her?" asked Gretchen coldly.

"To her? I do not understand."

"I mean, was all this fair to my sister?"

"Gretchen," a light piercing the darkness, "has she not written to you?"

"A long time ago. She wanted to see me on an important matter, but I could not change my plans at the time. I shall see her at the palace next week. Ought you not to be with her instead of here?"

"Why should I be with her?"

Gretchen laughed, but the key was false.

"Are you not going to marry her? Surely it is easy after the king has given his permission. Have you already fallen out of love with her after all your efforts to make her a princess? Truly man is as unstable as sand and water. Ah, but you fooled us all to the top of your bent. You knew from the first that she was a princess, but you could not find the proofs. Hermann and I were the means to the end. But who shall blame you? Not I. I am very grateful to you for having given to me a sister. And if you fooled me I returned measure for measure. It is game and quit. Time hung heavy on my hands, and the victory, however short, was amusing."

"I never loved her!" I cried. Where were the words I needed?

"So much the worse for you," disdainfully. "But here comes Hermann to announce your supper."

"I shall not break the bread of inhospitality," said I in the bitterness of my despair. I gathered up my traps and then I let them tumble back. The needed words came with a rush to my lips. I went close to her. "Why did you humiliate yourself in begging my life of the prince? Why if my life was nothing to you? Answer. Why did you stoop to your knees to that man if I was worthless to you? Why?"

Her cheeks grew red, then white. Her lips formed words which she could not speak.

When there is disease of the delicate female organism, it is only a question of time until the general health becomes undermined. Nervousness, sleeplessness, loss of appetite and "sinking spells" produce suffering almost indescribable. There can be no restoration of the general health until the local health of the womanly organism is re-established.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription establishes regularity, dries offensive drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It encourages the appetite, tranquilizes the nerves and induces refreshing sleep.

"You would be surprised if you could have seen me when I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's medicine and could see me now," writes Mrs. Isaac S. Harris, of Gayville, Yankton Co., So. Dakota. "I had no appetite, was completely run down. Have had stomach trouble for years and was so nervous I could not sleep. We have spent a lot of money doctoring, but there was not one thing that I took that did me any good, except for a short time; till I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery.' In three days after I commenced taking his medicines I could see a change for the better, and from that time I have steadily been getting better. Can walk or ride to any place I want to, and I feel like a new person. Since taking Dr. Pierce's medicines I can sleep all night and never get up tired in the morning; can eat anything and it don't hurt me."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure biliousness and sick headache.

MR. STRATTON IN KINGSTON.

time yielding a revenue for the purposes of Provincial administration. (Hear, hear.) Millions of fertile acres of previously unknown forest had been opened by exploration and were being settled by Ontario's sturdy sons, forming new centres of settlement to make new and increasing demands upon the commercial and manufacturing centres of older Ontario. Such generally had been the results of the policy and practice of the Ross Government. Such was the policy now and for the future—to build up a new Ontario in the north, richer and greater than the present Ontario, and enliven the older Province, and make it richer and greater. True statesmanship was creative and constructive as well as conservative. Capable administration and the energy and enterprise of its people had established Old Ontario on a sure basis, which provided the internal element of continued progress, and with the people provided with the means of achieving greatness our heritage to the north must receive attention, and that attention it was receiving at the hands of the present Government. (Cheers.) With all the interests of the Province adequately looked after and administered, with its future brightened by a bold, aggressive policy, it was for the people to consider carefully the claims of the Ross Government, the agents of such administration and the authors of such a policy, to their confidence. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. Whitney's Position.

On the other hand, Mr. Stratton inquired, what were the claims of the Opposition, led by Mr. Whitney? With the importance, greatness and future of the Province in view, it was not possible to assert that Mr. Whitney had any other policy than a policy of negative opposition to a policy he could not better if he would. (Hear, hear.) If he had a policy he kept the secret well. If he should undertake to devise one we might well surmise what it would be. Judged by his past record and attitude one could not hope from that source for a policy that would meet with the ambitions and aspirations of the progressive people of Ontario. (Hear, hear.) Mr. Whitney had been a member of the Ontario Legislature for fifteen years, and while not without ability and energy had, it seemed, not shown the peculiar qualities that fitted him to be the leader of a wide-awake Government, such as Ontario needed, especially at the present time. He appeared to be lacking in the political convictions. Aside from the abstract merits of the subject, his attitude on the Algoma Central Railway bargain was an example of how his course was influenced by political impulse or political expediency. He denounced the bargain as "public robbery," yet when events—the tremendous development flowing from this bargain—demonstrated the wisdom and foresight of the Government, he was compelled to change front, and had offered no opposition to, but rather expressed approval of, the Manitoulin and North Shore Railway bargain, in which the terms were more liberal and, in the language of Mr. Whitney only a short year previously, more of a "public robbery." The narrow and short-sighted attitude of Mr. Whitney and the Opposition towards the Government's plan of development of our pulpwood resources could not be expected to meet with the approval of the general public when it incurred the hostility of a right-hand supporter and one of the most pronounced Conservative journals in Toronto. Yet these methods of Mr. Whitney were not surprising — they were were quite consistent with his retrograde record since he entered the House. His vote had been generally given in opposition to progressive legislative in the public interests, with no other apparent motive than to advance his party's interests.

Opposition Leader's Record.

Mr. Stratton said he would not go into details of these votes, but would generally indicate where Mr. Whitney had opposed progress. To follow Mr. Whitney backward in his record, which was the best way to keep in touch with a retrogressive public man, it might be pointed out that the Opposition leader could be traced back to the time of his early Parliamentary career as an opponent to progressive legislation and policy. In 1899 he was opposed to the grant for the construction of the London Normal School. That same year he opposed the office of Municipal Auditor, whose establishment had resulted in correct municipal bookkeeping methods, and had saved thousands of dollars of loss to municipalities. He voted against the appointment of a Superintendent of Neglected and Dependent Children, a department that has been of incalculable benefit to the ill used children of the Province. He showed his lack of interest in the comfort and welfare of the working classes by opposing the bill to secure the early closing of shops. He opposed the Railway Bill of 1899, although some of the railways then assisted were now in operation and opening up new regions to settlement and making accessible immense deposits of iron ore. He opposed the appointment of a Clerk of Forestry, whose work has been of inestimable benefit in preserving our forest wealth and promoting reforestry. He opposed the appointment of a Provincial Road Commissioner, whose work represented one of the greatest advanced movements of the generation. (Hear, hear.) He voted against the resolution respecting the new asylum at Brockville, though experience had shown that it was needed, for it had not only been filled with patients but another asylum building had been found necessary. Mr. Whitney seemed to have a particular adaptation to the promotion of agricultural interests. He opposed grants to the Poultry Association and Western Dairy School, the pioneer farm, and fruit-spraying experiments. (Hear, hear.) In 1898 he opposed the formation of a special Department of Agriculture, his plea practically being that a sub-department was good enough to look after the interests of farming. He failed to see that agricultural industry was more perhaps than any other worthy of a special Minister and a special department—an industry the greatest in the Province, in which a thousand millions was invested and whose products annually — $200,000,000 — exceeded in value the combined products of forests, fisheries, mines and manufacturers. (Hear, hear.) It was a notable fact, as serving to show how short-sighted Mr. Whitney had been or how little study he had given Provincial questions, that all these things he had opposed from time to time had proved eminently successful and in the public interests. Mr. Whitney aspired to be the leader of a new Government, and the people might well consider what qualifications as developed by his past he would bring to the discharge of the important duties of that position, and how far his public and his spirit of progress answered the conditions this Province needed in its chief administrator. With no defined policy of his own he had opposed and still opposed a progressive policy such as the Province needed, such as the people demanded.

The Two Policies.

The policy of the Ross Government was positive and progressive; the Opposition policy was weak and stationary. The people had to make a choice between progress and stagnation, between marking time and boldly marching forward. (Hear, hear.) The children of Israel at the Red Sea obeyed the command to "go forward!" and they possessed the promised land. The Government that would rightly rule the Province of Ontario must "go forward" as the Ross Government was doing, and we should possess the "promised land" of Provincial greatness and prosperity which our natural resources and the energy of our own people were capable under vigorous guidance of reaching. (Hear, hear, and cheers.)

Mr. Stratton then said that the electors should inform themselves correctly upon the public questions, as the Conservative speakers and the Conservative press misrepresented nearly every act of the Government. In its last issue The Farmers' Sun, for instance, was again deceiving its readers. It said that the aid granted for the construction of two miles of railroad from the Grand Trunk Railway station to Burk's Falls was to connect a tannery of the defeated Liberal candidate with the Grand Trunk. The editor must have known perfectly well that for years deputation after deputation waited upon the Government asking assistance to have this two-mile spur line constructed, and for the purpose not to connect a tannery with the Grand Trunk, but to connect at the Magnettewan River at Burk's Falls with the Muskoka Navigation Company line of steamboats, which was the only means of communication that the country contiguous to the Magnettewan had. Now close connection will be made and the farmers, the merchants and the manufacturers will all be benefited by the construction of this small spur instead of handling and carting everything going into and coming out of the country. In another part of the same paper they say that tens of thousands of dollars had been paid to the shareholders of the Hamilton Blast Furnace Company. Some years ago $125,000 was set aside by the Legislature for the purpose of encouraging the development of our iron industry. To-day we have blast furnaces at Hamilton, Deseronto, and Midland, and all the money paid by the Province up to the 31st of May of this year was $34,763—about one-half as much encouragement for the great iron industry of the country, upon which rests almost the foundation of all business, as voted annually for agricultural Exhibitions—while at the same time thousands have directly and indirectly received employment, and the world has been shown that Ontario possesses the richest iron deposits and the largest supply of nickel yet discovered in any country. (Cheers.)

The Beet Sugar Industry.

The Minister then gave his hearers some interesting facts about the beet sugar industry, and showed that in 1900 the beet sugar crop of the world was 5,950,000 tons, two-thirds of all that supplied. The cane output was 2,850,000 tons. In 1840 beets supplied less than five per cent of the world's sugar consumption, while in 1900 the percentage was 67.71 of the world's consumption. The growth of the beet sugar industry since 1840 is interesting. The percentage had risen in 1850 to over 14 per cent., in 1870 it was 37 per cent., in 1890 over 60 per cent., and in 1900 it was 67.71 per cent. The amount of sugar consumed has also grown to gigantic proportions during the years mentioned. In 1840 the total sugar crop of the world was only 1,150,000 tons, in 1870 it was 2,416,000 tons, in 1899 5,702,000 tons and in 1900 8,800,000 tons. The world's population has only doubled in sixty years, yet the sugar supply has increased fully eight times as much as in 1840. Only one factory in Great Britain now refines cane sugar, the other factories exclusively preparing for the market the raw product of the beet farms of Germany, France, Austria and Russia. The beet sugar crop for 1900 was:—Germany, 1,950,000 tons; France, 1,125,000 tons; Austro-Hungary, 1,075,000 tons; Russia, 800,000 tons; Belgium, 340,000 tons; Holland, 176,000 tons; other countries, 400,000 tons. During the same year the cane crop was estimated at 2,850,000 tons. It has been demonstrated that sugar beets can be grown to advantage in Ontario, and the farmers will be greatly benefitted by the establishment of beet sugar mills in different parts of the Province. There is no reason why we should send our $12,000,000 abroad for sugar when our farmers have the soil to produce the beet and our workingmen ready for employment in the industries. We must keep Ontario's sons in Ontario. With five-sixths of the Province undeveloped and unproductive we have ample scope for the best efforts of our people. (Hear, hear.)

Before resuming his seat Mr. Stratton said:—According to the Mail's report of the Conservative convention in this constituency on Saturday last, Mr. Gallagher, the Conservative candidate, was reported as saying that New Ontario was being developed by Mr. Ross by giving it away to corporations. Mr. Gallagher forgets that if the Conservative party had had their way there would have been no New Ontario to give away. The hundred thousand square miles which was held for Ontario by Sir Oliver Mowat, would have been given away en bloc with the support of Mr. Gallagher and his political friends. There would have been no New Ontario to develop. It would have been parcelled out in timber limits to the political hangers-on of the Conservative party as 50,000 miles was at $5 per square mile, or about one cent per acre. That was the development that Mr. Gallagher wanted. But Mr. Gallagher had a short memory. He votes one way in the House and talks another way at home. He has one policy in Toronto and another policy at home. Mr. Gallagher had better turn up the records and he will see that with his leader he flopped from the position taken on the Algoma Central Railway and voted for the Manitoulin and North Shore Railway, and if there was any difference of opinion, if there was any reason for voting against the Algoma Central Railway, there were greater reasons for voting against the Manitoulin and North Shore road. But his leader found that the policy of the Government had met with popular approval. They felt that they could not afford to vote against the construction of the railway, and forced by Mr. Marter and others of the Opposition Mr. Gallagher voted with the Government in support of the measure. Mr. Gallagher voted with the Government, and why should he condemn the Government on the hustings? There is no accounting for the varied views of the Conservative party. They have no leader, they have no policy; they are all leading themselves, each member with a policy for his constituency. (Cheers.)

Mr. Stratton resumed his seat amid cheers.

A Word from Mr. Haycock.

After Mr. Stratton had spoken Mr. J. L. Haycock as noticed in the audience. He was asked to speak, and in a few minutes he showed what he thought the difference between the Liberal and Conservative parties was. He showed that Mr. Whitney's policy, as he understood it, would take one hundred years to derive any benefit from it, and he thought that between the two parties the policy of to-day of the Liberals was the proper one.

Resolutions endorsing the Government of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. Geo. W. Ross were unanimously adopted, and the entire convention voted to do all in its power in every legitimate way to secure the return of Mr. Shibley as the Local member for Frontenac.

The gathering dispersed with cheers for the Ross Government, Mr. Stratton, Mr. Shibley and the King.

CHILDREN'S KIDNEYS.

Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets the Most Successful Treatment for the Kidney Weakness of Children.

Mothers know what distress and anxiety they have when the little ones cannot retain their water properly or have any trouble with their their kidneys.

For any weakness of the Kidneys, Bladder, or Urinary Organs of children, Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets, which are the prescription of the eminent specialist, Dr. Zina Pitcher, are the most effectual remedy known to science.

Mrs. W. M. Glover, Pearl street, Brockville, Ont., says: "One of my children that had been suffering from sluggish Kidneys, read about Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets, and procured a bottle. They removed the whole difficulty promptly. That depressing pain over the kidneys stopped, dizziness and headaches ceased, and there was a general invigorating of the system. There is no question regarding the merits of those tablets for the back and kidneys. We have great confidence in them and recommend them highly."

ITALY MAY DEMAND INDEMNITY.

Italian Subjects Were Lynched in Mississippi—Louisiana Case Repeated.

Washington, July 18. — The Italian Government has taken cognizance of a recent affray at Erwin, Miss., in which it is claimed two Italians were lynched and a third seriously wounded. The facts have been communicated to the Foreign Office at Rome, and the Italian Embassy here has made representations to the State Department. The consuls at New Orleans and Vicksburg are making an enquiry.

Thus far the reports received from these officials establish two essential points in what is considered a rather serious condition of affairs.

First, it is reported positively that the Italians were killed by lynching, and not through any accident or chance affray.

Second, the Italian authorities nearest to the scene of the trouble have established to their satisfaction that the persons killed are Italian subjects in the full sense, not having taken out naturalization papers.

Thus far the case is in a state of inquiry, both on the part of the State Department and the Italian authorities, but there is every indication that the facts will constitute an international incident, similar to that with Italy growing out of the killing of the Italians in Louisiana.

The Governor of Mississippi, it is reported, will proceed in person to Erwin to investigate the matter.

Sullivan Was Drowned.

Toronto, July 18.—Early yesterday morning, the badly decomposed body of Michael Sullivan, a carpenter, was taken from the water at the foot of Yonge street. Little is known of the man's recent movements, except that he went to Whitby last week to visit his mother there, and returned on Saturday on the steamer Argyle. It is surmised that he fell from the slip after leaving the boat, and was drowned.

Plot to Seize the Emperor.

Victoria, B. C., July 18.—Reports were received by the Empress that a rebellion has been started in China, headed by Gen. Tsung Fu Hsien. It is said that the plans are to seize the Chinese Emperor and raise the flag of revolt, under the pretense of driving away the corrupt officials who surround the Emperor.

CHECKED SOUTH.

When the first keen winds of winter begin to be felt in the North, many an invalid is hurried away by anxious friends to the kindlier climate of the South. The cause is apparent as you look at the hollow cheeks and listen to the rasping cough of the traveler.

Persons suffering with weak lungs, obstinate cough and severe hemorrhage even, have found the change of climate made unnecessary by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It strengthens weak lungs, cures obstinate coughs, and builds up the body with sound, healthy flesh. It contains no alcohol, neither opium, cocaine nor other narcotic.

"I feel that I owe a debt of gratitude to a friend for recommending your medicine, as well as to you for preparing such grand remedies for chronic diseases especially, which the doctors failed to reach," writes I. B. Staples, Esq., of Barclay, Osage Co., Kans. "I desire to pass the good word along for the benefit of others who need your remedies. I am a railroad agent, and four years ago my work keeping me in a warm room and stepping out frequently into the cold air gave me bronchitis, which became chronic and deep seated. Doctors failed to reach my case and advised me to try a higher air, but, fortunately for me, a friend also advised me to try Dr. Pierce's medicines. I commenced taking your 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and by the time I had taken the first bottle I was better, and after taking about four bottles my cough was entirely gone. This was a year ago last winter; and again last winter I took about three bottles to prevent a return of the trouble. I have found no necessity for seeking another climate."

STRIKE IS SPREADING.

Duncanville Plant Men Ask if They Should Strike.

SHAFFER: "YES, IF ORGANIZED"

The Last of the Hoop Plants Still at Work —A Member of J. P. Morgan & Co. Says There Is Nothing to Arbitrate —The Firemen's Strike— Cost of C. P. R. Strike.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 19.—Most important of all news regarding the steel workers' strike that reached Pittsburg yesterday was the action of the men employed in the Duncansville plant of the American Steel Hoop Company. A telegram was received by Mr. Shaffer from them in the morning asking if they should strike. The message was a surprise for the amalgamated people, as they were not looking for this news so soon. President Shaffer answered, telling the men not to come out unless they were organized. If organized they should strike, for they were needed. In the afternoon another telegram was received from Duncansville asking that an organizer be sent, and Vice-President John Piers started for Duncansville at once.

This plant is the last of the hoop plants to remain with work.

The action of the Ohio Board of Arbitration in offering to bring about a settlement, is met by the statement that there is nothing to arbitrate.

The tin mill at Monessen is still running. 800 men being at work. They are satisfied with the voluntary advance made by the company. An effort is to be made to have the plant closed next Monday. Of the 500 striking steel hoop men, many have left the city, believing the contest will be long and bitter.

From New York the story comes that a member of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co. has said the steel corporation will not consent to arbitration. The company is willing to agree to the demands of the men as to wages and hours, and any other question at issue is merely a sentimental one.

The Firemen's Strike.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., July 19. — The third day of the stationery firemen's strike finds the situation about the same, although President Mullahay of the strikers' association, reports large gains in the Lackawanna region. This is denied by the operators who claim the situation in the upper portion of the coal fields is a little better than yesterday.

Collier firemen at Shamokin have received orders from headquarters to go on strike to-day. About 10,000 men and boys will be rendered idle.

Advocates a Commission.

Toronto, July 19.—President John T. Wilson of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trackmen of America has issued a manifesto to the public, in which he reviews the negotiations to avert a strike, and says:

"I maintain that the public are entitled to safe, speedy and unmolested transportation from the corporations holding public franchises, and 'if employer and employe cannot or will not adjust their differences, a commission appointed by the people and for the people should determine what is right and proper in the way of a settlement, and have the two parties to the controversy submit to the decision of the commission so appointed.'"

The manifesto refers to the shooting of an Italian by a C. P. R. detective, and calls for civilized methods for the settlement of differences between employer and employe.

Cost of the Striking Trackmen.

Montreal, Que., July 19.—The Canadian Pacific Railway trackmen's strike has now lasted one month and it has cost the trackmen at least two hundred thousand dollars in the shape of wages.

The Northwestern at Home.

Chicago, July 19. — After an absence of eighty-four days the steamer Northwestern, the pioneer of the new Chicago-European route, has returned. The steamer's captain says he is ready to wager his salary that he can shorten the time for each trip to forty-nine days. The Northwestern brought back 2,000 tons of salt and a cargo of general merchandise.

Yacht May Be Benched.

Racine, Wis., July 19. — The yacht Beatrice, en voyage to Chicago to take part in the trial races for the Canada's Cup Defender, encountered a storm during the night and has not been heard from. Six persons were aboard. It is thought probable the yacht has been beached between here and Milwaukee.

Drank Laudanum and Died.

Niagara Falls, July 19. —Douglas Cook, who has spent nearly all his life in prison, died in the lock-up here last night from the effects of laudanum taken Tuesday night.

Boys' White and Blue and White Galatea Sailors, worth 25c For 15c.

The centre aisle of Peterborough's Strictly Cash Dry Goods House presents a fascinating appearance to the thrifty housewife—and little wonder, for on the big broad tables are hundreds—yes, hundreds of useful materials in useful lengths, for a mere song. True, the littleness of price makes one wonder if they are good, but the trade mark at the bottom of this advertisement safeguards that, and it is only another instance where cheapness at this store doesn't mean cheap goods, but reliable Goods cheap.

It will pay you to remember that this is one of the two weeks in the year set aside for the "riddance" of all Remnants. The number of Remnants is greater this half year owing to greater business, and this greater business has given us an incentive to mark these Remnants cheap—in appreciation of the increased business.

STEYN'S CONFIDENCE.

Its Sources Revealed in His Recent Captured Correspondence

HAD PLENTY OF AMMUNITION.

The Viakfontein Wounded—Investigation Being Held at Johannesburg—Various Non-Commissioned Officers and Men Swear That the Boers Shot the Wounded—Three Prominent Boers Killed.

London, July 19.—The War Office issued late last night a despatch from Lord Kitchener giving the correspondence between Mr. Reitz and Mr. Steyn that was captured with the latter's baggage near Lindley, July 11.

Mr. Reitz, under date of May 10, wrote Mr. Steyn that a meeting of the Transvaal Government had been held, attended by Gen. Botha, Gen. Viljoen and Mr. Smutz, to consider the national situation.

He went on to catalogue the difficulties, the numerous surrenders of burghers entailing a heavy responsibility on the government, the rapidly decreasing supply of ammunition, the disentregation of the government and the lack of any definite assurance of European intervention.

"In view of these facts," he said, "the Government has decided to address a message to President Kruger, pointing out the terrible conditions. The time has passed for us to let matters drift as at present. We must take a final step."

Mr. Steyn, replying May 15, upraids Mr. Reitz with weak heartedness, saying: "There is still sufficient ammunition to continue the struggle. You ask what prospect there is of a successful termination. I ask what chance there was for two small republics when they declared war against the mighty power of Great Britain. You will answer that we trusted in God and in foreign intervention. What reason is there now to place less trust in God?

"I have seen recent European newspapers, and I firmly believe that complications will occur in Europe in the course of a few months which will secure our good fortune."

Mr. Steyn also says the fact that Mr. Kruger and the Boer delegates remain in Europe convinces him that they consider the case not beyond hope. He adds that he has summoned Gen. Dewet and urges Mr. Reitz to take no steps until he has heard further from him.

VLAKFONTEIN WOUNDED SHOT.

The Investigation in the Boer Atrocities Proves Charges True.

Johannesburg, July 18.—In the course of an inquiry, conducted under oath here to-day, various non-commissioned officers and men of the British army confirmed the statement that the Boers shot the British wounded at Vlakfontein.

Three Boers Killed.

London, July 19. — Lord Kitchener, commanding the British forces in South Africa, reports to the War Office as follows:

"Elandsfontein, July 18. —Captain Charles Botha, son of Philip Botha, and Field Cornets Humann and Olive have been killed in the Orange River Colony."

Another Canadian Dead.

London, July 19. — News was received in the city yesterday of the death from enteric fever of Henry Mann, son of John Mann, 320 Ontario street. Henry Mann went to South Africa with Baden-Powell's police, recruiting in Toronto. He was a member of All Saints' Church,

A Lady Town Treasurer.

Thorold, July 19. — At a special meeting of the Town Council last night Miss Nina Dougan was appointed treasurer of this municipality in succession to her brother, who recently resigned to go to Blind River, New Ontario. Miss Dougan is the first lady in Ontario to be honored with the position. The appointment gives the utmost satisfaction.

Biggings's Body Found.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., July 19.—The body of the late Private Philip Biggings of the 3rd Royal Canadian Regiment, son of ex-Mayor Biggings of this town, was recovered in Nettleton's Lake, near here, last evening about 6.45. The unfortunate young man met his death on Monday last while bathing, having obtained a furlough of three weeks on a visit to his parents, and had been here but a couple of days before the accident occurred.

FOSTERIANA.

A great effort is being made to galvanize Hon. George E. Foster, the historical bolter, into political activity. The man that worked the political "bolt from the blue" against Sir Mackenzie Bowell should be a good subject for experiment with political electricity.

It is stated that Mr. Whitney contemplates associating Hon. G. E. Foster with himself in provincial politics. Probability is lent this suggestion by the fact that such a thing would be quite in line with Mr. Whitney's retrograde ideas.

An effort is being made within the Conservative party to prune out the dead wood and moulding branches. An attempt to graft Mr. Foster upon a moulding branch might work.

The man who knocked the Conservative party at Ottawa into a cocked hat would be a fitting associate to the man who, according to the Conservative organ, "The Tory," has hoodooed the party in this province.

When Mr. Whitney shows his ability to rule his own party, he may lay some claim to being intrusted with the duty of ruling this province. If he attempts to accomplish the former by getting the co-operation of the party wrecker, Mr. Foster, it won't take much of a prophet to predict the extent of his success.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The barest and baldest outlook in life is not without its compensations. The man whose hirsute adornments have departed, and left his head a shiny hippodrome for the sprinting house-fly, can draw some comfort from the assurance of a medical writer that those with abundant heads of hair are the most promising subjects for pulmonary consumption.

Hon. Mr. Tarte, Minister of Public Works, dreads fire like a burnt child, since the destruction of the Western Block. He peremptorily forbade smoking in the buildings. The other day he met a civil servant smoking a cigarette in a corridor — and the employee and the cigarette were both put out—suspended. It's an open question whether or not a good deal of this summary justice was not due to orders being disobeyed through the medium of a cigarette.

Ottawa boasts that the census returns will give it a population of 60,000. It is indeed a pleasure to note the great advance in material growth and elegance the capital is making. Being the chief city of a Dominion that is booming ahead, it could not do otherwise than make a great advance. It is not many years since Ottawa hadn't even a place on the map.

The United States is a great country — its bound to go ahead and have all the modern improvements. It has a beautiful pre-eminence in lynchings, roasting negroes, shooting, divorces, crank religious, free love communities, cyclones, cloud bursts, floods, Mormonism, strikes,, millionaires, trusts, etc., and now it boasts of adding an increasing prevalence of leprosy to its distinctions. The replies to circulars sent out show that there is an alarming increase of leprosy in the United States. With their population an ethnological hash it is not surprising that the United States should be blessed with the morbid peculiarities of its diverse population.

Mr. Whitney, leader of the Opposition, poses as a political purist, and condemns alleged political corruption practised by his political opponents; but he has never been known to even object to, let alone condemn, corruption practised in the interests of his own party. He never condemned Billy Smith, ex-M.P., of South Ontario, a self-confessed briber, who, according to a judge, perpetrated the most glaring corruption he (the Judge) ever heard of. Neither has Mr. Whitney condemned the corrupt vote stealing Conservative circular distributed in the interests of his party —"get numerical control of the council, and appoint all the Conservative assessors you can." Why appoint Conservative assessors? Muskoka furnishes the answer. From the Bracebridge assessment roll the names of forty Liberals were left off by the "Conservative assessor." An appeal to the Mayor, a Conservative, was ineffectual, and appeal to the County Judge was also unsuccessful; and the circumstances have been reported to Toronto, where there is a chance that the names of these forty Liberals may be attached to the list. Mr. Whitney doesn't condemn anything, no matter how black, that tends to mend his political fortunes.

An Engineer's Courage.

Rochester, July 18. — Joseph Parry, one of the oldest engineers of the New York Central Railroad, while making his run on the old road from Auburn to this city, fractured his right hipbone, while alighting from his train at Seneca Falls for orders. It was impossible to get another engineer to complete the trip on time, and Mr. Parry was helped back into his cab, and made the run to this city, arriving only 15 minutes late. During the run the jarring of the engine was continually grinding the ends of the broken bone against each other, and it seems wonderful that the engineer was able to undergo the great pain and retain consciousness.

LITTLE BOY CUT UP.

Edward Drexler, Aged Three Years, Mutilated by the Machine in His Father's Wheat Field.

London, July 19.—Edward, the three-year-old son of Frank Drexler of Guelph Township, was badly mutilated by a reaper in his father's wheat field Wednesday afternoon, and died in three hours.

The wheat was being cut by John Laidlaw, a neighbor. It is nearly five feet in height and very heavy. The field is near Mr. Drexler's house, and Miss Drexler, a sister of the child, took him into the field to watch the machine. She sat him down near the fence and left him, thinking he was in a safe position. The little fellow, however, became restless, and as the horses were coming towards him he ran out into the wheat directly in front of the machine. He was not noticed, owing to the height of the wheat, until the machine struck him.

Edward's left leg was almost severed near the knee, also two fingers of the hand, and he bore other evidences of the accident. Two physicians were summoned, but the little fellow passed away in a few hours. The accident has cast a gloom over the entire neighborhood.

STRUCK BY A SQUALL.

Edgar Wilkes of Oakville Drowned Off Burlington Beach.

Hamilton, July 19.—Edgar Wilkes, 20 years old, son of an Oakville merchant, was drowned off Burlington Beach early last evening. He and a party, among whom were Charles Cooper, Moses Tyrrell, W. Bates and Reginald Knowles, sailed from Oakville to the beach early in the afternoon. They started for home about 6 o'clock. A squall struck the boat and Wilkes, being unable to swim, sank. The rest clung to the craft and were rescued.

Still Negotiating.

London, July 19. — In the House of Commons yesterday the Parliamentary Secretary of the Foreign Office, Lord Cranborne, informed a questioner that the difficulty which caused the deadlock among the Ministers of the Foreign powers at Pekin had reference to the collection of the revenues ear-marked for the purpose of the indemnity, and that the negotiations at Pekin were still in progress.

Ottawa, July 19.—A second eviction for trespass has been carried out at St. Regis. The persons evicted are an Indian named Mitchell and his family. Like Jake Skin, they had squatted upon an island leased to white people, and would not move when ordered to by the Indian Department. The Dominion Police thereupon put them off by force.

A New Russian Move.

London, July 19. — A despatch to The Globe from Shanghai, dated July 17, says the Russians, through the Belgians, are endeavoring to buy the Kai-P'ing collieries in northern Chili Province, the strategic value of which is incalculable. The Kai-P'ing collieries are now largely supplying the navies of the powers in the far east with coal.

TORN BY VICIOUS DUCK HOUNDS.

Son of Thomas Fawcett of Niagara Falls May Die.

Niagara Falls, July 19. — Gordon Fawcett, the six-year-old son of Thomas Fawcett, late gold commissioner in the Yukon, and at present connected with Tyrell & Ford, civil engineers, Hamilton, was attacked on M.C.R. square about 10 o'clock yesterday morning by two large Chesapeake duck hounds owned by "Doc" Luke and was badly torn by the vicious animals. The lad's scalp was almost torn off, and had it not been for the lad's cries heard by some men, who went to his assistance and clubbed the brutes off, they certainly would have soon killed him, as they had him down tearing at his head and shoulders with their teeth. The boy was taken home and physicians called, who fear the boy will not recover. The vicious brutes were immediately shot by the police.

PROFIT-SHARING.

Messrs Wm. and J. G. Greey Divide $4,000 Among Their Employes.

Toronto, July 19.—William and J. G. Greey, mill machine manufacturers of Church street, have introduced several phases of advanced socialism among their employes. First, they have religious service for their men from 7 to 7.30 every morning. This does not mean increasing the hours of labor. Again, true to a promise made last year that their employes should share in the profits of the concern, Messrs. Greey yesterday divided $4,000 among the men. The division was in proportion to the number of years the employe had worked with the firm. A man who had worked one year got $40.

It is understood that Messrs. Greey are looking for a new site for their works.

HER IDENTITY CLEARED UP.

Body Found in Ottawa River Tuesday That of Miss Morrison.

Ottawa, July 19. — The body found in the Ottawa River on Tuesday has been identified as that of Anna Bella Morrison, a domestic, whose home is in Ottawa. The clothing, which was taken from the body, has been identified by close friends of Miss Morrison, and the description tallies at every point. Even the ornaments, which were found on the body have been identified. It is not yet known whether Miss Morrison was murdered or was the victim of an accident. An inquest was held last night, but it did not throw any light upon the events which led to the death. Detectives are investigating.

POSSIBILITIES OF THE POSTAL SYSTEM.

Cheap Mail Facilities One of the Chief Factors in Our Prosperity and Progress.

"Common is the commonplace." The most valuable of civil benefits is such a commonplace matter, that we scarcely give it a thought. It would take a winter on a whaler nipped in an ice floe to make us truly appreciable of the worth of the postal service. What a wonderful thing it is! Wonderful in its organization, with its vast machinery for the collection and distribution of letters, its railway mail cars, its route riders, the unfailing order and precision of its methods. Wonderful it is too in its results. It knits together families widely separated. It carries across the sea some tender lover's message or perhaps a little flower picked from the daisied grave of an English churchyard. Every hour of every day the mail bag is packed with words which waken love and laughter, and words which deepen the furrow in the cheek and dim the failing sight with bitter tears.

But with all this there is going on through the mail service a dissemination of human knowledge, a reaching out of human help which is one of the crowning blessings of our century. The correspondence schools led by Chautauqua, are sending to every village and hamlet the broader knowledge which is so eagerly craved by many who are shut in to the homely duties of a humble life. Without the mail system this plan of education would be impracticable.

Every mail, too, carries from the great centers, the advice of great physicians, which it would be impossible for the distant public to obtain were it not for the mails. Few people realize how many thousand people depend on the mail service for medical treatment. Not long ago when some postal affairs were being discussed in connection with the erection of the new postoffice building in Buffalo, N. Y., some light was thrown on this subject by the statement that the mail by Dr. R V. Pierce amounted daily to something over 1,500 pieces. Of course this is not a common case, because Dr. Pierce's relation as chief consulting physician to Buffalo's famous institution, The Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, makes his advice and that of his staff of nearly a score of skilled and experienced specialists much sought after, especially by women, to the treatment and cure of whose special diseases Dr. Pierce has devoted over thirty years of almost constant labor. But though this example is out of the ordinary, it may serve as an evidence of the amazing benefits reaped by the public from the mail service. It puts every outlying hamlet in touch with the most advanced medical specialism of the day. It gives at a cost of a two-cent stamp, the skill and experience that it has taken years to acquire. Literally at the cost of a two-cent stamp, since Dr. Pierce invites sick women to consult him by letter without charge. And this would seem to be one of the most remarkable services rendered by the postal system, perhaps the supreme service of all. For while it is a splendid thing to be able to shop in New York while living in Kansas, and a grand thing to be able to command the learning of great professors while working in the Michigan woods, it is a still greater thing that by means of this cheaply supplied service, men like Dr. Pierce, who have the disposition to be helpful, are enabled to place their skill and knowledge at the disposal of those who are being dragged down by disease, without the possibility of help from those about them. When one contemplates the vast and far reaching benefits of the mail service, so briefly touched upon in this article, it makes the familiar gray uniform of the postman the most glorious of all uniforms, for it is worn by the soldiers of the army of peace. It makes one feel like taking his hat off to the on-rushing mail train, and cheering the work and wisdom of Uncle Sam.

Is Your Piano in Tune?

The change of season affects pianos as well as everything else. Mr. Geo. Gumpricht, practical piano maker and tuner, with twenty-eight years' experience, attends to all orders left at Mr. H. S. Macdonald's drugstore.

An Evidence of Popularity.

Amongst the numerous gifts received by Mr. W. E. Lech on the occasion of his recent marriage, were a very handsome china dinner set from the members of the 57th Regt. Band, and a water jug and glasses in cut glass from a number of his bachelor friends.

Had Poor Luck.

A fishing party composed of Dr. Johnston of Rochester, Dr. Bradd, E. C. Complin and W. J. English, made great preparations for the handling of a big catch of fish yesterday. They went up to Lock No. 3, and had a boat sent down to them from Lakefield. The fish were not biting however, and the result of the afternoon's sport was only three small bass.

Not a Town Resident.

In response to numerous enquiries in regard to the Girls' Entrance Scholarship at Peterborough, we may state that the reason why it was not awarded to Miss Laura Smithson of Ashburnham Public School, who secured the highest number of marks was on account of her not having attended the Peterborough public schools. The scholarship is for residents of Peterborough, in attendance at Peterborough schools.

To-morrow's Excursion.

The Committee of the Stanley Piano excursion to Jubilee Point on Saturday afternoon at 2 p.m., promises it to be one of the best trips of the season. A full band will accompany the excursion, and dinner has been arranged for at the hotel. Returning on the home trip a concert has been arranged for and the company has kindly loaned a piano for the occasion. Thus a good afternoon and evening's enjoyment is assured. DOWN THE RIVER.

Items of Interest Concerning Local Steamboat Traffic Excursions.

The steamers City of Peterborough, North Star, Rainbow and Beaver were in port yesterday. The City had St. Luke's excursion, the North Star took her regular trip down the river, the Beaver came up with a scow load of hogs for the George Matthews Co., Limited, and the Rainbow brought to town a large scow load of oak cordwood from Hiawatha.

Mr. Fred Burnet, the genial owner of the steamer Rainbow, was in town to-day. Mr. Burnet finds all the business he can attend to with his fast little steamer. On the trip to town yesterday with a heavy scow load of cordwood, the Rainbow made a 6-mile-an-hour gait, which was exceptionally fast considering that she was against a head wind and coming up stream. The Rainbow is this year in command of the popular captain, Fred Copperwaithe, and he has associated with him 1st mate John Breen, 2nd mate Dick McCracken and engineer Jimmie Logan. The tender of the steamer Rainbow is known among the "bunch" as "out again, in again."

On Tuesday of this week the annual excursion of the Hastings' Presbyterian Sunday school took place to Idyl Wyld, per steamer Rainbow. The affair was very largely patronized by the leading citizens of the village.

Commodore Calcutt and Miss Susie Calcutt made a trip around the lake to their resorts this week.

Mr. Cassan left Idyl Wyld on Tuesday to take the position of purser on the steamer City of Peterborough.

Mr. Bert Whatley, the wine clerk at Idyl Wyld hotel, deserves every credit for the very pretty manner in which he has his apartments fitted up.

The Coldsprings' Public Library excursion took place on Tuesday afternoon per steamer Beaver to Idyl Wyld. The excursionists took the boat at Harwood. The serpent mounds were also visited. The affair passed off most successfully and too much credit cannot be given to the committee, the members of which were Dr. Pratt and Messrs. Fred Nickson, T. McBride, R. J. Hunter, D. McIntosh, jr., J. C. Rosevear and James McLeod.

Mr. J. S. Knapman, of town, has purchased from Mr. Fred Burnet a large number of telegraph poles, the same to be loaded at Hastings. The logs will be boomed and towed from Mr. Burnet's down the river Trent to Hastings station.

The steamer Water Lily was yesterday engaged in taking the Government blacksmith shop and lodging house to Healey's Falls. The Government dredge Trent will follow later.

The Rainbow brought up a scow load of lumber to town on Monday.

The following guests have registered at Idyl Wyld:—E. H. Proah, Esq., Detroit; Dr. Shaw, Keene; Mr., Mrs. and Miss Burnham, Cobourg; J. W. Hewie, Guelph; Wm. Copperthwaite, Birdsalls; Miss G. Reynolds, Norwood; F. Mitchell, Baltimore; Thos. Weir, Buffalo; Mrs B. Hunter, Peterborough; G. B. Salter, Norfolk, Neb.; Dr. Berry, Keene; A. A. Stewart, Campbellford; Misses Bonnycastle and Byam, Campbellford; Mrs.(Rev.) McClary, Norwood; Rev. Mr. James, Keene; M. Morrison, Cobourg; R. J. Kidd, Peterborough; John Reade, Castleton; E. B. Cook, Bowmanville; Mrs. J. C. Moffat, Norwood.

G. T. R. OFFICIALS HERE.

General Manager Reeve and Assistants on a Visit of Inspection.

Peterborough was visited yesterday by a party of prominent Grand Trunk officials, including General Manager Reeve, Mr. F. W. Morse, Third Vice-President, Mr. McGuigan, General Superintendent, Mr. Hobson, Chief Consulting Engineer, and the Divisional staff—Supt. W.R. Tiffin, Mr. Arthur White, Traffic agent, Mr. Wm. Ball, Mechanical Superintendent, and Mr. J. A. Cheer, Roadmaster.

The local officials met the headquarters staff at Belleville in the morning, and after an inspection of the yards and railway property there the party left by special train for this town. After a thorough examination of the railway property at this point the party left for North Bay.

REV. E. A. LANGFELDT.

Officially Appointed Rector of St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham.

(From the Omemee Mirror)

The Bishop, of Toronto, we are informed, has officially appointed the Rev. E. A. Langfeldt to the Rectorship of St. Lukes Church, Ashburnham, to take effect Sept. 1st next.

The above notice will be received with deep regret, especially by the members of the three churches, viz: Christ Church, St. John's and St. James', for the interests of which the rev. gentleman has been a most faithful and ardent worker. In the short period of 2 1-2 years, he has done more to advance the welfare of these Churches than most ministers have been able to do in many years. Not because they lacked ability, but for the reason they had not the energy and perseverance that Mr. Langfeldt possesses. We believe we voice the sentiments of the people when we say that everyone in this community will be sorry to see Mr. Langfeldt leave town. In the first place he is a Christian gentleman of the highest order, big hearted, always ready to help those in trouble, to lift up the fallen, and to assist them to do that which will be well pleasing both to God and the people of a Christian community. Omemee especially will lose a useful citizen. Mr. Langfeldt, outside of his ministerial duties, is always ready to assist in any enterprise that is for the advancement of the community in which he lives. He uses both his purse and his abilities to that end. During his Rectorship a new church and rectory have been built, and now it has been decided to move Christ Church onto the Rectory grounds, and to brick it, and also to put a basement under it for Sunday School purposes.

We therefore desire to express on behalf of the citizens of Omemee and Emily their appreciation of the rev. gentleman's valuable services, during his sojourn here. We congratulate him on his appointment to St. Lukes, and the members of said church are also to be congratulated on the appointment of Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, M.A., to the rectorship.

WILL GO TO TORONTO.

Lieut.-Col. Edwards has received official notification to the effect that there will be no review of troops at Ottawa on the occasion of the visit of the Duke of York. That function will take place at Toronto, to which point the 57th Regt. has been ordered.

IDYL WYLD SUMMER RESORT.

A Look Through the Newly Furnished House Now Open for Guests.

Among the many quiet, restful nooks on our neighbouring waterways, so easily accessible to Peterborough citizens, is the breezy island of Idyl Wyld, standing up high out of Rice Lake, and surrounded with a wealth of natural scenery in the immediate environments hard to surpass.

The newly-erected building, now ready for the reception of guests, has been changed from the spot where the former house stood, which was burned in the fall of 1899. It stands on a more picturesque situation, on the high western bank of the island, near where the band stand stood, and commands a fine view up and down the lake. The building has a western frontage of 75 feet, and a southern depth of 50 feet. It is built two full stories high, with lofty sloping roofs over all. On the first floor there are seven bedrooms, a large, airy dining room, large waiting room, store room, kitchen and laundry. On the second floor, which is not yet quite completed, there will be four double bed rooms and eight single rooms. The rooms are comfortably furnished with entirely new furniture and bedding, cool, airy and convenient.

The new house is under the management of Mrs. Walter Boswell, who is favourably spoken of as an experienced hostess. She is assisted by members of her own family, who have a special interest in the welfare and comfort of guests.

The pavilion which was the only building left after the fire, stands immediately in the rear of the house, and a new bar has been built east of the pavilion, which places it a considerable distance away from the main house.

Already there have been quite a number of excursions attracted to the island since its re-occupation, and more are to follow — four are already slated for the remaining weeks of July. Mr. Bert Whatley keeps his prime bar tastefully arranged and supplied with the best he can buy.

The demand for accommodation has become quite lively, for the month of August especially.

"Sea Breeze" Cottage, Rainypoint, owned by Mr. Harry Neil, has been taken by the Savigny Bros. of town, for part of the season.

The steamer "City of Peterborough will make daily trips to Idyl Wyld after this week.

PURER WATER.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear, — Owing to the intensity of the heat and the scarcity of good water, many of our citizens are driven to drink something stronger than water, while thousands of women and children have either to go without, or drink the river water, with its decomposed vegetable matter and myriads of microbes, the origin of so much typhoid fever and other diseases. When we consider that the impurities of Port Perry, Lindsay, Minden, Kinmount, Fenelon Falls, Bobcaygeon and Lakefield, and all intermediate points, are drained into the waters of our river, to say nothing of the numerous campers and river drivers who live night and day on these waters, no wonder we have so much disease in our otherwise healthy town.

I take no stock in the professional temperance orator, but I think every good citizen should diligently work out the problem as to what we shall do to avoid the consequences of drinking such water or the alternative. I have a suggestion to make. It has been established beyond a doubt by those who have driven wells through the hardpan which underlies the surface, that an abundance of pure, cold water is easily procurable, and that these wells are inexpensive. That being the case, I would suggest that our council take the matter up at once, and have a dozen or so of these wells driven in convenient places of the congested districts of the town, and thereby relieve the suffering, and do more in the cause of temperance than all the blatant temperance orators can do with their tongues.

Yours, etc.,
Citizen.

CHRISTIE—EARL.

Interesting Social Event on the 4th Line of Cavan.

One of the most interesting social events of the season was the wedding on Wednesday, June 26th, of Mr. Wm. Christie, of the 4th Line of Cavan and Miss Maggie Earl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Earl of Millbrook. The ceremony took place at the old homestead from which Mr. and Mrs. Earl moved last year to take up their residence in Millbrook, but which has since been the home of Mr. Harry Earl and the Misses Earl. At the appointed hour six o'clock p.m. the bridal procession appeared on the lawn, the bride on the arm of her father, with her sister, Miss Mary Earl as bridesmaid while the groom was supported by Mr. Fred Pendrie of Millbrook. They took their places under a beautiful decorated arch erected on the lawn where the Rev. Dr. Cade, of Millbrook, performed the ceremony. A very large gathering of invited guests were present to witness the ceremony and to extend their best wishes for a long and happy life. The bride looked very pretty indeed as she stood beneath the arch and took upon herself the marriage vows. Sumptuous refreshments were served after the nuptial knot was tied and a pleasant social evening enjoyed. The list of useful and lovely presents received by the bride shewed the high respect in which she had been held by her many friends. Mr. and Mrs. Christie have taken up their residence on the line.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH ANNUAL

The Sunday School Run an Excursion to Idyl Wyld.

A Delighted Crowd Enjoyed a Delightful Outing on a Delightful Day.

The Sunday school in connection with St. Luke's church enjoyed their annual excursion yesterday to Idyl Wyld. The teachers who had planned the trip and arranged the details have good cause to congratulate themselves on the success which attended their labours. The day was an ideal one for the occasion, the steamer accommodation ample and safe, and the romantic Rice Lake Island admirably suited for such an excursion.

There were fully two hundred and fifty excursionists on board when the steamer City of Peterborough left the Ashburnham wharf at 8.30. Of this crowd the scholars of the school formed the larger portion, but it was gratifying to notice the good attendance of adults—parents and friends—who accompanied the scholars. It is to the credit of St. Luke's congregation that so many of the heads of families felt it their duty to be present in testimony of their gratitude to those who teach their children Sunday after Sunday, as well as to encourage these faithful Sunday school labourers by giving them a helping hand in looking after the children once a year on the occasion of their annual school outing. Among those noticed on board were Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, the newly appointed successor to Rev. Dr. Symonds, Prof. Davies, organist of St. Luke's, and Messrs. R. B. Rogers, Frank Adams, (the village Reeve,) E. A. Peck, W. Sawyer, Harry Adams, Dr. Amys, Dr. McFall, R. Tivey, Alex. Fitzgerald, F. J. R. Mitchell, J. J. Turner, John Turner, and many others.

The trip down the river was an exhiliarating one after the torrid spell of the past week, the cool air and bracing breeze acting like a tonic on the spirits of young and old. Idyl Wyld was reached before one o'clock—the sail from the locks having been accomplished in about three hours and a half. An interesting half hour was spent over dinner, the excursionists being formed in happy family groups in shady nooks all over the island.

A programme of juvenile sports was prepared for the occasion and run off to the satisfaction of all. Following is a list of the events, and names of the prize winners:

Boys' race — (infant) — Howard Wyatt, Geo. Carpenter.

Girls' race—(infants) — Ada Adams, Lizzie Maniece.

Boys' race, 6 to 8 years — Rollie Howden, Willie Maniece.

Girls' race, 6 to 8 years — Retta Gaskin, Katie Leary.

Boys' race, 8 to 10 years — Fred Carpenter, Norman Geale.

Girls' race, 8 to 10 years — Zetta Jameson, Eva Crane.

Boys' race, 10 to 12 years — Fred Wyatt, Norman Geale.

Girls' race, 10 to 12 years — Lillie Scott, Clara Adams.

Boys' race, 12 to 14 years — Herbert Geale, Fred Wyatt.

Girls' race, 12 to 14 years — Muriel Scott, Flossie Wyatt.

Boys' race, 14 to 16 years — Chas. Crane, Herb Geale.

Girls' race, 14 to 16 years — Muriel Scott, Carrie Whittaker.

Boys' three-legged race — Chas. Crane, Herb. Geale.

Boot race, (girls) — Clara Adams, Edith Scott.

Teachers' race, (ladies) — Alice King, K. Phillips.

Long jump (boys) — Chas. Crane, Herb. Geale.

Hop, skip and jump — Herb. Geale, Chas. Crane.

Men's race, (open) — R. B. Rogers, J. J. Turner, jr.

The steamer headed for home at half-past four o'clock in the face of a stiff breeze from across the lake which cooled the air and made the sail up the river very refreshing and delightful. The gleeful party was safely landed at the wharf before 10 o'clock, delighted with the day's enjoyment.

Considerable interest was taken in the way the newly remodelled steamer "City of Peterborough," would behave on this her initial trip since her transformation from a side-wheeler to a twin screw propeller. Everyone commented favourably on her behaviour, and the splendid accommodation and safety afforded for large excursions. Notwithstanding the stiffness of the new machinery, she made the trip down to Jubilee in less than three hours. Commenting on her steadiness, Capt. Fee remarked that "she was the steadiest boat he ever was on—there was no roll to her." The veteran Capt. Sam Lambert handled the wheel as only an expert could do who knew every foot of the river. Passengers felt proud of him, too, when they learned that their wheelsman that day was the same "Sam" that steered the steamer "Otonabee," with our present King on board, across Rice Lake and under the Rice Lake bridge from Harwood to Hiawatha, forty years ago.

The steamer was delayed on her trip through the great bed of weeds at the mouth of the river, and the attention of Mr. Rogers, the Canal Engineer, was called to the necessity of dredging out this channel.

A large share of the credit for the successful carrying out of yesterday's excursion, is due to the valuable assistance given by the ladies, and the active committee, consisting of Messrs. W. Sawyer, J. J. Turner, jr., Harry Adams and Frank Adams.

The following has been handed in for publication in the Examiner:

"The managers of the excursion desire to express their satisfaction with the manner in which Captain Lee and crew of the steamer "City of Peterborough" have fulfilled their contract; with the excellent time made on this, the initial trip of the newly modelled vessel, and with the splendid accommodation provided for excursions of this nature, and we also thank the friends of the congregation who have by their attendance contributed to the success of the day's outing."

CANOEING.

The circular issued by the American Canoe Association regarding the coming meet, which commences on Aug. 9th, says:—

The 22nd Annual Meet of the American Canoe Association will take us back again to the ever-popular Islands of the St. Lawrence River.

The camp site—The Commodore has kindly placed at the exclusively disposal of the Association his island of Mudiunta for the Meet of 1901.

The Island of Mudiunta (meaning half moon) is one of the prettiest islands of the St. Lawrence. It is one of the Admiralty group, is over ten acres in extent, and situated about 2 miles south from Gananoque, between the Canadian and middle channel, and is believed will make one of the most attractive and convenient sites the Association has ever had the pleasure of camping on.

The headquarters will be very conveniently located in the Commodore's residence (which will be used exclusively for that purpose only during the two weeks of camp), within easy access from the main and ladies' camp and dock.

The main camp will lie to the east of headquarters on a high and level tract of land, and will embrace such a space that desirable spots can be secured by all.

The Ladies' Camp or Squaw Point, will be situated to the west of headquarters, and while the portion laid out for this purpose is not as large as that of the main camp, still a sufficient number of beautiful and desirable spots will be found to accommodate every one.

The camp store—The exclusive privileges of the right of sale on the camp grounds have been awarded to Messrs. Johnston and Hale, both of whom have been in the grocery and supply business in Gananoque for years, and were also camp storekeepers at Stave Island, giving general satisfaction. It is hoped that the members will patronize them exclusively. They will build a commodious store in the vicinity of headquarters, and will endeavour to serve to the best of their ability the wants of the members. They will supply ice if required.

The mess tent—This will be most advantageously situated on a level stretch of land lying between two bays. It will be to the west of headquarters, and very convenient to both the ladies' and main camp. A capable caterer will have charge of this department and guarantees satisfaction. The rate will be as usual, $1.00 per day.

ENGLAND'S HOBBY.

Canada Soon to be the Talk of the World.

Mr. George Hughes, of the London Daily Express, Mr. Ernest Tabernacle of the London Advertiser, and Mr. R. Curphy of the Isle of Man Times, have been visiting Canada for the past few weeks and sending glowing accounts of what they have seen to their papers. They have been escorted on their trip by Mr. H. S. Congdon, of the Halifax press, and returned to Montreal yesterday on their journey homeward. They have visited the vast western wheat fields, the mining camps, the cities, the mountains and the fisheries of the Canadian North West, and declare that the resources of the country are sufficient to, in the near future, render the Motherland quite independent of all foreign nations, as Canada alone will be able to furnish all the breadstuffs required by the United Kingdom. At the Windsor yesterday, these gentlemen said their vocabularies did not contain a sufficient number of adjectives to properly describe the heritage which Providence has given to Canada west of the great lakes. They stopped at Winnipeg, Calgary, Brandon, and nearly all the other centres of population en route for the coast. England, they remarked, should learn as she never learned before of the great strides that Canada has made during the last ten years or more.

PUZZLES FOR JUDGES

SIMPLE WORDS THAT HAVE TANGLED UP ENGLISH COURTS.

Some Terms of Almost Everyday Use That Proved to Be Too Profound For the Intelligence of the Learned Bench and Bar.

In a case that came before a famous lord justice some time ago the counsel for the prosecution in the evidence had to mention a "blouse."

The judge asked what a blouse was, and it was explained that this was part of a lady's dress. But the case came to a dead stop for the time, for the judge did not know which part, and after some hesitation the barrister admitted that he wasn't sure. Several learned brothers gave their opinion, some opining a blouse was the upper half of a lady's costume, while others insisted it must be the lower half. The entire court, filled with learned celebrities whose heads held all the laws of Britain, from pitch and toss to manslaughter, argued it out, but nobody was sure. The judge thought it was the lower half, but a junior barrister who had lately been married said he thought that that half was called a skirt, but did not feel certain. At length a lady was called, who set the court right.

Another odd dilemma happened not long ago when in the Hobson "horse faking" case the word "fetlock" arose. A fetlock, as everybody knows, is the ankle of a horse. The court asked what it was, however and the prose-cuting counsel was nonpluused. The witnesses were out of court save one, and he knew nothing. The judge thought a fetlock was a sort of hind knee, otherwise "hock," but one learned brother was quite certain it was the lock of hair that hangs over a horse's forehead. The defendant's solicitor opined it was that part of the harness which slips over the tail, the crupper, and another legal celebrity agreed with the judge. Finally the court had to call a stable groom to clear up the mystery.

In a case that was settled some years since the recorder was brought up short by a phrase used by the counsel for defense, who spoke of a transaction concerning a pound of "blacklead." This is a common and useful article, but the counsel on being asked to explain its nature said it was a black substance used for boot polishing. The recorder thought it was a mineral used in lead pencils, but another barrister asserted it to be a "tough kind of lead used for roofing houses." The case was brought to a standstill, and one lawyer, unsurpassed in legal knowledge, declared that blacklead was a slang term for pig iron as produced in the north country. A fourth expounder of the law vaguely suggested it was the opposite of white lead, and finally a domestic servant put the court right, and the assembly at last learned that it was used for blacking stoves.

Another dilemma was produced a little while ago on the western circuit by the introduction of the words "dry nurse" in an address to the court. This bewildered the judge, who asked if a dry nurse was a nurse who dried babies after they had been washed. That solution did not occur to the learned counsel, who, after some hesitation, said he thought it meant a nurse who was not addicted to drinking and therefore most suitable to look after infants. Nobody seemed to know what the term really meant, though several more guesses were made, the last of them that a dry nurse was one who could not amuse children.

The court was again nonplused by a statement made that somebody concerned in the case supposed to suffer from melancholia was really "as jolly as a sandboy." The judge wanted to know what a sandboy was in order to form some idea as to the exact degree of jollity involved. The counsel could not tell him, though one suggested it was a boy who sanded the roads and the other thought it might be a lad building sand castles on the seashore. The whole court stopped to discuss what a sandboy was and why he was jolly, but they could not solve the problem.

It is hardly believable that anybody should not know what a "snaffle" is, but a London magistrate recently desired to be informed, and nobody could tell him what a snaffle might be. A solicitor thought it was the same thing as the "curb," and the clerk had an idea it was a kind of cold in the head which horses caught, causing them to snuffle a good deal.—London Answers.

A Famous Temple.

The most magnificent work of architecture in the world is the Taj Mahal, in Agra, Hindustan. It was erected by Shah Jehan to the memory of his favorite queen. It is octagonal in form, of pure white marble, inlaid with jasper, carnelian, turquoise, agate, amethysts and sapphires. The work took 22,000 men 20 years to complete, and though there were free gifts and the labor was free the cost is estimated at $10,000,000.

Barrie, July 18.—The cheese market here to-day developed more strength and activity than any time before this season. The great falling off in the make generally is having its effect, and much higher prices are bound to prevail unless our English friends quit eating cheese altogether. Offerings, 686 boxes first ten days of July. Sales: 445 at 9 7-16c, 126 at 9½c; balance unsold. Forty boxes Fairview creamery butter sold at 18c. Four buyers in attendance. Board adjourned to meet Aug. 1 at 1.30.

Cured.

"No," said the man in the mackintosh, "my wife doesn't give away any of my old clothes or sell them to the ragman any more. I cured that habit effectually once."

"How was that?" they asked him.

"When I found that she had disposed of a coat I hadn't worn for several weeks, I told her there was a letter in it she had given me to mail the last time I had it on. And that was no lie either," he added with deep satisfaction.

Evidence to the Contrary.

"I told Uncle Simon that he was getting too old and feeble to attend to business."

"Did he take it kindly?"

"He threw me out of his office."

Arms and The Woman

By Harold MacGrath

Copyright, 1900, By Harold MacGrath.

"Herr Winthrop's supper is ready," announced the innkeeper.

"Go and eat it!" I said childishly.

"Your appetite is gone then?" imperturbably.

"Yes, and get you gone with it!"

The innkeeper surveyed for a space. "Will you kindly tell me from whom you received the information that her highness was at the inn?"

I produced the unsigned letter. He read it carefully, while Gretchen looked on nervously.

"Ach," said the innkeeper, "that Stahlberg! He shall be dismissed."

Unhappily for him that individual was just passing along the corridor. The innkeeper signaled him to approach.

"How dared you?" began the innkeeper, thrusting the letter under Stahlberg's nose.

"Dare? I? Herr," said the big fellow, "I do not understand. What is it you accuse me of?"

"This!" cried the innkeeper. "You have written to Herr Winthrop and told him that her highness was at the inn. And you were expressly forbidden to do so."

Stahlberg looked around blankly. "I swear to heaven, herr"—

"Do not prevaricate," the innkeeper interrupted. "You know that you wrote this."

"Stahlberg," I cried excitedly, "tell me why you wrote this note to me and I'll see that you are taken care of the rest of your days."

"I forbid him!" commanded Gretchen in alarm.

"As God hears me, herr," said Stahlberg stoutly, "I wrote not a line to you or to any one."

"Oh!" cried the innkeeper, stamping. "And you deny that you have written here that you saw her highness in the garden three nights ago?"

Gretchen was beginning to grow terrified for some reason. I myself was filled with wonder, knowing well enough that nothing about a garden had been written in the note I had received.

"Do you dare deny," went on the implacable old man, "that you have written here that you saw her highness in the garden and that she was weeping and murmuring this man's name?"

"Oh!" cried Gretchen, gazing wildly at the door.

The innkeeper suddenly took the bewildered giant by the shoulders and pushed him from the room, following him swiftly, and the door closed noisily behind them.

My heart was in flames. I understood all now, though I dare say Gretchen didn't. All at once her head fell on the back of the chair from which she had but lately risen. She was weeping silently and deeply. I did not move, but stood watching her, drinking in with exultation the loveliness of a woman in tears. She was mine, mine, mine! The innkeeper had not really known her heart till the night in the garden to which he so adroitly referred. Then he had made up his mind that things were not as they should be and had sent me that anonymous note. Mine at last, I thought. Somehow for the first time in my life I felt what is called masterful—that is to say, not all heaven and earth should take her away from me now. Softly I passed over to her side and knelt at her feet. I lifted the hem of her gown and pressed it to my lips.

"My princess," I murmured; "all mine." I kissed her unresisting hand. Then I rose and put my arms around her. She trembled, but made no effort to withdraw. "I swear to you, Gretchen, that I will never leave you again, not if the king should send an army against me, which he will never do, since he has commanded that I marry you. Beware! It is a dangerous thing to trifle with a king's will. And, then, even if the king should change his mind I should not. You are mine. I should like to know if I haven't won you! Oh, they do well to call you Princess Caprice! Oh, Gretchen," falling back to humble tones, "what a weary year has been wasted! You know that I love you. You have never really doubted it. You know that you have not. Had you gone to your sister when she wrote to you she would have told you that it was for you alone that I made her a princess, that all my efforts were to make you free to wed. Gretchen, you will not send me away this time, will you? You will be kind and bid me to stay?"

"She loves you," whispered Gretchen.

This admitted no reply. I simply pressed my lips to her hair. The sobs were growing audibly less.

"I read it in her eyes," persisted Gretchen.

"Gretchen, answer me. Do you love me?"

"Yes."

I placed my hands against her temples and turned her head around so that those blue green eyes, humid and tearful, looked into mine.

"Oh, I cannot deny it. If I wrong her in accepting your love, it is because I cannot help it. I love you better than all the world. So well do I love you that"— Her head sank on my heart, and her sobs began afresh.

"That what, Gretchen?" I asked.

"Nothing." By and by she said:

"I love you better than all the world."

"Keep faith with me, and I promise to love as few women can."

Then I kissed her lips. "Gretchen?"

"What is it?"

"I have an idea that we shall be very happy. Now let us go and make terms of peace with the innkeeper."

We found him alone in the barroom.

"Gretchen," said I, "read this note."

As her eyes ran over those six words she blushed.

"Hermann," she said, "you have betrayed me."

"And when will your highness order me out to be shot?" asked he, smiling.

"At sunrise. But I shall blindfold the soldiers and take the charges from their guns. I forgive you."

"Now, Hermann," said I, "fill me up a stein." I held it high above my head. "A health! Long live the king! Long live her serene highness the Princess"—

"Elizabeth," said Gretchen gently. "I fear she has lost something which is never to be found again."

I drained the stein, and as I set it down I thought. Phyllis is so far away and Gretchen is so near!

"Let us go into the garden," said I.

For a long time we wandered here and there, saying nothing. I was thinking that I had found a castle at last which neither tides nor winds nor sudden awakenings could tumble down.

"Gretchen, you must never take up the sword again."

"Only in my lord's defense." From the movement of her arm, which clung to mine, I knew that she was laughing.

The moon had risen, the round and mellow moon of summer. The silver mists of night wavered and sailed through the aisles of the forests, and from the river came the cool, fresh perfume of the river rush.

"And so you really love me?" I asked.

"I do."

"Why do you love me?"

"Because," said Gretchen,

THE END.

A Mother To Mothers.

"I am the mother of five children," writes Mrs. S. E. Rose, of Big Otter, West Va., "and have been as high as eight days in the doctor's hands, and never less than two days with any child until the last. Then I had used two bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and was only two hours in the hands of the doctor."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a woman's medicine. It cures diseases of the womanly organs. It is a wonderful medicine for mothers, making the baby's advent practically painless and giving abundant strength to nurse and nourish the child.

ALL IS SELFISHNESS.

The Wise Man's Theory and How it Was Exploded.

"After all," said the wise man, "what is it but selfishness? The optimist who goes through life whistling and singing songs of cheer is not entitled to any special credit, because it is a pleasure to him to be happy. If it didn't make him glad to be happy, he wouldn't be that way. So you see selfishness lies at the bottom of his good cheer.

"Then there is the pessimist. Is he discouraged because he thinks it is his duty to mankind to paint dark pictures? Not at all. His is another clear case of selfishness. He gratifies himself by being unhappy and trying to make others so. Love, too, is selfishness. The maiden doesn't love the man to make him glad. It's her own happiness that she promotes in looking upon him as the noblest work of God. Man's love for woman has back of it the same selfish motive.

"So, too, the philanthropist's love of the world. He loves it and loves to do great things for it because it gives him a satisfaction to know that he is doing well.

"Consider it from whatever standpoint you please, and you must always arrive at the same conclusion. Everything that man does he does selfishly. It is always a case of gratifying his own inclinations. It"—

Just then the wise man turned a somersault and skinned his nose against a water plug. When he got up and looked around, with the look of one who was beginning to remember things that had long been forgotten, his pupil asked:

"Was it selfishness that impelled you to stub your toe? Did you do it because it brought a sense of gratification to your"—

"Say, you confounded idiot," the wise man replied, "you ought to have that grin photographed. It would make a good frontispiece to Darwin's works."

CASE IN STRATHROY.

Mrs. Eliza Browne, of Metcalf Street, Cured of Dyspepsia—Great Interest of Her Case for Other Dyspeptics—Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets the Means of Her Cure.

The interest in the case of Mrs. Eliza Browne, Metcalfe street, Strathroy, centres not so much in her disease, which is common enough, but her cure, which cannot be too thoroughly known.

Her disease was dyspepsia, or debility of the stomach. She had the only too-usual symptoms of heartburn and pain after eating. Her stomach would not digest her food, and she was losing strength and flesh steadily.

Her cure was effected by Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, and it is on that point that sufferers from Dyspepsia are invited to centre their attention, Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are curing Chronic Dyspepsia, Dyspepsia of five and six years' standing, all over the country. People are writing every day to express their hearty appreciation of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, because they do what everything else fails to do — they cure. This case of Mrs. Browne's in Strathroy, is not the only one in Mrs. Browne's circle of friends. But it is a typical one, and it is a genuine one:

"I have been troubled with Dyspepsia and Indigestion for over a year. I could positively get no relief. I would have Heartburn after every meal, and tried my best to get something to stop it, and failed.

"I heard of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and bought a box from Mr. Dyas, the druggist. After I had used several boxes of them I found to my surprise that I could stop taking any more and no longer be subject to Heartburn, nor have I had any other sign of a return of this dreadful disease."

Great Patent Nation.

The United States grants 25,000 patents per annum, or nearly as many as all the rest of the world. England grants 3,000 per annum and France and Germany each about 7,000, and such countries as Canada, Australia, Austria, Italy and Russia grant about 4,000 each. An interesting and hopeful fact is that more patents are granted in proportion to the applications than ever before in the history of the patent office, showing that mechanical genius is not chasing as many rainbows as formerly. American inventive genius is shown in all lines of invention, but it greatly predominates in machinery for manufacturing, transportation and labor saving. Europe and the orient have begun to find that without American industries they would be unable to go ahead.—Success.

What Might Have Happened.

A sporty young gentleman of the city who drives a dainty runabout which is the envy of the other young men of his set was driving down Main street the other day when he nearly ran over a six foot countryman. The countryman caught the bit and sat the horse upon its haunches without apparent effort and then complacently remarked to the driver:

"Sonny, you had better be careful how you drive that doll buggy of your'n. If I hadn't collared this here horse, you would 'a' run that thing into me and smashed it all to kindling."

Difficult Dutch.

The Dutch language is of a good old fashioned tongue. It is so difficult that English speaking people cannot without difficulty acquire it. In fact, some folk say it is more like unto English than it is to German. The Boers in South Africa use the Dutch tongue as it was spoken 200 years ago.

SYSTEM TONIC IS A SCIENTIFIC REMEDY AFTER THE SUGGESTIONS OF THE BEST PHYSICIANS IN AMERICA, DISPENSED BY A CHEMIST.

Fac-Simile of Genuine.

History of Merrill's System Tonic

This now famous remedy is not a hap hazard mixture. On the contrary it is the result of years of careful thought and experiment, having always the definite object in view of combining alterative herbs with a definite tonic for each organ in the body. Alteratives are medicines which assist the glands of the body to throw off waste and poisonous matter and absorb the nourishment provided by the food eaten. These glands are found in the stomach, kidneys, bowels, bladder and lungs. Besides these glands, each of these important organs is composed of more or less muscular matter, and it is upon this that tonic medicines act. A different tonic is required in almost each of these sets of muscles. After much observation the alterative mixture originated and prescribed by Walter S. McDade, of Philadelphia, and highly indorsed by Edwin F. Rush, of the Bellevue Medical College, of New York, and J. Marion Sims, of the Chicago University of Medicine, all medical men of the highest standing on the continent, was chosen. To this compound was added the different tonics above described. Merrill's System Tonic cannot be called a quack medicine, as knowledge and skill are behind it. It accomplishes four great purposes, on which ninety per cent. of disease hinges, viz., purifies the blood, builds up the glandular and muscular system, strengthens and soothes the nerves and cures constipation. It thus guarantees you a permanent cure for dyspepsia, skin disease, kidney troubles, general debility, nervousness and female troubles.

VERY EXPLOSIVE WOOD.

Difficulty In Disposing of Casks That Have Held Nitroglycerin.

"One of the most puzzling of the many difficult problems that confront our trade is how to get rid of the empty casks that have contained nitroglycerin," said a manufacturer of explosives. "The wood of the casks becomes so saturated with nitroglycerin that in explosiveness it equals the nitroglycerin itself.

"It does not pay nor is it safe to refill the casks. To burn them is out of the question. If left around, they are a constant menace, for while all men are prone to show their respect for a dangerous explosive there are few that think that harm can come of a kick at an empty barrel. There is nothing to do but to explode the casks.

"This is generally done by placing them on open ground and firing a rifle bullet at them from a safe distance. The concussion produced by the bullet is more than enough to bring about an explosion, and there is one good thing about these casks when they go off—there are no fragments to pick up.

"When I said that the shock of the bullet was more than sufficient, I meant every word of it. To prove this I'll just tell you what happened at our factory not so very long ago. Two empty nitroglycerin casks were to be blown up. Three men with a team of horses, a wagon and a rifle set about the business. They reached the spot selected for the explosion in safety and lifted the casks to the ground.

"One of the casks was carried to a proper distance. The other was left standing near the wagon. The man who was to do the shooting then conceived the idea of leaning his rifle against the top of this second cask to get a better aim. He thought this was safe because he knew that the recoil of the rifle was almost unnoticeable.

"Well, when he fired there were two simultaneous explosions. His bullet hit its mark and did its work. At the same time the other cask was exploded by the slight jar produced by the firing of the shot. The three men, the two horses and the wagon were literally swept off the earth, and when a few moments later you passed the spot where they had stood it was hard to believe that they had ever existed. The largest fragment recovered after them was a harness buckle."

Early Universities in Scotland.

In the early university period there were no salaried teachers, no lecture halls, no separate buildings whatever. In the first years of the University of Glasgow, for instance, theology and law were taught in the crypt of the cathedral, where church and academy were evidently one and the same. The need of special buildings for instruction and residence was soon felt. The idea of distinct colleges as component parts of one university as a whole originated in Bologna and Paris, where the overcrowding and rise in prices of lodgings had led benevolent patrons to found college, where the students could be protected also by proper supervision from the corrupting influences of these communities.—Scribner's.

Awful Heat at Bisley.

London, July 19. — The heat yesterday exceeded all previous records of the season. The entire absence of any breeze adds from 10 to 15 degrees to the 87 degrees recorded by the official thermometer, and indications point to a further increase of the stifling temperature.

At Bisley the shooting contests are proceeding in the sun at a temperature of 142 degrees.

The prolonged drouth over the country threatens to be the most serious yet experienced. The water supply of Manchester is already shut off from there at night until five in the morning, and the streets of the city will no longer be watered after this week.

Similar conditions are threatened in other localities and many factories are closing in consequence of the exhaustion of their reservoirs.

HE WAS TRIED BY HIS PEERS.

Earl Russell Will Spend Three Months in Holloway Jail.

London, July 19. — The quaint ceremonial of the trial of Earl Russell, a peer of the realm in the House of Lords, with all the pomp and pageantry of ancient usage, yesterday, resulted in his pleading guilty to the charge of bigamy, and being sentenced to three months' imprisonment. The scene, when the Lord High Chancellor, Lord Halsbury, who had been appointed Lord High Steward, took his seat upon the dais was most picturesque.

Lord Russell in addressing the House said the decree obtained in the United States gave social sanction to the new marriage. Earl Russell said he proposed to re-marry Mollie Cooke as early as possible. He had acted in ignorance and with no intention of defying the law.

ROSEBERY EXPLAINS.

Claims That Hullabaloo About Manifesto Proves Truth.

OLYMPIAN REPOSE PERILOUS.

Has to Speak Out to Save the Liberal Party From Its Anti-National Elements—A Hint That He May Yet Lead a United Party to A Domestic Policy Victory.

London, July 20.—Speaking at the City Liberal Club yesterday afternoon, Lord Rosebery remarked that his recent manifesto, in which he said the Liberal party could not exist under the present conditions, had been followed by such an extraordinary hullabaloo that he felt convinced he has expressed, in this manifesto, the clear and exact truth in respect to the situation, and that not one of his allegations had been disproved or challenged.

The speaker said he wrote the manifesto because, after the meetings in Queen's Hall and at the Reform Club, unless some clear repudiation of the statement regarding the war was made, it was impossible for the Liberal party to continue to exist as a sound force, appealing to the highest sympathies of the country.

On the question of the war His Lordship said his starting point was that, in spite of the Jameson raid and in spite of the South African Committee, the Boers had invaded the dominions of the late Queen, and from that moment, although he had criticized the methods of the Government, yet on the main issues to carry the war to a triumphant close they would have his warmest support, and, "so far as I am concerned, my unqualified approval."

The failing of the Government should be the opportunity for the Opposition. If the Liberals would not undertake the task, another party would be created for the purpose. Lord Rosebery said, however, that he did not despair of seeing the Liberal party purged of all its anti-National elements, that the country was ripe for a domestic program, and that he believed the revolutionized Liberals would yet breathe new life into the dry bones of public office.

As to the statement that he would not voluntarily return to the political arena, Lord Rosebery explained that that had been his attitude since his resignation. His Lordship concluded by saying that at present he must proceed alone and plow his furrow alone, but that before he got to the end of his furrow, it was possible he might find himself not alone.

Lord Rosebery said the vote of confidence in Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the Liberal leader, passed at the Reform Club meeting, was in the Earl of Beaconsfield's phrase: "Organized hypocrisy," and that his reason for disturbing the Olympian repose created by this vote of confidence was that the position was as perilious to the party as to the present Government, and there was no impartial observer who remembered any government which had crowded such a frightful assemblage of error, weakness and wholesale blunders into its administration.

THE STEEL STRIKE.

Situation Is Little Changed, Although There Are Rumors of Settlement—Reading Fears Trouble.

Pittsburg, July 20.—The strike situation last night could not be termed materially changed, although many rumors are in the air to the effect that a settlement of the troubles is imminent.

President Shaffer of the Amalgamated Association expresses his entire satisfaction with the progress of the battle, and says the workers have gained steadily, while the manufacturers have lost continually since last Monday.

President Shaffer said to-day that no overtures have been made by the United States Steel Corporation looking to a settlement of the strike.

Trouble Feared at Reading.

Reading, Pa., July 20.—The strikers at the Philadelphia and Reading Company shops here added to their ranks in an unexpected manner yesterday. Thursday night the company brought in thirty-two strangers to help man the boilermaking and blacksmithing departments of the locomotive shops, where 270 mechanics of those two classes have been on strike for three weeks. A committee was sent by the strikers to the company's office to have the foreigners taken out. This demand was refused, and before 10 a.m., 175 molders, machinists and others, many of whom do not belong to the union, walked out in a body. The foreigners were hooted and were marched out of the shop to their temporary quarters on the third floor of the plant. Here they occupy a room about 200 by 400 feet in size, which has been fitted up for them to live in. In cases in the building, it is said, were stored 400 Winchester rifles, which had been used by the coal and iron police during the riots of 1877. The strike has assumed a more critical stage than ever before. The locomotive shop is now badly crippled.

Seven Collieries Tied Up.

Wilkesbarre, July 20.—There was no change in the firemen's strike situation in the Wyoming Valley yesterday. Between Shamokin and Mount Carmel one hundred nine engine firemen struck yesterday. Seven out of eighteen collieries were tied up, 4,000 men being rendered idle.

Will Tie Up Lake Vessels.

Bay City, July 20. — A demand has been presented to the Michigan Log Towing Co. that all non-union captains and engineers be replaced by union men by this morning, or the entire fleet of lake vessels owned by the company will be tied up.

Cecil Rhodes in England.

London, July 20. — Cecil Rhodes and Dr. Jameson landed at Southampton yesterday afternoon from Cape Colony. They were met by Alfred Beit, the financier, and R. A. Hawksley, counsel for the British chartered South African Company and other friends. Messrs. Rhodes and Jamieson declined to discuss South Africa, saying they were no longer public men.

Russell Loses His Seat.

London, July 20.—By his conviction on a charge of felony Earl Russell loses his seat in the British House of Lords, but the judgment does not affect his title of nobility, and the effect of the judgment expires with death. Earl Russell is the grandson of the Lord John Russell, who for forty years was a principal figure in the British House of Commons, and twice Prime Minister.

The Deadlock Continues.

Pekin, July 19.—United States Special Commissioner Rockhill has postponed his departure in consequence of the deadlock between the Ministers. There are no signs of Great Britain yielding on the question of the increase of the customs tariff. The Germans are erecting extensive brick barracks at Tien Tsin.

THE CANADIANS LOSE.

Rajah of Kolapore's Cup Won by the Mother Country.

CHANNEL ISLANDS ALSO LOSE.

Scores of Canadians at 600 and 800 Yards in King's Prize Match—How Three Good Shots Got Into It—Four, and Possibly Five, Canadians in Final Stage.

Disley Camp, July 20. — Yesterday afternoon the shooting for the "Rajah of Kolapore's" Imperial Challenge Cup took place. Teams of eight men each from the Mother Country, Canada, Guernsey and Jersey participating. There were seven shots at each range, and the scores of the Canadian team were as follows:

	200 yds.	500 yds.	600 yds.
Bodeley, Sgt. O. W., 5th R.C.A., Victoria B.C.	33	32	33
Crowe, Staff-Sgt. G. E., 1st B.A., Guelph	32	29	26
Fleming, Gr. A., 5th R.C.A., Victoria, B.C.	33	30	28
Gilchrist, Lt. J. W., 1st B.A., Guelph	31	32	30
Graham, Pte. W. T., 77th Regt., Dundas	32	35	29
McDougall, Sgt.-Major, 5th R.C.A., British Columbia	29	32	26
Richardson, Col.-Sgt., J., 5th R.C.A., Victoria, B.C.	33	31	23
Swaine, Sgt. W., 14th Regt., Kingston	33	32	25
Total	258	253	225

The score by teams was as follows:

	200 yds.	500 yds.	600 yds.	T'l.
Mother Country	260	254	245	759
Canada	255	253	225	733
Jersey	244	240	221	705
Guernsey	236	231	217	704

Canada's score was disappointing to the Canadians, and again the mother country holds the prize with a good lead.

THE KING'S PRIZE.

Four Canadians Qualify For the Final Stage.

That all-important match, the King's Prize, occupied the attention of riflemen and visitors yesterday, and the Canadians, of course, kept a watchful eye on their men who had reached the second stage, for this was the day that would decide those eligible to enter the third and final stage to-day. The ranges were 600 and 800 yards, with ten shots at each distance.

The record of the Canadians at the two ranges was as follows:

	600 yds.	800 yds.	T'l.
Bodeley, Sgt. O. W., 5th R.C.A., Victoria	39	44	83
Crowe, Staff-Sgt. G. E., 1st B.A., Guelph	42	40	82
Fleming, Gr. A., 5th R.C.A., Victoria, B.C.	41	47	88
Gilchrist, Lt. J. W., 1st B.A., Guelph	38	36	74
Graham, Pte. W. T., 77th Regt., Dundas	39	36	75
Murphy, Lt. J. T., 1st Fusiliers	34	41	75
McDougall, Sgt.-Major, 5th R.C.A., British Columbia	35	40	75
Ogg, Lt. John, 1st B.A., Guelph	42	44	86
Richardson, Col.-Sgt. J., 5th R.C.A., Victoria, B.C.	45	36	81
Spencer, Pte. C. W., 48th Regt., Toronto	43	37	80
Wilson, Sgt. A., 43rd Regt., Ottawa	39	42	81

It was first reported that only scores of 92 in the first stage would permit the second stage being reached, but it was afterwards decided to fix the entrance score at 90, and this allowed Sergt. Bodeley, Gunner Fleming and Pte. Graham to compete, and the shooting of the two former at the long ranges yesterday shows that their marksmanship in the first stage would have been unfairly tested had they been prevented from stepping into the contest yesterday.

Gunner Fleming, Sergt.-Major McDougall, Lieut. John Ogg and Sergt. A. Wilson have qualified amongst the hundred men entitled to participate in the final stage of the King's Prize staff. Crowe shoots off with twenty-six others for three places yet to be filled.

In the Golden Penny match Lieut. J. T. Murphy got sixteenth place, and won 30 shillings; Pte. C. W. Spencer, twenty-fourth, won 20 shillings; and Pte. W. Masters, twenty-eighth, won 20 shillings.

In the St. George's match, first stage, Pte. W. T. Mason, 204th place; Lieut. John Ogg, 195th place; Color-Sergt. Richardson, 206th place; Sergt. W. Swaine, 167th place; Sergt. A. Wilson, 235th place, each won £2.

Canadian Oarsmen at Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, July 20. — Under conditions that could not be improved upon, the first day's races of the twenty-ninth annual regatta of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen were held on the Schuylkill River, in Fairmount Park, yesterday afternoon, and the initial day's sport was in every way a success. Winnipeg carried off the honors, winning two events, while St. Louis, Worcester, Toronto, Philadelphia, Detroit and New York each won one race. A fine contest was the final in the intermediate eights, which was captured by the husky crew from Winnipeg. Ten Eyck and Lewis had no trouble in the senior double.

GET READY FOR HAY FEVER.

Powley's Liquified Ozone will be found invaluable for hay fever sufferers on account of its positive and definite action in all catarrhal and inflammatory conditions of the mucous membrane.

Take it internally three or four times a day, a desertspoonful in water after meals; use it well diluted as a spray or douche; it will sterilize the parts and prove a prompt relief. It will greatly assist in "staving off" the attack of hay fever. Read this testimony as to its value in hay fever.

I took Ozone for a severe attack of hay fever and was very pleased to find myself quite free from this annoying trouble on the second day after taking the remedy. No one should be without a bottle of Ozone. It is good for many diseases from which humanity suffers, as it purifies the blood, and it is from impure blood that all disease arises. E. MR. BLEZARD'S POSITION.

In a local paper a day or two ago appeared an absurdly sensational and untruthful article, referring to Mr. Thos. Blezard, M.P.P., inquiring — "Was he turned down?" The answer is plain, distinct and emphatic—No. Mr. Blezard retired from public life, or will do so at the end of the present term, voluntarily and of his own will. During the last session of the Legislature, Mr. Blezard expressed himself privately to the effect that he was getting on in years and wanted more leisure to attend to his private affairs, which had been, necessarily, somewhat neglected on account of the time demanded by his representative duties. In this connection the Toronto Telegram last March during the session, printed an article in which Mr. Blezard stated that it was his intention to retire from political life.

During the past two campaigns Mr. Blezard stated that he would not be a candidate again, and it was only the urgency of his political friends that retained him in the field. Mr. Blezard is an honourable man, and while any assurances privately made by him would be religiously observed, he is not the man to say publicly what he does not mean. At the convention at Norwood, at which he nominated Mr. Anderson, Mr. Blezard, after referring to the fact that he had never seen a larger and more representative convention, said that "He saw among them the old familiar faces of those who had stood by him — many of them for the past 23 years — and had helped him in his successful battles; and if they stood by the candidate who would be nominated to-day with the same loyalty and fidelity, there was no doubt of his election. . . . It had been said that he (Mr. Blezard) was being 'side-tracked and crowded out of the field.' That was not the case. He was not retiring because he feared the result of a contest (applause.) He was not afraid of Dr. Ford, or any other man. The East Riding was Liberal at heart, and if he had wished to enter the contest he would be returned triumphantly, as he had been many times before. He had been urged by many of the prominent Liberals of the Riding to remain in the field, but he had represented the Riding nearly 23 years, and had earned retirement. . . . He closed by insisting upon the importance of the best possible organization, and by saying that in retiring he could hardly express his thanks for the unwavering kindness he had received at the hands of the electors for the past 23 years."

When the nominations were called for Mr. Blezard nominated Mr. W. Anderson, and in so doing spoke of him in the highest terms. Does any one who knows Mr. Blezard, and his honest, straight-forward character, fancy for one moment that, if he thought he was being thrust to one side, he would be base enough to tamely submit to publicly taking part in his own effacement? Or does anyone who knows Mr. Blezard's pluck and fighting qualities, shown in a dozen hard-fought and well-won campaigns, imagine for a moment that he would, if he desired to remain in politics, retire without a fight? No, Mr. Blezard was not "side tracked" or "turned down;" he retired voluntarily, to enjoy in the autumn of his years, a rest earned by a creditable and faithful representation of his riding for nearly a quarter of a century.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

"At Girard, La.," says the Buffalo Express, "a negro has been lynched for the heinous offence of stealing a bottle of pop. Possibly the downfall of lynch law will be brought about by making it ridiculous." A better way would be to import a little civilization into the United States.

Corporations need to be well watched to make them pay their taxes. At Cleveland a railway company made a return of the taxable value of its property at $600,000. The Board of Equalization raised this amount to $6,000,000. It's a good thing there is something to counteract the modesty of railway and other corporations.

Not only does Ontario sweep the board with its export cheese, being the only classes in which it exhibited, but the exports are all of such high excellence in quality that each and every one of the 57 exhibits has been awarded a premium.

St. Petersburg, July 20.—The Czar and the Dalai Lama of Tibet have agreed definitely on a joint policy of future action. SPEAKERS FROM CANADA.

Leaguers at 'Frisco Hear Many Prominent Clergymen From This Side.

San Francisco, July 20.—The second day of the International convention of the Epworth League was marked by cool, pleasant weather and an increased attendance. Thousands attended the sunrise prayer meetings held at Grace, Central and First Methodist Episcopal Churches. The competition of cities for the honor of getting the next convention of the league is growing keen. St. Louis, Minneapolis, Detroit and Toronto are in the field with the chances somewhat in favor of Minneapolis.

Among the many speakers at the various meetings yesterday were the Rev. T. E. E. Shore of Toronto, who spoke on "The Church and the Young Man."

At the Alhambra Theatre, G. R. Turk of Toronto spoke on "The Church and Workingmen."

"Systematic Benevolence," Rev. G. S. Clendinnen, Brockville, and "Missionary Forward Movement in the League, Results Achieved," Rev. T. A. Moore, Hamilton, were among the topics at the afternoon session at Mechanics' Pavilion.

Rev. C. T. Scott of Aylmer, Canada, spoke on "Personal Work for Christ" at the Alhambra Theatre.

Wise and Prudent Mothers Know That

Lactated Food

Is the Best for the Babies

Wise, prudent and thoughtful mothers always use popular Lactated Food for their babies. They use it because it is superior to all other infants' foods. It is the mother's friend, because it promotes a healthy and vigorous digestion and shields the little ones from prevailing summer troubles such as cholera infantum, diarrhœa and dysentery. Lactated Food makes the cross and peevish baby happy, bright and cheerful, and it grows up a picture of health. Every weary and wornout mother should give Lactated Food a trial. Ask your druggist for it.

Noted Entomologist Dead.

London, July 20. — Miss Elenora Ormerod, the well-known entomologist, and who had been ill for some time past, died at St. Alban's, Hertford, yesterday. Miss Eleanor A. Ormerod, F.R. Met. Soc., F.E.S., D. C.L., F.R.S., was the third daughter of George Ormerod of Sedbury Park, Gloucester. She was educated at home. She was additional examiner in agricultural entomology, University of Edinburgh. She was the author of many publications concerning insects and their habits and the Cobham Journals.

Ottawa's Mystery.

Ottawa, July 20.—Enquiries yesterday show that Miss Belle Morrison has not called at her dressmaker's since winter. Detective Dicks states that he will prove that she was seen near the spot on Friday, and urges this in support of his suicide theory. The absence of gravel rash and other such marks, as well as the medical evidence, tell strongly against his supposition.

TRACKMEN'S MEETING

Another Circular to Be Sent Out to the Strikers.

COMPANY ISSUES A CIRCULAR.

Explains Several Matters That Seem to Be Misunderstood Concerning Men's Pay—C. P. R. Also Claims That Trains Are Running on Time—Encouraging News to Men From Strike Centres.

Montreal, July 20.—The Grievance Committee of the Brotherhood of Trackmen held a special meeting at the Grand Union Hotel yesterday morning, when it was decided to address another circular to the members of the union still out on strike along the line. In it mention is made of the resolution passed at a meeting of firemen at Winnipeg, asking that a further effort be made to settle the strike, as their lives were placed in continual danger owing to the unsafe condition of the roadbed. The committee still strongly urges the men to stand firm, telling them that their position is becoming stronger day by day, owing to the fact that the company is beginning to feel the need of experienced men to keep the road in a proper state.

Trains on Schedule Time.

At the office of the General Manager the reports received stated that the trains in nearly all sections were running on schedule time. A large gang of Italians was about the station looking for the places left vacant by the strikers.

NEW C. P. R. CIRCULAR.

Question of Pay, Which Seems to Have Been Misunderstood, Its Text.

Winnipeg, July 20. — In an interview yesterday General Manager McNicoll stated that, owing to mistaken impressions among the men as to the company's proposals in the matter of hours and rates of pay, a circular had been issued to the trackmen. One foreman who had returned to work thought he was striking for $35 per month, the amount the company had proposed to pay under the new conditions which were inaugurated June 1 last.

"But did not the men know from actual experience what pay they were getting?"

"Many of the men went out on strike June 17, before they had received their pay for that month. There has no doubt been considerable misapprehension in the matter, and the circular will explain the situation."

TRACKMEN ENCOURAGED.

Strike Officials Secure Satisfactory Information From Many Quarters.

Toronto, July 20.—In order to find out the true state of affairs in connection with the strike of the Canadian Pacific Railway trackmen, Donald Wilkinson, chairman of the local committee, has asked the various Strike Committees on the system to forward him the latest news of the situation. Yesterday seven answers were received, which go to show that, contrary to all reports, the men are holding out, and are determined to win. These answers were received from Tweed, Bebic Junction, N. B., Mowe Junction, N. B., Manniss, Ont., a Quebec point, and two places in British Columbia.

It was given out by General Superintendent Timmerman that, out of 85 sections in his division, between Toronto and Owen Sound, only five are vacant. All positions now vacant will be filled at once, say the officials.

TRAIN OFF TRACK.

Accident on C.P.R. Early Friday Morning at Cross Lake.

Winnipeg, Man., July 20. — An accident occurred early yesterday morning at Cross Lake on the C. P. R., east of here, which has seriously delayed the west-bound Imperial Limited. There were several rumors afloat making the accident appear to have been a serious one. The passenger train was said to be ditched and the track torn up for a considerable distance.

Mr. Leonard, the general superintendent, when questioned on the matter, said that he was the only person who had information on the subject, and the rumors spoken of were simply guesses. He had not yet received a full report on the matter, but five or six cars of a freight train running in front of the Limited had left the track for some reason at present unknown, and that there was nothing serious, no one having been injured.

The Provincial Queen's Statue.

London, July 20.—Hon. George W. Ross, Premier of Ontario, who is in London at present, after considerable investigation, has commissioned Reggi, the sculptor, to make the statue of her late Majesty Queen Victoria, which is to be placed in Queen's Park, Toronto, by the Government of Ontario. The Province, at the last session of the Legislature, voted $10,000 for this purpose.

Boys Were Fined.

At the police court this morning two young men were fined $2 for bathing in the Little Lake without bathing suits. This is only an example of what the police intend doing in this regard. The practice of men and boys swimming in such a manner in Little Lake, and at points below the Smith street bridge, has been a matter for much indignation on the part of the residents of these vicinities.

WAS IT ASSAULT OR WAS IT NOT?

Mr. Alex. Reid Complainant in a Police Court Case.

VERY COMPLICATED AFFAIR.

It Took up Over Five Hours Before County Magistrate Edmison Yesterday—Evidence Taken.

A police court case that occupied considerable time, that evoked considerable interest and that drew forth an exceptional amount of parleying between counsel, came up before County Magistrate Edmison yesterday afternoon.

The complainant was Alexander Reid and the accused was H. O'Neil, an employee of Messrs. Corry & Laverdure, contractors on the Trent Valley Canal. The charge was that of assault which was alleged to have been committed on the 12th of July. The case arises out of a contract that Mr. Reid alleges to hold with the Owen Sound Cement Company, whereby he is supposed to return to the company the sacks when empty which have been delivered with cement in them at the canal. Mr. Reid, the complainant, alleges that he proceeded on the above named date to perform the duties entailed by his alleged contract, but complains that he was prevented from doing so and was assaulted by the above named accused.

Mr. R. E. Wood represented Mr. Reid, Mr. D. O'Connell, Mr. O'Neil, and Mr. R. R. Hall was present on behalf of Messrs. Corry & Laverdure.

The first witness was the complainant, Mr. Alexander Reid. He said that he resided in Peterborough and that his employment was that of expressman. He had a contract with the Owen Sound Cement Company, which he produced in court and was about to read when Mr. O'Connel objected, claiming that the reading of an alleged contract was not evidence.

His Worship ruled that the contract must be proven.

Continuing Mr. Reid said that he was supposed to gather the empty sacks and ship them to the Owen Sound Cement Company. He accordingly went over to assume his duties on the 12th day of July. He saw Mr. Laverdure and that gentleman said that they had the right of way and objected to witness going on the premises, although he did not blame witness for trying to earn money. Witness then went to the Government office at the canal and received authority from the person in charge of the office to get the sacks if he so desired. He started over to pick up the sacks when Mr. O'Neil came up to him and said that he (witness) could not have them. That he had received instructions to that effect. Mr. O'Neil endeavoured to pull them out of his hand and witness protested, whereupon O'Neil struck him and cut his ear. He, the witness, feels the effect of it yet. Dr. Bradd dressed the injury.

Cross-examined by Mr. O'Connell, witness said that it was not the first occasion that he had gone upon the premises. He went over on a similar mission previous to this and saw Mr. Corry who told him that he had no right there. Witness did not leave the canal as directed by Mr. Corry, but he had a slight conversation with him which ended in the contractor stating that he had received instructions from his solicitor to not allow Reid to take the bags. Mr. Corry told him that he had no right on the place. Mr. Rogers told witness that he had a right to go there if he so desired. He finally went off the premises on the 9th, but went back on the 12th when he saw Mr. Laverdure who told him that his partner was in Ottawa.

It was at this point that a very lengthy piece of cross-firing took

ANOTHER NEW INDUSTRY.

By reference to another column in which the council proceedings are reported, it will be noticed that the Canadian Cordage and Manufacturing Company is applying to the town for certain privileges conditional upon the company establishing its extensive plant in Peterborough.

The grant of a suitable site for the erection of the necessary buildings is practically all that is asked from the corporation by the company, and that the request is considered most reasonable in the light of the benefits to be derived by the town through having a manufacturing plant of such large proportions established here, is shown by the fact that the necessary bylaw has been read before the council without a dissentient voice being heard. This bylaw will be submitted on August 13th to the property owners of the town for their endorsation, and with them it rests to decide whether or not Peterborough secures a concern, which proposes at the outset to invest over $60.000 in buildings and machinery and employ about seventy-five hands as soon as the plant is in operation.

The buildings which are to be erected will be large and commodious, one being 90 x 300 feet and another 50 x 200 feet in size. The plant is to have a capacity of five tons of binder twine and three tons of cordage and rope per diem at the start and the Company expects to see this output doubled inside of two years.

The advantage of having such an industry located in Peterborough must be manifest to all, and the direct benefits, which will accrue to the municipality through the establishment of a concern which will employ seventy-five hands are such as to be apparent without argument being employed.

Peterborough, by all appearances, is on the brink of an era of great industrial progress and no stone should be thrown in the path of any new concern, which by establishing headquarters here can raise the town another notch higher towards the goal of every true citizen's ambition—seeing Peterborough firmly established as the premier manufacturing centre of all Ontario.

It is a small thing which the Canadian Cordage and Manufacturing Company is asking of the town. The purchase of a lot for a site at a cost of $4,500 is but a drop in the bucket in connection with the taxation of the ratepayers, as the interest and sinking fund on this sum means only about 8 cents on a thousand dollar assessment.

Citizens desirous of seeing the town progress are urged to turn out on August 13th and endorse the bylaw granting aid to the Company.

Financially, the Canadian Cordage and Manufacturing Co. is very strong, being capitalized at $400,000, thereby ranking with the largest manufacturing concerns in Ontario. While the directorate is largely composed of local business men and well-to-do farmers of the vicinity, yet the stock is distributed throughout all Ontario, as well as Manitoba, the Northwest Territories and British Columbia, Advisory Boards being formed at many different points where blocks of the stock have been sold. By having the stock so widely distributed, it practically ensures a profitable market for the entire output of the factory at a minimum cost. All of the binder twine companies in Canada, as well as all of the cordage manufacturing companies in the United States, by reason of their location, are forced to use steam power, which costs them from $30 to $40 per horse power per annum for a day of ten hours. The Canadian Cordage Co. will possess the decided advantage over their competitors of obtaining their power at considerably less than one-half this sum. This is no inconsiderable item, as the local company will use at the outset about 250 horse power to operate their plant, and as their output increases a corresponding increase in power will be required.

With the object of supplying this cheap power, such as attracts just such large concerns to Peterborough, the Ontario Power Co. has been organized and is proceeding to develop power at the first dam above Nassau. A communication from this company also appears in the report of the council proceedings, showing that a number of Peterborough manufacturers have already taken stock, ensuring its financial success, and at the same time being of great advantage to the town.

THE RIGHT TO PRINT.

Toronto Globe: It is learned by inquiry at the Education Department, that the statement touching the granting of permission to all publishing firms to reprint the school readers, made in the Mail and Empire and in the World, and in a letter to the Globe, is incorrect. The fact is that this permission has never been refused to any firm applying for the right to publish. Indeed, one firm is now making arrangements to reprint these readers, having obtained authority from the Education Department during the last few weeks. Further, permission to reprint will not be refused to any firm which will comply with the usual conditions of the department.

Yes, the poor Peterboroughs cannot stand defeat and it made them sore when our boys trimmed them here to the tune of 13 to 5. With such a brilliant battery as Miller and Cinnamon our boys could easily defeat them on their own grounds if they would be good enough to give them a chance."—Now Chris. will you put that in your pipe and smoke it.

Great interest was manifested yesterday at the Green in a challenge individual game between Skip Ed. Brown and Skip Alex. Elliott. The latter won by one point, the score being 14 to 15.

CRICKET.

At an Episcopalian Synod held at Nanaimo, B.C., on the 5th inst., Mr. Wolley said in his opinion there was nothing reprehensible in a quiet game of cricket on Sunday afternoon. Harmless amusements were desirable. The bulk of the population worked hard all week, and if they attended morning service was it wrong for them to recreate with a game of cricket, fishing, or boating on Sunday afternoon? Though Mr. Wolley's views were opposed by some still they made an impression, for "Venerable Archdeacon Scriven supported Mr. Wolley, strongly upholding the wisdom of a combination of rational recreation on Sunday for weary toilers."

NEW INDUSTRIES FOR THE TOWN.

Propositions From Two Big Stock Companies.

CHEAP POWER GUARANTEED

The Canadian Cordage Company Wants a Site on Which to Erect Big Buildings for Manufacturing Purposes.

At a special meeting of the town council which was held last evening, Mayor Denne was in the chair, the Aldermen present being Messrs. Best, Corkery, Batten, Clinkscale, Rush and Roger.

COMMUNICATIONS

were received and dealt with as follows:

From the American Cereal Co., as appended:

Gentlemen:

In compliance with the resolution passed at a meeting of your Board of Works to the effect that "The American Cereal Co. be invited to make their whole proposition in writing as to the railway crossing, as to diverting Mill street and as to the bridge over the dam," we respectfully desire to submit:

That it is the intention of this Company to erect on the raceway, between Hunter and Murray streets, an oatmeal, cornmeal, barley and split pea mill, cleaning house and dry house, seven stories high, and also a boiler house. The capacity of these mills will be about 2,100 barrels, requiring about 16,000 bushels of grain, or say 30 to 35 carloads in and out daily, and the cost will be, with machinery, about $250,000. The contracts for these buildings are let and the work begun. These buildings will be followed by an elevator of 400,000 bushels capacity, with storage tanks of 600,000 bushels more. Later on it is the intention to add a flour mill of 1,000 bushels capacity, with storage and packing warehouse. This will represent a total expenditure of $650,000 to $700,000. The present buildings will be so arranged and made large enough that additional machinery can be put in and the output doubled. It would then require 30,000 to 40,000 bushels of grain to supply this plant, or say 60 to 80 carloads in and out daily. In order to supply a site for these buildings it will be necessary to build over the present street along the raceway called Mill street, and in order to accommodate the necessary travel that will result from the influx of farmers and others, it will be necessary to open the street at a point farther west. This change, which is essential to the convenient location of our buildings, as will be readily seen, will effect considerable saving to the town, as the bridge at Murray street, which would otherwise have to be rebuilt immediately, will be dispensed with altogether, and the closing of the raceway from Murray street south will be of considerable advantage on account of obviating the necessity for opening several new flumes, which would have to be bridged.

The large railroad traffic that will be created will necessitate the laying of another track over Hunter street, as it will be simply impossible to carry on this business with one line of rails.

With reference to the new dam and roadway across it at London street:

It is the intention of this Company to construct a new dam just above the present Dickson dam; this will be a substantial structure of concrete masonry and steel. The present plan, which provides for a roadway for public use will be submitted for your approval and, if deemed satisfactory and desirable, it would only be reasonable that your town and the adjoining municipality of Ashburnham should jointly defray the cost of this roadway. It is estimated that this dam, as at present shown, will cost in the neighborhood of $100,000, and without the roadway the dam can be built for about 25 per cent less. The power house and equipment will cost an additional $100,000. We would respectfully submit that while this roadway is not essential to the operations of this Company, we have had the plans made in this way, not only because the present bridge has been largely used by the public for many years, but also because it appeared to us that the town would probably consider that it would be to its interest to utilize the structure that will be of such a permanent character that annual repairs will be very small. It is probable that at no distant date, Peterborough and Ashburnham will become united in one corporation, and that more bridge accommodation will be required. If the two corporations are of this opinion, we will be pleased to co-operate with them in making the bridge with the approaches on each side of the river a public highway.

There can be no doubt but that in this way a public bridge can be obtained at less expenditure than if entirely built by the corporations.

Briefly, we ask:

1st—The privilege of placing another track across Hunter street.

2nd—That your corporation close the present Mill street and open another street west of it as shown in the accompanying plan, providing also a water pipe of suitable size along this street.

And we would respectfully suggest that your corporation unite with the municipality of Ashburnham in defraying the cost of constructing a roadway on the new dam, such cost being estimated at about $25,000.

We would respectfully ask your honoured body to give these several questions your early and favourable consideration.

We hand you herewith plan showing the old roadway (coloured green) and the new roadway (coloured red) and also plan of the proposed new dam.

Yours truly,
THE AMERICAN CEREAL CO.,
Wm. Scott, Supt.

Referred to the Manufacturers' Committee.

From the Otonabee Power Company as follows:

His Worship Mayor Denne, town:

Dear Sir,—We have formed a Company for the purpose of generating electric power at dam number five on the Otonabee river, and we propose to transmit such power to the Town of Peterborough, and for that purpose we require the right to put poles upon the streets of the town.

We have been induced to form this company for this purpose owing to the entire lack of cheap power available in this town for manufacturing purposes, and owing to there being about 2,000 horse power going to waste every year at dam number five which might be utilized with direct profit and advantage to the manufacturers of this town and with indirect benefit to all classes of citizens in Peterborough.

We have met with the hearty co-operation of different manufacturers whom we have interviewed with a view of having them subscribe for stock in the company, viz.: Mr. William Hamilton, representing the William Hamilton Manufacturing Company, Limited, who use in the neighborhood of 200 horse power; Mr. T. F. Matthews, representing the George Matthews Company, Limited, who use about 150 horse power; Mr. Alfred McDonald, who uses about 50 horse power; Hon. J. R. Stratton, representing the Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Company, Limited, who use about 50 horse power; Adam Hall, representing the Canadian Cordage Company, Limited, who propose to use at the outset about 250 horse power, and others.

Every one of these gentlemen recognize the importance of having cheap power distributed throughout the town, and in order to facilitate the formation of such a company they have subscribed for stock in this company.

The present demands for power, however, are not nearly sufficient to exhaust the power with this company will be able to sell and we accordingly give to the Town of Peterborough, in consideration of their granting to us the right to put poles on the street, the option on 400 horse power for five years, to be utilized for manufacturing purposes by manufacturing concerns not now engaged in business in Peterborough; to be supplied in units of 50 horse power or over at $15 per horse power per year for 12 hours per day service, and at $20 per horse power per year for 24 hours service.

We desire to obtain the general right to put our poles on the streets of Peterborough. Of course the streets that we require to go upon will be hereafter defined and the usual plan filed with you.

Yours truly,
OTONABEE POWER CO., LIMITED,
W. G. Ferguson, President.

Referred to the Board of Works.

From the Canadian Cordage and Manufacturing Co. as follows:

To His Worship Mayor Denne, Peterborough, Ont.

We desire to locate our factory for the manufacture of binder twine, rope and cordage at the Town of Peterborough. We propose to erect two substantial brick buildings one of which will be 90 feet wide, by 300 feet long, and the other 50 feet wide by 200 feet long, and to instal within one year from the date hereof $45,000 worth of machinery therein; the plant to have a capacity of five tons of binder twine per day and three tons of rope and cordage per day. We will give employment to about 75 hands.

It is the intention of the Company to double the capacity of their factory during the next two years should the demand of the trade justify them in doing so.

The Company desire to locate their factory upon lots numbers, eight and nine, south of Perry street and west of George street, in the Town of Peterborough, and on lots, numbers, eight and nine, south of Lake street and west of George street in the said Town of Peterborough, and with that end in view they have procured an option from the owner, Mr. T. E. Bradburn, to purchase the same for $4,500. It is agreed on all hands that Mr. Bradburn is offering this property at a very reasonable price.

This Company desire to obtain from the Town of Peterborough:

1. The sum of $4,500.00 wherewith to purchase the above lands and premises.

2. A By-law subject to approval by the Legislature fixing the assessment of this property at $4,500.00 for the term of 21 years.

3. Sewer connection.

4. Necessary fire protection.

Yours truly,

THE MANUFACTURERS COMMITTEE

through its chairman, Ald. Rush, begged leave to report that "we have received a proposition from the Canadian Cordage and Manufacturing Co. proposing to erect a factory here, and we recommend that on the terms to be set out in a bylaw to give this report effect, the town purchase a site for the company as requested by them on terms similar to those made with the Peterborough Shovel Co., at a cost not to exceed $4,500, and that the assessment thereon be fixed for ten years at that amount, and that the steps requisite to authorizing these provisions be taken without delay."

The report was adopted.

THE BOARD OF WORKS,

through its chairman, Ald. Best, reported as follows:

1. Your Board examined the petition from J. Giles, and others, on Charlotte street from Park street to a point opposite the western limit of Lot 26, plan 73, to be constructed as a local improvement, and find it sufficiently signed, and recommend that the petition be granted.

2. We asked for tenders for the construction of sewers on London, George, Rubidge, Argyle and Charlotte streets, and received two tenders, namely, one from J. E. Hayes for $7,617.10, and one from James Bogue, for $8,978.82, and recommend that Mr. Hayes' tender be accepted, provided he furnishes satisfactory security.

3. We received two tenders, one from Wm. Langford and one from J. E. Hayes, for the construction of a bridge over the creek on Smith street, and recommend that Mr. Langford's tender, $1,175, be accepted.

4. We recommend that the Mayor and Ald. Best and Rush be appointed a special committee to consider the transmission of electricity in the town, and the matter of systematizing it, with authority to consult expert opinion.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

HENRY BEST,
Chairman.

The report was adopted.

The bylaw authorizing the execution of a contract with William Langford for the erection of a bridge across the creek on Smith street, was introduced by Ald. Best, and received its several readings and was passed.

The bylaw authorizing the borrowing of $1,600 to defray the cost of erecting the bridge, received two readings, and will be submitted to the property owners on Aug. 13th.

Ald. Rush and Clinkscale introduced the bylaw giving aid to the Canadian Cordage and Manufacturing Co. in accordance with the report of the Manufacturers' Committee, and authorizing the issue of debentures to raise the sum of $4,500 to meet the cost of the purchase of a site for the company. The bylaw was read a first and second time and will be submitted for the endorsation of the property holders on Aug. 13th.

OUR MILK SUPPLY.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I am not financially interested in the formation of milk trust in town, though "trusts" have much to commend them in the scientific manner in which they conduct business in whatever sphere they operate, but would like to see ordinary cleanliness observed by those who deliver milk to our citizens.

That cleanliness is observed by the majority goes without saying, but I desire to call attention to at least one exception. Almost daily I notice a well known dealer stop near my place of business to serve customers and, at the same time, he makes a practice of collecting swill from nearby eating houses, and drawing it around side by side with the open cans of milk. This combination of milk and swill attracts a host of flies, and it is well known how flies spread contagion. This milk is expected to nourish (?) those who use it.

Nature has certain fixed laws and those who violate them must pay the penalty. That any man can be so ignorant or regardless of the simple laws of health in these days of universal knowledge seems improbable.

Under a proper system of inspection such as is in force elsewhere, and which ought to be in force in a town the size of Peterborough, this state of affairs could not exist. However, if "ignorantia juris haud excusat" is the moral code, why not make it hold good in this case and not allow a careless milkman to endanger the health (if not the lives) of innocent people who are not in a position to notice his filthy practices, such as that referred to.

Thanking you for space in your valuable paper, I am,

Yours for pure milk,
ANNE OBSERVER.

DUCKS IN THE SHELL

HOW THEY ARE HATCHED AND HELPED IN INCUBATORS.

The Young Bird's First Danger After Breaking a Hole in Its Shell Is Death by Drowning—No Swimming For the Growing Fowls.

Duck culture as a business proposition is not so simple as it seems. To one at all expert in this line the hatching and rearing of ducks are a comparatively simple matter, and there is a chance to figure out what the product will be from a given number of eggs. In this respect there is a difference between ducks and chickens, for a certain percentage of ducks can be raised and marketed under given conditions.

Through the eastern states there are many large plants devoted entirely to the rearing of ducks. One man, a pioneer in the business, keeps 2,000 breeding ducks in stock at all times and has each one as near a perfect specimen of its kind as can be found. One of the largest plants turns out about 50,000 ducks annually, and in the height of the killing season it is no exaggeration to say the feathers fairly fly on this place. In this plant the number of ducks that will be sent to market can be estimated from the first few hatches made early in the season, as the proportion of ducks hatched to the number of eggs placed in the incubators will be maintained throughout the season.

In market ducks the big white Pekins find the greatest favor. The Pekin is a hummer in the way of a market duck, as it grows rapidly and is hardy and white, which makes it pick clean and its feathers salable. A good price is paid for duck feathers.

The best point about the Pekins, in the eyes of the poultryman who is in the business for profit, is the rapidity with which they grow and the fact that they grow better out of the water than in it. It is a common thing for experts to raise Pekins that weigh six pounds when 10 weeks old. Ducks that weigh under five pounds at that age are a reflection on the skill of the poultryman who turns them out. An expert with chickens is not always successful in the handling of ducks, as the quackers need to be handled differently at all times. A difference is found at the outset, as 28 days are required in which to hatch a duckling, while a chick needs only 21 days in which to complete the process of nature that puts it into the world to scratch for a living.

The best work in producing ducks is done with an incubator, which will hatch more and better ducklings than an old duck or a hen. For incubating purposes the humble hen surpasses the duck, strange as it may seem. But, whatever way it is hatched, the duckling is much more interesting and amusing than a chick shortly after hatching.

A chick that cannot work itself out of the shell in short order is not worth bothering with, while a duck that is helped out of the shell is just as good as one that scrambles out without assistance.

When the duckling is ready to hatch, it taps a small hole in the shell and then stops to consider if it is worth while to do any more than that. It lies in the shell for a day without making any further effort to get out and here is beset with its first danger—death by drowning. It seems odd to think that a duck would die in such an ignominious way, but practical poultrymen know that it is a danger that makes a difference on the wrong side of the ledger if it isn't guarded against, which is an easy matter.

When the duck has tapped a hole in the shell, it lies on its back if it is a well behaved youngster. Some of them are unruly, and they turn the egg over until the hole in the shell is beneath them. This wouldn't matter were it not for the fact that the duckling has its bill pressed against the opening in order to get air. When the egg is turned over, the fluid remaining in the shell flows to the opening, fills the tiny bill and the opening at the same time, and the foolish duckling chokes to death, unless some one happens along and turns the right side of the egg upward.

If the duck doesn't come out of the egg in proper time, the poultryman takes it out of the incubator and examines it. He breaks away part of the shell, being careful to rupture no blood vessels in the duckling, inserts a finger into the shell and yanks the duckling's head out. If ducklings can express their feelings, they are certainly pleased when this operation is performed.

The ducklings, which look like so many fluffy golden balls, are left in the incubator to dry off, during which time they are as lively as crickets. They run and hop about, bump into each other and are continually searching for something to eat. From the first they are fed a combination of grains, with a large proportion of meat. The more meat they get, within reasonable bounds, the better they will thrive. With a proper degree of heat and suitable food not more than 2 per cent ought to be lost.

But, above all things, they must be kept away from water. If they are allowed to paddle in or run through water, they will certainly die or be so badly crippled that they will not be available for market.

They are allowed to drink only when eating, and then the water is absolutely necessary. Without it the ducks cannot get the food down their throats. They fill their bills with food, into which sufficient grit has been placed to fit out their digestive apparatus, and then try to gulp it down. The food is always moist, but they cannot force it down until they have run over to a fountain and washed it down with a swallow of water. They slop the water all around their quarters, into which dry earth must be placed frequently in order to keep down the dampness.

While the rearing of ducks is simple enough, as has been said, it is another matter to make a good profit out of them. They eat voraciously and must be killed at a certain time to pick properly.

For the first few weeks of early spring they bring good prices, after which the price depends on the supply and demand. One season, for instance, the first consignments of broilers brought in New York city 50 cents a pound at wholesale. In a short time the price tumbled until it got down to 11 cents a pound, and there was no money in it at the latter figure.

Vitality of Hebrews.

If the future population of the earth is to be estimated on the basis of race vitality, then there is no question but that the Hebrews will yet be in the majority. Statistics show that the average longevity of the Hebrew race is greater than that of any other. Their numbers must therefore be increasing relatively to every race, and they certainly are. Whether it is due to the sanitary measures enjoined by their religion or because of native vitality is for students of sociology to decide, but the fact still remains. Yet numbers are not always to control the destiny of the race, and it is to be supposed that fraternity and good sense are slowly wiping out race distinctions.

FROM A FIRE OF APPLE WOOD.

Through wind swept sheets of driven rain
The ancient orchard shows forlorn,
Like brave old soldiery half slain,
With gaps to tell the losses borne,

And fragments of the fallen trees
Burn on the hearth before me bright;
The fire their captive spirit frees;
Musing, I watch it take its flight.

How swift the flames of gold and blue
Up from the glowing logs aspire!
There yellow bird and bluebird flew
And oriole, each with wings of fire.

Now in the hearth light, on the trees,
Stirs something they and I have heard.
Ah, is it not the summer breeze
Come back to us with sun and bird?

Poor summers, born again—to die!
Quickly as they have come they go.
See, where the ashes smoldering lie,
The orchard floor is white with snow.

Big Bats.

Bats measuring nearly five feet from tip to tip of their wings have been found in a cave near Tanga, in East Africa.

The Apple.

The apple is an excellent brain food because it has more phosphoric acid in easily digested shape than other fruits. It excites the action of the liver, promotes sound and healthy sleep and thoroughly disinfects the mouth.

No Red Tape.

The British veteran gets his service medal without the intervention of a pension attorney.

A Big Difference.

The quartz extracted from Australian and Californian gold mines would be enough to build 150 pyramids of Cheops, but all the gold could be put in a room 40 feet by 20 feet by 15 feet.

Preserving Steel.

Steel that is exposed to the weather may be kept from rust by having a thorough coating of copal varnish.

Mahogany Polish.

A mahogany polish that is highly recommended is prepared by mixing well together one-quarter of a pint each of turpentine, linseed oil, alcohol and vinegar. Put in a bottle and shake before using. The furniture should be cleaned first with a soft flannel and a little of the mixture applied at a time. When well rubbed in, polish with an old silk handkerchief.

Precious Stones.

The heaviest precious stone is the zircon, which is four and a half times heavier than an equal quantity of water; the lightest is the opal, only twice as heavy as water.

Clouds and Temperature.

With a clear sky the temperature 1,000 feet above the earth is 0 degrees lower than at the surface, with a cloudy sky 4 degrees only.

Sunny Days.

In New York city on the average 64 per cent of the daylight hours are sunny. In Rome the figure is 55 per cent, in Madrid 45, in Vienna 38, in Berlin 30, in St. Petersburg 35 and in London 23.

Poisonous Celery.

It is said that celery as a wild plant in English marshes is a deadly poison.

Carpet Rags.

In coloring carpet rags don't use more dye than is absolutely necessary to get the color you want. The superfluous dye rots the rags and is given off in dust that flies when the carpet is being worn and afterward when it is swept.

Shipping.

One ton of steam shipping equals four of sailing shipping—that is to say, a steamer can carry four times as much cargo any given distance in a year as a sailing ship can.

Rice as a Food.

It has been positively ascertained by expert chemical analysis that rice contains more nutritive elements than any other grain. It will sustain life better and longer than any other cereal, a fact well known throughout the eastern countries from time immemorial.

THE BRITISH TOURIST.

He Was Pleasantly Surprised by the Train Boy's Attentions.

The British tourist sat in the car and gazed idly across the bleak prairies. He felt a slight touch and, looking around, found that a uniformed youth had deposited several ruddy oranges on the seat.

"He didn't wait for the money," remarked the tourist, gazing from the fruit to the rapidly retreating train boy.

"He never does," said the fellow passenger, with a knowing smile.

"Oh, I see! It is one of the advantages of your great railroad system. Free fruit for its patrons."

The British tourist was just peeling the second orange when a dainty package of chocolate confectionery was deposited on his knee.

"By Jove," he exclaimed enthusiastically, "this is delightful! When I return home, I shall write a paper on the excellence of American travel."

In less than ten minutes he was the recipient of another package. It was a little box containing a black cigar and two matches.

"No wonder you Americans like to travel," he said, biting the bitter end of the cigar. Then he found that a comic publication had found its way to his seat.

"This is great!" he grinned. "I am going to tip the boy. Wait a moment."

The train boy halted, and the tourist held out a dime.

"What is that for?" asked the boy.

"For yourself."

"You owe me a half, mister."

"Owe? I thought you were giving these things away?"

"Not today. The half, please."

"But why don't you take the money when you leave the stuff?"

"Because we'd never sell it."

The tourist reluctantly handed over the coin.

"Going to write about the excellence of American travel?" asked the fellow passenger.

"Not I," responded the British tourist. "I am going home and tell the nation about the train robberies over here!"—Exchange.

That Over-Worked Played-Out Feeling.

If your occupation is of a sedentary nature, if it is carried on indoors, or if it involves the exercise of brain rather than muscle, it may be reckoned among the unhealthy occupation. Your bowels become clogged, liver sluggish, blood thin and impure, heart weak, nerves shattered, brain action slow, and memory failing—better to-day—worse to-morrow.

When you feel over-worked, run-down and played-out, your system is deranged, and your body ill-nourished and weak.

Abbey's Effervescent Salt is intended for just such persons as yourself. The poisoning of the blood and the general weakening of the system is rectified, and the entire body is restored to a vigorons healthy condition.

A POINT OF HONOR.

The Dilemma of a Lover.

BY E. BECKFORD.

Framed in the oaken porch of the old Ankerdine mansion a girl stood with a thick wrap across her shoulders, glancing to right and left with a slight shiver and hesitating on the threshold.

"You're confoundedly anxious, madam," snarled her father's voice behind her. "I opine an ardent lover's journey will not be accelerated by your tramping about in the cold."

Miss Ankerdine made no reply, but daintily collecting with one small hand a mass of skirt that would have puzzled a man to grasp in two large ones, threaded a way around flower beds and bushes to another part of the garden where a former owner had constructed a small and deep artificial pond, now skinned thinly over and reflecting the stars like a mirror. It was spanned by a rustic bridge, fragile and worm bitten. From it on a fine day miles of open country could be scanned across the fields and dingles to where the Solent smiled, a blue perpendicular shimmer against the duller background of the Wight. The highroad was just discernible in patches, where no hedge trammeled its boundary, but only at rare intervals before it plunged into a dip and disappeared.

Two years away and his ship paid off today! It would not be many hours before her lover's horse pounded along its famous course.

For famous it was. Trafalgar was yet to be fought, and few days closed without a detachment of soldiers swinging past, coaches flashing by crowded in and out with men whose trade was war, returned marines with a cargo of prize money and intoxicants pursuing their jovial way or a successful press gang hurrying to the sea.

Millie Ankerdine's eyes danced as she leaned over the bridge in an eager aspect of listening. There was a quick tearing, a slight thud, an arrested cry, and broken fragments of ice and woodwork floated upon the dark water over her head.

"What the devil's all this noise about?" muttered Mr. Ankerdine testily as an unaccustomed clamor penetrated to his study and attracted him forth to seek its import.

Before the great hall fire, the once breezy drapery of a dinner dress oozing dark pools and steaming lazily, lay his daughter. A stranger, rills of moisture trickling from each fold of his clothing, was chafing her hands and vociferating for assistance. He ceased suddenly as her father appeared, with servants at his heels, and stood back beyond the play of the firelight. Mr. Ankerdine knelt down beside her as she showed signs of recovery.

"I have to thank you for rescuing my daughter, I suppose, sir," he said to the stranger. "The best kind of gratitude is the practical. You must be made comfortable first, and I can din you with words after."

The man had no time to answer. A post chaise dashed up to the porch with a groaning of leather and jingling of harness, a broad shouldered young fellow completely enveloped in a huge wrap precipitated himself rather than got out of the vehicle and gripped the old man by both hands, exclaiming: "How's the gout, sir? And where is Millie—not here to welcome me?"

"At the bottom of the pond but for this gentleman," said Mr. Ankerdine. "I must introduce you when I— Hello!" he gasped in a species of stupefaction, for the gallant stranger had slipped out into the night, and Lieutenant Rigden, his daughter's prospective husband, had started in pursuit.

The first man, stimulated by the slow diffusion of warmth as his limbs coursed with blood again, held his own at first, but was soon captured.

"You must come back with me, M. de Frontignac," said the young sailor. "It is the fortune of war."

"Again the fortune of war?" replied the Frenchman. "A cold fortune at present, mon ami." He fell into step beside his companion without resistance.

"Millie has asked for you," Mr. Ankerdine observed dryly as the pair reached the house. "She appeared surprised that you should prefer scouring the country at midnight to greeting her. However, each to his taste."

The sailor deferred apologies and led the way to the drawing room at once, locking the door and placing the key in his pocket—a maneuver which did not escape the young lady's notice and added a spice of alarm to the shy affection with which she returned her lover's caress.

"Why did you do that, Edward?" she whispered anxiously in his ear. "Is there danger outside, or is that a bad man? I fell into the pond, and he jumped in, too, on this freezing night and saved my life, dear!"

"Thank God it was saved, little girl," he replied. "But that this gentleman should have been the agent rather complicates matters. We must at any rate thank him, Millie. So first let me introduce in form the Count de Frontignac, captain in the navy of republican France. Monsieur, I have the honor to present my fiancee."

The Frenchman now advanced and bent over the slim fingers extended. "My good luck has not been entirely dead, then, that I could render even so small a service to so gracious a demoiselle," he said.

"Why, you are soaking, sir!" exclaimed the girl. "How wicked you are! He will die!"

"One moment, Millie!" exclaimed Rigden. "There are more important questions than those of etiquette and raiment to be discussed. That this gentleman is brave, you will know from what he has done tonight—more than brave, for he risked almost certain death by discovering himself to save you. But he will be as dangerous to succor. His frigate was captured recently by a British squadron, and he was to be sent, along with the prisoners, to London under escort. I assume he has escaped and is attempting to reach the coast. Millie, this man preserved to me all I hold dear, but—he is one of my country's most active enemies."

"Perhaps you are mistaken," said Millie, with a woman's readiness to escape wide questions by a side issue.

"No mistake here," said Rigden, with a short laugh. "I was one of his captors, and the last time we met was upon his quarter deck."

Millie drew her lover aside and placed her hands on his shoulders. The Frenchman was staring into the fire.

"Edward, you must let him go and help him too. Is this man's honor or woman's gratitude to drag him back to a dungeon? If so, noble deeds were better unacted and will be if they are to be repaid as we would repay this."

"Listen, Millie," said the young man in a very low voice. "This gentleman is an important capture to lose, and by restoring him to the authorities I am certain of recognition, which means a ship and—a—wife."

"This is what I had begun to fear," she said breathlessly. "You must not let it scale one featherweight in the balance. We owe him my life, and not the broad pennant of an admiral would cover the blot on your honor if you give him up. Edward, can you?"

He hesitated only for a minute, then turned around and said curtly: "Venus has triumphed, monsieur. I will search you to see that no papers are concealed. Pardon me, there shall be no indignity, and duty, which has come out something hardily in this encounter, renders it necessary. Also some clothes are required and food. I will then do myself the pleasure of putting you upon the safest route."—St. Louis Republican.

City of the Snows.

For three months in the winter Archangel, the great western port of Russia, scarcely sees the sun and for three months in the summer seldom loses sight of it. Yet there is no city in the whole of Europe which lies for so many months—for the greater part of the year, in fact—under a mantle of snow, and because of this the Russian fondly calls it "The White City."

White, too, is it in other ways. All the chief buildings glare with white paint and blink with white blinds. The churches—and in a Russian city they are not few—are also of pure white; only the cupolas are green and the crosses on their summits gold. And white are the private houses of the better sort, except where Norwegians and Germans live, for buff and blue and red then streak and diaper the pine walls and edge of the gable ends; but street posts, gates, pillars, walls, fences—these are all white.

And in summer for every official you see in a blue or a gray tunic you see ten in white caps and white uniforms. Bright color alone is left to the women and children—pink blouses, green skirts, scarlet petticoats, orange aprons and blue kerchiefs are common enough, while a group of children will always look like a cluster of old English flowers. But otherwise, in summer as in winter, this old city of Archangel is a white city indeed.—Pearson's Magazine.

Behind English Walls.

Not until the visitor to England mounts to the top of a coach does he have any conception of the glories hidden behind those brick battlements which make every Englishman's home veritably a castle. What a revelation of beauty they are! Now it is seen that the reverse side of the vine clad wall forms the most effective of backgrounds for the gay flowers in the hardy border. Hollyhocks stand up like sentinels against the ivy, huge oriental poppies splash their wonderful color among the shrubbery, roses fairly intoxicate the senses where they climb over the half timbered Elizabethan houses and tangle themselves with the clematis in wild profusion over the arches that span the trim garden paths. During a day's ride on top of a coach one will see hundreds of enchanting gardens. During quite a long walk along the same road one would not even suspect their presence because of the universal wall were not an occasional gate left ajar, thereby offering a surreptitious peep.—Everybody's Magazine.

The Great Kidney Specialist.

The Famous Physician Who Has Made Kidney, Bladder and Urinary Diseases a Life Long Study.

DR. ZINA PITCHER.

For many years in the hospitals of Detroit and Professor of Genito Urinary diseases in Michigan College of Medicine, Dr. Zina Pitcher devoted his time to the scientific study of diseases of the Kidneys, Bladder and Urinary System.

By this exclusive devotion to one branch of medical investigation Dr. Pitcher was enabled to perfect a treatment for Kidney troubles that far surpasses any other remedy.

After testing it extensively in private and hospital practice and demonstrating its incomparable superiority to all other forms of treatment, Dr. Pitcher decided to give this great boon to suffering humanity at large and not confine it exclusively to the circles of his private and hospital patients.

He has placed his remedy before the public under the name of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets and so confident is he of the positive curative qualities of these Tablets for backache, lame or weak back, drowsiness, headaches, pain in the loins, brick dust deposits in the urine, puffiness under the eyes, swelling of the feet and ankles, scalding, irritation, frequent rising at night, driobling, inflammation or ulceration of the bladder, gravel, Rheumatism, Bright's Disease and Diabetes (except in the last stages), bad taste in the mouth, coated tongue, constipation, puffy and pasty appearance of the face, dropsy, backache and weakness of women, urinary weakness of children and old people or any symptomatic indications of Kidney disease that to anyone suffering from any of the above troubles, who uses the Tablets faithfully, according to directions, and derives no benefit therefrom, their money will be cheerfully refunded.

Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets are 50 cents a box at all druggists or sent by mail. The Dr. Zina Pitcher Co., Toronto, Ont.

"WHIZ ! ! WALK A MILE"

Is a laconic definition of a toboggan ride. It's quick work going down the slide, but it's a long climb back to the starting point. It is very much that way with health; it is quickly lost and slowly regained. When the first symptoms of failing health appear, proper care may prevent the descent to utter weakness and debility. Usually the complication of disorders known as general debility has its origin in a diseased condition of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. These diseases are perfectly cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures through the stomach disorders which have their origin in a diseased condition of the stomach.

There is no alcohol in the "Discovery," neither opium, cocaine nor other narcotic.

"I was all run down; had no strength; had sharp darting pains all through me; head and back ache every day," writes Mrs. Frank Cosewell, of Salamanca, N. Y. "I was also troubled with a distressed feeling in the stomach and pain in front of the hip bones. I had a severe cough and it nearly killed me to draw a long breath. I was so sore through my lungs.

"I wrote to Dr. Pierce, telling my symptoms as near as I could. He sent me a very kind letter, advising me to try his medicines which I did, and before I had taken them a week I was decidedly better. I took two bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and two of the 'Favorite Prescription,' and am sure I never felt better in my life than when I quit taking them."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are a cure for biliousness.

CASE IN STRATHROY.

Mrs. Eliza Browne, of Metcalf Street, Cured of Dyspepsia—Great Interest of Her Case for Other Dyspeptics—Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets the Means of Her Cure.

The interest in the case of Mrs. Eliza Browne, Metcalfe street, Strathroy, centres not so much in her disease, which is common enough, but her cure, which cannot be too thoroughly known.

Her disease was dyspepsia, or debility of the stomach. She had the only too-usual symptoms of heartburn and pain after eating. Her stomach would not digest her food, and she was losing strength and flesh steadily.

Her cure was effected by Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, and it is on that point that sufferers from Dyspepsia are invited to centre their attention. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are curing Chronic Dyspepsia, Dyspepsia of five and six years' standing, all over the country. People are writing every day to express their hearty appreciation of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, because they do what everything else fails to do — they cure. This case of Mrs. Browne's in Strathroy, is not the only one in Mrs. Browne's circle of friends. But it is a typical one, and it is a genuine one:

"I have been troubled with Dyspepsia and Indigestion for over a year. I could positively get no relief. I would have Heartburn after every meal, and tried my best to get something to stop it, and failed.

"I heard of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and bought a box from Mr. Dyas, the druggist. After I had used several boxes of them I found to my surprise that I could stop taking any more and no longer be subject to Heartburn, nor have I had any other sign of a return of this dreadful disease."

place between counsel as to the jurisdiction of the court on the case. Mr. O'Connell said that he proposed to prove trespass on the part of the complainant; that Messrs. Corry & Laverdure had sole control of the land occupied by the operations, and could prevent anyone going thereon, excepting the Government engineers; also that it would so continue in their possession until completed and taken off their hands by the Chief Engineer. After an argument of an hour, the Police Magistrate decided to proceed with the case, subject to Mr. O'Connell's objection.

Continuing with his cross-examination, witness admitted that after the conversation with Mr. Laverdure he proceeded to take the sacks. He had an armful and Mr. O'Neil told him to leave them alone, that he (O'Neil) had instructions to prohibit witness from taking them. Mr. O'Neil reached over to take the sacks and caught hold of some of them. Witness was then struck on the head and knocked down, but he still held on to the sacks.

At the conclusion of the cross-examination of Mr. Reid, Mr. Wood announced that that was all the evidence, and asked judgment thereon.

Mr. O'Connell being asked if he had any evidence to offer, replied that he did not think it necessary to call any witnesses for the defence. There was no evidence, he contended, on which to find the accused guilty of the charge laid against him.

However, Magistrate Edmison held that there was positive evidence to show that an assault had been committed, and nothing to show that it had been warranted.

MR. CORRY CALLED.

Mr. O'Connell then called Mr. J. A. Corry, of the firm of Corry & Laverdure, Government contractors. In his evidence Mr. Corry went on to show that they being the original contractors, they claimed the sole right and control of all sub-contracts, etc. In reply to the question as to who delivered the cement, and where it is supposed to be delivered to, witness said that the Government supplied the cement, and it was supposed to be delivered to the railway station nearest the works. By a private arrangement between the railway company and the contractors, the cement is now conveyed down witness' siding to the works. It is sometimes delivered in sacks and sometimes in barrels, and when delivered in the latter the barrels are smashed up. It is no part of their duty to send them back, nor do they claim them as their property. As to the matter of trespass Mr. Corry said that they have signs up, and have had them up for nearly a year forbidding anyone from going on the grounds. They are large contractors and have a costly plant, and it is necessary for them to take this precaution.

Continuing witness said that he saw Mr. Reid come on the works on the morning of the 5th, and he drew the timekeeper's attention to the stranger. He saw him again the following morning, standing among a number of workmen. Witness asked Mr. Reid his mission, and he replied that he came to collect the sacks, and a lot of other talk about some contract he had entered into. Witness told him that he could not allow him to remain, and asked him to leave the premises. Reid replied that he would not leave, and witness told him that he would have to put him off the premises, at the same time taking him by the shoulders. Mr. Corry told him that if the Mayor of Peterborough came on and refused to go when told he would have him removed by force. Reid had got no permission from either Mr. Laverdure or himself to come on the place.

Mr. Wood endeavored to learn from witness whether or not they, (the contractors) had not been delivering the sacks back to the Cement Co. at one time, the amount they got for them and a number of other questions on this line. Mr. O'Connell objected, holding that Messrs. Corry & Laverdure were men of standing, and their private affairs had no right to be sent broadcast throughout the country.

A passage at arms occurred between counsel, and Mr. Wood was not able to draw much testimony on this point, further than that Mr. Corry stated that they did not want the job Mr. Reid was after. It did not matter the slightest to them.

Mr. Corry said he instructed Mr. O'Neil not to allow Reid amongst the men, to let no one on the grounds.

Mr. E. G. Laverdure, Mr. Corry's partner, told of Reid having come over to collect the sacks, saying that he had authority from the Cement Co. to do so. Witness told Reid that he did not know the parties at at all in a business sense, and that Reid could not go on the premises. Reid then claimed to have a letter from the Department of Railways and Canals, but failed to produce it. Mr. Laverdure asked him to show him the letter and he would see what they would do. Witness also told Reid to go home until they would look into the matter further.

John T. Crowe, a labourer on the canal who witnessed the meeting of O'Neil and Reid, told of the same. Witness said that Reid gave O'Neil a shove and endeavoured to go on picking up the bags. He heard Mr. O'Neil tell Reid several times to stop picking up the bags.

A couple of other labourers gave evidence on the same line as Crow's, and the evidence was all in at 7.30 o'clock in the evening.

The Magistrate reserved judgment until Friday afternoon next.

"CITIZEN" CRITICIZED.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir, — The spirit of fault-finding is evidently the predominating one in some people. I have thought this more than once as I have read some recent letters in your paper.

A letter appeared in yesterday's Examiner over the signature of "Citizen," which while advocating a very desirable thing, if practicable, namely the sinking of a number of wells, to furnish wholesome drinking water for the citizens of our town in extremely hot weather, left the writer open to criticism, and greatly lessened the influence his letter would otherwise have.

If wells are needful by all means advocate them, but why is it necessary in doing so to make a fling at temperance advocates or lecturers, and to do this twice in a brief article of less than fifty lines.

It would appear as though the writer had more desire to strike the temperance lecturer than he had to advocate the wells. They certainly have no connection one with the other.

Then he says, many of our citizens are driven to drink something stronger than water, owing to the intensity of the heat, and the scarcity of good drinking water. Poor humanity! I did not know that manhood was a slave before, or that a hot day had more control over men's actions than their intelligence had. If this be true then our greatest need is not the sinking of wells but the making more of men, more there where there is too little—in the upper story.

I am inclined, however, to have more confidence in the intelligence of our fellow citizens, and to believe that manhood is not such a weak thing as "Citizen" would lead us to think.

Let us have purer water by all means, if our city water has been found to be impure, or unfit for use; and let us have colder water by adding a little ice, or by drawing it from wells. But in getting the purer and colder water let us not suggest a weakness in our fellowman, nor give an altogether unnecessary fling at those who are advocating a much needed and righteous temperance reform.

Another Citizen.

Note. — The Examiner agrees with "Another Citizen," in his criticism of "Citizen's" remarks, for which latter there was no occasion whatever, as Peterborough has the purest water of any town in Ontario, being drawn from the swift-running Otonabee.—Ed.

PRECEPTS FOR BATHERS.

Some Emergency Maxims More Useful to Learn Than the Declaration of Independence.

To save the lives of reckless summer bathers, the United States Volunteer Life-saving Corps of New York State has issued a circular giving rules for the safety of people who go out on or in the water. Their usefulness is the greater when one sees that in cases of fatal accidents many of them have been more honoured in the breach than in the observance. Here are some of the more pertinent maxims:

Impress upon the parents the necessary duty of having their children taught to swimm.

Go out in no pleasure boat of small or large dimensions without being assured that there are life-saving buoys or cushions abroad sufficient to float all on board in case of upset or collision.

With a party be sure you are all properly and satisfactorily seated before you leave the shore—particularly so with girls on board. Let no one attempt to exchange seats midstream.

Where the waters become rough from a sudden squall or passing steamers, never rise in the boat, but settle down as close to the bottom as possible, and keep cool until the danger is past.

A woman's skirts, if held out by her extended arms, while she uses her feet as if climbing a stairs, will often hold her up in the water while a boat may pull out from the shore and save her.

In rescuing drowning persons, seize them by the collar, back of the neck, do not let them throw their arms around your neck or arms.

If the person is unconscious, do not wait a moment for a doctor or an ambulance but begin at once, first get the tongue out and hold it by a handkerchief or stocking to get the water out; get a buoy, box or barrel under the stomach, or hold the person over your knee, head down, and jolt the water out of him; then turn him over side to side four or five turns, then on his back, and with a pump-movement keep his arms going from pit of stomach over head to a straight out and back fourteen to sixteen times a minute, until signs of returning life are shown. A bellows movement on the stomach at the same time is a great aid.

Let some one at once remove shoes and stockings, and at the same time rub the lower limbs with an upward movement from foot to knee, occasionally slapping the soles of the feet with the open hand. Working on these lines our volunteer life-savers have been successful after two hours of incessant manipulation, but generally succeed inside of 30 minutes.

Use no spirits internally until after breathing and circulation are restored, then a moderate use of stimulants or hot teas, and a warm blanket or bed is of the first importance.

MRS. KRUGER IS DEAD

At Pretoria of Pneumonia After Being Sick Three Days.

THE CONSTABULARY AMBUSHED.

Two Killed, One Dangerously Wounded and Seventeen Missing—The Affray Took Place near Petrusburg on July 16—Two Camps Contrasted—Boers Better Located Than Refugees—Clearing Natal.

Pretoria, July 21. — Mrs. Kruger, wife of former President Kruger of the South African Republic, died yesterday afternoon of pneumonia, after an illness of three days. She was 67 years old.

She was Mr. Kruger's second wife, and was a Miss Du Plessis, a name of prominence in South Africa. Kruger's first wife was an aunt of Miss Du Plessis, and bore him one son, who died.

Sixteen children were the fruit of this second marriage, and of these seven are living. The girls are comfortably married to burghers in and about Pretoria, and the boys take an active interest in the army.

When the British took Pretoria and the President fled, he left Mrs. Kruger in the city, and she was ill when he left for Europe last February. Six of her children were then with her there. Despite some losses in the family, at last reports the couple had 31 sons and grandsons in the field.

Meanwhile Kruger is living at a villa on the edge of one of the grand old forests that make The Hague the most beautiful city in Europe. The ex-President seldom leaves the grounds, but wanders about a great deal smoking his long-stemmed pipe.

Husband Hears It.

London, July 22. — "Owing to the Sunday telegraph hours in Holland," says a despatch to The Daily Mail, from Hilversun, "Mr. Kruger was not informed of his wife's death until the evening. The news was broken to him by Dr. Heymans and Secretary Boescheten. Mr. Kruger, who had just returned from Hilversun, burst into tears and asked to be left alone.

"He exclaimed, 'She was a good wife, we quarrelled only once and that was six months after we were married.' He prayed for a long time and is now calmly sleeping, his Bible by his bed.

"The Transvaal and Orange Free State flags flying above the white villa were draped and half-masted. Shortly before the news came a crowd of country girls had been singing a folk-song outside the villa."

Constabulary Ambushed.

London, July 22. — The casualty lists received Saturday night at the War Office indicate that a party of South African Constabulary was ambushed near Petrusburg, July 16, that two members of the party were killed, one was dangerously wounded and 17 are missing and are believed to have been taken prisoners by the Boers.

Boer Refugees Well Treated.

Cape Town, July 21. — The Cape Times, in an editorial article to-day, contrasts the fact that the British refugee relief fund is almost exhausted with the abundance which smiles on almost every Boer refugee camp. The paper says the British refugees of the poorer class are enduring privations and suffering, while the Boers are well fed and are made as comfortable as possible.

Why Gen. Dewet is Not Caught.

New York, July 22. — The New York Daily News prints the following despatch from Queenstown: A non-commissioned officer of the Munster Fusiliers, just invalided home from South Africa, declares that the soldiers in the field believe it an utter impossibility to catch Gens. Botha and Dewet due to the fact that the leading British officers are Free Masons.

"Several times," he said, "I have been among Dewet's pursuers when, just as we thought we had him, a halt was ordered, permitting him to escape

"Boers may surrender, but the leaders will never be caught while Kitchener and other Masons lead the British."

White Men Ordered Out.

Durban, Natal, July 20.—In consequence of the Boer raids into Natal and the support given the raiders by the Republicans, the military authorities have ordered all white men, with their live stock, foodstuffs and clothing, to evacuate all farms between the Tugela and Sunday Rivers. Any white man remaining in this section of the country after July 31 will be subject to martial law.

Boers at Bermuda.

Hamilton, Bermuda, July 20.—The hired transport Ranee arrived here to-day from St. Vincent with 519 Boer prisoners. The British cruiser Pallas sailed for Halifax.

Kruger Still Talks.

Paris, July 21.—A despatch from Amsterdam contains an interview with Mr. Kruger on the letter of former Secretary of State Reitz of the Transvaal to Mr. Steyn. Mr. Kruger says it is a one-sided document selected by Lord Kitchener out of many others that were captured. These included reports and letters from the Transvaal Generals Tobias, Smuts, Delarey and Beyer, and the leaders of the forces operating in the Cape Colony, all of which were strongly in favor of supporting Mr. Steyn.

Lord Kitchener, Mr. Kruger said, carefully avoided mentioning these reports and letters.

Mr. Kruger refused to discuss the question of European intervention or the possible complications which were mentioned in the Reitz-Steyn correspondence as having been communicated to the Transvaal government.

Earl Roberts' Radical Change.

London, July 22. — Lord Roberts, the Commander-in-Chief, has issued an order that, in future, dismounted infantry officers are to carry carbines instead of swords, on active service and in manoeuvres.

Died from His Injuries.

London, July 21.—Alexander Stewart, who fell from a street car a week ago, died from his injuries on Saturday morning.

Insurance Rates on King's Life.

London, July 21.—The insurance on the King's coronation has commenced, especially by Lloyds. The present rate of premium is nine guineas per £100 on the King's life until the end of the coronation, but if the whole festivities, processions, etc., are to be insured against any possible mishap, the charge is 30 guineas per £100.

THE LISGAR JUDGMENT

Chief Justice Killam Unseats Mr. R. L. Richardson with Costs.

RE THE PERSONAL CHARGES

Several Persons Guilty of Corrupt Practices—Judges Find That Corrupt Practices Did Not Prevail Extensively, and while Deciding Against Mr. Richardson, Do not Disqualify Him.

Winnipeg, Man., July 22. — Judgment was delivered Saturday morning at the Court House in the Lisgar election case, the seat being declared vacant, and the application of petitioners for the disqualification of Mr. Richardson being refused. The petitioners were represented by Howell, K. C., and K. D. Cameron, and respondent by J. S. Ewart, K. C.

The Judgment.

The judgment was delivered by Chief Justice Killam and concurred in by Mr. Justice Dubuc.

In the course of his judgment, the Chief Justice said: "It seems clear, both from the framing of this enactment, and upon the decisions, that, once the commission by an agent of a corrupt practice is proved, the burden is thrown upon the respondent of showing from the evidence that the case comes within this saving clause (that is triviality). Probably some of the offences proved could be considered both trivial and unimportant, but I think that, even where the separate offence could be so considered, their accumulative effect should be taken into account, and that, taken together, they might be considered neither trivial nor unimportant. The corrupt practices committed by Williams I cannot consider to have been either trivial or unimportant. They had to do with voters in eight different polling divisions, and can hardly be called 'limited.'

"Two circumstances relied on by the petitioners, as in themselves sufficient to void the election, and to constitute corrupt practices by the candidate himself, were the omission from the election accounts furnished under section 146 of the Election Act, of certain payments made by the respondent, and his personal payments of the sums directed, and not thru his election agent. For this view, reliance has been placed on the decisions in the Litchfield case, 5 O.M., and N. 34, and Lancaster case L. B. 39. But three cases were decided under the Imperial Act 46-7 Vic., C. 51, 5, 33, making it an illegal practice to make payments or to omit payments from the return of the expenses, and expressly voiding the election for such practices, unless excused in the mode provided by the act. The view taken under the previous law is certainly stated in Cunningham on election petitions, 2nd Ed. at P. 110.

"It will be perceived that the non-compliance with the provisions of the act does not entail consequences affecting the validity or regularity of the election, except, perhaps, thru a conviction under it, which would probably disqualify a candidate convicted under it. But the non-compliance would not affect the election.

"This view was taken under similar enactments by Sprague, C., in the West Hastings case, and by Osler, J., in the North Ontario case. But the making of payments in this way, and their omission from the return are regarded as suspicious, and as affording evidence, more or less cogent, according to circumstances, of corrupt acts on the part of anyone so acting in contravention of the statute.

"I have not attempted to discuss exhaustively all the evidence adduced upon the trial, but it must not be supposed on that account I have not gone over and considered it carefully. I have done so with the full sense of the importance of an effective enforcement of the enactments against corrupt practices at elections, as well as with a sense of the necessity of strong and confirming evidence, for the purpose of fastening upon a member of parliament the stain and disqualification invited in an adjudication of personal corruption, and the conclusion at which I have arrived, after grave consideration, is that we should not so adjudge him. The result is that, in my opinion, we should declare and adjudge that the respondent was not duly elected and that the election was void. The respondent must pay the costs, except in certain particulars.

"I would report that the following persons were guilty of corrupt practices at the election to which the petition relates: Frank Williams of Carman, John Henry Ferguson of Carman, John Squires of Carman, James Brown, William Kilpatrick and George Bruce, Charles H. Edwards of Carman, Elijah Brown of Roland, Thomas H. Sharpe of Carman, George E. Smith of Baldur, Amedee Clareux of Mariapolis, Vaste Le Neau, Mederick Dorochier, Keane Baptiste, F. Forget, Moise Landry of Mariapolis, Eli Trotter, Eustache La Frenier and Jehan de Fremont; that we have no reason to believe that corrupt practices have extensively prevailed at the election. That we are not of the opinion that the inquiry into the circumstances of the election has been rendered incomplete by the action of any of the parties to the petition, and that no further inquiry as to whether corrupt practices have extensively prevailed is desirable."

His Lordship remarked that the treating at Somerset appeared to be of an entirely innocent nature. The respondent had not treated. Some men were at a country hotel waiting all afternoon for the meeting and they naturally treated each other, that was all.

Improper practices had not prevailed extensively. They had been found in only two or three localities. This was not to a very great extent for so large a constituency, and there is no reason to believe that there had been improper practices elsewhere.

At the conclusion of the Chief Justice's deliverance, Judge Dubuc stated that, after careful consideration of the evidence and the judgment, he agreed with the Chief Justice.

MAX O'RELL ON EDWARD VII.

Max O'Rell, the able French wit and litterateur, who has lectured in Canada, and is known all over the world, is fundamentally friendly to Great Britain, though retaining his right to occasional sharp criticism. It is rather interesting to read his latest estimate of the new King. He says:

"During the past few months England has witnessed without surprise, but with lively satisfaction, the assiduity, the wisdom, and the many-sided sympathy, which King Edward brings to the discharge of his duties. He is everything that the president of a republic can be. He has from the earliest years been brought up to the business of statesmanship.

"His experience is that of a man who has practically always been in office. His impartiality is made easier by his independence of and his superiority to all political parties. The late Queen has been succeeded by a son brought up in her school, who thoroughly realizes her character and her modes of action, and who is stepping carefully in the footsteps by which she expressed her constitutional attachment to the institutions of Great Britain.

"King Edward is a success, and as formal coronation will add to the deep feelings of loyal affection which unites him with the people of the land, there is no doubt that he will respect the constitution as his mother did, but there is not a doubt that he will have more influence than she had in the direction of affairs. He will not efface himself so much and the dignity with which he conducts himself shows that King Edward has parted company with the ex-Prince of Wales. Yes, a decided success he is. Nothing but admiration and praise is expressed everywhere.

"Never was the English monarchy more firmly established than it is today, for it is based, not upon hereditary privilege or legal enactments, but on the hopes, the sentiments, and aspirations of a grateful and loving people."

EXAMINATION ANSWERS.

At present there is a small force of men, some located at the Department of Education in Toronto, others at the various examination centers throughout the Province, engaged in reading the papers of the thousands of candidates who have written on the departmental examinations, ranging from the entrance to the high schools to honour matriculation into the universities. These men sit day after day during the oppressive months of July and part of August estimating the value in marks of the multifarious answers submitted. It is verily a monotonous task, and we can imagine the examiner conning over to himself the strain that emanates from the brain of Hamlet: "The times are out of joint. O cursed spite that I was ever born to set them right." But he is relieved of this righting process, and is enabled to hold out by the occasional bit of juvenile humor displayed at intervals in the answer papers. We give the following answers which we understand were recently written out by pupils in the New York schools:

"The Autocrat of the Breakfast Table" was written by R. W. Emerson, and its general plan is to produce perfect etiquette at table.

"Persephone was the gardess of the gates of Tartarus. She is said to have been girled with a mantle gorded with blood.

"The Pilgrims were a religions sex that did not believe in the doctoring of the Church of England.

"The only means of communication the colonists had was on horseback, and in this way it took quite a long time for a letter to get to Europe.

"The Five Nations were the Senecas, Oneidas, Onondagas, Mohawks and Tomahawks.

"The habeas corpus act was an act compelling the relatives of a dead person to produce his corpse in court should a dispute arise.

"Italy embraces the Po and the Island of Sicily. The capital is Constantinople, on the archipelago, Rome used to be. It contains a cathedral, named after Peter the Great, who founded it."

Whether this exuberance of youthful ignorance is the harbinger of that wit which has characterized the Yankee, or whether it is the first indication of budding genius, we will leave our readers to judge. We think, however, that about the only inference that can be legitimately derived is that more training is necessary to counteract the vagueness of ideas that will be found characteristic of many, perhaps the majority of adults as well.

OGG WON GOLDEN PENNY.

Canadians Who Distinguished Themselves —Earl Roberts Visits Them on Saturday —The Closing Day of the Meet.

Bisley Camp, July 22. — Lieut. Ogg has again distinguished himself as a marksman, this time by winning first place in the Golden Penny match, 500 yards with seven shots. His prize is a gold medal, along with £5.

Col. Sergt. McDougall has been declared the winner of the cup donated by Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, and Pte. W. T. Graham of Dundas gets the Canada Cup.

In the competition for the "Corporation of the City of London" Cup, open to colonials, the Canadians win all but one prize.

In the second stage of the King's Prize, Sergt.-Major Bayles of the Royal Grenadiers, Toronto, who is not attached to the team, got 148th place, Pte. C. W. Spencer 161st place, Sergt. Bodeley 162nd place, Color Sergt. Richardson 178th place, and Lieut. J. T. Murphy 186th place, each winning £4. Lieut. J. W. Gilchrist 256th, and Pte. W. T. Graham 286th, got £3 each.

The third and final stage of the King's Prize was completed on Saturday. At the 800 yards range the scores of the four Canadians competing were:

Gunner A. Fleming	44
Sergt.-Major McDougall	32
Lieut. John Ogg	42
Sergt. A. Wilson	37

The scores at the other ranges have not been announced.

In the St. George's match Sergt. Bodeley is given fifteenth place, and wins £9.

Sergt.-Major Bayles did well in the Golden Penny competition, and won 39 shillings.

Saturday was the closing day of the meeting, and the Canadians left the camp that night. Earl Roberts honored the Canadian hut with a visit Saturday, and expressed much surprise at the fine quarters in which the team was located. He sympathetically referred to the death of Hon. Dr. Borden's son in South Africa. Gen. Sir Redvers Buller and the Earl of Aberdeen accompanied Lord Roberts.

Corporal Ormundson of the Queen's Rifle Volunteer Brigade of Edinburgh won the King's Prize. Ormundson tied with Sergt.-Major Burr of the First Hampshire Volunteers. In the shoot-off, the former gained the coveted distinction.

Canadian Oarsmen on Top.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 22. — On Saturday Lou Scholes, Don R. C., Toronto, won the Intermediate singles at the final races of the annual regatta of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen. In the Association Singles, final, Len Marsh, Don R. C., Toronto, was second. The Argonauts, Toronto, won the Senior Eights.

HORSE TRANSPORT SHIP.

1,000 Equines Will Be Taken to Cape Town By Steamer Indian

Montreal, July 22. — The steamer Indian of the Leyland Line, which arrived here ten days ago, is now completely fitted up to take on board 1,000 horses for Cape Town. She is a vessel of upwards of 10,000 tons. This is by far the largest steamer that has loaded horses for the Imperial Government from this port, and the remount officers, who inspected her yesterday, expressed their great satisfaction with the magnificent ship.

Each horse is allowed a stall 2 feet 6 inches in width by 8 feet in length. The sideboards are movable, so that every horse can be taken out of his stall for exercise without any loss of time or inconvenience. Apart, however, from the stalls, there are wide alleyways, allowing ample space for feeding purposes and attention.

The decks upon which the horses are being stalled are three in number — the main, upper and top decks. These are equipped from stem to stern with specially made fittings of the strongest and most modern type. The vessel has nine large hatchways, into which have been fitted 86 windsails, so that the lower compartments can be kept as cool as the upper decks, an important consideration, it will be readily conceded, when it is remembered that a large part of the voyage is through the tropics.

GOOD HEALTH IS IMPOSSIBLE without regular action of the bowels. Laxa-Liver Pills regulate the bowels, cure constipation, dyspepsia, biliousness and sick headache.

A COMPLETE TURNOVER.

"Czar" Reid of Newfoundland Surrenders 2,000,000 Acres and Resigns Ownership of Railways on Telegraphs.

St. John's, Nfld., July 20.—An agreement between Mr. Bond, the Premier, and Robert G. Reid, the contractor, was concluded this afternoon. It provides for a number of unexpected changes, and virtually overturns the previous contract by a new arrangement.

Mr. Reid resigns the ownership of the Colonial Railways, of which he had secured the reversion of proprietary rights after 50 years, by immediately paying $1,000,000, this sum being repaid to him now, with interest. He also surrenders 2,000,000 acres of land, which he had obtained under the last contract, being paid 30 cents per acre for the same. In addition, he surrenders the telegraphs absolutely, being given the use of one wire for his own business.

He accepts the new railway contract, which calls for the operation of the line for 50 years from date, and agrees to expend in the development of works within the colony the money realized under the proposed limited liability company, estimated at about $5,000,000.

Mr. Reid agrees to fence in the railway line, a work to cost $100,000. He retains his ownership of the St. John's Dock, and will continue the coastal steamer contract for 30 years. His limited liability company, embodied in the new proposed act, will come into existence at once.

Mr. Bond gave formal notice of the bill in the Legislature to-night, and will introduce it Monday next.

Robert Gillespie Reid, who thus wins recognition for his limited liability company, is a mild-mannered Scot, who left his native village of Cowpar Angus 49 years ago, a penniless lad of 18. He has been called the Czar of Newfoundland, and, by reason of his contract with the government, has controlled the finances of the Province. He owns valuable mines of coal and iron, and has many oil wells.

Legislation Will Stand By It.

St. John's, Nfld., July 21.—The government party in the Legislature unanimously indorsed the new Bond-Reid arrangement last night. This action insures its passage thru the Assembly, where the government has 32 members against 4 in the opposition.

In the council, where the opposition has a majority, it is not likely that any hostility will be manifested, as the measure has been agreed to with Mr. Reid, and a renewed deadlock might be the result of its rejection.

VICTORIA'S FAVORITE.

Simple Anonymous Tribute Which Greatly Pleased the Late Queen.

The womanliness of Queen Victoria is exemplified in the fact that of all the panegyrics and tributes in prose or verse ever written of her the following pleased her most:

SHE NODDIT TO ME.

I'm but an auld body
Livin up in Deeside
In a twa roomed bit hoosie
Wi' a toofa' beside.
Wi' my soo an my grumphy
I'm as happy's a bee,
But I'm far prooder noo
Since she noddit to me!

I'm nae sae far past wi't;
I'm gey trig an hale;
Can plant twa-three tawties
An look after my kale,
An when our Queen passes
I rin oot to see
Gin my luck sic nieet notice
An nod oot to me!

But I've aye been unlucky,
An the blinds were aye doon,
Till last week the time
Of her veesit cam' roun',
I waved my bit apron
As brisk's I could dee,
And the Queen lauched fu' kindly
An noddit to me!

My son sleeps in Egypt;
He's nae ease to frait,
An yet when I think o't
I'm sair like to greet,
She may feel for my sorrow,
She's a mither, ye see,
An maybe she kent o't
When she noddit to me!

These quaint and simple Doric verses appeared anonymously in an obscure Scotch paper, and they came under the Queen's eye accidentally. The homely tribute to her as the mother of her people so touched her heart that she sought out the author and wrote him a tender letter of acknowledgment. Many times during her last weary years were these verses read to her.

CUPS FOR THE CANADIANS.

Lord Strathcona Makes the Presentation at Garden Party.

The annual garden party given by the Canadian team Thursday, was marked by beautiful weather and the riflemen and their guests spent a thoroughly enjoyable afternoon and many acquaintances formed in past years were renewed by the Canadians. The attendance was fair and among those present were several Toronto people. Some extremely handsome gowns were worn by the ladies, many of whom were distinguished members of English society. The decorations were not up to former years, but the refreshments served to the guests were excellent.

Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, the Canadian High Commissioner, in presenting his own cup and the Canada Club Cup to Col. Tilton, the commandant of the Canadian team, remarked that Canada's loyalty as displayed during the troubles of the mother country in South Africa had overcome any desire that might have existed for independence or annexation to the United States. This sentiment was loudly cheered by the Canadians. Col. Tilton acknowledged the gift of the two trophies in a brief but fitting speech.

The Borden Cup.

In his speech Lord Strathcona referred to the Borden Cup and said that it was sufficiently significant of a loving son, when he read the inscription on the cup. The Borden Cup is to be competed for at the Dominion Rifle Association meeting at Ottawa. It was purchased in London by Hon. Dr. Borden, Minister of Militia, and is dedicated to the memory of his son, Lieut. H. L. Borden, who lost his life while fighting the Empire's battles in South Africa.

Lord Strathcona's cup is given for the highest aggregate score made by a member of the Canadian team, and the other from the Canadian Club for the second highest.

It is forty-five years since Mr. Meharry was in Peterborough before, having come here at that time to claim his bride, Miss Margaret Blackstock, daughter of the late Rev. Moses Blackstock. Mr. Meharry naturally finds the town much changed. He claims that although he has travelled a great deal, he has never come across pavements that could equal those laid in Peterborough.

DOWN THE OTONABEE.

The Boats had a Busy day on Saturday —Notes Along the Route.

There was great activity down the river on Saturday, and the steamboats appeared to be doing a great business.

The City of Peterborough had the Stanley Piano Co's excursion, the Water Lily and the Beaver ran their regular Saturday trips, and the North Star, which is becoming very popular, had an exceptionally large crowd of townspeople, who took in the Saturday afternoon trip to Gore's Landing. The steamer Rainbow came up from Burnett's Landing with a large number of people from that vicinity to Peterborough. The steam yacht Rob Roy took down a private excursion party to Gore's Landing. They remained there over Sunday.

The City of Peterborough has a number of excursions for the next few weeks. An expert is engaged in putting the engines in better shape.

The Peterborough people would appreciate a service down the river whereby they could leave here on Saturday night and return on Monday morning. At the present time one can leave Peterborough on Saturday afternoon and get back the same day, but to be able to stay over Sunday and return on Monday morning would be highly appreciated.

Notice was given yesterday of the annual excursion down the river next Thursday. Mr. Glidden's orchestra will be on board. Owing to the holidays the number of Sunday school scholars will be small, and it will largely be an excursion of adult members of the congregation and their friends.

EXCURSION TO JUBILEE.

The Second Annual Outing of the Stanley Employees was a Great Success.

The 2nd annual excursion of the employees of the Stanley Piano Company took place on Saturday to Jubilee Point, per steamer City of Peterborough. The affair was very largely patronized, there being about 400 employees and their friends on board. The boat left the Wolfe street wharf at 2 o'clock and arrived at the Point in due time. The band of the 57th Regiment was on board and discoursed excellent music throughout the afternoon. The boat, returning, left Jubilee about 8 o'clock. On the way up an impromptu concert took place which proved very entertaining to those on board. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stanley accompanied the employees on the trip which altogether was most successful.

The committee which had the arrangements in hand was composed of Messrs. G. A. Hay, James Scovel, Jos. Halpany, W. R. Snow, J. Watt and Hugh Mannell.

The excursionists praised very highly the efforts of Mrs. John Hall who has charge of Jubilee for the manner in which the arrangements for supper were carried out.

The committee also desire to thank the band for the liberal manner in which they supplied their music.

A COMMENDABLE ACT.

The Stanley Piano Company's employees cleared $13 on their excursion down the river on Saturday afternoon and have left this amount at this office to be handed over to the Young Women's Christian Association for the purpose of aiding in fixing up their new rooms on George street.

"CATHOLIC" WRITES AGAIN.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir, — I wish to contradict a second statement made July 17th in our local morning paper. The writer, who again styles himself "Patriot," makes a feeble attempt to defend his rank and bigoted statement which was published on July 2nd, with an attempt to show that the Catholics of Peterborough showed their disloyalty by holding their annual picnic in aid of St. Joseph's hospital. The "Patriot" says that I have sought the columns of a party paper where I thought my letter would escape his observation. That is false. My object in using your valuable columns was not to escape his notice, but that by using the columns of a more widely circulated paper the general public might have a better opportunity of seeing the falseness which was contained in his bigoted letter.

The self-syled "Patriot" hopes that I am not a representative Catholic nor yet an Orangeman. Perhaps he thinks that I am one of those Protestants who has been roped into the church, as he claims the church is accustomed to do. But as he has such excellent thinking faculties let him have another guess, and try and use them to better advantage than before. He claims I have been abusive towards him, because he asked me to devote "our only national holiday to the country." That statement is false, as is the rest of his trash. I gave the reason for the Catholics holding their picnic on Dominion Day, and I feel assured that the reason I gave was sufficient to convince any fair-minded person that the Catholics of Peterborough had no intention of disloyalty. He also claims that the word "Patriot" is particularly offensive to me. Quite the reverse, but I believe in every one being called by his proper name, and I feel confident that in his case the name "Patriot" was misapplied. I do not claim that St. Joseph's Hospital is as much Protestant as Catholic, but I do claim that St. Joseph's Hospital shelters Protestants as well as Catholics, and has done so since its opening. Let him contradict it if he can. It is true the Catholics of Peterborough are quite capable of governing their own institutions. He asks the question, Is it not the part of the Catholic world wide policy to rope in Protestants at all times to their institutions? What ignorance is expressed in those few words. The Catholic church ropes in no one. It is true the church continues to extend the kind invitation of her Divine Founder, "Come unto me all ye that labour and are heavily laden, and I will refresh you." She receives her prodigal with the kindness of a mother, but she does not rope in anyone. I again deny that Catholics have any separate portion of Central Park, and I again declare that the grounds on which the Catholic picnic was held are the Separate School's private property; and I also declare that Central Park (that is from the Murray street school fence to George street, which takes in the whole of the park) is no more Protestant than Catholic, but a public town park. No doubt if that "Patriot" had anything to do with it it would have been fenced long ago for his own special use, and would have forbade Catholics to trespass. And as to the charge made on Mr. Gough and Mr. LeBrun, I only answer by saying that I quoted them just because they were men who were known to all. There are many others too numerous to mention who have contributed to Protestant picnics. As to his wild statement concerning the mis-doings of the Catholics of Peterboroughs I only say that the charge is false, as are the rest of his statements false, bigoted and ignorant. If I am not a representative Catholic I could not let such false statements go unanswered. And therefore I again use this precious name, Catholic, in defence of my liberal contradiction made on July 15th.

Yours truly,
A Catholic.

Note by the Editor. — A controversy as to the loyalty of any portion of the community is unfortunate. We are all one national family, and all concerned in the advancement and welfare of Canada, our home. Let us make it a peaceful and harmonious one.

THE CLEAR LAKE CAMP.

Interesting Letter From the Examiner's Correspondent.

The Names of the Various Sections and Their Respective Leaders—Notes From the Camp.

Clear Lake, July 19th.

Dear Mr. Editor,—Here we are back again for our fourth annual camp at Clear Lake, large as life and twice as natural.

Section 1—C. J. Seymour, leader, D. Shook, M. Hartley, W. Pollard, J. Pollard, G. H. Williamson.

Section 2—W. Houston, leader, A. Perks, H. Kingscote, A. Wood, E. Wood, A. Moore, C. Moore, A. Hodgson.

Section 3—H. Goldey, leader, E. Daly, Ross Kendrey, J. Downing, G. Armstrong, H. Gray, G. Fitzgerald, A. Seward.

Section 4—G. Galley, leader, H. Daly, R. Duncan, H. Latimer, Geo. Brenton, J. Ross.

Section 5—C. Wilson, leader, J. Hardwick, L. Clinkscale, J. Cameron, O. Mowry, M. Brand.

Thirty-four of us, all doing well, and looking fat and pumpon 'Weary Willie" Pollard's cooking. The secretary will soon rival Ringling Bros.' fat man. The fun first started soon after we left the "Y" on Tuesday morning at 4 o'clock, for whilst enjoying the cool Nassau air the rubber tire of Wolstenholm's baggage van, alias coal wagon, suddenly decided to go on strike. So the members of the rear guard went waltzing home, while the others went on to Young's Point. At two o'clock in the afternoon we were all together again, and a start was made for Sandy Point. On the way we were overtaken by the Alert carrying the George street choir, who were on a tour of the lake, and they kindly gave us a tow, which was appreciated very much. Anyone who has ever rowed a loaded boat on a windy day will understand.

That evening the tents were rapidly raised in a long row facing the lake, with the awnings over tables. In the rear is a hill surmounted by a wood, so we are well protected from much wind.

Wednesday afternoon. — The main body of boys arrived in charge of the secretary—hungry as owls, only to find the cook asleep, the fire out, and the rest of the party off fishing. The first part of Wednesday night was spent in hilarity, which reached it highest pitch about 12 o'clock. Towards 1 o'clock things began to quiet down and by 2 a.m. all was silent — except for the snoring of some of the sleepy ones, and the whining of those with burnt backs. Suddenly the silence of the starry night was broken by a terrific scream from Lanny Mowry of "Snakes! Snakes!!" — then there was a time for a few minutes until it was discovered that the supposed snake was the metal joint of a fishing rod.

Thursday. — A baseball match was announced between the "Invincibles" and the "Notorious No. 5 Tent." The game was delayed somewhat at the beginning by the weariness of the umpire, C. Seymour, who was found asleep under a tree. So he was carried out to the grounds where he lay down and called "strike" and "ball" alternately. H. Daly caught, and G. Galley pitched for No. 5. The pitcher and catcher seemed to have different ideas as to the pitching of the ball. The catcher got riley, and so has had the name of "Kicker" given him by the crowd, although it must be admitted that some of the balls did go a little wide of the mark, some hitting a tree four feet north of the home plate. The score was 9—6 in favour of No. 5. The game was not played to 9 innings on account of wet ground caused by the afternoon rain, which came in the middle of the game. The players all struck to dig trenches around the tents, and to have a swim, for a swim without the chance of a burnt back is not to be despised.

I will write again some other time. We are all anxious to hear from our friends. The mails are getting to be bulky, but they are welcome.

WEDDING BELLS.

Nuptials in Rochester of Miss May Scrymgeour and Rev. A. B. Deter.

A very pleasant event occurred on Wednesday at the residence of Mr. G. W. Scrymgeour, Brooks Ave., Rochester, N. Y., when his second daughter, Miss Mary, was united in marriage to the Rev. A. B. Deter, graduate of the Rochester Theological Seminary. The ceremony was performed in the bow window of the second parlour, beneath a floral bell and among a bower of ferns, daisies and evergreens. The bride entered as the strains of the wedding march were heard, played by Mrs. Francis E. Pethick, of Rochester, N. Y. An impressive service was performed by the Rev. S. J. Corry, of the second church of Christ assisted by the Rev. W. Axling of Ontario, N. Y. The bride was handsomely gowned in white Persian lawn with valenciennes lace trimmings and carried bridal roses. After a brief wedding tour to Buffalo and Niagara Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Deter left for San Paulo, Brazil, where they will take up missionary work under the Southern Baptist Board. Among the out-of-town guests were Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Axling, Ontario, N. Y.; Miss Jean Gordon Pickering, Ont.; Miss Kate McQuay, Peterborough, Ont., and Miss Eloise Deter, Parsons, Kan.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

GOLF.

The Americans have invented a variation of the game of golf, which has provided something new — at least for long players. It is called "Cross Country Golf," and is an admirable test of a golfer's long game, and modern golf is the long game.

A local golfer proposes the following chart for a beginning on the home links:

Teeing-ground. Length.	Hole.
Ninth, 494 yards	1
Second, 700 yards	5
Sixth, 477 yards	7
Eighth, 300 yards	4
Sixth, 460 yards	9
First, 350 yards	2
Third, 475 yards	6
Seventh, 477 yards	2
Third, 200 yards	9

Making a total of 3933 yards, or 7866 yards for 18 holes. This would provide the required test of the modern game, and the latest development. From what the late papers to hand say, this variation satisfies the hunger and thirst of modern golfers for the long game. We should like to see a foreign match on these lines, say with Cobourg or Port Hope.

BASEBALL.

An item appeared in the Lindsay Post on Friday saying that Peterborough's baseball team owed the Lindsay men a game but were not anxious to meet them. This is entirely false as any one at all conversant with baseball gossip knows that it is Lindsay that owes Peterborough a game, and it is also a well known fact that the Lindsay club cannot be induced under any circumstances, apparently, to come down to play their return game. It is the Lindsay team that are the cowards for they refuse to acknowledge the invitation from the local club for a game here. If, however, Peterborough owed Lindsay a game and hesitated about going to the latter town it would not be surprising as the rowdyism that prevails at a baseball match in Lindsay, particularly when that team is losing, (and that is not unfrequent), is something calculated to disgust the average true sportsman.

The local team has made arrangements with the Ponies of Kingston for a game here on Saturday next. The Ponies have a great reputation as ball players and the game will most likely be very largely attended. The Peterborough team in anticipation of Saturday's match will have a practice game with the Auburns on Tuesday night, and an effort will be made to get on a practice match with the Elms for Thursday night.

ROWING.

Canadian crews have won great honours at the International Amateur Rowing Championships in Philadelphia. The Argonaut eight of Toronto, won first in the senior event and the Winnipeg eight won first in the Intermediate. A number of the members of the Don Rowing Club, Toronto, also stood high in the singles and doubles.

LACROSSE.

The Cornwalls won from the Torontos in Toronto on Saturday by 3 goals to 2; the Capitals outscored the Shamrocks in Ottawa by 6 to 4.

St. Catharines won from Galt in St. Catharines on Saturday, by 16 goals to 1. This settles Galt's chances of the C.L.A. Senior Championship, which seems to lie bstween Brantford, Orangeville and St. Kitts, with chances largely in favour of the latter team, who are all old players, and consequently are just rounding into shape, taking longer to limber up than the younger players of the other teams.

The much talked of match between the Vaticans and Port Hops should not be allowed to drop. The town is just ripe for a good lacrosse game.

HINTS ON CAMPING OUT.

Useful Suggestions at This Season of Retirement to the Wilderness.

In planing a camping trip the first things to receive consideration are the charms of the locality chosen, the manner by which the camp is reached, and its resources in household equipments and provisions. A rented camp usually contains all necessary furnishings and utensils excepting bed and table linen. If bedding is supplied, it is well to supplement it with a warm rug or blanket for each of the party. As to utensils and provisions, if these cannot be found at reasonable prices in the woods, a supply must be taken along. For tent or simple log cabin life the utensils may be few. White enamelled ware for the table is to be remembered because it is neat in appearance and not breakable. A cup, saucer and plate, with knife, fork and teaspoon, for each of the party, two covered vegetable dishes and plate for bread, butter, meat or fish will be sufficient for rough camping. As to utensils, few are absolutely needed — at most, a coffee pot, two or three agate saucepans, a broiler, frying pan, bread tin, a small covered iron pot for baking beans, two or three sharp knives, a case knife or two and three tablespoons.

Substantial food, with no fancy side dishes, will satisfy a hearty appetite in the woods, cornmeal cake, bread, beans, potatoes and vegetables, with the fish and game obtainable near at hand, constituting a variety suited to the conditions. An assortment of canned vegetables will be wanted. Of tinned fruits in July and August there will be less need, because blackberries, raspberries, and huckleberries can be picked fresh in most places daily. To make the kitchen range, place two logs or two little stone piles three or four feet apart, and across them put two green birch, hickory, or any hard wood logs, arranging them a few inches apart. An open cave, dug in a few minutes in a side hill, is the best of refrigerators. In this the butter, eggs and foods needing low temperature can be buried.

Don't forget soap to wash the dishes.

Don't forget, if you want to fry anything, that the pan and fat should be smoking hot before you put in the article.

You can toast your fish and not your face by notching a stick at one end. Put the handle of the pan in the slit and lash the two together with cord.

You can keep butter by packing it in a can, tying a piece of rope to the handle, and letting it down in a spring. If there is no spring near the camp bury it in the sand under water.

A spring bed that will rival in comfort all the patented arrangements in the world is readily made. Fasten together with nails a framework of poles, putting a strong crosspiece at head and foot. For the first layer select spruce poles the size of a broomstick, tapering at one end to the size of a finger. Cut these long enough to project at least a foot at each end, and put the big ends at the head of the bed. To nail these down will mean to make a bed as hard as a board, so they should remain loose, the extra length at head and foot allowing for sagging. Place these poles three or four inches apart. Cover them with a cross layer of coarse spruce or balsam or pine boughs, and above them arrange layer after layer of fine spruce tips, adding a final layer of the flat cedar tips. With a blanket over the whole the bed is complete.

One article of the camping outfit will serve to preserve the very odour of the forest and the music of the waters after the old life has been resumed. This is the camera, and it should accompany every step of the way and be in readiness always for work.

THE TOMBS OF ROYALTY.

England Has No Recognized Resting Place for Its Dead Monarchs.

England is almost the only country in Europe which does not possess a recognized resting place for the remains of its royal family, says The Westminster Gazette. The kings and queens of England are buried at Westminster, Windsor, Hanover, Winchester and Canterbury. Spain, which pays perhaps most attention to matters of ceremony, has the finest vault for its royalty. Its kings rest in Pantheon, which is part of the Escurial, built by Philip, the Monk-king. Hard by is the Pantheon de los Infantes, in which repose the remains of infant princes of the royal house. Philip V. and Ferdinand VI. are the only monarchs who are buried elsewhere. The Czars of Russia since Peter the Great, with one exception, are buried in the Cathedral Fortress of Peter and Paul at St. Petersburg.

The kings of Holland lie not in the splendid and modern capital of The Hague, but amid the rural simplicity of the little town of Delft. They are buried in the Nieuwe Kerk there. Austria, on the other hand, revels in splendor. The Capuchin Church of Vienna contains 105 metal coffins of the Austrian royal family, some of them of solid silver. This has been their place of burial since 1619. Most of the German royal family are buried in the Domkirche at Berlin, though some rest at Potsdam. The Domkirche contains the tombs of 80 of the ancestors of the German Emperor, including that of the Great Elector. The tombs of the Swedish royal family rival those of the Dutch in simplicity. The kings of Sweden, since the days of Gustavus Adolphus, have been buried in the Riddarholms Church at Stockholm.

REVEALMENT.

Let me tell how rhythm with its rhyme should flow:
As the laugh of leaves when soft zephyrs blow;
As the waves with gracile hand
Write their names upon the sand.

Let me tell how music with its verse should mate:
As the dark with dawn, rapt, inviolate;
As the soil and sun disclose
Sweet communion in a rose.

Let me tell how fancy from the heart should leap:
As the cloud full fraught rises from the deep;
As the spring at God's behest
Wakes, and, lo, the world is blest!

ON THEIR SEA LEGS.

Cattle and Horses Do Not Get Frightened in Rough Weather.

"Do the horses and cattle get frightened and make much disturbance in rough weather?" asked the writer of a New York dealer who ships cattle abroad.

"Bless you, no. They've got sea legs that would put an old salt to shame. Occasionally a horse will lose his balance, but a bullock is the greatest balancer you ever saw. They are knowing brutes too. You know, we put them four in a pen. Well, you'll never find all four standing up or lying down at one time. They figure the thing out and decide how they'll get the most room and most comfort. So two of them stand up while two lie down. When they get tired, they shift the watch.

"The horses like to be talked to when there's a big sea on and things are pretty lively. They always like certain men better than others. So do the cattle. We have one man who can do anything with them. Every bullock and horse on the boat knows him by the time we've been out two days. He comes in handy when there's an accident.

"It's mighty seldom that a serious accident happens nowadays, but once in awhile a horse or a bullock does get thrown and breaks a leg or does some bad damage. We don't carry a veterinary. The men know as much about ordinary cattle and horse ailments as any vet, and if one of the brutes breaks his leg there's nothing for it but to kill him. A veterinary couldn't do anything for him.

"The company charges from $6 to $20 a head for carrying cattle and from $27 to $250 a head for horses. When the government inspectors stopped overcrowding, they cut down the carrying capacity of some boats 75 head. That made a pretty big hole in the ship's profits in the course of a year."—Exchange.

FROM THE PLAINS OF THE WEST.

News of Another Success on the Part of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

An Alberta Man Reports his Entire Satisfaction With the World Famous Remedy—Blood Disorder the Cause of his Trouble — Dodd's Kidney Pills Have Removed it and he is Thankful

Blairmore, Alberta, July 21st (Special).—Dodd's Kidney Pills are just as well thought of in the great Northwest as they are any place else in the world. The people have confidence in them. They do as they are claimed to do.

Nor is the claim a small one. Dodd's Kidney Pills are claimed to cure some of the most dangerous and deadly maladies that flesh is heir to, and what is more, they do it. The proof is positive. Thousands and thousands of reputable people attest it.

For instance every one knows Bright's Disease at one time meant the sentence of death. Does it now? Ask Arthur Colely, of Sumerset, Man. He was cured of Bright's Disease, the last stages of it, by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure the lesser disorders of the human system arising from Kidney Disease with just as much certainty and even greater promptness. Of these, Skin Eruptions, such as boils and pimples, arising from an impure state of the blood and are not the most uncommon or the least distressing. Dodd's Kidney Pills, by improving the action of the Kidneys, purify the blood and Boils and Pimples immediately disappear.

Walter H. A. Noble, of Blairmore, Alberta, writes in this connection: "I had been troubled with pimples all over my face, and backache. I tried everything to cure it, all kinds of medicine, but failed.

"I was told to try Dodd's Kidney Pills and did so at once. I got three boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and took one after every meal. They cured me. They are the only things that ever did me any good. I will always use Dodd's Kidney Pills in case of sickness and advise all other sufferers to do so."

CURIOSITY SATISFIED.

Meteorology, Boots and Necessary Homicide in the Explanation.

"Excuse me, sir," said the inquisitive passenger as he leaned forward and touched the western man on the arm, "but did I understand you to say that the gentleman died with his boots on?"

The western man turned around.

"Yes," he replied, "it was havin th' boots on thet killed him."

There was a brief silence.

"You will pardon me," said the inquisitive passenger, "but I fear I don't quite understand."

"He stole th' boots from Jim Stiggers," said the western man, "an Jim caught him with 'em on."

"But doesn't that seem a trifling reason for taking the life of a human being?" gasped the inquisitive man.

"Triflin!" cried the westerner. "Well, I guess not! We wuz gittin mighty tired of takin th' weather just as it come an without no chance of gettin ready fer it. Why, we wuz drowned out twice in th' mines, an we might 'a' saved ourselves ef we'd only known th' rain wuz comin."

"I fail to see the connection between the stolen boots and the rain," said the inquisitive man, with a helpless look.

"Well, I'm a-tellin it to you," said the western man. "Jim Stiggers had th' most sensitive feet in camp. I never see sech sensitive feet as Jim's. Why, he could foretell storms for a week ahead by the way them feet of his would ache an burn! But they never burned onless he had tight boots on, an th' only pair of tight boots in camp wuz th' ones that onary greaser stole. Triflin! Well, say, when Jim identerfied them boots, an we had th' feller safely strung up, th' whole camp went on a wild hooray for two hull days. Yes, sir. An, stranger, what do you think! Jim hadn't had them boots on half an hour before he predicted two tornadoes an a cyclone. Any one of 'em, ef we hadn't been prepared, would have drowned us clear out of the valley slicker'n scat! That's right."

And then the inquisitive man changed his seat.

Hospital Patients Spanked.

A very useful adjunct to the paraphernalia at the Hahnemann hospital, Philadelphia, is known as "the awakener." This is a wooden paddle about two feet long, designed to restore consciousness to patients who have either taken poison or who have lapsed into a comatose condition from the effect of too much liquor.

This little instrument is decorated with such legends as "The way of the transgressor is hard," "Slumber, sweet slumber, nit!" and similar sentences purporting to be in a jocular vein. "The awakener" is used upon the soles of a patient's feet. The shoes and stockings are removed, and then the paddle is applied with full force. Most of the patients respond to this treatment within ten minutes, but sometimes where drugs have been used "the awakener" is kept busy for an hour or even longer.

THE BEAUTIFUL THINGS.

Life's beautiful things are so many,
So free to the humblest one,
That even to count them for thought's delight,
Ah, surely, we'd never be done!
But only because of their plenty,
Because they are ours when we will,
We value them light as common and cheap,
And our souls are unsatisfied still!

Reaching out for the things of our dreaming
With vision so stubborn and blind
That the rapture which calls to us day by day
Is too near for our seeking to find;
Oh, the loss of it all, and the pity,
And the yearning and hunger and pain,
That we live in a world full of beautiful things,
The beauty of which we disdain!
—Ripley D. Saunders in St. Louis Republic.

WHEN PARIS WENT MAD.

By M. QUAD.

COPYRIGHT, 1901, BY C. B. LEWIS.

I had been with one of the French armies as war correspondent, and with it, or such fragments of it as escaped annihilation or capture, I returned to Paris. There was a spirit of dissatisfaction, disgust and mutiny among the rank and file, and we reached Paris to find even a stronger spirit existing among all classes of citizens. It was the seed that was to grow the commune. To this day the French soldier who took part in the war that was expected to humble Berlin cannot understand that he was outnumbered, outgeneraled and outfought and that France rushed to arms without being half prepared. The defeated soldier will simply have it that he was sold out by his general. That was all the talk in Paris as we fell back—German gold had bought victories—and the thirst for vengeance upon the alleged traitors was intense.

I had had enough of soldier work, and I settled down to become a stationary correspondent, although it was only a few days ere nothing could be sent out of the besieged city except by way of balloons. As soon as I had found lodgings I secured a military pass and accompanying it a certificate from Minister Washburn as to my nativity and neutrality. These stood me in good stead within the next week. There were no doubt many German spies in Paris, but the people greatly exaggerated the number and were ready to denounce any one not a born Frenchman. I had been taking my meals at a certain miserable restaurant and paying the prices asked without complaint when one evening the keeper of the place, who was a surly old fellow at best, attempted an extortion that I resented. We had some hot words, and I left in anger, and not more than an hour had passed when I received a visit from a trio of the national guard. I had been denounced by the old man as a German spy. The trio consisted of a corporal and two men, and when they had gained my room the corporal saluted me and courteously observed:

HE WAS STILL SHOUTING WHEN A VOLLEY LAID HIM LOW.

"Sorry to trouble monsieur just as he is preparing for bed, but the fact is I am ordered to take him out and shoot him."

"For what?" I asked.

"For being a spy in the employ of Bismarck. Come, monsieur. We have others to shoot and cannot waste time."

"But you go a little fast, corporal," protested one of the men as I looked from one to the other and wondered if it was a joke. "I think the orders were to take monsieur before the provost marshal for investigation."

"Say you so, Francois? Well, what's the odds to him whether he is shot tonight or tomorrow? It will come to shooting anyhow, and we have three other places to visit before we can go back. Be reasonable, monsieur."

For answer I showed him my passes, named the headquarters to which I had been attached and then related the cause of my dispute with the owner of the restaurant.

"Ah, I see," replied the corporal as he scratched his head and smiled. "It was the old man's little way of settling a 3 franc dispute, and he is probably making merry over it. Monsieur American, you are all K. O., as I believe they say in your country, and it will give me pleasure to do a little business with monsieur of the cafe. Attention, squad! Right face and forward march! We came for a spy, but found one who had fought with us. Good night, monsieur."

I went around to the restaurant next morning. It had been turned wrong side out and a number of children were looking for scraps of food. Whether the old man had been shot or driven away I know not, but his occupation had departed. I saw the commune forming and realized what it meant, and I kept away from the crowds as much as possible and had little to say to any one. As soon as the commune got fairly under way and the national guards went over it they began to press men into the ranks to defend Paris. I had three or four narrow escapes from being pressed and finally took up my lodgings in a vacant house on a side street called Labanc. There were with me a Russian adventurer, a German machinist and a chap who claimed to be a Corsican, and who acknowledged that he was a deserter from the army; strange company, but those were strange times, and we were all moved by the same object—to keep clear of the muss. The German was square and honest and had been living in Paris for seven years previous to the war. We made a common purse and did our own cooking, and it was seldom that any of us left our retreat except under cover of darkness. One afternoon, when the regular government troops had begun to attack the communists and the city was seething and bubbling with excitement, a woman gave our hiding place away to the authorities. We were all asleep in a back room when the front door was broken open and ten men under the orders of a lieutenant came pouncing in upon us.

"And so, my sleepers, you would shirk your duty?" exclaimed the officer as he inspected each one in turn. "Well, we can decide it in a word. Will you fight with us or against us?"

None of us replied. Like me, the others seemed too surprised to answer a plain question.

"I thought so!" grimly observed the officer. "Sergeant, out into the back yard with a file of six men and take this fellow first."

He pointed to the Russian, who suddenly found his tongue and began to argue and protest. He was run out by two men, his wrists tied and his eyes bandaged, and he was still shouting when a volley laid him low. The German was taken next, and the Corsican followed. The thing was put through with appalling celerity, and it had come my turn before I scarcely realized what was being enacted before my eyes. As they laid hands on me to run me out to the wall I gave my name and produced my passes. The men laughed sarcastically, but the officer motioned to them to release me for a moment. When he had read the passes, he asked me a few questions, growing more civil all the time, and at length he returned the papers, with the remark:

"You were a little stupid not to speak up at once, monsieur, though perhaps you could have said nothing in favor of those others. However, better late than never. I shall leave you here, though I cannot promise that some one else will not disturb you later on. Bonjour, Monsieur American."

He was marching off with his men next moment, and as soon as the crowd had dispersed I hunted for safer quarters. The three dead men were left unburied, and as I skulked down the street I had to pass two others hanging from lampposts. Their crime was arguing that God was greater than the commune.

Got the Train Stopped.

Turf, Field and Farm tells this story about the late Charles P. Clark, formerly president of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad: "When the late Robert Bonner purchased Maud S., he sent her to Charter Oak park to be trained. One day a friend of Mr. Bonner left New York to visit him at the park, but found that the train did not stop at that station. The conductor was polite, but said that he could not go against orders. At New Haven a halt was made, and Mr. Bonner's friend tried to bribe the engineer with a $10 bill, but in vain. He was then told that President Clark was on the train, and he went to him.

"'Why don't you see the conductor?' asked Mr. Clark.

"'I have, but he will not disobey orders.'

"'Why not then go forward and bribe the engineer?'

"'I tried bribery at New Haven, but it would not work.'

"The absence of evasion was the best policy. Mr. Clark not only gave orders to have the train stopped at Charter Oak, but promised some day to see Maud S. He had witnessed the little attempt at bribery, and the frank confession of the offense seemed to please him."

Swiss Parliament In the Open Air.

One of the oddest lawmaking bodies in the world is the "landsgemeinde" of the canton of Glarus in Switzerland. There are almost as many kinds of parliaments as there are races which elect them. Some are amazingly antiquated in their methods of procedure, while others are as go ahead as it is possible to be. None is so novel as the "landsgemeinde."

The government of no Swiss canton by the people is more absolute than in that of Glarus, where the burghers assemble annually to hold their outdoor parliament in a large square—usually on the first Sunday in May, weather permitting. The honored president occupies a platform in the middle of the square. There are places for boys around this platform, the young idea thus being taught early how to legislate wisely and well for its beloved country.

Altogether the "landsgemeinde" is one of the most quaint and ideal little parliaments in existence.

Meant What He Said.

"Oh, there goes Nell Gaddington with her fiance," said old Mr. Grumpleson.

"No, I don't mean feeonsay, nuther! Ain't she goin to marry the blame fool for his money?"—Chicago Herald.

The dizziness and faintness from which women suffer may be due to one of several causes. But the most common cause is disease of the delicate womanly organism. The story of Mrs. Brown, told in her letter below, gives a fair example of the conditions under which so many women work: "I had a sick headache nearly all the time, was so weak around my waist could hardly bear anything to touch me. I would work a little while and then lie down a while." Failing to obtain more than temporary relief from her doctor's treatment, Mrs. Brown began the use of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription, with the usual result—a complete cure.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best medicine for the cure of diseases peculiar to women. It establishes regularity, dries offensive drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong, sick women well.

"A few years ago I suffered severely with female weakness and had at times dreadful pains," writes Mrs. Mary V. Brown, of Cresswell, Harford Co., Maryland. "I went to my doctor, and he gave me medicine which did me good for a while, but I would get worse again. I had a sick headache nearly all the time; was so weak around my waist could hardly bear anything to touch me. My feet would keep cold and I could hardly do my work. I would work a while and then lie down a while; was completely run down. Suffered from disagreeable discharge and also severe pains at times. After using five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, three of his 'Golden Medical Discovery' and one vial of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, and following the advice you gave regarding the 'Lotion Tablets,' I can truly say that I am cured. The doctor said it was uterine disease I had."

BLOOD DISORDERS.

The cooling and soothing effect of Powley's Liquified Ozone on blood disorders is gratifying. If you moisten the skin with this preparation whenever you are afflicted you will get prompt relief. Take the Ozone regularly internally and it will put your blood in condition. Don't make a medicine of Powley's Liquified Ozone at any time. It healthens your system, and you should take it when you feel like it.

A very bad case of blood disorder came under the notice of Sergeant Major Stretton of the Governor General's Body Guard of Toronto. The cure made by Ozone was so quick that he writes as follows:

I have used your Ozone in my family, and must admit that I have never used a better article. It does all that is claimed for it, after other preparations have failed. (Sgd.) (SERGT.-MAJOR) A. M. STRETTON, JUN., 3 Mackenzie Crescent, Toronto.

ABOUT THE STRIKERS.

The C. P. R. Trackmen Still Out —Little Progress Made.

ACCUSED OF INCITING TO RIOT

President Shaffer of the Amalgamated Association Expresses His Horror at a Steel Trust Official's Statement and Says They Will Fight now as Never Before—Firemen's Strike Fails.

Toronto, July 22. — Answers to the letters sent by Donald Wilkinson, chairman of the local committee of the Canadian Pacific Railway striking trackmen, asking the various districts as to the true state of affairs, are fast coming in. They go to show that the men are as determined as ever to win the strike.

In Toronto, the strikers have all got employment, and are making fair wages.

Official Side of Story.

The officials claim that the road is not suffering as a result of the strike. They declare that many of the strikers have returned to work on the various divisions. So far no progress has been made either way for a week.

Arrested For Train Wrecking.

Winnipeg, July 22. — Five prisoners were brought to the city last night from the scene of the freight wreck on the C. P. R. They will likely be charged with train wrecking. Fortunately no one was injured in the wreck. The engine and two cars went over an embankment. The five men arrested on the C. P. R. were tramps, and not connected with the strikers.

RIOT SIGNAL GIVEN.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 21.—When shown a New York despatch to-night, quoting an official of the Steel Trust as saying that it would re-open its mills and protect non-union workers, if necessary, with injunctions, deputies and the militia, President Schaffer said:

"It seems to me incredible that J. Pierpont Morgan should take the step he has taken. He has set the signal for riot and violence. He has made an appeal to lawlessness.

"Now let him open his mills, get his deputies and incite the men. We can point to this statement and say that was the starting point. He flung down the challenge.

"I have yet to be convinced that the Amalgamated Association cannot stand the strain as long as Morgan's millions. If the charge that we are coercing non-union men continues to be made, I shall act under the statute which prohibits an employer from interfering with employes who become members of labor unions. We can get hundreds of men who will testify that they were discharged because they joined unions.

"We have not begun to fight yet. When we do, the other side will have on its hands a contest that will cover the length and breadth of this country. I will take every union man from the mills and it will be impossible to replace them."

The Firemen's Strike Fails.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., July 23.—The Stationary Firemen's strike will soon be at an end. A meeting of the executive officers of the United Miners of three anthracite districts and the chief executive of the Stationary Firemen's Association was held in this city to-day, for the purpose of discussing the situation. The United Mine Workers have all along been lukewarm in their support of the strike, and the firemen insisted that they define their position, once for all, as it was impossible to carry on the strike if the United Mine Workers opposed it.

With that object in view, the executive officers of the United Mine Workers agreed to come to this city and meett the strikers. The United Workers were represented by 26 officers of three districts.

A resolution was adopted, calling on the Grievance Committee of the Firemen's Association to call on each coal company to-morrow and ascertain if the men who went out on strike Tuesday will be given back their positions. These committees are to make a report to the same joint committee which met here to-day, and if the replies from the companies are favorable, then the strike will be officially declared off to-morrow night.

To Kill Sweat Shops.

New York, July 21.—Clothing workers to the number of 51,000 will be involved in the strike which was ordered yesterday at a meeting of the Garment Workers' Trades Council at No. 412 Grand-street, at which delegates were present from all clothing makers' unions in New York and Newark. After ordering the strike, the council issued an official report that all the members of the following organizations had been ordered to participate in a strike which will be in full force to-morrow morning:

Brotherhood of Tailors	25,000
Pantsmakers' Union	10,000
Knee Pantsmakers' Union	2,000
Children's Jacket Makers' Union	5,000
Vestmakers' Union	3,500
Tailors' Jacket Makers' Union	2,000
Buttonhole Makers' Union	1,000
Lithuanian Tailors	1,100
German Tailors	2,000
Total	51,600

The strike is ordered to bring about the abolition of the sweat shop system, long working hours and low wages. All shops in New York in which clothing is made will be tied up by the strike, and a list of demands prepared by the garment makers' unions will be presented to every contractor and manufacturer.

Big B.C. strike settled.

Vancouver, B. C., July 22. — The strike of the union fishermen against the fifty salmon canneries on the Fraser River was settled on Friday, a committee of the Vancouver Board of Trade acting as mediators.

VAST CORK FORESTS.

THOSE OF SPAIN AND PORTUGAL ARE IMMENSE IN AREA.

How the Pliable Bark Is Stripped From the Trees, Boiled, Scraped and Cut Into Shape—Thousands Employed in the Industry.

The cork forests of Spain cover an area of 020,000 square miles, producing the finest cork in the world. These forests exist in groups and cover wide belts of territory, those in the region of Catalonia and part of Barcelona being considered the first in importance. Although the cork forests of Estremadura and Andalusia yield cork of a much quicker growth and possessing some excellent qualities its consistency is less rigid, and on this account it does not enjoy the high reputation which the cork of Catalonia does.

In Spain and Portugal, where the cork tree, or Quercas suber, is indigenous, it attains to a height varying from 35 to 60 feet and the trunk to a diameter of 30 to 36 inches. This species of the evergreen oak is often heavily caparisoned with wide spreading branches, clothed with ovate oblong evergreen leaves, downy underneath and the leaves slightly serrated. Annually, between April and May, it produces a flower of a yellowish color, succeeded by the acorns. Over 30,000 square miles in Portugal are devoted to the cultivation of cork trees, though the tree virtually abounds in every part of the country.

The methods in vogue in barking and harvesting the cork in Spain and Portugal are virtually the same. The barking operation is effected when the tree has acquired sufficient strength to withstand the rough handling it receives during this operation, which takes place when it has attained the fifteenth year of its growth. After the first stripping the tree is left in this juvenescent state to regenerate, subsequent strippings being effected at intervals of not less than three years, and under this process the tree will continue to thrive and bear for upward of 150 years.

The bark is stripped from the tree in pieces two or three inches in thickness, of considerable length and of such width as to retain the curved form of the trunk whence it has been stripped. The bark peeler or cutter makes a slit in the bark with a knife perpendicularly from the top of the trunk to the bottom; he makes another incision parallel to and at some distance from the former and two short horizontal cuts at the top and bottom. For stripping off the piece thus isolated he uses a kind of knife with two handles and a curved blade. Sometimes, after two cuts have been made, he leaves the tree to throw off the bark by spontaneous action of the vegetation within the trunk.

The first process through which the bark passes after stripping is that of boiling. This is sometimes done in the woods, but more frequently in the cork factory, in large specially constructed caldrons in which the bark is left to boil for upward of an hour, causing an increase of thickness (generally of one-fourth to one-fifth), elasticity of the cork and dissolution of the tannin and other substances. The boiling of the cork can also be effected by steam, for which purpose it is introduced into a wooden box lined with copper or zinc, which is filled with water and steam injected therein. The loss of weight effected by boiling the cork varies between 12 and 40 per cent.

In making corks it is necessary to take away the hard crust or rasps, for which a tool is used with a short handle and curved blade. Scraping machines are also used, two systems being employed—the Besson and Tousseau. The former, propelled by steam, consists principally of horizontal spindles supplied with comb-like teeth and turning at the rate of 900 revolutions a minute. The Tousseau scraper attacks the cork by means of a vertical iron shaft carrying several knives, whose edges are also vertical, and by a rotary movement of the shaft, giving 1,400 turns a minute, work like a brush.

Before cutting the slabs into strips they are cooked for about half an hour so as to facilitate the cutting and piled up soon afterward in a damp place, so as to preserve the softness until ready to operate upon. The slabs are divided into three strips, the width of which is equal to the length of the corks, and in such a way that if the corks be placed in the position occupied by the slab on the tree they would have their fibers running alike. The workmen cut the strips by means of a knife with a flat surface and curved edge, called cuchilla de rabanar. The strips are then made into squares by means of the cuchilla. They then have the edges cut and are ready to be made into corks.

The squares pass into the hands of a workman who is furnished with a knife composed of two pieces—one of them similar to an ordinary knife and the other a blade the edge of which fits into the first. He holds the knife by a small iron catch to the table in front of him and, giving the square a circular movement, the result is that a cork is made in a few seconds. The squares are usually boiled for about a quarter of an hour. They are then deposited in a cool place, and four or five days afterward they are sorted and kept damp until required.

Machines are also employed to make corks, and all consist, at the base, of a knife, the blade of which is placed horizontally, joined generally to a piece of wood, to which a backward and forward movement is given similar to that of a carpenter's plane. In moving, the knife turns the square cork, which, being attacked by the knife, takes off a strip of cork more or less thick, according to the distance from the axle of the cork to the edge of the knife. If these are parallel, the result is that the cork is cylindrical, and, if not, it becomes conical. The cork-maker or workman has several large baskets, into which he places the corks according to size or quality, but this first classification is not sufficient, and the corks are placed upon a table and more carefully sorted. To classify the corks according to size wooden boxes are employed, the bottoms of which can be taken out or put in, having a kind of grating of wood.

The corks are worked in a solution of oxalic acid or bioxalate of potash. As soon as washed they are placed out to dry gradually in the shade, in order to enable them to retain the silky gloss which the cork has when it is damp. For packing, 30,000 corks constitute what is called a bale, but for transportation across the ocean bales of from 5,000 to 10,000 corks are made.

Lincoln's Swear Word.

One story that is told of Lincoln relates to that extreme, correctively critical attitude which Secretary Seward always maintained toward the president.

Mr. Lincoln and the secretary had managed to escape from a man who had been boring them, and as they reached the house the president threw himself into an armchair and exclaimed:

"By jings, governor, we are here!"

Mr. Seward replied by asking in a reproving tone:

"Mr. President, where did you learn that inelegant expression?"

Mr. Lincoln immediately turned to several young men who had entered the room in time to hear the exclamation and said:

"Young gentlemen, excuse me for swearing before you. 'By jings' is swearing, for my good old mother taught me that anything that had a 'by' before it is swearing. I won't do so any more."—Youth's Companion.

Only Sunburned.

Last summer two little girls in a College avenue family were repeatedly remonstrated with by their indulgent mother for playing bareheaded in the sun. "You will be burned so badly," said she to them finally, "that people will think you are black children." Her warning had little effect, however, and she gave up trying to keep their hats on.

One day she sent them to a neighbor a block or so distant to make some inquiries concerning a washwoman. Mrs. S., the neighbor in question, mistook them for the children of a Mrs. Black who lived in another street nearby.

"You are the little Black children, are you not?" she asked.

"Oh, no," came the prompt response from the elder. "Only sunburned."

TRACKMEN'S STRIKE.

Track and Roadbed in Owen Sound Division First-Class.

SAYS ROADMASTER HOLLOWAY

Speeches in Favor of the Men at the Pembroke Meeting—Meddling With Railway Property—Two Strikers Sentenced at Selkirk, Man.—Steel Strike Stationary on Monday.

Owen Sound, July 23.—Roadmaster Holloway of the Owen Sound division of the C. P. R. was in town this afternoon, and when questioned as to the strike situation gave the following detailed statement of the number of men at work on the different sections: Weston, 5; Woodbridge, 5; Kleinburg, 2; Bolton, 14; Mono Road, 4; Caledon, 5; Melville Junction, 5; Orangeville, 10; Orangeville Junction, 4; Shelburne (south), 5; Shelburne (north), 5; Dundalk, 4; Proton, 2; Markdale, 3; Berkeley, 1; Chatsworth, 5; Rockford, 3; Owen Sound, 6. As the train passed Flesherton and Holland Centre during the noon hour these sections were not tallied. The roadmaster reports the track and roadbed to be in first-class condition, and states that so far as this division is concerned the strike has not and will not disorganize traffic in the slightest.

President Wilson's Circular.

Toronto, July 23.—President Wilson of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trackmen has sent out a circular to the striking Canadian Pacific Railway maintenance-of-way men. In part, Mr. Wilson says: "A few have weakened under the continual influences of the ts, promises, flattering bribes and lies, the rest are standing firm as the rock of Gibraltar, so that from St. John to Vancouver there are not to-day a dozen foremen at work who were at work the day before the strike was called. Even north and west of Toronto, where the company assert the strike is over, a large proportion of the men are still unfaltering in their support of the committee, and on the Owen Sound branch nine gangs, who had, as they assert, been induced by false representations to go to work, sent in their resignations again on Monday morning, July 15, and joined their striking brothers and say they will support your committee to the end. Members of other orders have informed us that they consider their personal safety is involved and their occupations too precarious to follow under existing circumstances. The track is fast getting to the stage at which the running of trains is impossible."

Mr. Timmerman's Report.

General Superintendent Timmerman yesterday received a report stating that on 20 sections between Toronto and Owen Sound 20 foremen and 63 men are at work. All vacancies, say the officials, are being filled.

Western Strikers Convicted.

Selkirk, Man., July 23. — Two of the C.P.R. strikers who had been sectionmen at Sinnet, a station on the main line east of here, were suspected of tampering and interfering with the company's property in that neighborhood and on investigation these suspicions were confirmed. Information was laid against them before Magistrate Scott here on Saturday in pursuance of which they were brought before the magistrate yesterday when the cases were heard. The prisoners were convicted and sentenced to one month's imprisonment each.

Carnduff, Assa., July 23. — The parties accused of offences in respect of railway company's property and arrested by mounted police, were arraigned here yesterday and found guilty.

Wreck on C.P.R.

Chatham, July 23.—A serious accident of a fast freight occurred on the C. P. R. at Arkwood a few miles east of here on Saturday, delaying traffic for several hours. An engine and several cars were derailed, fortunately no person was hurt. A misplaced switch is supposed to have been the cause of the accident.

Meeting at Pembroke.

Pembroke, July 23.—A public meeting in the interest of the striking trackmen of the C. P. R. was held in the Town Hall, Pembroke, last evening, John P. Millar, Mayor of Pembroke, in the chair. The hall was densely filled with an enthusiastic gathering. The speakers were: Alexander Campbell and A. B. Lowe, on behalf of the strikers, and John Munro M. P. P., Phomas Horn, Rev. Dr. Dayne, Thomas Murray, M. P., Dr. McKay and Mr. Bonitor of The Standard. The sympathy of all the speakers were strongly in favor of the trackmen. On the division of the C. P. R. from Brockville to Chalk River all the trackmen but two went on strike on June 17 and are still out.

Mine Firemen Return.

Wilkesbarre, July 23.—More mines in the Wyoming Valley resumed work yesterday. About 85 per cent. of the strikers will be back to-day, when there will be a general resumption of mining operations.

After a two months' strike the machinists of the Lehigh Valley Railroad have given up the fight and are returning to work.

200 STRIKERS IN TORONTO.

Trouble in the Brass Works Spreads and Machinists May Quit Also.

Toronto, July 23.—Close upon 200 men went out on strike yesterday in the brass manufacturing trade in the city. The trouble, which originated with the brass moulders, has now involved machinists, brass finishers, pattern-makers, and the core-makers. Yesterday more than thirty brass finishers and polishers left the factory of The James Morrison Company, Adelaide street. Nine shops are now affected, the men in each case numbering from five or six up to thirty. The shops from which the men are now on strike are those of Morrison's, Coulter and Campbell, Keith and Fitzsimons, Robertson and Son, King street west; Northey Manufacturing Co., Toronto Brass Company, Dean Bros., Wilson and Cousins, and W. Malcolm. Three shops have signed the union scale, and the men are now at work. These firms are John Fogg, W. Blaikie, and C. Constable.

The men say it is a fight against a combination, and that more men may yet become involved. The machinists in several of the shops if asked to take the brass work, will probably refuse.

200 Collar Cutters Quit.

Troy, N. Y., July 23. — About 200 collar cutters went on a strike yesterday morning.

SURPRISE FOR BOERS

THE FUNERAL OF MRS. KRUGER

Mr. Kruger is Very Much Affected by Her Death, but Plunges Into Work for Relief of Grief—Government Sends Out Mrs. Fawcett to Disprove English Pro-Boer Stories.

Kroonstad, July 22.—Major Pinecoffin surprised a Boer commando at Honingspruit July 19, capturing Commandant Hatting, two sons of Gen. Prinsloo and 24 others, and killing and wounding 17.

MRS. KRUGER'S FUNERAL.

Former President Very Depressed Over Death of His Wife.

Pretoria, July 22.—Mrs. Kruger, wife of former President Kruger of the South African Republic, who died Saturday last of pneumonia after an illness of three days, was buried here this afternoon.

Kruger Is Depressed.

Amsterdam, July 23.—Former President Kruger of the South African Republic is very depressed as the result of the death of his wife, but his health is unaffected. On the contrary he has thrown himself into his work with more than his usual energy.

Press comment on the death of Mrs. Kruger is sympathetic. The newspapers do not attach any political significance to the event.

Women Boer Prisoners.

Pretoria, July 22.—Mrs. Kruger died a British prisoner. The wife of Acting-President Schalkburger is also a prisoner here. Mrs. Louis Botha, the wife of the Boer commander-general, had been a prisoner in Pretoria, but was permitted to go to Europe on a peace mission.

Mrs. Reitz, the wife of the Transvaal State Secretary, escaped from Pretoria with her family to Lorenzo Marquez, where the Dutch Consul bought second-class tickets for them to Europe, as they had very little money.

Humanitarians Stirred.

London, July 23.—Impressed by stories of the sufferings of army horses in the course of the war in South Africa the Church Society for the Promotion of Kindness to Animals is working to secure an extension of the terms of the Geneva convention in the direction of extending Red Cross privileges to animals and veterinary surgeons who are compelled to attend them under fire. It is proposed to recognize as neutrals and noncombatants those who may be detailed to succor or slaughter wounded horses on the field of battle.

PRO-BOERS CHECKMATED.

Government Send Out Mrs. Fawcett to Disprove Their Stories.

London, July 23.—The pro-Boer party seems to be more deeply mortified over the action of the Government in sending out Mrs. Fawcett as head of a commission to enquire into the state of the concentration camps of women and children than over any other happening of recent months.

The cleverness of the move is apparent when it is remembered that the pro-Boers were so practically confident that Miss Hobhouse would be sent, and arrangements had been made for those who were to accompany her. Yet Mrs. Fawcett is held in such high esteem by all those, regardless of party, who are interested in philanthropic work that no fault can outwardly be found with her selection.

Half a Million for Bobs.

London, July 21.—It is believed, says The Times, that a grant will be made to Lord Roberts in recognition of his services in South Africa and to enable him suitably to maintain his peerage. To provide this an additional estimate will be submitted forthwith. The grant will be £100,000.

Not a Success.

"I warn you," he said threateningly, "to keep away from Miss Bilton. I've been making love to her myself."

"Have you, really?" replied his rival. "Well, she'll be glad to have the matter cleared up."

"Cleared up! What do you mean?"

"Why, she said she thought that's what you'd been trying to do, but she wasn't sure."

SOBER ONTARIO.

Twenty-nine years ago, when the Ontario Liberals came into office, the power to issue licenses was in the hands of municipalities. Consequently the number of liquor licenses issued depended to a large extent upon the influence on the municipal councils of those wishing to procure such licenses. Not only was the number likely to be large, but the character of the houses conducted was very questionable. Dissatisfaction prevailed to such an extent as to warrant the Government taking the steps they did in assuming control of the license system. In 1874 the number of licenses issued was 6,185, being a license for every 274 persons. In the year 1900 the number of licenses issued decreased to 2,950, or one to every 850 persons. The decrease in the number of licenses has been accompanied by a corresponding decrease in arrests for drunkenness. In 1899 the convictions for drunkenness reported in this province, amounted to 4,797. Ten years later the number had decreased to 1,892.

As regards sobriety, Ontario more than holds her own, not only with the other provinces, but also with the State of Maine, where prohibition has been in force for half a century. In Maine the arrests for drunkenness during the years 1890-95 were 253 per thousand, while in Ontario for the same period they were only 195 per thousand.

The average consumption of alcoholic liquors in the countries of Great Britain, Germany, France, the United States and Australia is 29.27 gallons per head per year. The consumption of liquor in Canada averages only 5 1-5 gallons a head. The comparative sobriety of this province may be fairly estimated when it is considered that Ontario contains almost half the population of the Dominion.

Millions of packages of Diamond Dyes are used every year by Canadian women. These wonderful dyes have completely revolutionized the art of home dyeing. By the use of Diamond Dyes the work of colouring can be done in one-fourth the time, at much less expense and with greater success than formerly. Diamond Dyes are the only package dyes that make fast and permanent colours. The Wells & Richardson Co., Limited, Montreal, will send a Diamond Dye Cook Book to any address.

PERIL OF THE WATER

Ex-Commissioner Ogilvie Nearly Drowned at Nome.

A FEARFUL SURF SWEPT BEACH

Clark Vallick of Midland Drowned While Picking Logs Near French River—Twelve Year Old Kathleen Strong Drowned in Apple River, N. S.—Tilsonburg's Unusual Chapter of Accidents.

Port Townsend, Wash., July 23.—The steamship Oregon has arrived here. The Oregon sailed from Nome July 13. For several days previous to her sailing, a fearful surf was sweeping the beach at Nome. A party consisting of ex-Governor Ogilvie of Yukon Territory, Dr. Herbert D. Hatch and Mrs. E. S. Walker, wife of Capt. Walker, while being landed from the St. Paul in a steam launch barely escaped drowning.

News from Unsmink Island that two brothers named Sutherland, and a man named Jackson were probably murdered. The three men were landed there last fall by the schooner Thomas F. Bayard. She returned for them this season, and found a collapsed tent. Inside were a coat and a vest, both of which were pierced with knife cuts. One of the Sutherlands was known to have $1,000 when he landed on the island.

A Lumber Man Drowned.

Midland, July 23. — Clark Vallick of this town, while engaged picking up logs near French River, fell off the booms and was drowned. The body was brought here yesterday via the City of Toronto for burial. He was about 23 years of age.

Twelve-Year-Old Gone.

Halifax, July 23. — Kathleen Strong, aged 12 years, was drowned at Apple River, near Parrsboro yesterday afternoon. She was bathing and got beyond her depth.

Peterboro Man Drowned.

Winnipeg, July 23.—Robert Mitchell was drowned yesterday in the Red River at Selkirk, while rowing. His boat struck a ferry cable and upset. He formerly lived in Peterboro, Ont.

Shafer's Body Is Lost.

Niagara Falls, July 23. — While swimming in the Niagara River at the west side of Strawberry Island, near Buffalo, Sunday, Gus Shafer, 22 years old, who lived with his mother at No. 91 Military Road, was seized with a cramp and drowned. Shafer swam out from the shore while other young men who accompanied him to the spot were undressing, preparatory to taking the plunge in the water. He suddenly cried out that he was unable to move, and begged for help. John Wilson of No. 86 Military Road, was the first to reach the spot, but when he arrived where Shafer was last seen the body had disappeared. The body has not been located, the current being rapid.

Brother Tried To Save.

Fort Frances, July 23. — William Strachan, while working on Martin and McKinnons drive at Big Fork, fell from a log and immediately sank. His brother plunged after him and brought him to the surface, putting him across two logs. The logs separated and again he sank. His body was not found for eight hours after.

CHAPTER OF ACCIDENTS.

Tilsonburg Has Three Unusual Happenings, All in One Day.

Tilsonburg, July 23.—This town experienced a peculiar chapter of accidents on Saturday, a boiler exploding in Cuthbertson's oil wells, a farmer sustaining serious injuries by being kicked by a horse, and the barn of John Swance being struck by lightning and burned. The boiler explosion occurred about 5 o'clock. Messrs. Cuthbertson, Thompson and Smith were at work a few yards from the boiler when it exploded. Thompson having his foot broken by a piece of falling iron, and Cuthbertson being cut about the shoulder. The boiler was blown 200 feet and crashed through an oak timber 10 inches square.

John Gardiner, a farmer, was the victim of a runaway accident. He was driving down a hill, when he lost control of his horse, and he was thrown out. The animal kicked him severely in the face and body. Mr. Gardiner was brought into town, where he has lain in a critical condition ever since. He is 70 years of age.

Fatal Watch for Father.

Montreal, July 23. — While watching for a letter from her father little Mona Turton fell from a fourth storey window of the residence, 517 St. Antoine street, at 9 o'clock yesterday morning, and half an hour later died in the General Hospital. The dead child was about four years old, and was the eldest of three. The father is Mr. John Turton, the well-known young actor and singer of this city. He learned the sad news of his child's death in Winnipeg yesterday. Little Mona was one of the brightest children possible to imagine. Yesterday morning she exclaimed, "I am looking for the postman to see if he will bring me a letter from my daddy." John Turton is a Torontonian, having resided there for years up to two years ago.

Pierced by a Bat.

Ogdensburg, N. Y., July 23. —Newell B. Lake, while playing in a baseball game here yesterday, started for first base, but fell over a broken bat which had been thrown carelessly on the ground. The sharp end of the splintered bat entered his side below the ribs, and, passing upwards, protruded from his neck.

Killed by Rocks.

Halifax, July 23.—John W. Burney, a coal miner, was killed at the Drummond colliery at Westville yesterday, by a fall of rock and stone.

SUMMER BREAKFASTS SHOULD BE COMMENCED WITH

Malt Breakfast Food.

A partially pre-digested grain food—one that is easily digested, quickly assimilated, and that yields ample nutriment for the building up of body and brain tissues, is the diet best adapted for a summer breakfast. Malt Breakfast Food has a delicious flavour that old and young relish; it is satisfying, comforting and tempts the weakest appetite. Malt Breakfast Food pleases the whole family; it captivates the old and young, the strong and weak. Your grocer has it.

TRADE STILL GROWING.

An Increase of $13,000,000 in the Last Year.

Ottawa, July 23.—From unrevised figures obtained at the Department of Customs yesterday, it would appear that the foreign trade of Canada last year increased about $13,000,000 over the year previous, which was by far the largest in the history of the country. On the basis of imports entered for consumption and exports of Canadian produce only, exclusive of the percentage usually added for exports to the United States not recorded, the total foreign trade of the last fiscal year was $358,864,581. On the same basis for the previous year the trade was $345,985,174. It is not possible at present to give the figures of the aggregate foreign trade, which included the total imports and exports, but it is confidently expected that they will be in the neighborhood of $394,000,000. For the fiscal year 1900 the aggregate foreign trade was $381,517,236.

A New Theory.

Ottawa, July 23.—A new theory in the river mystery is gaining currency. It is that Miss Morrison was taken sick the Saturday night before her body was found, and that she leaned over the cliff above the river. While doing so she may have overbalanced and fallen in the river. When her body was found the stomach was empty, and Miss Morrison's hand satchel was hanging on the fence over the cliff, where it is supposed she fell over.

Hamilton Woman Horribly Burned.

Hamilton, July 23. — A lamp exploded at the residence of H. Smith, 110 North Hess street, last night. Mrs. Smith's clothing took fire and she was horribly burned from the waist up. She was taken to the General Hospital.

Stabbed In a Car.

Montreal, July 23.—Thomas Brennan was stabbed by a companion last night in one of the Montreal street cars. The assailant escaped.

A Temporary Famine

Thousands of Consumers of

MALT BREAKFAST FOOD

Are Deprived of Their Favorite Breakfast Dish.

The Rush of Orders is Great and Pressing From Grocers in all Provinces.

The Malted Cereals Company Making Strenuous Efforts to Keep Up the Supply.

It can be truly said, that at the present time, no other grain breakfast grain food is as popular as Malt Breakfast Food in the Dominion of Canada. Wholesale and retail grocers and tens of thousands of delighted users declare without hesitation that Malt Breakfast Food is far ahead of all other grain foods, and our best physicians pronounce it a true health food. A visit to the factory at Cowansville, Que., where all is delightful cleanliness, order, system and incessant production, and a look at the accumulating and unfilled orders at the head office, Montreal, is conclusive evidence that the public demand is phenomenal.

It is literally true when we state there is a temporary famine as far as the supply of Malt Breakfast Food is concerned. Letters from the wholesale and retail trade prove this statement. Many business houses have not a package in stock, and consumers who do not quite comprehend the position of the over-worked and over-rushed factory are daily clamouring for supplies of their chosen breakfast food.

The Malted Cereals Company, while sincerely thanking the wholesale and retail grocers of Canada for past favours and continued interest in the success of Malt Breakfast Food, can give the assurance that with new and increased facilities they will be able in a week or two to fill all back orders. To the tens of thousands of users of delicious Malt Breakfast Food, the Malted Cereals Company promise a strict continuance of that high standard of purity that has made Malt Breakfast Food such a fast friend with young and old.

Barn Struck By Lightning.

Lightning Hits a Mill.

Aylmer, July 23.—Gardner & Hilborn's roller grist mill, known as the City Grist Mill, was struck by lightning and burned yesterday morning. The building was struck about 2 o'clock, and was soon in flames, and only the walls are standing. The machinery is a total loss. There was $1,500 worth of stock in the mill. Of this only 50 bags of flour were saved. The building was valued at $2,500 and the machinery $5,000. The insurance on the building and machinery was only $2,800, and on the stock $1,000.

CONSUMPTION CONGRESS.

The King Shows His Interest in the Special London Gathering—Lord Strathcona Speaks.

London, July 23. — The British Congress of Tuberculosis, for the Prevention of Consumption, was opened yesterday by Field Marshal H.R.H. the Duke of Cambridge, president of the congress, who welcomed the foreign delegates and spoke of the interest taken in the congress by King Edward.

Lord Lansdowne, the Foreign Secretary, also welcomed the delegates, and in the name of the Government promised all the assistance the Government was able to afford the congress in its endeavors to combat a disease more detesting than war.

After the Lord Mayor of London, Frank Green, Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal and others had addressed the congress, Lord Lister, one of the British vice-presidents of the congress, in a few words conveyed the thanks of that body to Prof. Robert Koch of Germany, and the other scientists present for their welcome, saying they knew the enemy they had to deal with, but it was not only the prevention but the cure of consumption that the congress hoped to effect.

A telegram was read from King Edward to the Duke of Cambridge, as follows:

"I pray you heartily to welcome for me the eminent men of almost every nation who have assembled under your presidency and to express to them my earnest hope that the result of the deliberations of the congress will be to assist the work of mitigating this diro disease which has baffled the most distinguished physicians for so long."

Prior to the adjournment of yesterday's session of the congress, the Duke of Cambridge announced that a gift of £120,000 would be forthcoming for the purpose of establishing the first public tuberculosis sanitarium as soon as the recommendations of the congress concerning its establishment had been formulated.

Four hundred foreign delegates attended the opening session. They included a number of Americans and Canadians and several ambassadors and foreign Ministers.

Sheldon's Opinion.

Leamington, Ont., July 23. — Mr. Sheldon states that for two years he unsuccessfully sought a remedy to cure his son of Catarrh, but permanent results were not obtained until Catarrhozone was used. It cured his little boy like magic, and he has been quite free from Catarrh ever since. Catarrhozone cures all forms of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Throat Irritation Coughs and Colds. No remedy like it. Quick to relieve, pleasant to use, guaranteed to cure. Clears throat and nose at one breath. Try Catarrhozone, 25 cents and $1.00. Druggists or Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Spare Women.

In former years when thin women wished to gain flesh and roundness of form they would take warm baths and follow this by rubbing into the skin cod liver oil. Now they employ the more elegant way of buying Scott's Emulsion and taking it internally. It increases the weight of thin babies and delicate children also

Dear Sirs,—My little girl was almost dead with summer complaint. I tried numerous remedies for her, but they did no good. A friend recommended Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, so I procured a bottle, and by the time she had taken three doses it began to help her and two bottles effected a complete cure. I owe her life to your excellent remedy.

Where is This Horse?

Messrs. Hopper & Harnett, confectioners, No. 281 George street, are anxious to find a horse of theirs that wouldn't stay at home. It appears that the owners of the horse had some consideration for it during the hot weather, and Sunday night they left the stable door open in order that the cool night air might blow in upon its perspiring limbs. However, ingratitude is one of the characteristics of the brute creation as well as the human race, and Mr. Horse pulled his halter over his head and stole away — where he is no one as yet appears to know, but his owners give this description of him — A brown horse, black legs, black mane and tail.

HIS FINGERS CRUSHED.

An Accident to Mr. David Hartley This Morning.

Mr. David Hartly, of No. 25 Division street, met with a bad accident at the Canadian General Electric Works, this morning, as the result of which two of his fingers had to be amputated.

Mr. Hartly was engaged in painting the interior of the main building and was standing on a ladder with one hand resting on the track on which the big cranes run. One of the cranes went past him and he removed his hand replacing it on the track as soon as the crane was clear. Unfortunately the other crane which was close behind was unnoticed and three of Hartley's fingers were caught under the wheels.

Two of the members had to be amputated by Dr. Young and Dr. Maher. It is hoped, however, that the other finger which was not so badly crushed may be saved.

Mr. Hartley is very unfortunately situated at present as his wife is ill in St. Joseph's Hospital.

DATE ANNOUNCED.

For the Annual Outing of Eko Camp on August 3rd.

The date has been announced. The members of Eko Camp who have been in caucus behind bolted doors for several evenings, have given it out to the public that they will go up to Stony Lake for their annual outing on the evening of Saturday, August 3rd.

McCracken's Landing is, as usual, the objective point, and the cottagers of Stony Lake are asked to be prepared for some excitement. No jollier bunch of fellows ever visits Stony Lake than the members of Eko camp and a more hospitable set of young men one never runs across than these young men who yearly visit old Stony. As usual they will take their meals at the Victoria House. The camp will be pitched on the point just below the hotel.

NEW STOCK EXCHANGE.

That Has Opened up at 387 Water Street—Local Man in it.

Peterborough has a new stock exchange business at No. 387 Water street, in the same premises that were occupied by Messrs. McMillan McArthur & Co., and which closed down several months ago.

The new firm is known as W. F. Nelson & Co., the resident partner of which is well and favourably known to Peterborough's leading business men.

The firm will, it is said, conduct a general banking and brokers' business, and have direct communication with the best American markets.

Mr. McMillan, who conducted the business of Messrs. McMillan, McArthur & Co., here, will be associated with Mr. Nelson.

BURGLARS AT WARSAW.

The Post Office Broken Into Last Night—Morgan House Also Entered.

Burglars entered Mr. A. F. Choate's general store at Warsaw last night, and made an attempt to open the safe by drilling through the door.

Finding this impossible, they shattered the knobs with a sledge hammer. Leaving the store they evidently proceeded to the Morgan House, access to which was gained through one of the bar windows. Here they secured about $3 or $4 in small silver.

Mr. T. H. Wilson's blacksmith shop was also entered, where the tools were secured.

AUSTIN MITCHELL DROWNED.

He Left Peterborough About Two Years Ago and Met Death in the Northwest.

Mr. Robert Mitchell of Stewart street, Ashburnham, received a message yesterday, conveying the sad intelligence that his son Austin, who left here about two years ago, had been drowned somewhere in the Territories.

The telegram was from another son in Winnipeg, and did not state in what place or in what manner the sad affair occurred, but merely stated that he had been drowned in the Territories, and asking what he should do with the remains.

As the drowning occurred on Sunday, it is presumed that the unfortunate lad had been bathing.

Austin was 19 years of age, a a general favourite with a large circle of friends in this part of the community.

The deceased left here about two years ago, and was engaged in farming in the community.

Mr. Mitchell wired back to bury the body out west. The family here have the sympathy of the community in their affliction.

CLEANLINESS AND CREAM.

As one more evidence of the influence of the press we are informed that the lettter in Saturday's Examiner re milk supply, has accomplished its mission, and there will be no further grounds for apprehending anything approaching uncleanliness in the business of the milk vendor referred to. The circumstances which drew attention were peculiar, but capable of explanation, and even greater care will be exercised in the future by the family, who thoroughly appreciate the great importance of cleanliness in every detail of their work.

ROAD TO CHEMONG.

It is at Present in Rather Poor Condition—Broken Stone.

Bicyclists and townspeople who employ other means of going to and from Chemong, are complaining bitterly of the condition of the road between here and that place. For some weeks the roadbed has been undergoing repairs, and these are about completed. However, notwithstanding the fact that the repairs are supposed to be completed, traffic is possible only under great difficulties. The stone is broken not any too fine and left to pack itself down with the aid of the summer traffic to Chemong. Had the road been rolled a little, or had there been a sprinkling of sand over the crushed stone, it would not have been long until the road was in excellent shape for bicycles or vehicles of any kind.

COUNTY POLICE COURT.

The Cordova Liquor Case—A C. P. R. Trespasser.

County Magistrate Edmison was in Havelock yesterday in connection with the charges brought against Drew and Metcalfe of selling liquor without a license at the Cordova Mines.

The charge against Drew was dismissed, but Metcalfe was fined $50 and costs.

C. P. R. Constable Curran brought William Kelly before Magistrate Edmison last night charged with trespassing on the company's property. The prisoner entered a plea of guilty, and was fined $2. A charge of the theft of a switch key was also preferred against Kelly. To this charge he pleaded "not guilty," and elected to be tried by the Magistrate summarily. The date for the hearing was set for Thursday next. Kelly was formerly a C.P.R. employee.

THE CONTRACT LET.

For the Douglas Bridge on the Boundary on July 16th.

The Joint Committee, representing the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham and the county of Peterborough, met in the office of County Clerk Watt here on Tuesday and let the contract for the Douglas bridge, on the boundary between Cavan and North Monaghan.

The contract for the concrete abutments was given to Mr. Chas. Wynn, and the contract for the superstructure to the Hamilton Bridge Company.

The new bridge will be a most substantial one, and its construction will be proceeded with at once.

MOST BEWILDERING.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir, — The tax collector is now on the war path, and it is most bewildering to the unfortunate tax-payer to understand exactly how much he will have to pay under the different conditions named. It presents this anomaly, that by none of the modes presented for payment will he be allowed to pay exactly the amount demanded by his bill. For instance, if his taxes should be $20.00, he will be required to pay some other sum, either more or less, to be ascertained by a mathematical calculation, under the various methods assigned for payment, but in no case will he be allowed to pay the exact amount. By the five methods whereby he can determine the amount, he will arrive at four different sums, viz., $19.60, $19.80, $20.20, (under two methods), and $21.21 1-2. Truly the sagacity of our council is wonderful.

Yours, etc.,
TAX-PAYER.

PAX.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir, — I am sure that all respectable citizens, both Catholics and Protestant, view with surprise the attempts of "Catholic" and "Patriot" to prove that they are neither one nor the other.

We have been getting along with mutual feelings of pleasure and respect, for two years at least, and we hope the firebrands of the Orange and the Green will not clash, to our future discomfort and inconvenience.

Stop it gentlemen, and go and take a drink (of water.) It will do you more good.

Yours, etc.,
PROTESTANT.

NEW PULPIT IN THE CATHEDRAL.

It is of Beautiful Design and Finish.

HANDSOME CARVING OF TEXTS

Of Scripture are Placed in the Panels—The Woodwork Finished in Delicate Tints and Gold in Harmony With the Altar.

A new pulpit, designed and manufactured by Thomas Hanley of Belleville, has just been placed in St. Peter's Cathedral here a brief description, of which may be of interest to the readers of the Examiner. The design and workmanship are of exceptional merit, and certainly reflect much credit on the manufacturer, and when the painting and decorating is complete, it will be a thing of beauty as well as utility in the Cathedral.

Aside from the general beautiful design and finish, each of the various carvings, have a special religious significance. The pedestal which supports the body of the pulpit is built in the form of a hexagon with deep sunk Gothic panels. In each of the panels is a scroll upon which is a text of scripture in raised letters. In the first panel, is the text, "He commanded us to preach to the people." In the second, "Preach the word of God in season, out of season." In the third, "We preach Christ Crucified." In the fourth, "As the Father hath sent me, I also send you." In the fifth and sixth panels, "Go ye into the whole world and preach the Gospel to every creature."

Immediately above these panels are carved brackets supporting the body of the pulpit the base of which is finished in elegantly embossed mouldings.

The body of the pulpit has five sunk Gothic panels, the sixth side being left open for the entrance of the preacher. In the first panel is a carved image of the Table of the Law. In the second, is a carved statue of St. John the Baptist. In the third panel is a similar statue of The Good Shepherd. In the fourth is a carving representing the Pelican feeding its young. In the fifth, another carving of the Lamb and Cross. In the angles above each of these panels are carved figures representing 1st, the keys emblematic of St. Peter's supremacy; 2nd, the Bible; 3rd, the sacred Heart; 4th, the Lily of Purity; 5th, the Dove representing the Holy Spirit; 6th, The All seeing Eye; 7th, the three circles united in one, and cross, representing the Holy Trinity; 8th, the monogram of the Blessed Virgin; 9th, I.H.S., and 10th, the cross. The design around the top is handsomely executed in carved mouldings, and presents a chaste and appropriate finish. The top desk, book stand, and kneeling stool are upholstered in scarlet plush, and the interior lined with scarlet cloth, and the floor handsomely carpeted.

The woodwork throughout has been executed with a view of being finished in delicate tints and gold, in harmony with the altar and interior ornamentation of the Cathedral, and will be a beautiful work of art when the final touches are applied.

OF SPECIAL INTEREST

To Hay Fever Sufferers.

Sufferers from hay fever and summer catarrh will be interested to learn that there is a new, simple, inexpensive, but effective home treatment for this obstinate and baffling disease, and that a little booklet fully describing the treatment will be mailed free to anyone by addressing the F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.

Doubtless this statement of a cure and positive preventive of hay fever will be received with skepticism by the thousands who have found the only relief every year was a change of climate during the summer months.

But whether skeptical or not, it will cost nothing to investigate this new treatment. Simply send name and address on a postal card to F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich., for the booklet, which besides describing the treatment contains a concise treatise on the cause and character of this peculiar disease.

WEAKNESS

OF MEN AND WOMEN

Could we read the hearts of every man we meet, what a load of sorrow and despair would be disclosed. Indiscretions and Blood Diseases have caused more physical and mental wrecks than all other causes combined. They strike at the foundation of manhood; they sap the vital forces; they undermine the system, and not only do they often disrupt the family circle, but they may even extend their poisonous fangs into the next generation. If you have been a victim of early sinful habits, remember the seed is sown, and sooner or later you will reap a harvest. If your blood has been diseased from any cause do not risk a return later on. Our New Method Treatment will positively cure you and you need never fear any return of the disease. We will give you a guarantee bond to that effect. We would warn you sincerely against the promiscuous use of mercury, which does not cure blood poison but simply suppresses the symptoms.

WE CURE OR NO PAY.

Don't Let your Life be Drained Away, which weakens the intellect as well as the body. There is no room in this world for mental, physical or sexual dwarfs. Our New Method Treatment will Stop all Unnatural Losses, Purify the Blood, Strengthen the Nerves, Restore Vitality, and make a man of you. If you are in trouble, call and consult us. Consultation is Free. We treat and cure Deafness, Blood Diseases, Varicocele, Stricture, Impotency, Blood Poison, Ghost, Kidney and Bladder Diseases. No cutting or operations. No detention from business. Everything confidential. Consultation Free. Books Free. Question Blank Free for Home Treatment.

JINGLES AND JESTS.

Four Jonesy!

Last night by merest chance I took
A faded blossom from a book
And crushed beneath my clumsy foot
A thing that was so fair and sweet
Some twenty Mays ago.

One summer's evening by the sea
My heart's ideal walked on with me
And from a bending brier vine
Broke off this blossom—true love's sign—
Some twenty Mays ago.

Sweet were the fields in fading light,
With roses closing for the night,
And sweet her promise made to me
That summer evening by the sea
Some twenty Mays ago.

Ah, well! I go alone my way,
Content, yet single, getting gray;
The light of love for me died down;
The blood red rose has faded brown
Since twenty Mays ago.

"And did she die?" Ah, no; not she;
She married Jones and jilted me.
She's loud and fat, of fiery vim,
And Jones—poor dog—I pity him;
He leads a life, you know.

'GOT A SENATOR'S HAT.

Actor Crane Appropriated the Headgear of a Kansas Statesman.

Among the stories that are retailed in the cloakroom of the senate when that body is in session at Washington is one of how William H. Crane, the actor, put the finishing touches upon his great character study, "The Senator."

"As you well know," said one of the group, "Crane took his character almost directly from Senator Plumb of Kansas. Crane had just started out with 'The Senator' and had opened in Washington. We had all seen the performance and liked it immensely. But I thought I saw one defect. Crane wore a high silk hat, which was not at all, according to my thinking, in keeping with the imitation of Plumb, who always wore the characteristic broad brimmed hat of the southerner. One evening when Crane, Ingalls, Plumb and myself happened to be dining together I remarked to Crane about the matter of the high hat.

"'You really ought not to wear it, for it is not in keeping with the character,' said I. 'You ought to wear one like Plumb's.'

"Crane did not say much in answer, but when he arose from the table he reached out for Plumb's hat and calmly put it on. Leaving his own hat for Plumb, Crane went off down the street with the old felt affair jammed down over his forehead. The senator was too surprised to offer objection. The next night Crane appeared on the stage with Plumb's hat on his head and thereafter wore it at every performance.

News of Another Success on the Part of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

An Alberta Man Reports his Entire Satisfaction With the World Famous Remedy—Blood Disorder the Cause of his Trouble — Dodd's Kidney Pills Have Removed it and he is Thankful

Blairmore, Alberta, July 21st (Special).—Dodd's Kidney Pills are just as well thought of in the great Northwest as they are any place else in the world. The people have confidence in them. They do as they are claimed to do.

Nor is the claim a small one. Dodd's Kidney Pills are claimed to cure some of the most dangerous and deadly maladies that flesh is heir to, and what is more, they do it. The proof is positive. Thousands and thousands of reputable people attest it.

For instance every one knows Bright's Disease at one time meant the sentence of death. Does it now? Ask Arthur Colely, of Sumorset, Man. He was cured of Bright's Disease, the last stages of it, by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure the lesser disorders of the human system arising from Kidney Disease with just as much certainty and even greater promptness. Of these, Skin Eruptions, such as boils and pimples, arising from an impure state of the blood and are not the most uncommon or the least distressing. Dodd's Kidney Pills, by improveing the action of the Kidneys, purify the blood and Boils and Pimples immediately disappear.

Walter H. A. Nobls, of Blairmore, Alberta, writes in this connection: "I had been troubled with pimples all over my face, and backache. I tried everything to cure it, all kinds of medicine, but failed.

"I was told to try Dodd's Kidney Pills and did so at once. I got three boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and took one after every meal. They cured me. They are the only things that ever did me any good. I will always use Dodd's Kidney Pills in case of sickness and advise all other sufferers to do so."

A Portrait of Gen. Kitchener.

He was tall, about six feet two or three; his figure ungainly and his shoulders sloped; he slouched in his gait as he walked in long, knee-bending strides. He was a much-older man than his picture made him appear to be. His face—it may have been the Egyptian sun—was brick red. It was full of little lines, and his prominent steel-gray eyes had a peculiar expression; one of them — I have forgotten whether it was the left or the right—had a habit of roving by itself, while the other transfixed you with a cold and piercing glare. To a certain extent the eyes are characteristic of the man, for Kitchener is known to be able to see things far off at the same time.—James Barnes.

Fined for Libelling His Cook.

An English clergyman has just been mulcted £70 damages and forced to apologize to his cook for libels upon her. In writing to the girl's mother, the servant having left him, he asserted that the girl was in the habit of allowing young men to kiss her for a pecuniary consideration, a charge which he failed to justify in Court.

RETICENCE.

Our dead we buried facing to the sun;
In [illegible] epitaphs their faith is told,
And yet they died without a victory won,
Leaving a world in folly growing old.
Now, why should we, among these futile graves,
Proclaim the truth to dead or living dust?
Bow to the earth like overburdened slaves;
Reborn the freeman of a higher trust!
Have words a substance whereon light may shine?
Can beauty glow upon a trembling sound?
Can aught but deeds foreshadow the divine?
Cr[illegible]ve in symbols can the truth be found?
Th[illegible]t no doubt defeat your eager hand,
F[illegible] must heed, though few may understand.
—Peter McArthur in Ainslee's Magazine.

Turkish Rhubarb.

Possessing a savor all its own, we come on scores of large cases full of big, irregular blocks of a bright yellow colored root. "Rhubarb," says our guide, indicating it. "Ah! Then it comes from Turkey?" we cry joyfully, glad to display our learning for once, but our friend smiles contemptuously. "There is no such thing as Turkey rhubarb," he says, "and, what is more, there never has been." All the rhubarb of commerce hails from China, reaching us through Russia for the most part, but because in olden days it made its journey by way of Turkey it became known as Turkey rhubarb, and Turkey rhubarb it will remain because of the conservative tendencies of the British public.—Good Words.

One on the Tenant.

Landlord—I just came over to tell you that I've decided to raise your—

Tenant (interrupting) — Well, you needn't bother about it. I've decided to move.

Landlord—Oh, I merely desired to say that I had decided to raise your porch where it seems to sag there at the corner, and also to paper the bedrooms; but, of course, you will not, since you have decided to move, care to bear anything further about my plans. Good day. I hope you'll like it where you're going.

Trouble Breeding Condition.

Robbins—Funny, but young people who seem to love one another the most devotedly are oftentimes the first people to fight after marriage.

Wren—The trouble is, you see, they endeavor to protract the "two souls with but a single thought" idea too far. Two persons with but a single thought between them cannot help hating one another sooner or later.

It's a pity a balky horse does not realize that it is easier to pull than to take the whipping that goes with a balk.—Atchison Globe.

THE STORM FLOWER.

She came with the night and storm.
Loud roared the angry sea.
The north wind shouted a tale of wreck,
But I thought it sang to me.

The wildly whirling snow—
I thought it was summer bloom.
I thought birds sang, that laughing skies
Brightened my narrow room.

I saw a vision fair—
My life as it was to be—
And I craved the happiness, pure and sweet,
That the veiled years held for me.

But my flower of the night and storm
Withered before the dawn,
And black despair and grief and pain
Came with the white veiled morn.

O night and storm and dark!
O wailing wind! O sea!
Why did you bring so sweet a gift
To take it so soon from me?

You hold her in your keep,
For she comes with the storm again.
Nay; it is not the whispering snow
That sings at my window pane.

A SEA CHANGE.

It Was Occasioned by a Small Boy.

He sat on the lower deck, his blackened hands clasped about his drawn up knees and his head dropping upon his bared and grimy breast. Beneath his lowering brows he looked out toward the sea at the purple, white trimmed rollers, at the innocent blue sky, at the far horizon forever unreachable, forever fair, yet changing in beauty by day from a clear lavender line to a gray and misty shore, from mountains of gold and red to the alabaster walls of sea girt palaces.

He frowned at the sea and sky, for the glare of the furnaces was still before his eyes. Though the spicy sea wind blew upon his breast, yet the smell of the blue flame was in his nostrils, and the blasts of hot air still enveloped him. Now he turned his head impatiently and glanced at the upper deck, where the few passengers the steamship carried were sitting, talking and reading at their ease. It was so in life. Some were always floating easily on at the expense of others. He felt a dull rage to think that he should be below looking up at them. It was his own fault. Once he might have made his life a different thing, but now his place was fixed. He could never grow away from it.

He lounged to the rail and looked down at the waves climbing courageously upward, only to fall again, as if to mock life's vain endeavors. How cool and soothing the water would seem to his overheated brain and body! There was a sneer upon his hard lined face as he looked again toward the upper deck. What did any life amount to, theirs as well as his? Yet how they would lament if they thought it all would soon come to an end!

Then his eye was caught by the figure of a small boy with upturned face and hands in his pockets standing beside a man. And suddenly the ship and sea faded from his eyes, and he saw another boy in a big, flapping straw hat and brown overalls, with bare feet, coming down a still, dusty road that wound in dull complacency between blackberry and strawberry vines, apple trees and wild cherry bushes. The boy climbed to the boundary, half fence, half stone wall, of the orchard and felt a sudden twinge in his toe as he pushed his bare feet through the long bush grass and stumbled on a red striped apple. He sat again on the flat stone step without the kitchen door, and his mother came up behind him with a blue and white cracked cupful of sweet milk and dropped a warm doughnut into his upturned hand. "Look out; it's hot!" he could hear her say, and it aroused him with a start. He looked down at the old trousers and filthy shirt. They seemed to contain a more than physical, a moral, contamination. That country boy had come to this. From the peaceful sameness of that quiet life to the ugly monotony of this, earning a mean living by the meanest of labor and spending those earnings for not merely mean, for debasing, objects.

The last time he had been in America he had gone to a sailor's bethel and had thought that after this voyage he would go away into some faraway country place and do better, where fields were green and a living might be wrested from earth, not fire. But at Liverpool good resolves went with the earnings. Evidently this was what he was born for, ten days of misery—he could not get used to the furnaces—a week of what some men called pleasure and then the furnaces again. And so it would go on until— He turned again and looked down on the waves. How easy it would be! There would be one stoker the less, and it would give him distinction for the first—no, the second—time in his life. The first time had been when he left his country home to make his fortune. He had made it well. He sneered again, that bitterest of sneers, at oneself. Then he walked around the wheelhouse at the stern and leaned against the rail at the back and looked down at the water swirling in a widening, roughened path from the beating of the screw. It was pale blue, with inky rumes of white and here and there a fold of delicate green. Then as he gazed the wake seemed a live thing, rather many things, and their little lips of foam met and whispered, "Come," and laughed at him as a fool because he hesitated, with his hand on the rail. Not that he was afraid. Oh, no!

"Say?" The man started. He clung to the rail as if to steady himself.

"Say—hello! Anything the matter?" It was the small boy he had seen on the upper deck a few minutes before.

"No," growled the man, leaning again over the rail.

The boy moved nearer and leaned over beside him. "Water's pretty, isn't it?"

There was no answer. After a moment the boy began again, "Say, isn't it?"

"S'pose so."

Again there was silence. Near the man was fastened to the rail a small dial, with tiny revolving wheel, and from this a twirling string led far out into the water behind.

The boy came around to the other side of the man and near this instrument. "How many miles have they made today? Did fine yesterday, the captain said."

A faint look of interest passed over the man's face. "Most time to take the record now," he muttered.

They both bent over the instrument; their heads were close together; they almost touched each other and the rail. The man forgot other things for a moment.

Then a great foghorn of a voice sounded near. "What are you doing there?"

They straightened up and faced the second mate, a big, powerful man, whose usually good natured face wore a fierce frown of disapproval.

"Get out of that, you. What you roun' here for anyway? Get back there quick. If you touched it, I'll"— He drew nearer to the instrument.

A sardonic smile, unseen by the mate, came to the man's face. As he turned away his hands rested on the railing for an instant. How easy to vault it! What a surprise to the mate, whose words had been comparatively gentle! What a sensation for the passengers! He balanced himself for the plunge, when the boy spoke. The man had forgotten the boy. He was leaning against him now, the curls of his thrown back head touching the man's soiled shirt sleeves, while he expostulated with the mate.

"Now, look a-here. 'Twasn't his fault. I asked him to show me. We never touched it. 'Tisn't hurt a bit, now, is it?"

The mate straightened up from his examination. "Go round there," he ordered the man again, and the sailor slunk away. Then to the boy, "You musn't touch things like this or I shall tell the captain not to let you go over the ship."

"No, I won't. 'Pon my word I won't," cried the boy. Then, turning, he ran after the man, who had dropped upon the deck some distance away and was staring at the sea with a perplexed face.

"He's a nice man," explained the boy, slipping down beside him and nodding his head in the direction of the mate, "only he has got an awful voice. Yelled just like that once when I got on top of the engine house. He doesn't mean it."

"No," answered the man, still gazing at the sea.

The boy looked slyly up at him once or twice, then drew a piece of rope from his pocket. "Say," he smiled insinuatingly, "one of the sailors told me you could tie more knots than any other fellow aboard. Show me how, won't you?"

The man took the rope and with mechanical fingers began to teach the boy how to make the simplest knots. The mate came by presently and looked at them from beneath his bushy brows, but passed on without speaking.

"My," the boy exclaimed once in honest admiration, "don't you know a lot! I bet you could beat the captain. Where'd you learn 'em all?"

"Oh, I knowed some of 'em when I was a kid," answered the man, and he went on tying more.

It was an absorbing lesson, made so by the boy's eagerness and the man's increasing interest. Suddenly a shrill whistle sounded through the air. The boy looked up. His father beckoned to him from the deck above, and the boy rose to his feet.

"I've got to go," he said, "but I'll be practicing some of 'em, and you can show me the rest next time."

He started to run along the deck, stuffing the rope in his pocket. But he had only gone a few steps when he suddenly turned and came trotting back. He stopped near the man a little uncertainly, pulling vigorously at the frayed end of the rope.

"Say, say, you didn't mind what the mate said, did you? He didn't mean to be cross. They just have to holler that way."

The man did not speak. Again the whistle sounded. The boy turned, but persisted over his shoulder:

"You didn't mind, did you?"

Then the man laughed, a strange, sudden laugh. "No, I didn't mind." And the boy sped away.

Then the change of stokers came, and the man was called below. He went ungrudgingly and promptly. As he passed beneath the upper deck the boy, who was standing there, leaned over and waved, and the man lifted his hand to his hatless head in salute. The memory of the orchard and stone step, of the apples and doughnuts, was still with him, but it was no longer the bitterness of death—rather the sweet savor of life. —Springfield Republican.

The Young Lobster.

From the eggs of the lobster are hatched creatures not in the least resembling their parents—little fellows that swim with featherlike locomotive organs near the surface of the water. At the end of six weeks they develop legs, unless, as is highly probable, they have previously been devoured by fishes or other enemies, becoming thereupon small lobsters of familiar shape. Having reached this stage of growth, the young lobsters become walking animals, and, sinking to the bottom, immediately seek hiding places to protect them from their foes.

Blood Disorders

are simply kidney disorders. The kidneys filter the blood of all that shouldn't be there. The blood passes through the kidneys every three minutes. If the kidneys do their work no impurity or cause of disorder can remain in the circulation longer than that time. Therefore if your blood is out of order your kidneys have failed in their work. They are in need of stimulation, strengthening or doctoring. One medicine will do all three, the finest and most imitated blood medicine there is

JUST WHY

Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablet has a Record of Cures Unparalleled.

Because it is not an experiment, not a "cure-all," but a modern, up-to-date formula, thoroughly tried and tested on many hundreds of cases in private practice, hospital and outdoor clinics.

A medicine that has kept pace with the times and the advancement of medical science. A medicine confined to a practical range. One that that does not promise more than it can do.

A backache, kidney, bladder tablet, pure and simple, the same yesterday, to-day and to-morrow. This great kidney medicine is a boon alike to the young, the middle-aged and the aged.

It was the people who successfully used Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets that applied to it the term: "The Great Kidney Medicine," because it removed symptoms like the following that were staring them in the face every day, all the result of disordered kidneys—

Backache.
Pain in the back.
Weak, sluggish circulation.
Puffy or dark circles under the eyes.
Urine cloudy, milk-like or stringy dark in colour, or offensive.
Painful, scalding sensation in passing it.
Dull, heavy headache, tired, dizzy feeling, faint spells, irregular heart beats.
Urinary weakness, compelling frequent attention during the day, and to get up many times during the night.
Restless, sleepless nights. Fagged out, run down and irritable.

These are some of the danger signals nature sets to show the track of health is not clear, but kidneys clogged and Bright's disease stealing in.

If you are convinced Pitcher's Tablets are what you want, you can purchase them at your druggist's for 50 cents a bottle. If not obtainable at druggists, mailed free of postage on receipt of price.

The Pace That Tells.

In the six day bicycle races the pace tells terribly at the end. Man after man falls out exhausted. The victor wabbles wearily over the line. In the business race it's the same. Man after man drops out exhausted. The successful man is often a dyspeptic, unable to enjoy success. When the stomach is diseased there is not enough nutrition assimilated to sustain the body and repair the daily waste of tissues. The result is weakness, tending to collapse.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enables the perfect assimilation of food by which the body is built up with sound, healthy flesh.

"I have taken one bottle of Dorter Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for indigestion and liver complaint," writes Mr. C. M. Wilson, of Yadkin College, Davidson Co., N. C. "Have had no bad spells since I commenced taking your medicine—in fact, have not felt like the same man. Before I took the 'Golden Medical Discovery' I could not eat anything without awful distress, but now I can eat anything I wish without having unpleasant feelings. Last summer our baby was teething and was so poor he was almost a skeleton. We gave him your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and now he is as healthy and well as any child. I will speak a good word for your medicine whenever I have an opportunity."

CANADIAN ESSAYS.

By Thomas O'Hagan, M.A., Ph. D.

An indefatigable worker in the fields of literature is Dr. Thomas O'Hagan, the well-known Canadian litterateur. He has recently published a new volume, consisting of eight essays, "Canadian Poets and Poetry," Canadian Women Writers," "French Canadian Life and Literature," "The Old Mission Church at Tadousac," "The True Story of the Acadian Deportation," "In the land of the Jesuit Martyr," "The Pioneer Bishop of Ontario," and the Catholic Church in Ontario," all of which are brimful of interest and instruction.

The first three essays constitute a thoughtful and comprehensive critique on Canadian literature, as embodied chiefly in poetic form. No other writer has attempted such a critique, and no one who has not studied our literature intelligently and critically for many years could possibly have written so entertainingly and instructively. Dr. O'Hagan has a prose style all his own—terse, lucid, figurative — and it is seen at its best in these essays.

"The True Story of the Acadian Deportation," is a clever arraignment and denunciation of the authorities who brought about the deportation of the Acadians; and a severe castigation of Parkman and other historians who glossed over official crimes, or failed to devote sufficient time to the subject to do justice to all concerned. One post agrees with another, for the author asserts that Longfellow embodied the true story in his famous poem, "Evangeline," and backs up his assertion with not a little evidence most difficult to controvert.

In the essays pertaining to Canadian literature, four Peterborough authors — Isabella Valancy Crawford, Susanna Moodie, Catharine Parr Traill, and J. W. Garvin, have received favourable mention. We quote a few extracts:

"There passed away in 1887, in the very noontide of her intellectual powers, one of the most gifted and inspired hearts that ever beat to the divine music of Canadian song — Isabella Valancy Crawford. Her death was truly a distinct loss to Canadian literature. Miss Crawford's poetic gift was eminently lyrical, full of music, colour and originality. . . . . It is doubtful if any Canadian woman has yet appeared quite equal to this gifted singer in poetic endowment."

"Susanna Moodie, one of the gifted Strickland sisters, who may justly be regarded as the poet and chronicler of pioneer days in Ontario, lived chiefly near Peterborough. Many of her poems were never published in book form, but sang their way from the pages of magazines and columns of newspapers into the hearts of the Canadian people — vibrant from the strong pulse of nature, and aglow with the wild fragrant gifts of glen and glade."

"It is but two years since death summoned from her literary toil the kindly and venerable authoress, Catharine Parr Traill, at the advanced age of 98. For nearly seventy-five years this clever and scholarly woman, worthy indeed of the genius of the Strickland family, was a contributor to Canadian literature from the wealth of her richly stored and cultivated mind. Now a tale, now a study of the wild flowers and shrubs of the Canadian forest, occupied her pen. . . . . There is certainly truth in the words of Lord Dufferin that 'the freshness and beauty of nature breathed through every chapter of her works.' Mrs. Traill was truly great in the versatility of her gifts, the measure of her achievements, the crowning length of her years, and the sweetness of her life and character."

If Dr. O'Hagan has a fault as a critic it is due to his warm-hearted sympathy. He is perhaps too prone to see the beautiful and the good in an author, and not sufficiently observant of defects. If so, it is much to be preferred to the opposite fault.

There is too little encouragement given to our home-bred authors by the book-purchasing public of Canada. It is time for a change, and we heartily recommend to our many intelligent readers a book that will give them in a few hours more knowledge of Canada's gifted poets and writers than they could gather for themselves in years by diligent study. Let it be a guide to the best products of Canadian genius.

ORILLIA AND COUCHICHING.

Orillia and Couchiching, two names with a subtle aroma of romance in their very euphony, the one a Spanish word and the other of Indian origin, are nearly always coupled in describing one of the most beautiful summer resort districts in the famous "Highlands of Ontario." Orillia names the town, one of the prettiest and most picturesque in all Canada, and Couchiching the lovely lake on whose shores it is built. This was a famous summer resort thirty years ago, but with the destruction by fire of the famous Couchiching Hotel and the opening up of newer and wilder regions, there was a slight falling off for some years, though there were still many who loved the lake for its quiet and beauty and who came annually to spend their summers on its shores. Of late years there has been a remarkable revival in its popularity, as more people have begun to learn of the not easily equalled combination of attractions offered, fine scenery, capital fishing, a health-giving atmosphere, endless means of amusements, and all the comforts and conveniences that go to make life itself a pleasure, to be had for the asking.

The Grand Trunk Railway System recognizing the unlimited attractions of the district situated in the vicinity of Orillia and the unexcelled facilities for the accommodation of summer tourists, have issued a handsomely illustrated publication dealing with the special features and attractions of the locality. The brochure also touches on some of the attractive spots on Lake Simcoe, Bass Lake and Severn River. It deals in a truthful spirit with what may be expected by the fisherman and amateur angler. A chapter on the hotel accommodations with a list of hotels and boarding houses and prices per day and by the week is also embodied. It tells how to reach Orillia and gives authentic information to the tourists from the United States regarding customs arrangements. An all it is a most comprehensive pamphlet of invaluable aid to the summer traveller and will be sent free to anyone applying to M. C. Dickson, D.P.A., Toronto.

What Was Needed.

Henry Ward Beecher used to tell a story about a priest in the olden time who was called to bless the field of a poor farmer prior to the planting. He came and after surveying the soil remarked to the agriculturist: "I never won't do here; what you want is manure."

A True Nerve Tonic.

acts not so much upon the nerves themselves, as upon the digestive functions, and the abundment formation of rich, red blood. The nerves cannot be fed on medicine. They can be fed and strengthened by digested and assimilated food. Ferrozone's marvellous action arises from its power over the digestive and assimilative functions of the body. You take it, the blood grows richer, redder. You feel strength and vigor, digestion ceases to be noticed, for it has become good. Work is easier, for you have the strength to do it. In a short time you have health. Use Ferrozone. Sold only by Ormond & Walsh.

PRESERVING CHERRIES.

We will have another choice lot of those fine preserving cherries tomorrow morning. Call early if you want any, as the stock is so good and the demand so great that they are likely to go quickly.—S. A. OKE, 376 George street. Tel. 18.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

CANOEING.

At a meeting of local canoeists which was held last night, it was decided to put on a regatta on Stony Lake on Thursday night of next week. A number of local canoeists who have been in training, will enter the races, which promise to be most exciting. Let canoeists and townspeople in general bear the date in mind and join in making the event a success.

BASEBALL.

The Peterborough Baseball Team and the Auburns are supposed to come together to-night on the P.A.A.A. grounds, and a fast game should be the result. The Auburns, it is said, have about as fast a city team as there is in town. Daniel the second will be in the box for the north.

The Ponies of Kingston, an aggregation well known to the sporting public, will make their appearance on the local diamond on Saturday afternoon next, when they will run up against the locals. The Ponies are favourites wherever they go and the biggest crowd of the season should greet them on Saturday.

CRICKET.

It is not unlikely that the cricket match which is billed to take place on the Nicholls oval on Saturday afternoon next between the veterans, captained by Mr. W. H. Wrighton, and the Colts, will have to be called off until another date. This is owing to the fact that the Colts having finished their schedule of matches have been let loose for the vacation. Captain Bradburn of the Colts, is up the Lakes, as is also Secretary-Treasurer Wood of the Colts, and it is thought that it will be impossible to get the team together.

LACROSSE.

The Y.M.C.A. team will practise to-night on the oval.

BOWLING.

The only scheduled match played off at the green last evening was between the rinks of Skip Brown and Skip Bradd, the latter winning by ten points. The rinks were composed as follows:—

Alex Elliott,	F H Dixon,
Dr Burnham,	J M Brooks,
W F Johnston,	S Belcher,
Dr Bradd, sk...15	Ed Brown sk...5

Lactated Food

SAVES BABIES' LIVES

This assertion is amply proven by the host of strong testimonials from happy and grateful mothers in every town and city of the Dominion. No other infants' food can show such a record of infant life-saving. The points of excellence claimed for Lactated Food are as follows: it is a perfect substitute for mothers' milk; its composition is pure; it is the only perfectly predigested food; it is easily assimilated; it is tolerated when all other foods are rejected; it is the only true flesh builder; it is the only food that saves the babies from cholera infantum and dysentery in the hot weather. ADVICE TO STRIKERS

Engineer's Letter to the Striking Trackmen at Winnipeg.

QUESTION OF TRAIN WRECKING.

Strikers Should Combine to Suppress It—The Intimidation Case at Myrtle—Bail of the Accused Discharged—Strikers Said to Be Firm in Standing C.P.R.—Mr. Timmerman's Statement.

Toronto, July 24. — Reports received by striking C. P. R. trackmen here from many points in the Northwest show that the strikers are nearly a unit in remaining firm. Some non-unionists are at work, but not enough to do the work of properly looking after the tracks.

President Wilson telegraphs that the reports from all quarters are encouraging.

The Strike Is Over.

According to General Superintendent Timmerman, there was [illegible] in the strike situation yesterday. The strike, in his opinion is over.

As to the system, the officials say that the road is in the best of condition, and all trains are running on schedule time.

Strikers Must Act Promptly.

A C. P. R. despatch from Winnipeg has a letter from Charles Pope, general chairman of the C. P. R. system Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, to The Winnipeg Free Press, bearing on the strike situation in the west. Mr. Pope calls upon the trackmen to exert an influence, in a practical way, to prevent any acts of train wrecking on the part of the sympathizers with the trackmen. The reputation of the brotherhood, he says, is at stake, and if they do not wish to go on record as giving countenance to acts of violence, it is time that they put forth every effort to bring the train wreckers to justice. On some parts of the system he is informed that the strikers have constituted themselves a guard to foil the attempts of train wreckers. This is a wise step. The older railway organizations and the public will not be satisfied with a denial of all knowledge of who have committed these acts and what is expected from them is immediate and definite action in exposing the guilty.

Myrtle Intimidation Case.

Whitby, July 24.—The adjourned hearing of the charges of intimidation against Birnie and Wildes of Myrtle was resumed yesterday before Police Magistrate Harper, John E. Farewell, K. C., and Angus McMurchy, solicitor for the C. P. R., appeared for the prosecution, and A. F. Paterson, K. C., Toronto, for the defence. Several witnesses were called, including three of those said to have been intimidated, but their evidence favored the defence. At the close, Mr. Paterson moved for dismissal on the ground that there was no evidence against his clients. Mr. Farewell contended for the conviction of Wildes, and the Magistrate promptly dismissed the charge. Birnie was also discharged.

Jailed For a Month.

Winnipeg, July 24.—The two men arrested for interfering with C. P. R. property were sent to jail for a month.

STEEL STRIKE RUMORS.

Men to Be Brought in to Operate at Wellsville.

Pittsburg, July 24.—It was asserted last night on good authority that papers are being prepared by Persifer F. Smith, District Manager of the American Sheet Steel Company, to go in the United States Superior Court to-day for the purpose of securing an injunction against the strikers to prevent them from interfering in any way with the operation of the company's plant. Following this, the rumor is in circulation that a carload of men will run into Wellsville to-day to supplement the force now at work.

According to strike leaders, the officials of the Wellsville mill are apparently seeking to bring on an open conflict in order to evoke the aid of the sheriff's deputies, and, if possible, the military. Earnest and renewed warnings have been sent to the strikers to keep within the law.

Brass Workers Strike.

Toronto, July 24. — The situation of the brass workers' strike was unchanged yesterday. In all about 200 brass workers are out, including brass moulders, brass finishers, pattern makers and core makers, affecting about six firms.

Painters May All Strike.

Toronto, July 24. — There threatens to be a general strike in the painting and decorating trade over the alleged blacklisting of the eight painters who went out on strike last week in James Casey's paint shop on Victoria street. The men went out because the firm would not discharge a man who was not receiving the union scale of wages. Later, however, the man in question, also joined the ranks of the strikers. The places of the strikers were filled by Mr. Casey, who said he would not re-engage any of the strikers.

Kingston Will Spend $10,000.

Kingston, July 24. — The City Council has appropriated $10,000 for the reception to the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York. The royal party will be here one day, when the Duke will present the South African medals, lay the foundation stone of Queen's University, visit the Royal Military College and probably be banqueted.

Died in the Bush.

Winnipeg, July 24. — A woman named Mary Thomas of Clandeboye, wandered away from the house of her daughter last week. Her body has been found in the bush about a mile away. It is said her mind has been somewhat weak for some time. She was 80 years of age.

Archie McEachren's Great Win.

Baltimore, Md., July 24.—Archie McEachren, the Canadian bicycle rider, defeated Albert Champion, the Frenchman, in a 20 mile motor-paced race last night on the "bowl" track at the Coliseum, finishing four and a half laps ahead, in 32.37½. Champion took the lead at the start, but McEachren passed him on the fifth mile, and at the end of the ninth mile had a lap the best of it.

BURNED AT SCHEEPER

Trainload of British Details and Stores.

ALL DAY FIGHT NEAR CRADOCK.

Crabbe With 300 Men Attacked in the Mountains by Kretzinger—Loss at Scheeper Three Killed and 18 Wounded—Loss at Cradock Slight—Peace Negotiations Said to Be Proceeding at London.

London, July 24.—The British War Office has received the following despatch from Lord Kitchener, dated Pretoria, July 23: "A train from Cape Town, with 113 details and stores, was held up, captured and burned at Scheeper's, three miles north of Beaufort West, on the morning of July 2. Our casualties were three killed and 18 wounded. An inquiry is proceeding.

"French reports that Crabbe, with 300 men, was attacked in the mountains near Cradlock by Kretzinger at dawn, July 21. The horses stampeded, and an all day fight followed. Crabbe fell back at Mortimer. Our loss was slight."

Another Four Hundred Boers.

London, July 24.—Lord Kitchener has cabled the War Office, under Monday's date, as follows:

"Since my last report of July 15 the various columns report that 43 Boers have been killed, 25 wounded, 126 surrendered and 190 were taken prisoners. Three thousand one hundred and sixty rounds of ammunition, 126 wagons, 5,600 horses and much stock have been captured.

"Blood's column revisited Rossendale, Transvaal, and cleared the country north of the railway line.

"In Cape Colony French is gradually pressing the Boers northward."

NO INJUDICIOUS CONCESSIONS.

Lord Milner Says No Quit, Older Burghers Are Still Fighting.

London, July 24.—The presentation of the freedom of the City of London to Lord Milner of Cape Town at the Guildhall yesterday was made the occasion of another "jingo" demonstration in favor of the war in South Africa and the policy of the Government.

Joseph Chamberlain, the Colonial Secretary; the Duke of Devonshire, President of the Council, and other Cabinet Ministers were among those on the platform.

Lord Milner, in a speech, said the compromising of the settlement of the South African situation by injudicious concessions must not be thought of. The speaker said there was an immense difference between stout old burghers of the late Republics, and the "roving ruffians" harrowing their fellow British subjects of Cape Colony.

Salisbury's Occult References.

London, July 24. — In the House of Lords last night the Marquis of Salisbury mane a pessimistic speech in support of the Finance Bill.

The Premier said: "The teadency to extravagance is increasing. We have here no choice. We have had to protect ourselves and must pay the cost. For years public opinion was in favor of a pacific policy; but now the state of opinion has passed away.

"The tide has turned, and who am I, and who are we, that we should attempt to stem the tide? If the tide has turned, we shall have to go with it. We are in the presence of forces far larger than we can wield."

Peace Rumors.

London, July 24.—"We hear rumors," says The Daily News, "that negotiations with a view to peace in South Africa are proceeding in London."

South African Constables.

Ottawa, July 24. — Owing to the immense number of enquiries concerning members of the South African Constabulary, the Canadian Government wrote the Colonial Office, asking to whom such enquiries should be addressed. The following reply was received yesterday:

Mr. Chamberlain to Lord Minto:

Downing-street, July 6, 1901.

My Lord,—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your despatch, No. 177, of June 11, enclosing a copy of a letter from the Department of Militia and Defence, desiring information as to the quarter in South Africa to which persons making enquiries with regard to the South African Constabulary should be referred, and in reply I would suggest that they should be referred to the chief staff officer, South African Constabulary headquarters, Transvaal, South Africa.

I have, etc.,

(Signed) J. Chamberlain.

Man, Woman and Child Went Down.

Kingston, July 24.—A young woman reports seeing a man, a woman and a child drown at the foot of Wolfe Island. They were in a punt making for the United States shore. The craft upset, the man sank at once, the woman came up three times and the last time held the child above her head. Then both went down to death.

BENSFORT.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Mr. John Riddell, of South Monaghan, was in town on Monday. Mr. Riddell says the crops in South Monaghan, are hardly as heavy as usual. The fall wheat, however, is turning out better than was expected. The grain is heavy, but it shot unevenly. Spring crops were generally light, owing to the excessive heat.

Mr. William McAllister's many friends will be glad to learn that although he was recently overcome with the heat and somewhat prostrated, his physician, Dr. Montgomery, does not anticipate any serious trouble. Mr. McAllister was at his old home, assisting his son in haying. He was sufficiently recovered as to be able to return to his home in Otonabee on Saturday.

Mr. Braden Huggins, who was assisting Mr. R. J. Pugh, was overcome with the heat and had to be removed to Bailliebore, where he was taken to Mr. Richard Thompson's residence. His case was thought to be severe, but he is improving and the doctor now reports quite favourably.

Mr. Stuart Hall met with a serious accident last week. When he was drawing his seeder out of the barn the tongue struck him in the mouth, knocking out some teeth and splitting his tongue, necessitating several stitches being put in. He is under Dr. Montgomery's care and is getting along nicely.

The Bensfort cheese factory has been running in full operation since the beginning of the season, but the excessive heat and the dry summer is decreasing the milk supply materially.

There is a general feeling amongst the cheesemen that improved methods will have to be adopted for the curing of cheese in the factory, and it is said that some of the best factories in the country are contemplating adding this winter a more perfect cold storage system. Complaint is made in Great Britain of the quality of the cheese shipped from Canada and it is thought the complaint may be caused by the fact that the excessive heat of the year is at that season when the milk supply is the greatest. The cheese is most subject to climatic influences in the early part of the season and requires greater care.

The County Council or the Government should not lose any time in having the breakwater erected in front of the Bensfort bridge pier. It is dangerous to the bridge as well as to boat traffic going through the swing, with a strong current running or with the head of steam necessary to keep the boat straight.

At Keene, at Rice Lake, at McCracken's Landing and at Juniper Island, the Public Works Department at Ottawa has erected landing wharfs. There is much necessity for one on the Otonabee River at Bensfort Bridge, and it is to be hoped that Mr. Lang and Mr. Kendry will see to it that a suitable wharf is erected at this place. It will be of as much advantage to the people of Otonabee as to the residents of South Monaghan, and the Otonabee people will do well to call Mr. Lang's attention to this necessity in the hope that it will be erected immediately. Surely a couple of hundred dollars of the many appropriations for Public Works on the Otonabee could be used for this purpose, and no expenditure would be more appreciated. During the summer months the Sunday schools and the farmers have excursions, and there is also a great quantity of grain shipped from this point. If the farmers, millers and boatmen take this matter in hand, there should be no delay in the early completion of the wharf. The attention of Mr. Rogers, the Engineer, might be called to the matter with some effect.

The fishing on Rice Lake and the river is very good this year. Many good catches are reported. If the law is properly enforced and no fishing allowed during the close season, we would have plenty of fish in a few years. We notice that the Provincial Secretary had seven or eight hundred bass placed in the waters above Lakefield. Perhaps a similar quantity might be obtained for the Otonabee River south of Peterborough. This would no doubt be of considerable benefit in replenishing these waters.

Five of South Monaghan's most enterprising farmers are experimenting with the sugar beet seed sent out by the Ontario Government. There is quite a rivalry springing up in the effort to capture the Gold Medal.

BOAT SANK, ALL SAVED.

Thirty Passengers Taken Off—Steamer Can Be Saved.

Chicago, July 24. — A special to The Tribune from Saginaw, Mich., says:

The steamer City of New Baltimore, running between here and Tawes, sank in the river, three miles from here, with 30 passengers on board. The boat was returning from an excursion to Fort Lookout, when it sprang aleak and began to fill. Word was sent here by telephone and the tug McLean was sent out to take off the passengers. All on board were landed here safely at an early hour yesterday morning.. The boat can be saved.

A Town in Terror.

Winnipeg, July 44.—The town of Raudette, Minn., across from Beaver Mills, Ont., on the line of the New Canadian Northern, is in a state of lawlessness. Sheriff Bailey and Marshal Styles have left Winnipeg for the scene of the trouble. Eleven saloons have been running and there is no municipal organization. Many citizens have been forced to take shelter on the Canadian side, and work on the Canadian Northern bridge is at a standstill, awaiting the arrival of protection, as armed desperadoes are threatening the lives of employes.

A Fatal Explosion.

Stockholm, Sweden, July 24.—An explosion yesterday of petroleum on board the American schooner Louise Adelaide, Captain Orr, which left Philadelphia April 24 and Portland June 4 for Stockholm in the harbor here, resulted in the death of Capt. Orr, ten members of the schooner's crew, and four Swedish customs' officials. Two of the Louise Adelaide's crew were saved. The explosion set the schooner afire, and the blazing petroleum enveloped the vessel and those on board.

Frank Oliver, M.P., Ill.

Winnipeg, July 24.—Frank Oliver, M. P., is lying critically ill at his home in Edmonton. He was taken ill with la grippe on July 1, but went out of the house and had a relapse on Saturday. Lung trouble has developed.

Died From Sunstroke.

Barrie, Ont., July 24. — Robert King, sr., J. P., one of the town's most esteemed citizens for many years, died this morning after a three weeks' illness, resulting from a slight sunstroke. Mr. King was 78 years of age, and had lived about 40 years in Barrie, coming here from Windsor, England. He held the office of crier in the High Court. He was the father of Masonry in Barrie, and for years was the only one who could do the work thoroughly. He was a P.D.D.G.M., and held other important offices. He was at one time a member of the Town Council, and also chairman of the Public School Board In politics he was a Conservative and in religion was a Methodist. His wife, three daughters and two sons, one of whom is Barrie's chief of police, survive him.

Schley Wants an Enquiry.

New York, July 24. — The Post this morning says:

"Admiral Schley proposes to ask an investigation at the hands of a Naval Court of Inquiry, and then to sue historian MacLay for libel. This action is the sequel to the developments during the past week, when the entire country has been startled by the publication of the attacks made upon him in the third volume of E. S. MacLay's history of the U. S. navy, in which publication Schley is said to have run away "in caitiff flight," and is in addition denounced as a coward, a cur and a traitor."

Ottawa, July 23.—Last year the foreign trade of Canada increased about $12,000,000 over the previous year, which was the largest in the history of Canada. Imports entered for consumption and exports of Canadian produce only, make the foreign trade of the last fiscal year $356,864,591. In the previous year the trade was $345,-985,174. It is expected that the aggregate foreign trade will be in the neighborhood of $380,000,000. For the fiscal year 1900 the aggregate foreign trade was $381,517,-230.

Here is a detailed account of the foreign trade for 1900, as compared with 1900: Mine—1900, $24,850,260; 1901, $29,982,373. Fisheries—1900, $11,169,083; 1901, $10,720,-372. Forest—1900, $29,083,608; 1901, $30,-093,857. Animals and their products—1900, $56,148,907; 1901, $55,490,527. Agricultural products—1900, $27,516,0[illegible] 1901, $24,077,-082. Manufactures—1900, $14,224,287; 1901, $16,012,502. Miscellaneous articles—1900, $208,070; 1901, $44,642. Coin and bullion—1900, $1,670,068; 1901, $398,077. Total, 1900, $165,180,858; total, 1901, $177,689,192.

Last year foreign farm produce to the value of $15,820,302 was imported by Canadian routes, while the year previous such exports amounted to $12,101,212. The total imports entered for consumption in 1901 were $181,225,880. For the year previous they amounted to $180,804,316. Exclusive of coin and bullion, the imports for consumption for the two years were as follows: 1901, $177,688,075; 1900, $172,508,-878; increase, 1901, $5,181,197; duty collected in 1901, $29,128,548; duty collected in 1900, $28,889,110; increase in 1901, $239,438.

The average rate of duty on the imports dutiable and free entered for consumption, after deducting coin and bullion and the value of Indian corn imported and subsequently exported, was 16.39. In 1900 the average rate on this basis on the importations for that year was 16.19.

Importations to West Indies from Canada have greatly increased in butter, cheese, flour and oats. Following are the figures for six months in each year in 1900 and 1901: Barrels of flour—1899, 2737; 1901, 16,399. Bags oats—1899, 924; 1901, 7852. Packages butter—1899,962; 1901, 2389. Packages cheese—1899, 940; 1901, 1385.

To the port of Spain, Trinidad, there has been a favorable increase in exports, except in cheese and meats.

PAISLEY COW POISONING.

Arrest of Malcolm McDonald, Who Had a Ticket for North Dakota.

Paisley, July 24. — Considerable excitement was occasioned here last night by the arrest of Malcolm McDonald on suspicion of being implicated in the poisoning of cattle belonging to H. Rudolph a few days ago.

Stomachs of some of the dead cattle were sent to Toronto for analysis, but up to the present no report has been received. Mr. Rudolph, however, has discovered quantities of poison in three or four places in the field, leading to the conclusion that some person or persons designedly placed the stuff there for the cattle to eat.

But the most important event that has transpired in this case was the arrest of McDonald. He purchased a ticket for Dakota and was about to depart, leaving his harvest uncut, when he was taken into custody. He had in his possession a loaded five-barrel revolver. The prisoner was taken to Walkerton last evening and will appear before Police Magistrate Millar this morning.

Toronto, July 24. — The Grand Lodge of the Orange Order in British America opened its annual session yesterday afternoon at Victoria Hall. The day's session was featured by the address of Grand Sovereign, the Hon. N. Clarke Wallace. He announced his retirement from the chief executive, and in frank language stated the position of the order regarding the proposed change in the coronation oath. His address showed the order to be in a flourishing condition. The reports of the secretary and treasurer were also very satisfactory.

Stratford Young Woman Suicides.

Stratford, Ont., July 23. — A sad case of suicide occurred here late Saturday night, when Violet Sophia Youngs, aged 32 years, only daughter of ex-Alderman Benjamin F. Youngs, took her life by means of strychnine. She had been up town with her mother and was apparently in good spirits, but just after retiring asked her mother for a glass of milk without offering any explanation. On the return of Mrs. Youngs her daughter was in violent paroxysms, and despite medical assistance, which was called, she soon expired.

MERRILL'S SYSTEM TONIC IS A SCIENTIFIC REMEDY AFTER THE SUGGESTIONS OF THE BEST PHYSICIANS IN AMERICA. DISPENSED BY A CHEMIST.

HEADACHES AND HAPPINESS

are like oil and water—they won't mix. The pleasure of many a day's outing has been spoiled by a bad headache. Headache is not a disease but only a sympton. The aching nerves serve as nature's signal to direct you to look inside for the trouble. Perhaps its the stomach, perhaps the liver, perhaps the kidneys and more likely than either from a general weakness of the system. It is this vague uncertainty that directs you to Merrill's System Tonic as the one remedy that is absolutely sure of permanently curing any kind of a headache from any cause. System tonic cures headache because it is an alterative or blood purifying medicine rendering the glands of the body sufficiently strong to eliminate through the bowels, kidneys, lungs, and pores of the skin, all accumulated poisons and to absorb into the circulation all the nourishment from the food eaten. System Tonic is also a valuable tonic for the stomach, nerves and bowels and from it's combined alterative and tonic properties cures dyspepsia, constipation and liver troubles. After you have taken Merrill's System Tonic awhile each organ in the body, namely, the stomach, bowels, liver, heart and kidneys become strong, healthy and active and nature is then able to throw off all diseases that are ravishing or annoying the body on account of a deranged condition of any of these important organs. As ninety nine per cent. of all diseases hinge on a lack of these conditions you are sure to find a cure in Merrill's System Tonic.

BISLEY MEETING ENDED.

Earl Robert Spoke Individually to Each Member of Canadian Team—Sergeant. Proctor's Win.

Bisley Camp, July 23.—The scores of the four Canadians competing in the final stage of the King's were as follows:

	800 Y'ds.	900 Y'ds.	1000 Y'ds.	Total.
Gunner A. Fleming .	44	33	25	102
Sgt-Major McDougall.	32	30	28	90
Lieut. John Ogg	42	38	40	120
Sergt. A. Wilson	37	30	43	119

Lieut. Ogg will reach about 15th place and Sergt. Wilson about 18th place in the prize list.

Earl Roberts, on his visit to the Canadian hut, spoke to each member of the team and enquired if they had been with the troops from the Dominion in South Africa.

At the distribution of prizes on Saturday afternoon Col. Tilton, commandant of the Canadian team, occupied a most conspicuous seat on the platform, sitting directly facing Earl Roberts. When the Commander-in-Chief began to speak Col. Tilton stood up and uncovered his head and remained in this position until the Earl concluded his speech.

Not a single Canadian received a prize at the hands of Earl Roberts, though some of them should have, but the adjutant, who was at most entirely ignorant of his duties, neglected to notify those members who had won prizes. The Earl expressed surprise that no Canadians were amongst those who received prizes.

Sergt. Proctor of the Seaforth Highlanders won the Dominion of Canada Grand Aggregate Challenge Trophy, with an aggregate score of 354. In the same competition Canadians divided the Corporation of the City of London Aggregate Prize as follows:

Pte. C. S. McDougall, £25 sterling; Bodeley, £15; Graham and Gilchrist, £10; Richardson and Fleming, £7 10 shillings; Swaine, Murphy, Bayles, Mason, C. V. Spencer and Wilson, £5. The scores ranged from McDougall with 336 to Wilson with 320.

A True Nerve Tonic.

acts not so much upon the nerves themselves, as upon the digestive functions, and the abundment formation of rich, red blood. The nerves cannot be fed on medicine. They can be fed and strengthened by digested and assimilated food. Ferrozone's marvellous action arises from its power over the digestive and assimilative functions of the body. You take it, the blood grows richer, redder. You feel strength and vigor, digestion ceases to be noticed, for it has become good. Work is easier, for you have the strength to do it. In a short time you have health. Use Ferrozone. Sold only by Ormond & Walsh.

PROGRAM NOT CARRIED OUT.

Steel Strike Not Affected by the Day's News.

Pittsburg, July 23.—The expected did not happen yesterday. Neither of the looked-for programs for Wellsville or McKeesport was carried out. At Wellsville the importation of men failed to materialize, and at McKeesport the attempt to resume at the Dewees Wood Tube plant was not made. At both plants, which are considered by each side to be the strike centres, the situation is in status quo, neither of the parties to the controversy having made any decided move. From the other important point, Duncansville, conflicting reports are received and the result of the quiet struggle going on between the American Steel Hoop Company and the Amalgamated Association is still uncertain.

Spare Women.

In former years when thin women wished to gain flesh and roundness of form they would take warm baths and follow this by rubbing into the skin cod liver oil. Now they employ the more elegant way of buying Scott's Emulsion and taking it internally. It increases the weight of thin babies and delicate children also

CONGRESS STARTLED.

Bovine Tuberculosis is Not Transmittable to Man.

SO SAYS THE EMINENT DR. KOCH

The Meat and Milk of Cattle Infected With Consumption May Be Consumed by Man With Absolute Impurity—He Likewise Believes in the Possibility of Stamping Out Tuberculosis.

London, July 24. — A feature of yesterday's session of the British Congress on Tuberculosis was Dr. Robert Koch's paper, which was listened to with the deepest interest by a big gathering in St. James' Hall.

Lord Lister, professor of surgery in the Glasgow and Edinburgh Universities, and one of the British vice-presidents of the congress, introduced the noted German professor to the assembly.

During his address to the congress Dr. Koch said his experiments had satisfied him that human tuberculosis and bovine tuberculosis were radically different diseases, and that he had amply demonstrated that cattle could not be infected with human tuberculosis. The counter proposition that human beings were not liable to infection from bovine tuberculosis was harder to prove, the doctor said, owing to the difficulty of experimenting upon human subjects, but that personally he was satisfied such was the case.

He then entered into a lengthy analysis of the best methods of preventing consumption. Dr. Koch also highly complimented Dr. Hermann M Briggs (pathologist and director of the bacteriological laboratories of the New York City Health Department), upon the repressive measures concerning tuberculosis taken in New York City, where, he said, the mortality from tuberculosis had been reduced 35 per cent. since 1886, and recommended the system organized by Dr. Briggs in New York to the study and imitation of all municipalities.

Dr. Koch closed his remarks expressing the belief that the ultimate stamping out of tuberculosis was possible.

Sheldon's Opinion.

Leamington, Ont., July 23. — Mr. Sheldon states that for two years he unsuccessfully sought a remedy to cure his son of Catarrh, but permanent results were not obtained until Catarrhozone was used. It cured his little boy like magic, and he has been quite free from Catarrh ever since. Catarrhozone cures all forms of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Throat Irritation Coughs and Colds. No remedy like it. Quick to relieve, pleasant to use, guaranteed to cure. Clears throat and nose at one breath. Try Catarrhozone, 25 cents and $1.00. Druggists or Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Broken Hearted Suicide.

Windsor, Ont., July 23. — On Saturday afternoon Louisa Marguerite, the 17-year-old daughter of John Gall, got permission to visit a friend near Sandwich. Not returning in the evening search was made for her that night, and continued on Sunday. It resulted in finding her body in a cornfield near her home on Sunday afternoon.

She had committed suicide by swallowing a large quantity of paris green. The girl bore a good reputation. She had had trouble with her father on Saturday, and was also despondent because of the absence of her lover. An inquest will be held to-night.

WEDDED AT ST. JOHN'S.

Mr. F. A. Stevenson, of Niagara, Takes as His Bride Mamie Dennistoun Rackham, of Town.

St. John's church was the scene of a social event of much interest at 2.30 o'clock this afternoon, it being the occasion of the marriage of Mr. Francis Allen Stevenson, of Niagara, to Miss Mamie Dennistoun, second daughter of Mr. W. H. Rackham, town.

The interior of the beautiful edifice was very prettily decorated for the occasion, being the work of the various church organizations with which the bride was connected.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. C. Davidson, rector of St. John's, assisted by Rev. E. V. Stevenson, brother of the groom.

The bride was attired in a costume of white silk, tucked, trimmed with applique and accordion plaiting. She wore a white chiffon hat with strings and carried a shower bouquet of white flowers. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Eleanor, who was attired in a gown of white serge, stitched, Eaton jacket, and white silk blouse. She wore a white hat with pink roses, and carried a shower bouquet of pink flowers.

The groom was assisted by Mr. E. M. Poussette and the ushers were Messrs. J. J. Lundy, Dr. John Mencke and A. A. Hollingshead.

A reception was afterwards held at the residence of the bride's father, Fleming Terrace, and the newly-married couple left this afternoon for Buffalo and other points. They will reside in Niagara.

NEWS NUGGETS.

—St. John's Sunday school excursion will be to-morrow.

—The officers of the 57th Regt. who recently passed their examinations of qualification, have been granted their certificates.

—Those attending St. John's excursion to-morrow should remember that the boat will leave the wharf punctually at 1.30 p.m.

—The dance at Chemong is to-night, and not to-morrow night, as announced in last night's papers. Busses will leave the post office at 7.30 o'clock.

—Citizens should exercise more care in scattering banana peels on the street. This morning an old lady sustained quite a severe fall through stepping on one.

—In connection with the account recently published of a narrow escape from drowning at Chemong, it is now stated that the danger was not nearly as great as was imagined by the young ladies concerned, neither of whom was at any time beyond her depth.

—The wise citizen will reserve the afternoon of Saturday, August 3rd, and accompany the printers in an outing to Jubilee per steamer City of Peterborough. Gentlemen, 35c.; ladies, 25c.; children, 20c. Tickets may be secured at the Examiner, Review or Times' business offices.

—The other day a practical joker asked a milkman, who was delivering milk in a local bar, what he would take for a drink. "Five cents" was the answer. The P. J. asked if he could have all he wanted to drink for the nickle, and he was told he could. Seventeen pints were put out of the way and the boys are wondering who the joke was on, as the man with the long thirst has been miserable ever since.

CEREAL COMPANY'S PROPOSITIONS.

The Diversion of Mill Street Discussed.

THE COMPANY'S FAIR OFFER.

They Will Give a Through Title to London Street in Exchange for 1,100 Feet Running North From Hunter Street.

The hot weather seems to have the effect of stirring up the town Aldermen to renewed activity and special meeting of the council seem to have become the order of the day. Last evening a meeting was held with the Mayor in the chair, and the following Aldermen present,—Messrs. Corkery, Batten, Clinkscale, Roger, Rush, Edgcombe and Best.

General business was dispensed with and the Council passed the By-law authorizing the execution of a contract with J. E. Hayes for the construction of sewers on Park, George, Rubidge, Argyle, London and Charlotte streets at a cost of $7,936.30.

Mr. H. O. Fisk, of the Peterborough Light and Power Co., appeared before the council asking permission to move certain poles on Rubidge street between Brock and Townsend streets, stating that the trees were so high in places as to necessitate the use of 65 ft. poles and that the change would not mean the lowering of any of the wires.

On motion of Ald. Roger and Clinkscale, the matter was referred to the Board of Works with power to act, the Town Engineer being instructed to report on the proposition.

It was decided that instead of the Cereal Works deputation, consisting of Mr. Wm. Scott and Mr. A. P. Poussette, being heard in committee, that the speakers should address the council and the deputation was received on motion of Ald. Roger and Rush.

Mr. Poussette then addressed the members, stating that the communication from the Cereal Company, recently forwarded to the Mayor, related to two matters in particular which it was most important should be dealt with at once. In the first place there was the question of the diversion of Mill street. There were very few who knew the true position of the street and it would be for the benefit of the town that the rights of the public, as to Mill street, be settled as soon as possible. The council had vainly endeavoured for many years to ascertain the rights of the town in respect to the street and these would now be explained and the question closed up forever. In 1845 Mill street was opened up by a By-law of the District of Colborne and ran from Hunter street to a point about half way between Murray and McDonnell streets, along the river, the terminus being determined by the site of the old Hall mill. It ran 1,100 feet north of Hunter street or about two hundred feet north of Murray street. The late Samuel Dickson had registered a plan, known as No. 8, of Peterborough, which showed a roadway and laid out lots along the river bank. Originally London street only ran as far east as the east side of Waterford street. The patent from the Crown takes in a triangular piece of ground bounded on the south by McDonel street, on the west by Waterford street, and on the east by the mill reserve, and the western line of the mill reserve struck the river on the east side of Waterford street. For the last thirty or forty years that part of London street and Mill street situated on the mill reserve, have been used as public highways, and the Cereal Company now proposed to make them highways in reality, by conveyance or any other method that would be necessary. In return the company asked that the portion of Mill street which was required by them be exchanged for a street line a little farther west.

This matter was all that was pressing at the present time in connection with the requests made of the town by the company. As far as the question of the town joining the company in the erection of the bridge across the Otonabee River, the matter was not pressing, as it had not been decided that the dam would be built this summer. The company, however, would like to be in a position to take possession of Mill street at once, as the contractor wished to place his derricks, etc., in position, and get to work. The company therefore proposed to give the town the title of the property needed for the new street from Hunter street right through to London street.

Another matter of importance, although not of such immediate moment, was that of the railway crossing on Hunter street.

Mayor Denne enquired if a subway or something of that kind could not be used. He was afraid the increase of traffic on the track would make the Hunter street bridge dangerous as a thoroughfare. He understood that there would be about 200 cars in and out of the works daily.

Mr. Poussette claimed that there would not be nearly as many cars as stated and that the operations of the company would not make it necessary for the grade of Hunter street to be altered in any way.

Mayor Denne enquired as to who would be expected to build the new street?

Mr. Poussette thought that it would be only fair, if the company laid out the street, that the town should grade and macadamize it. Any conditions, however, which the town saw fit might be imposed.

Ald. Roger stated that for the benefit of the deputation, he might say that the Board of Works had referred their recently received communication to the Town Solicitor in order that the title of Mill street might be investgated.

Mayor Denne explained that the question of the title had always been a matter of dispute between the former owners of the mill property and the town.

Mr. Poussette thought that if the town gave a quit claim deed to the property it would be satisfactory. If conveyances were given the question of the title would be cleared up for all time.

Ald. Roger suggested that the application of the company be accompanied with plans to be filed, showing the conditions that prevail at present, and the proposed changes, so that the members could refer to it in their discussions.

Mr. Poussette agreed to this, and seconded by Ald. Edgcumbe, Ald. Roger put his suggestion in the form of a motion, which required that the grades and levels be put on the plan, and that when these are furnished the whole matter be referred to the Board of Works to obtain the opinion of the Engineer and Solicitor thereon.

Mr. Poussette urged that the town give a quit claim deed of the property and also publish customary notices concerning the closing of the street.

Ald. Roger objected, stating that he did not know what were the town's rights and responsibilities, and wanted to be sure before the proposition was dealt with.

The motion was carried and the council adjourned.

DOINGS AT STONY LAKE.

The Lake is Now Presenting a Very Gay Appearance—Capt. W. H. White, of the Alert.

These are great days up the Lakes, and the islands are becoming thickly populated. Every day there are many coming down, having stayed out their alloted time, but each day a larger number appears to be flowing in.

The resorts are all doing a good trade, and should have no reason to complain of the season's business. Viumede is extremely popular this season, and the accommodation and service is said to be of a very high order. The capacity of Viamede is large but there are certain times when it is heavily taxed. A party of eight or ten young men from town are expected to storm the place next Sunday.

Mr. Charlie Armstrong, the popular proprietor of the Mount Julian Hotel, is reaping the benefit of having his place thoroughly renovated this season. Genial Charlie always makes his guests feel at home.

A gay young party from town voted Capt. "Billy" White, the captain of the Alert, "all right," yesterday, and he certainly is. Capt. White is one of the youngest and most popular captains on the back waters, and is as proud of his little steamer as any one could be. A private party from town were on their way up to Boschink and that region and were on board the Sunbeam. The captain thinking that he could get the party up that way more quickly than by taking them first to Burleigh, overtook the steamer Alert with a tow near Big Island and suggested that they take the Boschink party. Capt. White immediately tied his tow to Big Island, and the Alert was the property of the Peterborough party for the remainder of the day. Capt. White ran his boat into every island asked for by the members of the party, dashed through channels of every description and landed the party in Lakefield in time for the evening train. Capt. White has acting as first mate Mr. Jack Paterson, of town, who always makes it particularly pleasant for Peterborough people. The engineer is Mr. Jack White. The Alert is 75 feet in length, 14 feet beam, and is chartered to carry 175 passengers.

Up the Lakes yesterday were also the Crowe brothers, who were enjoying the scenery of the north waters. They are a fine lot of fellows, too, good hearted and true as steel. They are sons of the late Charles Crowe of Ashburnham, and there are six sons, four of whom were up the lakes yesterday. It is 22 years since they were all together and they are having a sort of family re-union. There is one brother in South Africa. The others are Joseph, of town; Charles, of Davenport, manager of Armour's wold renowned establishment at that place, Dr. John Crowe, of West Superior, Wis.; William Crowe, of the Webster Chair Co., West Superior, Wis.; and David Crowe, jeweller, Fredericktom, N.B.

John Jayes of town, has been spending a few days at Mr. Fred Morgan's, McCracken's Landing. He landed a 13 pound lunge out about 300 yards from the hotel.

FOR WAGE EARNERS.

Branch 9240 of the A. F. of L. Invites all Classes of Toilers to an Open Meeting.

The local branch of the American Federation of Labour will meet this evening in the Orange Hall, Simcoe street, when it is hoped that all wage earners interested in the cause of labour will be present and identify themselves with an organization from which such material benefits are to be derived.

The Federation requires perfect freedom of inclination in every candidate for membership in its body, and having identified himself with the society, the candidate binds himself to assist in educating his fellow members in the history of the labour movement, and to promote the trades union principles and to protect the wage earners from oppression, as well as to secure the toilers from any and every species of injustice. There are also fraternal ties formed which are of great assistance to members in time of trouble.

PETERBORO'S CHESE BOARD.

Over 3,500 Boxes of Cheese Were Boarded To-day.

The Price Paid Was 9 5-8 and 9 11-16—President Drummond's Remarks.

The regular meeting of the Peterborough Cheese Board was held here to-day. The following buyers were in attendance: Messrs. Bailey, Rollins, Wrighton, Whitton, Cook, Fitzgerald, Kerr, Moore, Cluxton and Squires.

There was an exceptionally large board there being 5351 boxes offered. The prices were good, and the bidding very lively; 9 11-16 cents was the highest price paid and at this figure many factories sold. The other price of 9 5-8 cleared off the Board.

President Drummond before opening the proceedings, said that he desired to say a few words regarding the last two sales. He touched upon the manner in which certain buyers rejected cheese without even coming to inspect the same; in other cases they had come to the factories and and refused to take the cheese unless inspected by a Government inspector at Montreal. He wished the buyers to understand that the cheese on this board is not being sold subject to any Government inspection. He said that he thought the cheese should be shipped out at least the week after it was sold, and he asked the buyers how they would like if there was a salesman refused to let his cheese go if there happened to be an advance in price between the time of the sale and the time of the supposed shipment?

Mr. Thomas Blezard thought that the president's remarks were quite timely, and he considered that the manner in which the sales have been conducted leaves a great chance for litigation. It is no fault of the cheese maker if the cheese is not in flavour when the buyer comes along 8 or 10 days after the sale. Mr. Blezard said he was going to stand up for the rights of the cheesemaker.

Mr. Cook spoke, endeavouring to uphold the position of the buyers and told of the difficulties they had to contend with.

The factories boarded as follows:

Keene	160
Warminster	133
Shearer	128
Central Smith	190
North Smith	140
Villiers	120
Warsaw	170
Westwood	751
Oakdale	156

Fleetwood	250
Oak Leaf	55
Darlington Union	100
Buckhorn	144
Shamrock	100
Ormonde	250
Burleigh	46
Total	5351

Mr. Whitton opened the bidding at 8 3-4 cents, and it closed at 9 5-8 by Mr. Bailey. He called Shamrock, Ormonde, Oak Leaf, Norwood, Melrose Abbey, Peterborough, Keene, Fleetwood, Lang, Otonabee Union, Mount Pleasant, Missing Link, Darlington Union, Cavanville, Lakefield, all accepting.

Mr. Wrighton at the same figure took Warsaw, Warminster, East Emily and Shearer.

Mr. Kerr's voice caught the president's ear first at 9 5-8, but Mr. Whitton went 9 11-16, and called Villiers, Westwood, Bensfort, Fraserville, all accepting.

Mr. Whiton went 9 5-8 for further selections but Mr. Cook brought the price up to 9 11-16. He called Central Smith, Trewern, Myrtle, North Smith, Buckhorn, Indian River.

Mr. Rollins went 9 11-16 also, taking as his selections North Smith, Oakdale, Maple Leaf, Daisy D., North Dummer, Cedardale, Stony Lake and Pine Grove.

At 9 5-8 Mr. Bailey took as his selections Maple Leaf, Young's Point and Ballyduff.

Mr. Rollins added South Burleigh to his selections at 9 11-16, and thereby cleared off the board.

A WORD TO THE BOYS.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Knowing as I do that your are interested in all classes of the community, and anxious that each and all should make the most of their opportunities, especially that none should stand in their own light or prevent their own progress and development, I make free to send you the following clipping in the interests of our boys, hoping it may deter some from beginning or continuing the habit of cigarette smoking, which can only result in personal injury.

To those of us who have come to mature years it is a painful sight to see boys on the street indulging in this habit, when we know it means injury and loss to the boys.

An examination is soon to be held in Chicago, when 700 youths will enter into competition for positions in the post office. The clause relating to cigarettes says: "Only the best equipped boys mentally and physically are wanted in this service, and under no circumstances will a boy who smokes cigarettes be employed."

If smoking cigarettes puts the door of opportunity in the face of a boy, surely he ought to think twice before he begins the habit—and surely also the man who sells cigarettes to boys ought to hesitate before he consents to do that which will blight the prospects and limit the wider usefulness of the coming generation.

What is true of post office authorities in Chicago is largely true of all business men who have occasion to employ boys in their business. They do not want the cigarette smoker. Trusting this brief reference may have the effect of saving some boys from this blightling habit, and of shaming some men out of the business of selling,

A Friend of the Boys.

IN NEED OF AID.

The appended letter has been received by a friend of Mr. and Mrs. George Tighe, who have recently met with the misfortune to lose everything they owned by fire:

Thornloe, July 10, 1901.

Dear Friend, — I have been anxiously waiting to hear from you; not getting a letter I write again. We thought some of you might come with the excursion, but were disappointed. We had a beautiful garden and had planted six bags of potatoes, and our crops looked splendid, but the fires came and swept everything. About two weeks ago the farmers put out fires to clear their land. Not having any rain, everything was very dry, and the wind swept the fire over the country, burning forty or fifty families out, we among them. We put out no fires; it was our neighbours that burnt us out.

George and I fought the fire on Friday and Saturday. The wind went down on Saturday evening. Three men hearing we were fighting fire came from the village to help us; at this time we thought we were quite safe, three more men coming to our assistance. At 8 o'clock on Sunday morning the wind increased and kept getting worse all day, when it changed and then blew straight for us. It looked just like an avalanche of fire coming straight over the trees; this was at 4 p.m. We had to fly for our lives; we saved nothing but a clock. George went to get the rocking chair, and got his hand terribly burned. We saved nothing only what we had on, and they were of the worst. Some of the people lost their cattle, but there were no lives lost. George lost his cooper tools and his timber. Believe me, your friend,

Mrs. George Tighe.

Anyone feeling inclined to help Mr. Tighe, who was for many years janitor at the Public School and Collegiate Institute, may send a card to Box 623, town.

MOUNT PLEASANT.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The hay crop here is the best the farmers have had for many years past, and they have had the very best weather to save it in.

Fall wheat is also extra good, and is nearly all cut and ready for the barn.

Ontario farmers are highly favoured this year. High prices for almost everything a farmer has to sell and a good government to live under, should make the citizens of this great province rejoice.

Mr. T. W. McLean, of the Ontario Institute for the Blind, Brantford, is on a visit to his home. He lately paid a visit to the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo.

Miss Smith, of Peterborough, is visiting friends here.

The cheese and butter factory, under the able management of Mr. S. Casey, is doing a good business.

Our town is coming to the front—sidewalks and painting are the order of the day.

We are anxiously waiting for the Burleigh Falls Electric Power to drive the many manufactories under consideration.

The road grader is doing good work in the township of Cavan, which I hope will please the overseer of roads for Ontario. The gravel used on some of the roads would have been better to have been run through the stone crusher, but we hope in the near future to hear of the council purchasing a steam roller and a stone crusher.

RED RASPBERRIES,

The Red Raspberry crop is a short one this year, and likely to end quickly. We are receiving very choice ones, fresh picked daily, and have already filled the orders of a large number of our customers. To avoid disappointment we would advise ordering this week.—S. A. LOSS OF HALF A MILLION

Forest Fires in Kippewa District Have Burned Out a Record.

Ottawa, July 23. — The costliest and most extensive forest fires on record were those which raged this month in the Kippewa District. A gentleman familiar with the situation stated yesterday that the loss would at least total $500,000, and would probably run much higher. Heavy rains on Wednesday and Friday stopped the progress of the fire. As yet the owners have not had an opportunity to ascertain their losses.

Gillies Bros., Braeside, are probably the heaviest losers. Their limits, 300 miles in extent, were burned over. Mr. Alex. Lumsden, M. P.P., who has limits nearby, covering 10 square miles, loses heavily. The fire seemed to centre on the Lumsden and the Gillies Bros.' limits.

Other holders affected are Mr. J. R. Booth, 400 square miles; Hull Lumber Company, 300 miles, and McLachlin Bros., Arnprior, 300 miles. All the above limits are in Quebec.

If you want large pictures made from your small photos, take them to Whiten, the photographer, and have them done cheaply. 158 Hunter street.

JINGLES AND JESTS.

The Difference.

Down in the woodland,
In the balmy May day breeze,
I wandered and I pondered
At the names cut on the trees,
And then with my dull barlow
I thought that I would do the same;
So rudely I did carve a heart
And 'neath it cut her name.

Again I wandered in the glade,
Inside the city's park,
And watched the dying sunbeams
Fade into the evening dark.
Beneath another sheltering oak
I stooped to carve another line;
The park police arrested me;
It cost three dollars' fine.

Pensive.

"When our author speaks of the pensive girl," explained the instructor, "he means that she is thoughtful."

And a foreigner learning English, pausing only long enough to make sure of his dialect, exclaimed:

"Ah, je see! And ze thoughtless girl, ees she accordingly expensive, aber nit, jourquoi?"

Now, this, of course, was indeed no dream.

Perfectly Welcome.

"I should like to know," said the reporter, "if you are going to allow shirt waist men to eat in your dining cars."

"My dear boy," said the genial railway magnate, "I will leave it to yourself if you think it time for quibbling when a man comes along with a dollar to hand over for a 40 cent dinner."

Change.

She once had gracious smiles, but now
We meet with distant glances.
Ah, how the heavenly grace recedes
As worldliness advances!

A fearful blow has fallen on
Dan Cupid's solar plexus;
She meets me coldly since her dad
Has struck oil down in Texas.

Should Be Lucky.

The Cheerful Idiot—Jamaica ought to be a very lucky man if there is any truth in the saying. "There is luck in odd numbers."

The Thoughtful—For what reason?

The Cheerful Idiot—Why, he has such an odd figure!

Sultan and the Dun.

"Call again," said Abdel Hamid;
"Call again week after next.
Yes, I know," said Abdul Hamid,
"But you mustn't feel so vexed.
Life is full of hopeful promise;
In its weakness we are versed.
Call again," said Abdul Hamid,
"Call again about the first."

Derivative.

"Papa," asked young hopeful, "where do barnacles grow?" And as papa had already answered 1,420 questions since breakfast he said, "Oh, on the barn." Wherefore when young hopeful heard of tentacles he went to look for some in his tent.

Poets.

THE UNREAL.

He found that verses didn't pay;
He laid his pen and ink away.

THE REAL.

He found no wealth, he found no fame;
He kept on writing just the same.

No Transatlantic Railway.

"You're a likely looking girl," said Mrs. Hiram Offen, who was questioning a greenhorn girl. "Now, how were you trained across the water?"

"This jokin ye are, mum. There does be no trains. I was shipped across."

Two Different Views.

Said a physician to a friend,
"Of all the patients I attend
None say my method fails."
Replied the friend, "I'm not led
To doubt it, for 'tis often said
That dead men tell no tales."

"I know it. It's got so now that whenever she meets a man over 70 she looks at him reproachfully."

Crossing.

J. Cæsar crossed the Rubicon,
Napoleon crossed the Alps,
But men who cross their wives, gadzooks
Had better bind their scalps.

A Surprise to Him.

"Had you heard that Olly Mike had been incarcerated?"

"No; I didn't even know he was dead."

Possible Motive.

Maperson—Just look at that ocean greyhound go!

Merman—Yes; I wonder if some sea urchin hasn't tied a tin can to its tail!

Not the Kind.

He ordered a saddle of mutton;
The waiter brought it, of course.
Said he after trying to carve it,
"'Tis the saddle, no doubt, of a horse."

HOW CHINESE GAMBLE.

Games of Guessing on Which Their Money is Staked.

One of the most common ways of betting in China is with oranges. This goes on at the fruit stalls and also in private houses. The bet is on the number of seeds in an orange. Sometimes it is as to whether the number is odd or even and at others as to the exact number of seeds the orange contains. If at a fruit stand, the dealer will pay the lucky guesser five times his debt, but the loser must pay the value of the orange and also five times as much as he has wagered.

Quail fighting is done on a table with a little fence about its edge. The fighting quails have been starved for some time. As they are put into the pen a few grains of rice or wheat are laid before them, and they at once begin to fight over them. They are trained for the purpose, and a good fighter is worth £20 and upward.

It is the same with the crickets. Their prize rings are little bowls. The crickets have been trained. They seem to understand their master's word, and they are urged on to the combat with straws. Some of them are very fierce, and many will fight until they die. Those which chirp the most loudly are considered the best fighters.

The Chinese understand how to feed and groom the crickets for the fray. They give them honey, boiled chestnuts, and boiled rice and certain kinds of fish. They do not allow any one to smoke near them, for they think that tobacco is injurious to them. If the crickets grow sick, they feed them upon mosquitoes and red ants.

In a cricket fight the crickets are weighed before they are put into the ring. They are matched as to size and color. The betting is done just as carefully as at an English horse race. The stakes are held by a committee, which deducts a certain percentage for those who own the fighting houses. During the fight the gamblers grow excited. They scream and yell and hop up and down as one insect gets the better of the other and go almost mad when one wins.

The Chinese have all sorts of games, but mostly games of chance. Even in kitefying the boys and men—for even the men fly kites—will try to see which has the strongest string, forcing his string against the strings of the others to break them. In such contests the strings are often soaked with glue and dusted with powdered glass that they may cut or saw the better.

At every feast, however, there are games of guessing upon which money is staked.—London Mail.

News of Another Success on the Part of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

An Alberta Man Reports his Entire Satisfaction With the World Famous Remedy—Blood Disorder the Cause of his Trouble — Dodd's Kidney Pills Have Removed it and he is Thankful

Blairmore, Alberta, July 21st (Special).—Dodd's Kidney Pills are just as well thought of in the great Northwest as they are any place else in the world. The people have confidence in them. They do as they are claimed to do.

Nor is the claim a small one. Dodd's Kidney Pills are claimed to cure some of the most dangerous and deadly maladies that flesh is heir to, and what is more, they do it. The proof is positive. Thousands and thousands of reputable people attest it.

For instance every one knows Bright's Disease at one time meant the sentence of death. Does it now? Ask Arthur Colely, of Sumerset, Man. He was cured of Bright's Disease, the last stages of it, by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure the lesser disorders of the human system arising from Kidney Disease with just as much certainty and even greater promptness. Of these, Skin Eruptions, such as boils and pimples, arising from an impure state of the blood and are not the most uncommon or the least distressing. Dodd's Kidney Pills, by improveing the action of the Kidneys, purify the blood and Boils and Pimples immediately disappear.

Walter H. A. Noble, of Blairmore, Alberta, writes in this connection: "I had been troubled with pimples all over my face, and backache. I tried everything to cure it, all kinds of medicine, but failed.

"I was told to try Dodd's Kidney Pills and did so at once. I got three boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and took one after every meal. They cured me. They are the only things that ever did me any good. I will always use Dodd's Kidney Pills in case of sickness and advise all other sufferers to do so."

DREAM MEMORIES.

I could not catch my dream, it was so fleet;
Only a fragment, yet enough to know
That there are times when earth and heaven meet,
Moments when all of heaven seems below.
Oh, golden sunsets of the vanished years,
Oh, radiant flashes of the coming dawn,
Ye show us oft, through mists of blinding tears,
The light that beams a little farther on.

I could not hold my dream; it was so large
It crowded all my present cares away.
My heart was like a heavy laden barge
Freighted with bliss, with joys that might not stay.
I tried in vain to span, to catch, to clasp
That overflowing rapture of delight,
But, visionlike, it floated from my grasp
And left me in the darkness of the night.

I cannot paint my dream; it was so bright,
So fraught with dazzling radiance to me
It threw a glamour o'er my 'wildered sight
And left me blinded by my ecstasy.
My longing soul essayed in vain to soar
Beyond the shining path of sun and stars,
But all too soon she languished as before,
Panting and worn, behind her prison bars.

I cannot tell my dream; it was so sweet,
And yet 'twas such as many hearts have known,
Woven with tender memories, replete
With words of love, dropped in the years agone.
A fond caress, a dear, familiar tone;
A gentle whisper and a low reply;
It was but these, yet are not these alone
The all of love and life that never die?

Are the French Latins or Celts?

It may be of some interest to inquire in what sense the term "Latin" can be correctly applied to the French, whom almost in the same breath many people are apt to describe as a "Celtic" people. One thing surely is certain—that in blood the French cannot be at the same time both "Latin" and "Celtic." Yet the inconsistency does not seem to strike people.

I think that, although outside Provence the French have little or no Latin—i. e. Italian—blood in their veins, the explanation of their being described as a "Latin" race is to be found in the fact that their language and civilization are both Latin. It seems no longer permissible to hold that the French are mainly "Celtic" in blood, the view being now generally accepted that the bulk of the population in France is of a pre-Celtic and probably of Iberian or Ligurian stock. And this view seems to hold good also of Ireland and Wales.—London Spectator.

On a Fee.

"Doctor," said the stingy man, who was trying to save a fee, meeting Dr. Sharpe on the street, "what do you think of this? Very frequently I get severe pains in my feet. What's that a sign of?"

"I should say that was a sign of rain," replied the doctor.

The Ingrate.

This is an ungrateful world. It not infrequently happens that the man who laughs the loudest at the mother-in-law jokes at the vaudeville show is the man who lives at the expense of his wife's mother and depends upon her to supervise the cooking, perhaps to do it.—Boston Transcript.

HEARTS THAT MISUNDERSTOOD.

"He is so cold!" she said and sighed.
"His heart is shut within
The shell enchanted of his old
Cremona violin."
They met and passed, and as she went
She dropped upon the stair
A rose that opened in the soft
Brown sunshine of her hair.

The maid forgot her dream of love,
Another man to wed;
Years after came a dawn that found
The white haired minstrel dead.
With violin upon his breast
His soul had taken wings,
And, lo, a rose, a withered rose,
Was tangled in the strings.

Through a Telescope.

By M. QUAD.

Copyright, 1901, by C. B. Lewis.

There arrived one day at the Swiss hotel where I was putting up in the month of August a man and his wife named Dubar. They were French, but both spoke English fairly well. While they were husband and wife, he was 50 years old and she not over 22. The disparity between their ages was remarked by the gossips, and it was settled that it had been a marriage for money on the girl's part. They had been married for a year, as some one ascertained, and the little tendernesses of the honeymoon were no longer to be looked for, but before they had been with us three days I made up my mind that the young wife both feared and hated her husband. I saw it in her looks and actions when she was off her guard. On his part he treated her courteously and rather paternally in public, but accident made me a listener one day to a speech of his that told me he had a great bitterness in his heart against her.

I paid little heed to the gossip around me, nor did I take any interest in the family quarrel. It was on the fifth day after the couple arrived that I wandered away by myself along the mountain stream and by and by sat down beside a bowlder to smoke and gaze at a waterfall on the far side of the creek. I had been there a quarter of an hour when I heard footsteps, and, peering out, I saw Dubar approaching. I noticed he was pale faced and his lips were compressed, and he was muttering to himself in French as he sat down on the other side of the stone. We were hidden from each other, but I could hear his lightest whisper. For three or four minutes he was silent. Then he began cursing his wife, and there was an intentness and a ferocity in his language that gave me the keynote of the trouble between them. He suspected her fidelity and thirsted for revenge. If she had married him for money, he had married her for love, and the blow had told on him harder than if he had been a young man. From cursing and reviling he went off into a fit of weeping and lamenting, and it was easy to realize his mental sufferings. I was helpless in the matter, of course. It was my part to remain silent and hope he would go away without seeing me. This he eventually did, but from some expressions let fall I knew that he had at last made up his mind to a decisive step.

THE PUSH SENT HER OVER.

The rule in France, I believe, is for the dishonored husband to swear a little, weep a little and then walk away and become as much of a philosopher as he can, but I couldn't make myself satisfied that Dubar would be satisfied with that. He felt the blow too keenly. He wanted a deeper revenge than that of casting his wife off and sharing a part of the public scandal. I had a seat at the same table with the couple, and that evening at dinner I watched him closely. His conduct would have deceived me had I not overheard his language in the dell. He was all smiles and soft words and seemed to be courting her again. The young wife had brightened up and looked cheerful and animated, and I read the story very clearly. On returning from the dell he had "made up" with her, and she had been deceived into believing that he had forgiven. That he was playing her false was plain from a look or two of his when she was not observing. I saw his mouth harden, his eyes flash, and felt sure that down in his heart he meditated some evil.

That evening there were music and song, and Dubar and his wife participated with apparent enjoyment and were quite loving toward each other. Before the party broke up for the night it was suggested that we go to a certain spot on the morrow to gather mosses. The suggestion, as was afterward remembered, came from Dubar. We were to take luncheon and be gone all day, although it was only three miles to the spot mentioned. Bright and early next morning a full dozen of us set out, there being seven men and five women. As the procession turned into the mountain path I was last, and Dubar and his wife were before me. He laughed and joked, and she was merry and full of song. I had been bothered with a lame foot and was obliged to proceed slowly, and several times they laughingly called to me. We had gone about a mile when they drew ahead out of sight, and, knowing the locality well, I set out to take a short cut and save distance. This took me to the east side of a ravine, while the main party were following the west side. I got along fairly well until I was about to strike the path they were following. Owing to a bend of the ravine, the path was half a mile away at one point and then came turning back on itself until it was only a few rods from where I sat down to rest and wait.

I knew that most of the picnickers had passed, but was sure I could head off the Dubars, as I caught sight of them at intervals, and they were still lagging far behind. Opposite the spot where I rested the west path ran over a cliff, making the highest point along the ravine. From the top of that cliff to the bed of the ravine was fully 75 feet. Though my eyesight was good, I had brought along my binoculars, and as I rested I focused them on the distant cliff to make out the Dubars as they passed. In three or four minutes they arrived. They were walking hand in hand and still acting like lovers. I could see the smiles on their faces as they halted for breath. I could and did see more than that. As they stood peering down into the ravine I saw such a look of malignant triumph on the man's face that it made me gasp for breath. The look warned me of what was coming. She stood a little before him, pointing at a flower growing on the very brink of the cliff and speaking of it, and I saw him glance up and down the path to see if it was clear. Then I cried out, but my voice was weak and broken and did not carry a quarter of the distance. I sprang up to wave my hat and let the man know I was watching, but it was a useless move, and I groaned in despair as I realized it. I had the glass full on him when he stepped behind her and put out his hands and gave her a sudden push. She had no chance at all. It was only three or four feet to the brink, and the push sent her over as she screamed out. Dubar stood for a moment and then turned and ran for the hotel and gave the alarm. Word was sent to the picnickers, and they returned, and before noon we had the body at the inn. It was a terrible fall, and death had followed it. It was an "accident," of course, with a bereaved husband to give all the particulars, and every one sorrowed with him until his dead was shipped away and he had departed with his tears. I was the only one who knew how the tragedy had occurred, and I said nothing. She was dead, and his life had been wrecked, and why should I meddle?

How He Did It.

At a dinner party the conversation, which had become informal and general, turned on the subject of tricks with cards. One of the men produced a pack and proposed to show the company a most remarkable performance. He asked the hostess to have a soup tureen brought, and it was done. Then he asked the lady at his right to draw a card from the pack and make a mental note of it. She did so and returned the card at random to the deck. The performer next asked three or four of the male guests to shuffle the cards in turn and requested the last of them to place the pack in the soup tureen and put the cover on. Turning to the lady who had drawn the card, he asked her in what order she would have it appear from the top of the pack, and she said she would like to have it in the seventeenth place. One of the gentlemen then took the pack from the soup tureen and counted the cards from the top, face down.

"What was your card?" the performer asked the lady, and she replied that it was the ace of spades. The seventeenth card was turned over and proved to be the ace of spades.

A few days later a cabinet officer, who was one of the guests, met the performer and asked for an explanation of that interesting card trick.

"Oh, that was an easy one," he replied. "You see, that was a pack of my own, and there were 52 aces of spades in it."—Exchange.

By His Works.

The members of the class in rhetoric were reciting to Professor Dash of the Blank university one day when the question of the "split infinitive" came up, and the professor took occasion to condemn in strong terms the practice of using it.

"But, professor," argued one of the pupils, "a distinguished authority [naming him] has just published an article in one of the magazines in which he defends the 'split infinitive.'"

"I know it," replied the professor, with a smile, "and in the same article he defends nearly every other pet abomination of the purists, but he doesn't use one of them. He is the most glaringly heterodox man in precept and the most rigid orthodox in example I ever saw."

An ounce of "do" is worth a pound of "say."—Youth's Companion.

What a Grip!

We are all familiar with the gentleman who used a famous soap "two years ago, since when I have used no other." The experiences of a lady depositor in the Postoffice Savings bank have some points of resemblance. She was apparently unable to write, but her marriage certificate bore a written signature, so she was asked for an explanation. "In reply I may say that I did sign my marriage certificate, but the sexton of the church held my hand with the pen, and since then I have never used a pen." What a grip!—London Chronicle.

Baby's Birth.

How many a woman dates a life of chronic invalidism from baby's birth. She tries "different doctors and different medicines" with little benefit. Then, fortunately her attention is called to the remarkable cures resulting from the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and she gives the medicine a trial. Her experience is that of ninety-eight women out of every hundred who use "Favorite Prescription" for womanly ills—she is cured.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is peculiarly a mother's medicine. Its use before maternity makes the baby's advent practically painless. It gives the mother strength to nurse her child. It cures diseases peculiar to women and cures them permanently.

There is no alcohol, opium, cocaine or any other narcotic in "Favorite Prescription." It is purely a vegetable preparation and cannot disagree with the weakest constitution.

Mrs. Emerson Allen, of Dorset, Ontario Co., Ont., writes: "I can truly say that I think Dr. Pierce's medicines the best I have ever used. I was in very poor health for a long time, dating from the birth of my little girl. I tried different doctors and different medicines. I derived very much more benefit from your medicines than from any other I have ever used. I took four bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and three bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and I always keep the 'Pellets' in the house."

The Pill Of the Past.

In this country, for irregularities of the digestive tract, the use of pills was most common, until Abbey's Effervescent Salt introduced the more pleasant and effective saline form of medicine. The experience of the vast majority who have used both styles of remedy has been that the salines may be taken more regularly and without the reactionary effect of pills and tablets. This is confirmed by the medical profession.

AROUND ABOUT PETERBORO.'

An Interesting Write-up in the Westminster.

By a Travelling Representative—His Views of the Town and its Surroundings.

The July number of the Westminster, a paper published in the interests of the Presbyterian Church, is to hand. In it is a short write up of "Round about Peterborough," by a travelling representative of the Westminister which is quite interesting. It also contains photogravures of St. Pauls and St. Andrews Churches with their respective pastors, Rev. Dr. E. F. Torrance and Rev. J. C. Potter.

The Westminister's write-up is as follows:

"Viewed from a lofty height eastward of Peterborough, the outlook on the town and surrounding country is one of singular beauty. At your feet nestles the town of Ashburnham, and separated from it by the swift-running river Otonabee, is Peterborough proper, rising gradually to the westward. A circuit of the two towns, which for all practical purposes are one, gives the impression of a high average of comfort and prosperity. The splendid streets giving evidence of the work of the "good roads man," the fine business blocks, the elegant homes and busy hives of industry, all indicate a busy and well-to-do people. One does not mingle long among the citizens until he finds that they are proud of their past history and have abounding faith in the future of the town. In both the towns there is a population of about 13,000, and several enthusiasts, as they told with pride of the projected industries, laid claim to having "the best town of its size in Canada."

In the year 1818 some settlers from England took up land in the township of Smith in the vicinity of Rice Lake and the Otonabee river. In the year 1825 a town plot was laid out and Adam Scott erected a grist and sawmill. The place was then known as Scott's Plains, and the only residence was that of Mr. Scott himself. There was about this time, however, a considerable immigration from Ireland under the auspices of Hon. Peter Robinson, and these settled mainly in the townships of Douro and Ennismore. The town which profited to some extent by the increase of population, was named Peterborough in honour of Mr. Robinson.

All the Canadian settlements have passed through the same stages of development from the primitive conditions to the present, and the history of those early days, with their struggles and privations, has been told again and again.

The first school building was erected in 1826, and was a rude little log structure with a shingled roof, and the school was taught by Rev. Samuel Armour, an Anglican clergyman, and a man of excellent parts. This was the germ of the fine Collegiate Institute and public schools of today.

The history of the town has been one of steady and solid growth and development, and now that its magnificent water power is being more fully developed, it bids fair to become one of the great manufacturing centres of the Dominion. Among the established industries, the Canadian General Electric Works and the Carbon and Porcelain Works, employing 600 persons, a large majority of whom are skilled mechanics, take a leading place. A visit to these works impresses one with the marvellous strides made in electrical engineering within the past few years. Other important industries are the Hamilton Mining and Milling Machinery Works, the Peter Hamilton Agricultural Works, the Peterborough Lock Co., the Auburn Woollen Co., the George Matthews Pork Packing Co., the Peterborough Underwear Co., the McAllister Milling Co., the B. F. Ackerman Harness and Saddlery Factory, the Peterborough Canoe Company and many others.

Among the projected industries is that of the American Cereal Co., which has purchased the Dickson property, and will spend $1,000,000 in dams and buildings. The Canadian Cordage Company is a new concern with a subscribed capital of $400,000 taken up almost entirely by local men, and about ready to begin operations. The Peterborough Shovel Company is a big concern, financed by strong men and bids fair to be a large employer of labour. From Lakefield to Peterborough, a distance of nine miles, the Otonabee River is one continuous fall, and this splendid power will shortly be utilized by three companies in the development of electrical power. Among the most powerful factors in the development of the town are the three bright daily papers, all of which are loyal to its interests.

One of the most interesting sights is the mammoth Hydraulic Lift Lock, which is now in progress of erection. This will form part of the famous Trent Valley Canal system, which will, when completed, give a continuous inland waterway from the Georgian Bay to Montreal. There is at this point a difference in the water level of 70 feet, and vessels will be lifted bodily by hydraulic power from the lower to the higher level and vice versa, one vessel being raised and another lowered by the same operation. This will be the first lock of the kind in Canada and is claimed by experts to be a great improvement upon the old system.

The visitor is struck with the beautiful parks and breathing places which adorn the town. Two of these, the Nicholls Park and Jackson Park are the gifts of the late Mrs. Isabella Nicholls, whose splendid liberality has enriched the town in many ways. Among her gifts are the fine Nicholls Hospital, the Protestant Home, the Y.M.C.A. building and the Public Library. Both the Presbyterian Churches have also shared largely in her bounty.

The churches and schools of Peterborough, always a good index of the intellectual and moral character of a community, are fully in keeping with the material prosperity of the town. The Roman Catholics have a fine stone church and a convent and the residence of Bishop O'Connor. The various denominations are well represented and the Presbyterians have two strong and influential congregations with large and well equipped buildings.

Presbyterianism began to assume form in Peterborough in 1833, when a congregation was organized in connection with the Church of Scotland, under the late Rev. John M. Roger. In 1835 a grant of land was made and in the following year the building known as "the Stone Church" was erected. At the time of the Disruption, Mr. Roger and many of his people, decided to cast in their lot with the Free Church, while a considerable party desired to maintain the old relations. They continued to worship and use the church, however, until 1857, when Mr. Roger and his followers stepped out to form the congregation of St. Paul's. They worshiped in the Town Hall and in the schoolroom of the Methodist Church until their own structure was completed in 1859. Rev. Mr. Roger continued as minister for 42 years and was very successful. He was regarded as the father of Presbyterianism in the district, having organized the Congregations of Lakefield, Springville, Lakevale, Norwood and Warsaw.

Mr. Roger was succeeded in 1876 by the present minister, Rev. Dr. Torrance. The congregation has kept pace with the growth of the town and has increased from 190 families with 369 communicants to 405 families with 750 communicants. In 1884 the church was rebuilt and enlarged and is now a commodious structure seating 1,200 with a fine school room in the form of a semi-circle and all the accessories to effective work. The improvements were made at a cost of $34,000 and the debt has been reduced to $2,500. Rev. Mr. Yule was appointed as assistant to the minister recently and is giving good proof of his ministry.

After the separation of Rev. Mr. Roger and his friends, St. Andrew's Church was vacant until 1858, when Rev. James S. Douglas was inducted. Mr. Douglas continued until 1864, and his resignation was followed by a vacancy of two years, when on Nov. 20th, Rev. D. J. Macdonnell, then a promising young licentiate, was ordained and carried on the work with great energy until his removal to St. Andrew's, Toronto, in 1870. The succeeding ministers were Rev. K. McLennan, during whose pastorate the union of 1875 was consummated, Rev. Alexander Bell and Rev. A. McWilliams. The present pastor, Rev. J. G. Potter, was inducted on August 27th, 1896.

St. Andrew's Church is a commodious, well equipped and well situated building, and the whole property is a valuable one. In the main structure there is a beautiful memorial window erected by the loyal friend of the congregation, the late Mrs. Nicholls, in memory of her husband. On the pulpit is a telephone which connects with the residence of an invalid lady who is unable to attend the service. The Kindergarten system has recently been introduced into the primary department of the Sabbath School, under the skilled management of Miss Annie Williamson. A unique feature of Sabbath School Work is the "Cradle Roll" by means of which the bairnies are recorded and cared for from their earliest years. There is a Young Men's Guild, with a membership of forty young men, and in affiliation with the Young Men's Guild of Scotland. The members are responsible for the ushering, the taking of the offerings, and hold themselves ready for any duty assigned them by the Session and Board of Managers. There is also a boy's Guild, in which forty-one young lads are pledged against liquor, tobacco and profanity.

The congregation of St. Andrew's and St. Paul's are strong and influential, and are recognized as powerful factors, making for the higher life of the town. The town has entered upon an area of industrial expansion, and the churches may be depended on to adopt methods of work suited to the rapidly-growing needs."

YOUNG'S POINT.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Mr. Walter Young has erected a very extensive barn on his farm here. Mr. Young has directed his attention to stock raising the past two years His new barn is a model structure.

Mr. A. Wilson, our enterprising cheese maker, is erecting a fine dwelling on his lot opposite the school house. Mr. E. Quinn of Lakefield, has the contract for this building.

Farmers in this vicinity are very busy with their harvesting. If the fine weather continues for two more weeks the crops will all be in.

There are two drives approaching the point.

The Dickson Co. drive is at present running over here. Mr. George Lang of Peterborough is the foreman. The other drive is the property of the Rathbun Co., Mr. Jackson having charge.

The bass fishing here has been excellent during the past week, and it has been easy work for the fishermen to catch their limit. Mr. C. Day of Rochester, landed a bass which tipped the scale at 5 1-2 pounds, and had the same mounted by the Peterborough taxidermist. Mr. Day is well pleased with his luck, and has taken the bass to Rochester as a souvenir of the Point.

A large number of men are at present employed at the Cement Works repairing the piers at the power house, and a much larger force is expected in the near future.

The following guests are registered at the Lakeview House: Miss C Davy, A Benjamin, J Dugan, F Miner, L Sherwood, P Jenkins, Mr and Mrs G Robeson, J Miner, F Davy, A Latchford, B Little, J Jackson, Rochester; J Wilde, Chicago; C Carl, of Northrop & Lyman's, Toronto.

110,000 PRISONERS.

Nearly That Many Boers in the Concentration Camps.

GEN. DELAREY GIVES UP HOPE.

Daring Boer Prisoners Attempt to Escape from Darrell's Island, Bermuda—Bugler Dunn Injured—A Hero of the Battle of Colenso—British Officers Refuse the Grey Horses at Ottawa.

London, July 25.—A Parliamentary paper issued yesterday gives the numbers of persons in the concentration camps in South Africa in June as follows:

White, 85,410.
Colored, 23,489.

There were 777 deaths among the whites in the camps, the list including 576 children. The deaths among the colored persons numbered five.

Delarey Gives Up Hope.

Cape Town, July 24.—It is reported that Gen. Delarey has informed the Klerksdorp commando that there is no longer any chance of European intervention, and that they must fight the war out to the bitter end entirely on their own account.

Boers Attempts to Escape.

Hamilton, Bermuda, July 25.—The Boer prisoners of war confined on Darrell's Island make almost nightly attempts to avoid the patrolling gunboats Medina and Medway, and gain the mainland by swimming. The water between Darrell's Island and the beach is calm, and all night long the gunboats sweep it with their searchlights. Sharks abound and the British guards will shoot on suspicion, yet several of the Boers have escaped from their detention camp.

Sent Her Sympathy.

Glenwood Springs, Col., July 25.—As soon as Mrs. John Hays Hammond, wife of the mining engineer, who was at one time under sentence of death in Pretoria in connection with the famous Jameson Raid, heard of the death of the wife of President Kruger of the Boer Republic, she sent the following cablegram to President Kruger: "Accept my heartfelt sympathy in the loss of your noble, true wife."

BUGLER DUNN.

Famous Tugela Bugler Gets His Leg Broken.

Cape Town, July 24.—While practising at the Green Point camp today for the reception of the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York, Bugler Dunn met with an accident. His horse bolted and stumbled and fell. Dunn's leg was broken and the horse suffered a similar injury. The animal was shot. Dunn is the 15-year-old bugler of the First Dublin Fusiliers who was wounded three times at the battle of Colenso, while sounding his orders. He was one of the first to cross the Tugela after sounding the order to advance. When he returned to England to recuperate, Queen Victoria presented to him a silver mounted bugle. He was afterwards sent back to South Africa at his own request. He spent some time in Netley Hospital, where he was visited by several members of the Royal family.

Refused the Greys.

Ottawa, July 25.—Fifty war horses were bought in Ottawa this week for the British army in South Africa. Capt. Mordsley and another officer were in the city on Monday and Tuesday, and out of 100 horses they selected 50. The horses had to be from 900 to 1,200 pounds in weight, and from 14.3 hands high. The officers would not take greys, as they offer too good marks for bullets.

Has Left South Africa.

Montreal, July 25. — A Star special cable from London says: Capt. McMullen, formerly of the Strathcona's Horse, left Cape Town for England on the Lake Erie on July 19, and is due at Southampton Aug. 10.

Returned From S. A.

Winnipeg, July 25.—Inspector Macdonald of the N. W. M. P., who arrived from South Africa on Monday, proceeded to Regina yesterday. While in the city he was the guest of Col. Evans, C. B. Inspector Macdonald was seriously wounded in the battle of Diamond Hill. He was shot through the lungs, but he seems to have fully recovered from the wound.

Fatally Hurt By a Horse.

Ottawa, July 25.—Mrs. Houle, wife of a farmer who resides near Clarence Creek, was fatally injured by an infuriated horse on Monday. She went into the stable to get the horse in order to hitch it up. When she took hold of the halter the animal turned on her and knocked her down, afterwards trampling on her. One of her eyes were gouged out, her face was badly cut and several ribs were broken.

TO BREAK THE STRIKE

American Sheet Steel Company's Officials Are Aggressive.

A COUPLE OF IMPORTANT MOVES

Suppressed Excitement, Which Pervades Wellsville, May at Any Moment Break Out Into the Serious Condition—Operation of All Idle Plants Foreshadowed—Striker's on the Qui Vive.

Pittsburg, July 25.—Two moves, it is reported, were made by the aggressive officials of the American Sheet Steel Company yesterday towards the breaking of the strike. One was the shipping of some of the non-union men that have been employed in the Vandergrift mills of the company to Wellsville to assist in the starting of the plant there. It was stated that the men were to be shipped to Wellsville during the early evening, and would reach there after dark. As a consequence of this report there is a suppressed excitement pervading Wellsville, which at any moment may break out into the serious condition. Both strikers and officials of the company are on the alert and ready for any emergency. The impression is strong that the general officers of the United States Steel Corporation have become determined on the subject of the early breaking of the strike, and to ultimately force the operation of all idle plants.

The second move that is understood to have been initiated yesterday is the starting of the long-idle Hyde Park plant of the American Sheet Steel Company. This plant was taken into the combine burdened with objectionable contracts made by the former owners, and has remained idle since the American Sheet Steel Company took hold of the property. The long idleness of this mill has caused most of the men formerly employed there to leave Hyde Park for other places, and the company believes there will be less difficulty in starting this plant than where the Amalgamated Association has control.

It was apparent in Pittsburg yesterday afternoon that fresh and decidedly important developments in the strike of the steel workers were about to take place. At the Amalgamated headquarters the two leading officials of the association were absent during the greater part of the day. It was stated that President Shaffer was away on personal business. The absence of Secretary John Williams was also accounted for in the same manner. The conference held on Tuesday night, which kept President Shaffer and Secretary Williams out until early yesterday morning, remains as mysterious as before. Whatever the object of the meeting, it is believed to have been continued yesterday, and much of importance is expected to be developed from the conference.

The question of the manufacturers securing injunctions against the Amalgamated Association was discussed guardedly during the day. Those best acquainted with the feelings of the manufacturers say there is, in their opinion, little cause for believing that such harsh measures will be resorted to at this time.

Col. Jenks Dies Joking.

Los Angeles, July 25. — Col. Albert Jenks, a well-known artist, dropped dead yesterday morning in the street. He was laughing and chatting with friends, when, with an unfinished joke upon his lips, Col. Jenks pitched forward and expired. Heart failure was the cause.

Royal Yacht in Commission.

London, July 25.—The new royal yacht, Victoria and Albert, was placed in commission yesterday. The Hon. Hedworth Lambton, who commanded the cruiser Powerful, and distinguished himself at the beginning of the war in South Africa, is the captain of the yacht.

Co-Operative Buying in Ottawa.

Ottawa, July 25. — The master bakers may form a co-operative purchasing association and buy all their supplies through the association, and thus make a big saving. They will also endeavor to put down the credits system.

She Deserted Children.

Toronto, July 25. — Convictions were made in the Police Court yesterday in three of the five charges of child desertion against Mrs. Mary O'Rourke. She will appear to-day for sentence.

Caught in a Shaft.

Buffalo, N. Y., July 25. — Frank R. Rickert of New Orleans, was caught in a shaft of an elevator at the Iroquois Hotel yesterday, and so badly injured that his recovery is doubtful.

Out of Danger.

Edmonton, July 25.—Frank Oliver, M. P., is reported out of danger.

THE SAWLOG POLICY.

The fact that a large and increasing number of wealthy American corporations are closing down their mills and moving to Ontario to continue their business is emphasizing every day more clearly the wisdom embodied in the policy adopted by the Provincial Government in regard to the exportation of lumber.

This policy, familiarly spoken of as "The Liberal Saw Log Policy," is resulting in a large increase of population in the lumbering districts of Ontario as well as a material increase in the wealth of the Province.

During the past few years a large number of Michigan firms have removed their plants from that State to Ontario. All along the Huron shore on the American side are silent mills and empty lumber yards, once the scenes of great enterprises and much activity. The movement across the lake to the Canadian side is causing widespread panic in Michigan. Our Yankee cousins see that the timber policy of the Ontario Government is destined to transfer the great lumber trade from the Republic to Ontario, and thus directly and immediately enrich the people of this Province at their expense.

The Detroit Tribune of Thursday has an interesting editorial upon the subject, a perusal of which will show the people of this province how the policy of the Ontario Government with regard to lumber is viewed by the Americans. The Tribune says:

"Since the enactment of the Dingley tariff law, Michigan has had some severly practical object lessons in the working of the present tit-for-tat commercial policy between this country and Canada. She is about to have another. Being no longer able to get American logs for its sawing plant, the Saginaw Lumber & Salt Co. is about to pull up stakes and transfer its activities from the Valley City to the Canadian shore, in order to avoid the effects of retaliatory laws established across the border in response to the indefensible 82 lumber tariff which, by ways that were dark and tricks that were not vain, was made a part of the Dingley schedules.

From Cheboygan south, all along the Huron shore, there are silent mills, abandoned mill sites and empty lumber yards, to say nothing of vacant houses and diminishing or stationary town populations which testify to the worse than folly of that $2.00 rate and the audacious treachery of Julius Caesar Burrows, who betrayed his trust as conference representative of the Senate, in order that he might serve the private interests which had financially backed his Senatorial aspirations. Now one of the largest of the remaining lumber firms has been compelled by failing supply of raw material, to follow the others across the lake, where it must employ Canadian labour, buy Canadian supplies and contribute to Canadian development.

The occasion fully justifies the Saginaw News in recalling something of the warnings that came from Republicans and Democrats alike, when the high lumber rate was under discussion, and in saying:

"Every prediction this paper made at the time, regarding the retaliatory action which the Ontario Government would take towards our country and the damage it would do to the interests of the Saginaw valley and eastern Michigan, has been fulfilled, and all this time the Hannaized organ published on Jefferson avenue was voicing the interests of the lumber trusts as best it could, and lauding the very questionable and peculiar work that Senator Burrows and the notorious lobbyist, Nat McKay, his bosom friend, were doing for the interests of the men without whose aid Julius C. Burrows would have been skinned in his race for the United States Senate."

But the pine lumber business, though one of the most important, is by no means the only large industry concerning which Canada is in a position to retaliate effectively against reckless excesses in the application of the protective principle. Having succeeded in forcing Michigan saw mills and large blocks of American lumbering capital into her territory, she will not be slow in making use of similar methods in other directions. Unless our Government speedily recognizes her value to us as a market for manufactured goods, and moves for fair and reasonable trade relations between the two countries, Canada will see to it that pulp woods follow pine logs, that ores follow pulp woods, and that, in a dozen other important lines her commercial laws are so revised as to make us feel the weight of her retaliatory action. And Michigan will be one of the heaviest losers, if the tit-for-tat policy is carried to its logical conclusion, which is the rapid development of all staple manufactures in the Dominion, and the withdrawal of her profitable custom from the Union.

THE SCIENTIFIC FARMER.

Not long ago the term "Scientific Farming," was held synonymous with all that was impracticable or visionary. In this respect the phrase resembles some others that formerly carried with them a questionable significance, but now designate the most coveted characteristics of life. The term "Christian" for example, was first used as a term of reproach. To-day many who are not the most zealous devotees would resent any imputation that they are not Christians. So with the term, "Scientific Farming." It is no longer a means of reproach, but an industry in which more and more of our young men desire to excel. The many excellent agricultural schools and experimental stations in both Canada and the United States demonstrate to the farmer the practicability of agriculture carried on on a scientific basis.

The work of the agriculture college cannot be judged solely by the number of students it collects within its walls. Like institutions for higher learning, their use and influence will depend to a large extent upon the influence and usefulness of their graduates. Such institutions must be to a large extent missionary in their efforts. And at the colleges much of the time and energy must be devoted to academic and research work. It will remain for the agricultural schools to discover new truths, initiate new methods, and crystallize new ideas. Those who wish first hand knowledge must of course attend the colleges, but the vast majority of farmers will doubtless content themselves with such results of research work as reach them through the medium of farming and stock journals and official bulletins and reports which are sent out from time to time by the Department of Agriculture.

In answer to a question that has been often asked, namely, "Do students who return to the farm after a course in an agricultural school make successful farmers?" Prof. Bailey, of Cornell University, writes as follows:

"Yes, if they have the native ability. It does not follow that because a man grades well in his class he makes a good business man; but, other things being equal, the better the class grade the better the farmer. For myself, I care less whether the student can improve his yields than that he improves his mind. Even though the college man raises no more wheat than his neighbour, he will have more satisfaction in raising it. He will know why he turns the clod; he will challenge the worm that burrows in the furrow; his eye will follow the field mouse that scuds under the grass; he will see the wild fowl winging its way across the heavens. All these things will add to the meaning of life and they are his. But the college man has the benefit of definite and relevant knowledge, and he should be able to apply it for the betterment of his farm. In fact, he does apply it. His pride is quickened. He knows that he is a marked man. His place shows it. With joy and enthusiasm he goes back to the farm determined to improve every foot of its soil and every item of its detail. He works towards ideals. If education does not help the farmer then it can not be expected to help any other man."

From the Kingston Whig, July 20: "Ex-Alderman William Robinson, the veteran politician, is of opinion that the recent speech in Kingston, of Hon. J. R. Stratton was one of the cleverest and most straightforward announcements of the Ontario government's policy that he ever heard or read of. He is proud of the progressive policy of the Government."

OF SPECIAL INTEREST

To Hay Fever Sufferers.

Sufferers from hay fever and summer catarrh will be interested to learn that there is a new, simple, inexpensive, but effective home treatment for this obstinate and baffling disease, and that a little booklet fully describing the treatment will be mailed free to anyone by addressing the F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.

Doubtless this statement of a cure and positive preventive of hay fever will be received with skepticism by the thousands who have found the only relief every year was a change of climate during the summer months.

But whether skeptical or not, it will cost nothing to investigate this new treatment. Simply send name and address on a postal card to F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich., for the booklet, which besides describing the treatment contains a concise treatise on the cause and character of this peculiar disease.

Fell Twenty-One Feet.

St. Thomas, July 24.—On Saturday afternoon a windmill was being erected on the farm of Chancey Smith, several miles west of Tilsonburg, by a young machinist named Smith of Brownsville, who was standing on a scaffolding about 21 feet from the ground, when it broke and allowed him to fall to the ground, striking on his back and shoulders. His head is also seriously injured, and he has not regained consciousness since the accident.

Crossed Atlantic to See Yacht Races.

Montreal, July 24. — Mrs. Fitzgeorge, daughter-in-law of the Duke of Cambridge, has arrived at Montreal and is staying at the Windsor Hotel. She came here last evening, accompanied by her maid, and will remain until the close of the yacht races. She is so greatly interested in the contest between the Grey Friar and the Senunville for the Seawanhaka Cup as to have made a special trip across the Atlantic in order to witness it.

TWO MORE WITNESSES.

Mountain of Evidence Piled up in Favour of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets—Universal Gratitude for this Most Successful Stomach Remedy—Mrs. Arseneau Calls her Cure Miraculous.

It is surprising to note how many people are commending Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets nowadays. They are winning new friends everywhere. The work goes on continuously.

Throughout the length and breadth of Canada are thousands of people, who after every meal take a Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablet. They are a large proportion of the vast majority, the greater part of the population that suffer from weak stomachs and faulty digestion.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are the greatest tonic for a weak ailing stomach, ever compounded. They are composed of the finest digestants found in nature, pepsin among others They do the stomach's work, and let that tired-out over-worked organ take a holiday.

That's all the stomach wants — a rest. At once it will begin to save its strength and grow strong again. Hundreds of people have been cured of heartburn and pain after eating, by using only one box of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Thousands of people have been permanently cured of chronic Dyspepsia of long standing, by three or four boxes, and that after every other means had failed. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets act on the only rational principle in the treatment of Digestion Troubles—Rest for the stomach.

"I consider our cures miraculous," writes Mrs. Celetti Arseneau, of Russeau Le Blanc, Que. "My daughter Marie and myself suffered miserably with Dyspepsia. We employed all the remedies possible, but they were all useless. Having heard Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets spoken of, we took four boxes between the two of us, and I am happy to say we are cured. I recommend Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets highly to all sufferers from Stomach Troubles."

SKIN GETS 20 DAYS.

Sentenced For Being in Possession of an Island Illegally.

Cornwall, July 24. — Jake Skin, the red man who took possession of Colquhoun's Island, east of Cornwall, and defied the authorities, was tried before Police Magistrate Danis here yesterday. The department retained Mr. D. B. MacLennan, K. C., of Cornwall, to conduct their case, and Mr. G. T. Copeland defended Skin. There were 200 or more Indians at the trial. The prosecution rested their case on the fact that Skin was in possession of the island in an illegal manner. Skin himself admitted that he was but a tool in the hands of the chiefs. There was practically no defence offered in behalf of Skin, and the magistrate sent him down for 20 days, with a warning that for the next offence he would get the maximum penalty. It is understood that an appeal is to be taken and further steps of the red men are awaited with much interest.

A True Nerve Tonic.

acts not so much upon the nerves themselves, as upon the digestive functions, and the abundment formation of rich, red blood. The nerves cannot be fed on medicine. They can be fed and strengthened by digested and assimilated food. Ferrozone's marvellous action arises from its power over the digestive and assimilative functions of the body. You take it, the blood grows richer, redder. You feel strength and vigor, digestion ceases to be noticed, for it has become good. Work is easier, for you have the strength to do it. In a short time you have health. Use Ferrozone. Sold only by Ormond & Walsh.

Floating Cafe Caught.

Rat Portage, July 24.—Passengers who arrived on the Keenora last night brought news of an important capture by Indian Agents Leveque of Rat Portage and Wright of Fort Frances on the Rainy River Sunday. The Indians on the Manitoba reserves have been receiving their annual treaty money during the past few days, and a party of Americans from Leclaire, Minn., who wanted it, loaded up the Lone Star, a naptha launch, with 40 rod whisky and proceeded toward the reserve. It is not known how much they sold, but they were discovered within the three mile limit of the reserve and promptly arrested.

TO MAKE MONEY it is necessary to have a clear, bright brain, a cool head and strong nerves. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills invigorate and brighten the brain, strengthen the nerves, and remove all heart, nerve and brain troubles. th

SENATOR ALLAN DEAD

The Aged Chancellor of Trinity University Passes Away.

THIRTY-FOUR YEARS A SENATOR

Born in Toronto in 1833, He Was Raised and Educated There—Was Interested in All Political and Educational Questions—Sketch of a Long, Honorable and Useful Life.

Toronto, July 25. — Hon. George W. Allan, one of the most distinguished citizens of Toronto, died yesterday morning at Moss Park, the home in which he had lived for over eighty years. Senator Allan was born in Toronto in January, 1822, and was the son of Hon. William Allan of Moss Park. He had been ailing for a considerable time of heart disease and was so ill during last winter that his life was despaired of for a time. Of late his condition had improved, but his extreme exhaustion, following upon the great heat, enfeebled him and caused death at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. Mrs. Allan was with him at the end.

Sketch of His Life.

The Hon. George William Allan was the son of the late Hon. Wm. Allan, a well-known public man in Upper Canada, and was born in York, now Toronto, January 9, 1822. Educated at Upper Canada College, he was called to the bar in 1846. While at college he joined the volunteers and served with the Bank Rifle during the rebellion of 1837. Before commencing the practice of his profession he made a tour of Europe and also visited the Holy Land. On his return to Canada he entered public life, became alderman for the city, and ultimately gained the mayor's chair in 1855. In 1858 he was elected to represent York in the Legislative Council, which position he held till Confederation. In 1867 he was called to the Senate by royal proclamation. He always took an active and prominent part in the deliberations of that body, and for many years held the Chairmanship of the Committee of Banking and Commerce. He held the office of Chancellor of Trinity College since 1877, and was closely identified with the growth of the Ontario Society of Artists and in many ways promoted art and enterprises of utility. He made a gift to the city of the land upon which the Canadian Institute now stands and also of the greater portion of the Horticultural Gardens. He was appointed Speaker of the Senate in 1888 and continued to hold that office until the close of parliament in 1891. Senator Allan held a number of scholastic degrees, was a member of the Queen's Privy Council of Canada, and was prominently connected with a number of industrial and other institutions in the City of Toronto and Canada. He married in 1846, Louisa Maud, daughter of the late Chief Justice Sir John Beverley Robinson. She died in Rome in 1852. His second wife was Adelaide Harriet, third daughter of the Rev. T. Schrieber, formerly of Bradwell Lodge, Essex, England.

Coming Home.

Winnipeg, July 25.—G. W. Allan, who is a son of the deceased Senator Allan, left via the N. P. yesterday on receipt of the news from Toronto to attend the funeral.

Insurance Amalgamation.

Montreal, July 24. — Quite an important insurance deal has just been accomplished here, the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company of New York having absorbed La Canadienne of Montreal, which was started by French-Canadians in 1887 with a subscribed capital of $100,000, with $30,000 paid up. The total amount of policies in full to Dec. 30, 1900, reached $4,105,000. Hon. J. S. Laviollette was president.

Loss of Two Millions.

Ottawa, July 25.—Reports received here state that Maclaren's valuable timber limits in the Gatineau district, near Thirty-one Mile Lake, are on fire, and the flames are extending towards the Lievre. Quebec Crown timber agents estimate that the recent fires in the Temiscanning district must have caused a loss of at least two million dollars.

Burned to the Water's Edge.

Nyack, N.Y., July 25. — The propeller Ruggles, owned by Henry Koehler of Nyack, caught fire mysteriously late last night, and was burned to the water's edge. Charles Cornelison, a watchman, escaped by jumping overboard and swimming ashore.

Crispi's Condition.

Naples, July 25.—A bulletin issued yesterday morning says the condition of Signor Francesco Crispi continues to improve.

Shoemaker's Backache.

Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets a Positive Cure for This Complaint.

The constant bending over that of necessity a shoemaker must do when at work, comes hard on his back and hard on his kidneys. Backache and lame back are the great bugbears of a shoemaker's existence. That Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets can ease the aching back and cure the kidney trouble is amply proven in the following case:—

Mr. J. O'Shea, corner Main and Market streets, Lucan, Ont., the well-known shoemaker of that village, says:—"A shoemaker's work requires lots of sitting and leaning forward, and invariably, as in my case, in time brings on a pain in the small of the back and Kidney trouble. This has been my complaint for two or three years, and I was about tired of it. Some one told me about Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets, and I got a bottle at John Farrell's drug store. The taking of this one bottle was followed by complete relief. This is naturally a big lift to me in my work and I am correspondingly grateful. I can recommend the Tablets conscientiously to others."

If you are anxiously desirous of being cured insist on having Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets. Price 50 cents a box, at all druggists. The Dr. Zina Pitcher Co., Toronto.

THE DANCE AT CHEMONG.

The Second of the Series was Given at ar the Park Last Night.

The second of a series of delightful summer dances at Chemong given by the young people of Peterborough, took place last night, and it proved to be if anything more successful than the preceding one. Three of Leary's busses left the post office at 8 o'clock with the merry party from town. Not-with-standing the poor condition of the road the park was reached in due time The pavilion was very prettily decorated with Chinese lanterns, the floor was in prime condition and the evening was most appropriate for a summer dance. The gentlemen in their immaculate white ducks and the ladies their gay-looking summer costumes, presented a pretty sight as they glided to and fro. The young ladies on this occasion supplied the music themselves and it proved to be most appropriate, whilst as usual they supplied the refreshments. Altogether the dance was a decided success and must have been most gratifying to the promoters.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown very kindly did everything in their power to assist in making the affair pass off pleasantly.

The committee very highly appreciates the kindness of Mr. Chas. Stanley, who on more than one occasion has put himself about to accommodate the committee with the loan of a piano.

THE BOARD OF TRADE.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir,—The Board of Trade does not seem to take any interest in the many questions at present concernign the town. What is the matter with it? This institution to be of any use must be strictly fair and impartial If the people get the idea that it is in the hands of interested parties nothing will get that idea out of their heads again.

Yours truly,
Bridges and Poles.

THE GENERAL PUBLIC AND THE C.P.R.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir, — Having occasion to go from the bridge works, where I was working, over to Aylmer street south, I took the road usually taken by the citizens. On reaching the east end of the station platform, I saw the agent, Mr. Bamford, talking to a man. When I came along the same individual who was talking to the agent, stopped me and asked me what my business was. I told him I was going over on Aylmer street, and asked him what right he had to stop me? He then took me by the shoulder and shook me.

I asked Mr. Bamford, if we could not cross this way? He said, "This is private property," and pointing down in the gully, "there is 26 feet along that siding for a roadway." Not seeing any sign and having used that way since the C.P.R. was built, as well as the general public, the only reason I could see for being stopped was that I was in my working clothes; or that the agent, or some one else connected with the road, was afraid of the eyes of the eyes of the public, and did not want the patronage of the workingman.

Hoping that at the next meeting of our council and also the Trades and Labour Councils of Peterborough they will take the matter up and find out what rights the people have in this town.

J. P. Shevlin.

THE BRIDGE CLOSED.

Traffic Suspended on the Chemong Lake Structure Except on Market Days.

The fact that the Chemong Lake bridge is to be closed for some time, except on market days, will be a grievance of no small magnitude to the good people of Ennismore. The bridge, it seems, is to undergo extensive repairs, and if all traffic across it was to be suspended for a time the alterations could be far more quickly carried out but the county council is exercising the good judgment to re-open the bridge for traffic on Wednesdays and Saturdays—the two days of most importance to the residents of Ennismore on account of the Peterborough market.

PETERBOROUGH BOY MAKING BIG MONEY.

A Canning Factory Sold Out in Which R. V. Winch Was Largely Interested.

What a Western Paper Has to Say of the Big Half Million Deal—G. E. Bower Also Concerned.

Mr. R. J. Winch of town, received a telegram the other day when at Stony Lake from his son, Mr. R. V. Winch, stating that he had sold out his salmon canning industry for half a million dollars. Mr. George E. Bower, a son-in-law of Mr. Winch was also largely interested in the cannery.

The Daily News-Advertiser, of Vancouver, in its issue of July 17, in commenting on the big deal, quotes a despatch from San Francisco as follows:

San Francisco, July 2.—The Alaska Packers' Association has bought the plant of the Anacortes Packing Company, of Anacortes, Wash., for cash. The deal was consummated to-day, but not made public. It is the result of the visit of Vice-Pres. H. Drysdale, of the Association. He returned a week ago after completing negotiations, and laid the matter before the board. All that remains is an estimate of the exact value of the stock and possessions of the Anacortes Company. The price paid for the company will not be made public by President Fortmann of the Alaska Packers' Association, but it is understood to be in the neighbourhood of $500,000. The Anacortes Company is seven years old, and is a corporation owned principally by Winch & Bower. Its estimated pack this season is 100,000 cases, and it is one of the best money makers on Puget Sound, with the exception of the Alaska's plants at Semiahmoo and Point Roberts.

Speaking editorially in reference to the matter the News-Advertiser says:

As Messrs. Winch & Bower of this city are large shareholders in the Anacortes cannery a representative of the News-Advertiser called on Mr. Winch last evening and asked if the information contained in the above article was correct.

Mr. Winch replied that it was, he having returned last evening from the Sound, where he had been in connection with the matter. The deal was closed yesterday by the completion of the transfer of the property, and the payment of the purchase money, a sum over $500,000. Mr. Fortmann, the president, of the Alaska Packers' Association, and Mr. Drysdale, the Vice-President, came up from San Francisco to conclude the negotiations and take possession of the property. The cannery and outfit is one of the largest and most complete plants on the coast, having its own traps and equipments, and has a capacity of 3,000 cases.

Mr. Winch gave some statistics of the comparative capacity of the two great canning combinations — the Alaska Packers' Association and the new canning combine of which so much has been heard lately. With the Anacortes and its other new canneries the Alaska Association will have a capacity of 1,400,000 cases, against 940,000 cases of the combine. Of the pack of the Alaska Association 1,205,000 cases will be sockeye red chinook salmon and 135,000 cases of pink salmon, while the combine's pack will be 600,000 cases of the former and 340,000 cases of the latter.

Messrs. Winch & Bower are to be congratulated on the successful termination of these negotiations. Old timers who remember the little store in 1886 of Mr. Winch on Cordova street, will be pleased to see that the pluck and energy displayed by him have met with such a handsome reward as that shown in the deal above referred to.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

BASEBALL.

The Ponies are coming. The Ponies are from Kingston, and the Ponies are great favourites wherever they go. They will run up against the local team on the P. A. A. A. grounds on Saturday afternoon in what should be the best match of the season. The Ponies have an enviable reputation, and generally win wherever they play, but they'll strike a hard proposition when they run up against the locals on Saturday. The Peterborough men are in the pink of condition and are going to win—or die in the attempt.

Lindsay has a team called the "Willows," they should have been called the "Willies."

Oshawa plays Lindsay on Friday, Aug. 3rd.

The Ponies of Kingston, will play in Lindsay on Friday.

Cobourg plays in Port Hope on Saturday next.

All the members of the Peterboroughs are requested to be on hand this evening at 6.45, for full practice. This will be the last practice before the game Saturday, and the finishing touches must be put on to-night. The Ponies are putting up a great game and the local team will have to play fast ball to beat them. The management of the local club are under a big expense bringing the Kingston team here and a big crowd should be out Saturday and encourage the boys.

CRICKET.

The Lindsay cricket club are sending an eleven to Orillia to-day.

The Woodbine team of Toronto, will visit Lindsay in a week or two.

NEWS NUGGETS.

—At the police court this morning a drunk and disorderly was fined $2.

—Chief of Police Reszel has a pocket book that is minus an owner at the present time. It was found on George street.

—The 57th Regimental Band will attend the Printers' Excursion and render a number of selections. The excursion will go to Jubilee Point on Saturday afternoon, August 3rd. Boat leaves at two o'clock sharp.

—Complaints have been made to the Chief that people in the various parts of the town are in the habit of carelessly driving their cows on the sidewalks and thereby causing much damage. The authorities intend putting a stop to such work.

NEW CENTURY IDEAS.

The Toronto Exhibition, to be held from August 26 to Sept. 7, announces that its principal characteristic will be the adoption of New Century Ideas The phrase might be considered a bit indefinite but for the fact that contemporaneously the statement is made that there will be daily and nightly displays of all the new weapons of war as well as recent developments in the arts of peace. The pom-pom will be on view, wireless telegraphy will be shown in practical use off the shore to passing vessels, magnificent displays of illuminating effects will be made, recently announced developments in electricity will be shown, demonstrations will be made in the cultivation of the Sugar Beet, modern methods of rescuing at sea will be illustrated, manoeuvres with latter-day artillery will take place, in fact the military will be very much in evidence in all its branches, while the bandy-man and the marines will also be used largely in the off-shore operations and the brilliant nightly spectacle the Bombardment of the Taku Forts by International forces. An International Military Tattoo will be the feature of the opening night, when a large body of troops will be utilized. A strong exhibit of French-Canadian cattle, as well as of Pan-American live stock, dairy products and manufactures, Toronto Exhibition never promised so well as this year. Greatly reduced rates on the railways and steamboats have been arranged for, and no better time for visiting both Toronto and the Pan-American, or the former alone, could be desired than between August 26 and Sept. 7. When it is stated that this year Toronto will distribute upwards of $35,000 in premiums and spend $30,000 in special attractions, all of which can be seen from the grand stand for 25c., the magnitude of Canada's gretest exhibition will be appreciated.

AN UNEXCELLED TOURIST RESORT.

The Highlands of Ontario are now so favourably known by the summer traveller and those looking for a place to spend the hot summer months that some of the districts are becoming so popular that the hotel accommodation has to be added to each year. Thousands of visitors annually go up into the Muskoka Lakes District, and no one is ever disappointed at the beauties of the place and health-giving properties of the pure air. The altitude of Muskoka—1000 feet above sea level—endows it with all the advantages obtainable among the mountains, while as a matter of course it lacks nothing in so far as lakes and islands are concerned. In fact it possesses a variety of attractions any one of which would be more than sufficient to make it dear to the hearts of its summer habitues.

Standing high above the plane of humidity, the immense expanse of country is favoured by cooling breezes from the broad bosom of the Georgian Bay, whose waters wash its western limits.

The district is located about 100 miles north of the city of Toronto, and can be reached from Buffalo in less than seven hours, and from Toronto in three hours, and the farthest points on the lakes are reached at a reasonable hour the same evening. Perfect immunity from Hay Fever is assured.

Handsomely illustrated descriptive publications of the several districts comprising the "Highlands of Ontario," are issued by the Grand Trunk Railway System, and can be had free on application to W. Bunton, C. P. and T. A., Peterborough; M. C. Dickson, District Passenger Agent, Toronto.

THE LATE MR. TORPEY.

His Demise Occurred on Saturday Evening Last.

The death occurred in Otonabee on Saturday evening last of Eugene Torpey, who has been ailing for the past eleven months.

The deceased was 58 years of age, and was widely known throughout the community as a shrewd, honest and progressive farmer. His demise will be a great loss to his neighbourhood in many ways. He leaves a widow, five sons and one daughter to mourn his loss. The sons are Messrs, Michael, Roger, Wm., and John, all at home, and the daughter is Mrs. A. Bowie, of Otonabee.

In politics the deceased was a Liberal, and in religion a Roman Catholic.

The funeral, which took place on Monday, was one of the largest that has been seen in this vicinity for some time, there being over ninety vehicles in line. Interment took place at the Douro Roman Catholic cemetery.

ON STONEE LAC.

The following few lines are respectfully dedicated by a true friend to Mr. "Dick" Gough, who is reported as catching a monster lunge at Stony Lake this week:

A fisherman on Stonee Lac,
'Bout half mile off from shore,
Fished hard for one, two, three, four hours,
By an' by he fished some more.

Some time he fished with old dry bait,
Some time he fish with wet—
He gave the dry bait to the fish,
The wet bait—nit! you bet.

Long time some fish did never come,
Then one, two, three passed by;
They smell of that old, dead dry bait
And wink the other eye.

By an' by, one great big lunge come 'long,
'Bout forty, fifty weight,
So old he neither smell nor see,
And ate that old dry bait.

The fisherman stood very still
And reeled out yards of line—
He worked that poor old blind, deaf lunge,
So very, very fine.

By an' by the fish began to pull,
By an' by he pull some more;
And then was fun in Stonee Lac—
'Bout half mile out from shore.

The fish he plunge like one mad horse,
And then he pull like ten,
He towed that boat nine miles an hour,
Big boat and four big men.

He pulled like lunge 'bout six feet long,
May be he be about seven;
May be, if not pulled out right quick,
He'll grow to be 'bout 'leven.

By an' by they pull that lunge half out,
By an' by they pull him more,
And Stonee Lac fell four, five feet,
'Bout half mile off from shore.

SARCASM IN SIGNS.

ADVERTISEMENTS THAT AT TIMES BECOME A MOCKERY.

Reminiscences of Men Who Had Been Worse Days and Irritating Announcements When They Were Hard Up and Out of Employment.

The advance agent met the leading man of another show the other night, and, as they had not seen each other in seven years, there was a warmness about their greeting that was refreshing.

"Dear old Tom!" said the leading man. "I was thinking of you not five minutes ago. Sit down, you dear old fellow! I passed a bakery not five minutes ago, and I thought of you. Why, here's Willis! I was just saying to Tom that I never see a baker's that I don't think of him. Tom and I were poor once! Mighty poor too. I remember that we had been turned out of different homes on the same cold night and met each other for the first time by chance. We shared the comforts of a butcher's wagon that night and went upon a rummaging expedition the next day. We baited in front of a German bakery, half starved and disgusted with life generally. There was a huge sign in the window which said, 'There Is No Cake Like Ours.' We hadn't a penny between us, but Tom stepped in and asked for a sample of the cake. The Dutchman didn't appreciate the humor of the request, so Tom said, 'You may keep your cake, boss; but, say, give me a chunk of bread, quick, or I'll cut out your gizzard.' I'll never forget that cake sign because it took us hours to get away from the police who were attracted to the scene by the baker's cries for help."

"But that was not my only experience with a peculiar sign," remarked the advance agent after a hearty laugh. "The year before I went on the road for the first time I was in as hard luck as ever man was. I had pawned everything in sight and was almost starved. I found an umbrella in the hallway of a down town building, and the janitor told me to keep it. It was a fairly good rain shield, and I immediately carried it to mine uncle. I didn't know this particular relative, although I had formed the acquaintance of hundreds of his people. His place was on Sixth avenue, and he gave me 75 cents on it, which I gladly accepted. As he was making out the ticket he said:

"'Do you want to save it from the moths?'

"'Yes,' I answered.

"'That will cost you 12 cents. Perhaps you would like to have it insured? It is always advisable, but it will cost you 12 cents more,' replied my friend.

"'All right,' I said. 'Take good care of it.' He could have eaten it for all I cared, for I never intended to redeem it. I was about to leave the place when I saw a big sign on the far wall. It said:

"'No extra charge for putting watches and jewelry in the safe in the office.'

"Watches and jewelry! It brought the tears to my eyes, and as I crawled into my 10 cent bed that night I thought of dismond necklaces, pearls and rubies of priceless value and—cake. Oh, the curse of some signs! How they mock the poor!"

They were all silent a moment, but the one addressed as Willis was the first to resume conversation, and he said:

"There's my friend, Big John Smith. Let me introduce him. Since you chaps are talking of signs and hard luck, let me tell you of the time that I had to leave my trunk at the old Stevens House, on lower Broadway, and light out by the shades of midnight to get away from a hotel bill that I couldn't pay. Everything I had in the world was locked up in that trunk, and as I could not remove anything without exciting suspicion I thought it best to keep out of jail by leaving everything behind me. I must have walked the streets at least a week famished and penniless. One afternoon I was passing along an up town street, hoping to die, when I happened to look up and saw a sign as big as my hopes were small. This sign read:

"'We Are Not Daylight Robbers. Trunks! Trunks! From the Battery to the Harlem Bridge to Your Room For 25 Cents.'

"If that sign was not the irony of fate in my case, I do not know what to call it."

"Oh, that's a small affair alongside of my experience," said Smith. "It is only a few years ago too. I had been unemployed for several months, and as I had six little shavers to take care of I did not have much trouble spending the little money I had saved. I didn't seem to have a friend in the wide world to turn to, and I spent my last copper for a paper to examine the employment column. It was about Christmas time, and I dreaded going back home to face the scolding landlord. I recall that I stopped in front of the Harlem office of a newspaper to see the holiday crowd go by, and as I did so I saw a sign that made my blood run cold. It said:

"'There Is No Reason Why You Should Be Idle. Insert a Want Ad. Four Cents a Line.'

"The pronoun was printed in immense letters, and I had the greatest trouble dissuading myself that it was not intended for me, and me alone. Of course it wasn't, but that sign burned into my memory, and I have thought of it innumerable times since."

"Oh, pshaw!" rejoined the leading man after a pause. "I suppose it is impossible to please everybody with public signs. I saw one in Buffalo once which said: 'Attention, blind men. Read this and be cured,' which referred to a new treatment for the blind. All signs cannot be expected to satisfy the ideas of everybody."—New York Mail and Express.

Shrewd Thievery.

"Americans who go abroad must expect to be robbed right and left," said a young man who recently returned from a brief European tour. "One expects to be held up for all sorts of tips, but when the beggars follow you home you can't help feeling a sort of admiration for their ingenuity.

"I went over on one of the Red Star line boats, and the first thing I did on landing at Antwerp was to go to the cable office and send a message to my mother announcing my safe arrival. I paid the toll and thought no more about it until I got home, when among my mail I found a letter from the Antwerp operator, addressed in care of my mother, saying that through an error he had not charged me enough for my cablegram sent on such and such a date, that he had been obliged to pay the difference out of his own pocket, and as his salary was very small and he had a large family and all that sort of thing he felt sure I would reimburse him.

"The amount was a trifling one, and I did send him a foreign money order. I have since learned from experienced travelers that I had been made the victim of a systematic form of robbery and that scarcely a cablegram is sent from the other side unless it is of a business nature that is not followed by some such plea from the European operator."

Dog-matic People

Are often capable of doing injury to less positive people, the very emphasis of their affirmation making up for lack of argument and want of evidence. And the worst of all dogmatists are those doctors who, harking back to some old dogma of the schools, insist that certain patients are beyond all medical help, because, forsooth, their diseases are beyond the limited medical knowledge of the dogmatist.

"When the physicians had given me up I was cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery." That statement, varied sometimes in form but identical in fact, is one of the common expressions found in the letters of those cured by "Golden Medical Discovery." Sometimes the statement runs; "I was given up by four doctors," showing a desperate effort to find relief in local practitioners. But however the story begins, it almost invariably ends with the statement, "I am perfectly cured by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery."

Persons suffering from "weak" lungs, hemorrhages, deep-seated cough, emaciation and weakness, have been restored to perfect health by the "Discovery."

The philosophy of the cures effected by this marvelous medicine is not hard to understand. Life is sustained by food, digested and assimilated. The basis of health is a good appetite and a sound digestion. In almost all cases of disease loss of appetite is an early symptom, and this is promptly followed by a wasting of the flesh. For some cause the food eaten is not being converted into nutrition and the body and its organs, being starved, must grow weak. There is only one way to get strength and that is by food. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery heals diseases of the stomach and allied organs of digestion and nutrition, so enabling the body to assimilate the needed nourishment. Thus various forms of "weakness," so-called, are cured by the "Discovery"—"weak" lungs, "weak" heart, "weak" nerves, "weak" or sluggish liver, etc., because the organs are made strong by food, which is perfectly digested and assimilated after the "Discovery" has healed the diseases of the stomach and associated organs of digestion and nutrition.

PAIN ALL GONE.

"I have taken your medicine with the greatest satisfaction," writes Mrs. George Riehl, of Lockport Station, Westmoreland Co., Penn'a, and can honestly say Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has cured me of a pain in my right lung that the best doctors could not help. My appetite and digestion have improved so that I can eat anything at all, and I feel better than I have for years. Your 'Favorite Prescription' has cured me of womb trouble that I suffered from for fifteen years, and painful monthly troubles. I can work a whole day and not get tired. My pain is all gone and I feel like a new person. I suffered with headache all the time but have no headache now since taking your medicine. Your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Favorite Prescription' do all that you claim for them, and more, too. I have been cured of troubles that I suffered from for fifteen years, and the best doctor in the State could not cure me. 'Golden Medical Discovery' cured me of neuralgia that I suffered from for five years, and if my letter can save one other poor sufferer, you can publish it."

"ALMOST A MIRACLE."

"I took a severe cold which settled in the bronchial tubes," writes Rev. Frank Hay, of Nortonville, Jefferson Co., Kansas. "After trying medicines labeled "Sure Cure," almost without number, I was led to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I took two bottles and was cured, and have stayed cured.

"When I think of the great pain I had to endure, and the terrible cough I had, it seems almost a miracle that I was so soon relieved."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. They do not re-act upon the system and become a necessity, as do many other pills.

Held the Fort.

In October, 1864, Allatoona pass, a defile in the mountains of Georgia, was guarded by General Corse, with 1,500 men. It was a strong, strategic point, and, moreover, 1,500,000 rations were stored there. Fresich, the southern general, with 6,000 men, attacked the garrison and drove the defenders into a small fort on the crest of the hill. The battle was fierce. The northern soldiers fell in such numbers that further fighting seemed folly.

But one of Corse's officers caught sight of a white signal flag fluttering in the breeze on the top of the Kenesaw mountain, across the valley, 15 miles away. The signal was answered, and then came the inspiring message from mountain to mountain: "Hold the fort. I am coming.—W. T. Sherman."

Cheer after cheer went up, and, though hopelessly reduced in numbers, they did hold the fort for hours until the advance guard of Sherman's army came to their relief. Six years later P. P. Bliss, the evangelist, heard the story in all its vivid detail from a soldier friend and then wrote the words and music of his famous hymn.

Jack—I'll tell you what's the matter, George. You don't praise your wife enough. Even if things don't go right there's no use growling. Praise her efforts to please, whether they are successful or not. Women like praise, and lots of it.

George—All right. I'll remember it.

George (at dinner, same day)—My dear, this pie is just lovely. It's delicious! Ever so much better than those my mother used to make. She couldn't equal this pie if she tried a month.

George's Wife—Huh! You've made fun of every pie I ever made, and now—

George—But this is lovely.

George's Wife—That came from the baker's.

A REMARKABLE DUEL

BOTH OF THE PARTICIPANTS WERE QUICK ON THE TRIGGER.

An Enforced Parade Preceded the Gun Play, Which Was on the Pull and Shoot Order—Why Bratton Was Glad He Lost His Right Hand.

"The most affectionate looking two handed gun play that I ever saw," said a Colorado gentleman in one of the house committee rooms, "was the one that happened at La Junta, in my state, between 'Big Divide Jim' Bratton and George Gannon, as pizenish a pair of real bad men of the type that has now passed away as ever fanned a .45 or twisted a Bowie.

"Gannon was the proprietor of the Gilt Edge honkatonk in La Junta, and it was at this place that he had some trouble with Bratton. The argument ended by Bratton backing out of the door with his hands up, Gannon having the drop. Gannon didn't shoot then because his gun wasn't loaded. He had been cleaning it and had for ...en to replace the cartridges. He'd have killed Bratton otherwise as a matter of course.

"That same night Bratton sent word to Gannon that he meditated shooting him up some on the following day. Gannon wasn't a man to take to the cliffs or the cactus, having plenty of notches on his gun barrel himself, and ne walked around the next afternoon like a light battery of artillery. 'Big Divide Jim' Bratton bulged him, however, by turning a corner suddenly as Gannon paraded down the main street, and then it was Gannon's hands that went up for a change. Bratton had two guns covering him, and Gannon knew his gait.

"'This,' said Bratton, 'is where I get an even break for my coin. Now, you like me so much, Gannon, that I want you to sort of show your appreciation of me by walkin around town linked arms with me for awhile.'

"It was up to Gannon to comply with this peculiar request. 'Big Divide Jim' Bratton jabbed his guns back into his belt, and then he clutched Gannon's left arm and passed it through his right. The disadvantage of this arrangement accrued to Bratton. It left Gannon's gun arm free, while in case of argument Bratton would have to use his left gun. But 'Big Divide Jim' wasn't selfish.

"The population of La Junta was amazed to see 'Big Divide Jim' Bratton and George Gannon, who had always been more or less sore on each other and who had had a quarrel that meant the death of one or both of them on the night before, walking arm in arm up and down the main street of the town. It looked like a peripatetic love feast between the two of 'em. But they were watching each other like cats. At the end of the street Bratton, still with his right arm linked to Gannon's left, stopped suddenly and said:

"'George, I ain't much on the blow about any gun suddenness that I may possess, but I sure want to give you a chance. You thrung it into me last night in a way that's eat up so much of the atmosphere around here that there's not enough air left in this neighborhood for both of us to breathe at one and the same time. I'm a-goin to count three, and when I say "three" it's a breakaway and a finish. You've got a loose right arm, but I ain't no hog. One—two—three!'

"The event proved 'Big Divide Jim' Bratton the quicker man and the better marksman. He got Gannon through the heart, whereas Gannon's ball lodged in Bratton's right wrist. Bratton had to suffer his right hand to be cut off that same night.

"The last time I saw him was in Creede. He was sitting on the edge of a bunk in his own cabin, close to a claim he was working. I hadn't seen him since he'd lost his hand.

"'Jim,' said I, 'it's too bad you should have lost that right hand. If the fellow that plugged you had only got the left hand, why'—

"'Oh, I don't know,' said Bratton philosophically. 'If I'd ha' lost my left, I wouldn't have been able to play the fiddle any more.'

"He reached under his bunk and brought forth an old violin. Then he rigged up an attachment he had for holding the bow in his right stump, and he played the instrument real sweetly for me for half an hour or so.

"'I couldn't have done no fingerin if I'd ha' lost my left hook, you know,' he said simply when he put the old fiddle away."

The Result of His Study.

"I suppose you have made a study of human nature," remarked the friend.

"I attribute my success in life to that fact," answered Senator Sorghum.

"Were you ever tempted to give the world the benefit of your observations, to put them into book form as a human comedy or something of that sort?"

"My dear sir, it wouldn't take a book to do it. I have figured on the problem of human nature until I know the answer. I should just say, 'Human nature loves money,' and let it go at that."—Exchange.

BAD BLOOD

Reveals itself in many ways. Sometimes the impurities in the blood mark and mar the skin with blotches, pimples, boils or other eruptions. Sometimes the result of bad blood is rheumatism or a debilitated condition which is popularly described as "feeling played out, hardly able to drag myself around."

The impurities and poisons which corrupt the blood, clog the liver and cloud the skin are removed by the use of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It does more than eliminate the poisons; it increases the activity of the blood-making glands so that there is an increased supply of pure, body-building blood. It brightens the eyes, cleanses the skin, and gives new, physical energy.

Accept no substitute for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

"I thank God for the good your medicines have done me," writes Mr. James M. Shermore, of Mitchell, Lawrence Co., Ind., Box 301. "I was not well for two years. My throat was always sore, head ached, and back ached nearly all the time. My weight was 155 pounds. I was taken sick with typhoid fever, and when the fever left me I had such a pain in my left side I could not breathe without pain. I thought I must die. My wife went to the drug store and procured a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and a vial of his 'Pleasant Pellets.' I discontinued the use of my doctor's medicine and began with the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pellets.' I at once began to feel better; the pain soon left my side and I could breathe with ease. In a week or so I felt so good I could not stay in the room. I began to walk about the streets; I felt better each morning. After a month's use of the medicine I was well. That was over a year ago. Now I weigh 184 pounds and feel better than ever in my life."

THE MAN AND HIS PIPE.

An Incident Partaking Somewhat of the Nature of a Bluff.

The quality of courage is not strained. On the open half of a combination street car of the Amsterdam avenue line the other day there was a goodly gathering of smokers. They were there because the company graciously permitted the burning of tobacco on this branch of its possessions. A good many other passengers, most of them men, were also seated in the open half, not because they smoked or even approved of smoking, but because there was no room for them in the closed part and they had nowhere else to sit.

One of the smokers, a slight, nervous looking little chap, struggled heroically with a pipe. Under ordinary circumstances a pipe is no easy proposition for any but the horny handed son of toil to negotiate. In the mouth of a man not born to the hod and jeans it is generally a case of "smoking matches," and a box of these may be used up in attempting to keep a pipe alight for two or three blocks. But, lo, the poor laborer may turn his pipe upside down or at a half hitch or a right angle, and the thick and pungent smoke will roll out in an uninterrupted volume.

When the winds blow, it is especially difficult for the man who carries a meerschaum instead of a clay to keep his pipe alight, and the winds were blowing with goodly will through the spaces of the open car on this day. A sudden puff of playful zephyr caught up a pinch of ashes from the pipe of the little man and deposited them, with malice afore blow, on the clothing of the next man, a big chap, sour and surly looking.

"Oh, I beg your pardon, sir," the little smoker hastened to say, and he hurriedly brushed the ashes from the other's sleeve.

The sour man scowled fiercely. "Well, don't you let it happen again," he said.

Quick as a flash the apologetic look died out of the face of the little man. "Why," he demanded, "what would you do if it did happen again?"

"I'd show you blank quick!" said the other so fiercely that the conductor trembled and in clutching the rail to steady himself rang up an extra fare.

The little man puffed on his pipe till he had it in a healthy glow. Then, when the ashes were well formed on the top of the bowl, he turned till he faced the sour chap and deliberately blew the entire collection into his face.

The sour man changed his seat.

Quaint Hannibal Hamlin.

To the day of his death Hannibal Hamlin was a figure that men would turn and look at a second time on the street. His tall form, which in old age was but slightly bent, was always clothed in the old fashioned black swallowtail suit, and he always wore a tall silk hat, generally a "back number," tilted slightly back on his head. For years he was famous as a man who never wore an overcoat, and to his death he never burdened himself with that, to him, unnecessary garment except on the most severely cold days. For a half century he never changed the style of his clothes. He walked with a swinging gait and had so many friends and acquaintances to whom he had to bow that a smile seemed to be ever on his face.

Both Trained.

Little Edith had been very ill, but was convalescent. Waking up suddenly and finding a strange lady at her bedside, she asked, "Are you the doctor?"

"No, dear," replied the lady; "I'm your trained nurse."

"Oh," exclaimed Edith, pointing to a cage hanging near the window, "trained nurse, let me introduce you to my trained canary."

THE TSANG-PO.

In Several Ways the Most Remarkable River in the World.

The Tsang-Po is in several respects the most remarkable river in the world. It is the highest of all navigable streams, flowing for nearly a thousand miles at an elevation of from 11,000 to 14,000 feet. During the greater part of its course its current is sluggish, but for a hundred miles or more the mighty river in its descent to the coast plain runs with the speed of a mountain torrent. Though one of the largest of central Asian streams, it has never been followed from its source to its mouth, and until recently it was doubtful of which of two well known rivers it was the head waters. The attempts to solve its mysteries have been attended with almost unparelleled heroism, endurance, steadfastness and self sacrifice, for the principal explorers of the Tsang-Po have been animated, not as those who sought the fountain spring of the Nile, by the hope of the world's applause at their success—that was denied them—but for a simple daily wage and the consciousness of loyalty to duty.

The physical history of the Tsang-Po is briefly this: It rises in the extreme southwestern corner of Tibet close to the sources of the Ganges, the Indus and its great affluent, the Sutlej, at a height of nearly 15,000 feet. Receiving the drainage of the slopes of the Himalayas and of a little known Tibetan range running parallel with these mountains, it soon becomes a stream wide and deep enough to be navigable. There is a considerable boat traffic upon it at an elevation but little below the summit of Mont Blanc. It flows due east for a matter of 800 miles, receiving numerous large tributaries from both south and north, and when near Lassa it is at low water nearly a third of a mile wide and 20 feet deep; in flood two miles wide and of unknown depth. In longitude 94 degrees east it makes a sharp bend to the south and passes through the Himalayas in a course known only to the savages who dwell upon its precipitous banks.

When last seen by an explorer, it is at a height of from 8,000 to 11,000 feet, but when it emerges in Assam it is only 400 feet above sea level. From this point it pursues its sluggish way for another 800 miles as the Brahmaputra to the Ganges and the bay of Bengal. There has been a long controversy, into the details of which it is not necessary to enter, as to whether the Irawadi or the Brahmaputra is the continuation of the Tsang-Po. Though there has been as yet no distinct evidence, the last expedient of throwing in marked logs in Tibet having failed, the general consensus of scientific opinion is in favor of the Brahmaputra, and the latest English gazetteer describes it under this name.

It is hardly to be expected that pure science will be much benefited by the lifting of the veil which hangs over this part of the river's course. But there can be little doubt that it hides scenes of magnificent beauty and grandeur which will thrill the expectant world and give it new and nobler conceptions of the sublimity of nature.

COOLY RECEIVED.

Citizens of Louisburg Greet Lord Minto With No Cheers.

Louisburg, C. B., July 25. — The Governor-General arrived by special train at 11 o'clock yesterday morning, but received no official reception. He was escorted to a team by Rev. M. Draper and driven to the old town. Not a cheer was raised by the people at the station. The cause for the cool reception was that, a week ago, the Mayor was officially informed that His Excellency would officially visit Louisburg, and arrangements were made to present hi rangements were made to present him with an address and make his visit a pleasant one. Last evening the Mayor received another message, thanking him for the address, which he would be pleased to receive at the station, and stated that he had invited a reverend gentleman to visit the ruins privately. This message upset all plans, and aroused the citizens to indignation, as they could see no reason why a clergyman of any denomination should have the exclusive right of escorting the Governor-General when on an official tour.

Sectionman Killed.

Cornwall, July 25.—Edward Perry, section foreman on the G. T. R., was killed by being struck by the International Limited express, passing Cornwall at 10.30 o'clock yesterday morning. Mr. Perry was lining the track at the time, and was standing in the middle of the rails, with his head down. The sectionman yelled to him and the engineer blew his whistle at the diamond, but the unfortunate man failed to take heed. He was badly cut up, one of his legs being severed. He lived about twenty minutes after being brought to the station. Deceased was about 50 years of age, married and highly esteemed.

Mrs. Sutton Is Missing.

Toronto, July 25.—Mrs. Sutton, wife of John Sutton of 10 Trafalgar avenue, is missing. She disappeared on July 16, and, although every effort has been put forth by her friends and the police, no trace of her can be found. Mrs. Sutton is about 54 years of age, enjoyed good health and was particularly bright and cheerful. She wore a black skirt and a light sailor hat when she left her home.

Sheldon's Opinion.

Leamington, Ont., July 23. — Mr. Sheldon states that for two years he unsuccessfully sought a remedy to cure his son of Catarrh, but permanent results were not obtained until Catarrhozone was used. Quick to relieve, pleasant to use, guaranteed to cure. Clears throat and nose at one breath. Try Catarrhozone, 25 cents and $1.00. Druggists or Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

MILITARY REVIEWS.

They Will Be Held at Toronto, Quebec and Halifax.

Ottawa, July 25.—It has been decided to hold three great military reviews on the occasion of the royal visit to Canada. Toronto will be the scene of the largest. It will probably take place on October 11, and 7,000 men will be mobilized for the occasion. The other reviews will take place at Quebec and Halifax, and 3,000 men will be brought together at each city. Quebec and Halifax are chosen because they are the points of arrival and departure respectively of the Royal visitors. At the other places visited by their Royal Highnesses the garrison will be turned out in order to make a military display. A despatch sent out from Montreal is incorrect in stating that a review will take place at Winnipeg. The revised itinerary of the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall's tour provides for their visit to Vancouver on October 1st instead of September 30; to Victoria on October 2, instead of October 1 to 3, and Toronto from October 10 to 12 instead of October 7 to 12. On October 13 they will be at Niagara, and on the 14th at Hamilton. They will be at St. John, N. B., on October 17, instead of October 15, and at Halifax on October 19, instead of October 21.

Canada Take Care.

Ottawa, July 25. — Hon. Joseph Chamberlain has cabled the government in reference to a commission which has just investigated the Chinese and Japanese immigration, that care should be taken in dealing with the matter not to do anything that would in any way disturb the good feeling which now exists between Japan and Britain. The commission has not yet reported, but the Premier has always said that the Japanese ought not to be put upon the same standing as Chinese in British Columbia. The feeling against Japanese immigration is not as strong as against Chinese.

Passed Its Second Reading

London, July 25.—In the British House of Lords last night the second reading of the bill altering the terms of the royal declaration was carried by an overwhelming majority. The Roman Catholic peers did not, however, vote for the bill, and, as the extreme Protestants will be alarmed lest security for the maintenance of a Protestant succession should be diminished, it is impossible to expect that the measure will be passed into law without a prolonged and acrimonious debate.

Glace Bay May Be Wiped Out.

Halifax, July 25.—A serious conflagration broke out at Glace Bay, C. B., at 1 o'clock yesterday morning. The fire started on Main street. Seven buildings have been consumed, and others are burning. There is great danger of the whole town going. The Sydney apparatus and 150 men have left for the scene of the fire on a special train.

Kingston Boys Lost

Kingston, July 25.—Two little boys, George and James St. Remy, aged 9 and 7 years, respectively, disappeared from the residence of their cousin Tuesday night, and no trace of them can be found.

Threatening Detectives.

Ottawa, July 25. — Detective Robillard yesterday received an anonymous letter, warning him if he and "that Toronto detective (Greer) don't give up their work (Morrison mystery), their bodies will be found in the Ottawa River." SHAFFER SUFFERING.

How the Health of Amalgamated President Affects Strike.

DETAIL WORK GIVEN TO OTHERS

Impression Prevails That Steel Trust Will Try to Starve Men Into Submission—Failure of W. M. Garland's Peace Mission—Plan to Reach Settlement Through Senator Hanna.

Pittsburg, July 26. — President Shaffer of the Amalgamated Association, is known to be in Wellsville, Ohio, directing the strikers and gathering information concerning the fight in a furious theatrical makeup. He arrived in Wellsville dressed in his rolling mill raiment and carried an old carpet bag and a cotton umbrella. Over one eye was a black patch and he wore a profuse false beard. He had been carefully prepared by the make-up man of a Pittsburg theatre. When he got off the train he was subjected to jeers from the striking steel workers, but he assured them that he was not going to work. The identity of Mr. Shaffer was disclosed at the station as he was about to take the train for Pittsburg. He at first denied, but finally admitted that he was the Amalgamated chief.

President Shaffer is said to be suffering from a severe mental strain and has already turned over much of the detail work to other officials.

The organization of the tube mill men at McKeesport was made stronger yesterday and the association is aiming to close the tin plate mills at Monessen. Strikers and sympathizing coal miners will march upon the mills and hold a big mass meeting. The idea is gaining ground that the strike will be continued the rest of the summer, as the announced policy of the trust is no compromise. The impression is that the trust will attempt to starve the men into submission.

Endless Chain for Strikers.

Washington, July 26. — Sympathizers with the steel strikers have started an endless chain to aid the strike fund. W. E. Kennedy, a local labor leader, has written President Shaffer, making the first contribution, and has started out letters in which the recipient is asked to send ten cents and write letters to four other persons with the request that they do likewise. This is the first time the endless chain has been tried in aid of organized labor.

Peace Mission Failed.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 26. — The peace mission of M. M. Garland, who went to New York on behalf of the conservative element of the Amalgamated Association, has failed. Mr. Garland was unable to secure from the steel manufacturers any terms on which a settlement could be reached. They would not recede an inch from the attitude they had taken, holding that the workers' leaders precipitated the fight and peace negotiations are off. At the same time a more powerful influence is being sought to carry the olive branch to J. P. Morgan.

Joseph Bishop, secretary of the Ohio State Board of Arbitration, is working as mediator, and will try to reach the combine through Senator Hanna.

TRACKMEN RECEIVE AID.

Financial Support Coming in From Many Labor Unions.

Toronto, July 26.—The striking Canadian Pacific Railway Trackmen are receiving a great deal of financial support from labor unions, and other associations throughout the Dominion. Reports go to show that nearly all of the strikers are now working, many being employed by farmers, receiving from $35 to $40 per month. In Toronto a number of the men have been engaged by the Street Railway Company.

Donald Wilkinson, chairman of the Toronto Strike Committee, was in Peterboro last night, where he addressed a meeting of trackmen.

WILL KAISER DO IT?

Always Neutral and Now Hardly a Forerunner for Kruger.

EMPOWERED TO ACT BY BOERS.

Source of Peace Rumors in House of Commons—Some Consider Emperor William Would Take the Initiative in Order to Popularize His Relations With the German People.

London, July 26.—"The rumor as to early peace negotiations, which has prevaded the House of Commons for some days," says The Daily Express, "has taken the more definite form that Emperor William is soon to assume the role of peacemaker. Mr. Kruger and his advisers are represented as having empowered the Kaiser to act for the Boers, and he is considered willing to take the initiative in order to popularize his relations with the German people, who disapprove his friendship for Great Britain. Something apparently is on foot, whether Emperor William is in it or not."

Mr. Kruger's arrival at The Hague is connected, The Daily Express thinks, with the rumored peace suggestions.

Mr. Kruger at The Hague.

The Hague, July 26.—Mr. Kruger arrived here yesterday afternoon and proceeded to the residence of Mr. Wolmarans, one of the Boer envoys at Schevingen, a watering place on the North Sea.

PEACE AT PEKIN.

Deadlock of Ministers of the Powers Has Ended—All Now Agree.

London, July 26.—The deadlock of the Ministers of the powers has ended, says the Pekin correspondent of The Daily Mail. "Russia has withdrawn her proposal to increase the duties to 10 per cent., and has accented with some important reservations Great Britain's counter proposal that the sources of revenue earmarked now, shall be considered adequate, the powers providing for a shortage if it arises."

CENTRE OF TOWN WRECKED.

Large Loss of Life and Property by Explosion at Batoum.

Batoum, July 26.—A terrific explosion of petroleum yesterday in the most thickly populated quarter of Batoum wrecked the whole centre of the town. It is impossible at the time of filing this despatch to estimate the loss of life and property, but in both cases this is very large.

Toronto Man Was Murdered.

Rochester, N. Y., July 26. — The sheriff's office found important clues in connection with the death of Frank Norton, whose body was found in the Canal at Brockport last Friday, which leads the officials to believe that the young Canadian was the victim of an attack by tramps. A tramp appeared in Brockport on Friday and diappeared on Saturday. By his own story he was present at the scene of the tragedy on Friday, and when seen in the village, he wore bandages on his head to cover wounds which he said were received while helping to repair a canal boat.

Eight Men Drowned.

Vancouver, B. C., July 26.—The steamer Hating from Skaguay yesterday brougot 40 Dawson passengers and $300,000 in gold dust. F. C. Wade, crown prosecutor at Dawson, was on board.

Eight men who left White Horse for Dawson in scows on June 10 are missing. The scows have been found wrecked at Treeman's Point, and the eight prospectors are believed to have been drowned. Their names are: George McLeod, J. McGuire, D. O'Connor, F. Lynch, Antoine Currene, G. Tyrell, J. M. Taylor and T. McDonald.

Lord Minto at Halifax.

Halifax, July 26.—His Excellency, the Governor-General, on landing from the steamer Minto yesterday afternoon, was received by a guard of honor from the Royal Canadians, and a royal salute was fired by the garrison artillery. At 5 o'clock Lord and Lady Minto attended a garden party given by Admiral Bedford. Last evening they dined with Lieut.-Gov. and Mrs. Jones. Their Excellencies also attended a patriotic concert in the public gardens last night, which was attended by 8,000.

Turks Massacred Prisoners.

Vienna, July 25.—Albanian insurgents and Turkish regulars have had several encounters on the Turkish frontier. Many have been killed and wounded on both sides. It is reported that the Albanians cut off the heads of their prisoners and triumphantly carried them on poles through Albanian towns. It is also reported that the Turks massacred their prisoners.

LOSS ON CHEESE.

In a letter to the Weekly Sun, Prof. Dean of the Ontario Agricultural College, estimates the loss that has been occasioned to the cheese-makers of two counties in Ontario because of the over-heating of cheese during the progress of manufacture during the hot spell. It is a considerable loss, amounting in these two counties to about $8,000. And this loss could have been prevented. The cheese-makers have repeatedly been urged to provide against this very thing. Prof. Dean says :

"The county of Leeds has about 85 cheese factories in operation, which made an average of at least 6 cheese per day for the last two weeks. A loss of 1 cent per pound means a loss of about $4.20 per factory each day. The 85 factories would lose $375 per day, and in two weeks the loss in the one county would amount to over $4,000. Oxford county has about 44 factories, averaging 10 cheese per day. This means a loss of $7 per day for each factory, $308 for the 44, and about $3,700 for the county in two weeks. This is nearly $8,000 for two counties in two weeks. Does it pay to allow cheese to become heated?"

This loss of a cent per pound is very considerable, but it is as nothing to the injury done the reputation of our cheese in England. Mr. McMeeking, of London, Eng., an extensive importer of cheese, says that the bad flavour and indifferent making of much of the cheese sent from Canada to England last year had done an injury to the reputation of our product that would take five years to overcome. He says that in Australia such a thing as carrying whey back from the factories in the milk cans is unheard of, because the law imposes a heavy penalty for so doing, and if Canada is not careful to ensure thorough cleanliness in caring for the milk as well as in the manufacture of the cheese she will have to take a backward place in competition with the other colonies. He says that a graduated system of curing cheese should be adopted in every factory. As it is now, the cheese is put as made in one room of uniform temperature — the new and the old being subjected to the same degree of cold. He says that if they were moved from a low to a lower temperature as the stage of curing progresses, the goods would reach England in prime condition. Such a cooling system is now on the market in England and could be installed in Canadian factories at a cost of about £100. The losses of the past month would go far to permanently equip the cheese factories of the province with such a system.

It will be noted that Mr. McMeeking's statement is a clear vindication of the strictures of Mr. R. M. Ballantyne, president of the Western Dairymen's Association, last summer, which caused such unfavourable comments by journals that knew nothing of the subject they were writing upon. To keep Canadian cheese in the front in the English markets the most scrupulous cleanliness and best appliances must be used in its manufacture.

WORLD'S CATTLE TRADE.

To Be Controlled Within Ten Years by the Standard Oil Company According to a Pamphlet.

London, July 26. — "Standard Oil capital will control the cattle trade of the world within 10 years."

Such was the assertion made last night by a prominent American promoter who lately accepted the presidency of one of the subsidiary corporations formed by the Standard Oil Company for this purpose. This authority states that the Rockefellers, after a critical survey of the American industrial situation, came to the conclusion that cattle is the most promising investment for the future that the country holds. Their statistical experts report that the visible supply of herds suitable for food uses is one million head less than a decade ago, and their is a tendency to still greater shrinkage.

Already Messrs. John D., William and Frank Rockefeller own extensive ranches in Texas, while Representative John Sibley of Pennsylvania, also interested in the Standard Oil Company, operates large establishments in Florida.

The plan involves ultimate community of interest such as characterized the formation of the Steel Trust and the recent railway pools. Standard interests will foster the growth of breeding farms and ranches in all parts of the country, and when the propitious moment arrives will consolidate them by huge capitalization. Eventually the great packing plants of Chicago, Omaha, Kansas City and Milwaukee will be invited to pool their issues.

Orange Insurance Dearer.

Toronto, July 26. — The Grand Loyal Orange Lodge of British North America, which has been in session in the County Orange Hall since Tuesday, concluded their labors about 2 o'clock this morning. At yesterday's sessions a discussion on insurance rates and degree work occupied most of the time.

The Committee on Insurance presented a report recommending an increase in dues and medical examiners' fees, submitting a schedule for consideration. It was finally decided to double the assessment.

The newly-elected officers were installed by the Grand Sovereign. Niagara Falls, Ont., was selected as the next place of meeting.

Heavy Traffic Stopped.

New York, July 26. —No attempt was made yesterday to resume a full service on the Brooklyn Bridge, on which several girders were found to be broken Wednesday. A ten-car service was permitted by the police early yesterday. But it could handle but a small percentage of the traffic, and the majority of the persons who live in Brooklyn, and come to New York for business, were obliged to walk across the bridge, or cross the river on one of the ferry lines. Engineers examined the bridge carefully yesterday, and it is expected that full repairs will be made in a day or two.

Blew His Brains Out.

Newcastle, N.B., July 26. — A young man, Thomas Hurst, who worked in the Boston Theatre, arrived here a few days ago, having followed from Boston Victoria McTavish, a young lady with whom he was desperately in love. Yesterday he called to see the young lady, but was refused an audience. The disappointment of the young man was so great that he pulled a pistol from his pocket and blew out his brains.

TEMISCAMING FIRES.

Plan of Director Southworth to Aid Needy Settlers.

Toronto, July 26. — Thomas Southworth, director of the Department of Colonization, has returned from the Temiscaming District, where he went a week ago to relieve distress caused by the fire and to report upon its extent to the government.

Mr. Southworth says that 114 settlers were burned out, damage to the extent of $30,000 to settlers' property was done. About three quarters of the crops were destroyed. Owing to the drouth preceding the fire, and the high wind, which accompanied it, the settlers had to flee for their lives, regardless of their goods.

Mr. Southworth was not prepared to estimate the loss to the province of the timber destroyed.

Fire swept over Dymond, Kerns, Hudson, Harley, Harris and Casey Townships. It was not one general fire, but a series of fires in six, which started about the same time.

A local committee composed of J. Armstrong, D. M. Solant, secretary; Rev. F. E. Pitts, treasurer; Rev. J. St. John, Prof. Sharpe, L. E. Hawksworth and John Macdonald, has been appointed to aid settlers rendered destitute by the fire.

Mr. Southworth recommends that in view of the need of money caused by the destruction of crops that the government expend $75,000 to $80,000 this year in colonization roads work instead of the $7,000 appropriated by the Legislature.

A True Nerve Tonic.

acts not so much upon the nerves themselves, as upon the digestive functions, and the abundment formation of rich, red blood. The nerves cannot be fed on medicine. They can be fed and strengthened by digested and assimilated food. Ferrozone's marvellous action arises from its power over the digestive and assimilative functions of the body. You take it, the blood grows richer, redder. You feel strength and vigor, digestion ceases to be noticed, for it has become good. Work is easier, for you have the strength to do it. In a short time you have health. Use Ferrozone. Sold only by Ormond & Walsh.

Flag Incident Closed.

Buffalo, July 25.—The British flag incident has been settled. The flags, which were originally taken out of Ontario's booth in the Ethnology Building, because they did not conform to a general scheme of decoration, not because they were British, have been restored. Hon. Richard Harcourt, Minister of Education for Ontario, was in Buffalo yesterday, and had a conference with Dr. Benedict, superintendent of ethnology, with the result that the incident was closed for good and all.

All the nominees with the exception of Mr. Munro, who is in Manitoba, and Mr. J. T. Schell, M. P., and Mr. A. G. McBean of Montreal, delivered short addresses. Before concluding his speech Mr. Macpherson asked that he be allowed a few days before giving his decision. The meeting broke up with cheers for the King, the Liberal party and the nominee.

BRITISH EMPIRE LEAGUE.

Address by the Hon. G. W. Ross at the London Meeting.

London, July 26.—The Hon. G. W. Ross, Premier of Ontario, was the principal speaker at the British Empire League meeting yesterday. The Lease Not Extended

Amherstburg, July 26.—John A. Auld, M. P. P., in his paper, The Amherstburg Echo, says:

The Detroit papers are stating that an arrangement has been made with the Ontario Government to allow the United States Gas and Oil Company to pipe natural gas to Detroit until fall. We are in a position to say that no such extension of lease has been made, that nothing will be done until the report of Mr. Stiff, who was sent here to investigate the matter, is given to the Government and fully considered.

Lisgar Offered to Mr. Foster.

Hon. Mr. Foster said he had not received the letter yet, and was not prepared to make any further statement in regard to it.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

The run of live stock to-day was the largest ever seen here on a Thursday, 100 car loads, composed of 1781 cattle, 501 hogs, 847 sheep and lambs, and 30 calves.

On account of heavy deliveries and some of the dealers having no immediate space to fill, and American markets being easier, prices for exporters dropped from 10c to 15c per cwt. Cattle that would have brought from $5.10 to $5.20 on Tuesday, sold at $5 to $5.10 to-day. The bulk of exporters sold brought from $4.90 to $5.05 per cwt., but there were several lots unsold, as drovers in some instances were holding out for Tuesday's prices. One and only one lot reached $5.20 per cwt.

Butchers' cattle of good quality were in fairly good demand, while the medium to common grades were easy, at Tuesday's quotations.
